"We are doing everything in our power to get them back," said Robert Livett, district president.

The 2,000 striking miners of the Crow's Nest Pass, however, will not return until to-morrow, at the earliest, if then. At Edmonton, Friday will be the earliest for re-opening of the mines, Mr. Livett said.

Harold Winch, British Columbia C.C.F. leader, charged last night that when coal miners of Alberta and British Columbia moved to correct an unfair standard of living the "Fascist government of Canada, by order-in-council made it a criminal offence for men to fight for betterment of their condition."

He told a public meeting that the miners, after two years of government inaction, had decided to take the only means in their power to obtain what they wanted. He said the order-in-council making it a criminal offence to strike had been kept dark for three weeks "in the Hitler manner."

Fingerprint Faked

Sir Harry's eldest daughter, Nancy, the accused man's wife was in the courtroom. She testified yesterday for her husband, in whose innocence she has expressed faith.

Higgs said that De Marigny went to Westbourne after the slaying to learn details of the death so that he could inform Nancy, who was in the United States. He learned the details for the first time while there, Higgs added.

Taking up the testimony, he listed each witness, one by one.

He pointed to the importance of testimony by Mrs. Dorothy Clark, wife of an R.A.F. flier who attended a dinner party at De Marigny's home July 7. She said De Marigny drove her and Mrs. Jean Ainslie to their homes, two doors from Westbourne. She looked at her watch as they left the downtown section, she said, and learned that it was 1:05 a.m.

"Dr. Fitzmaurice (Coroner L. W. Fitzmaurice) told you that Sir Harry died four to six hours after his last meal, or from 1:30 until 3:30 a.m." Higgs said.

"Mrs. Clark's testimony is vitally important because it leaves no time whatsoever in which the accused man could have committed the crime."

Higgs declared that servants substantiated De Marigny's return to his cottage at 1.30 a.m.

"Pemberton (Maj. Herbert Pemberton of the Nassau police) gives no evidence at all affecting the guilt or innocence of the accused," said Higgs.

"One striking feature of Pemberton's evidence is that although he is head of the criminal department, he saw no fingerprints or burned hairs."

Higgs told the jury it must decide whether De Marigny or Lieut. John Douglas of the police made the statement that "Sir Harry, the old— ——, should have been killed, anyhow."

Douglas testified that De Marigny made the remark, and De Marigny said the words were spoken by Douglas.

"The discussion of circumstantial evidence and the missing weapon were normal at the time," said Higgs, "and the testimony of Douglas supports the innocence of the accused."

Higgs now came to the discussion of the testimony of Melchen and Barker.

"Conway (Frank Conway of the New York Identification Bureau) says exhibit J (the fingerprint) is the same as the rolled print of the accused," Higgs said.

"That we do not deny. The question is where the print came from."

Barker testified he took the print from the top six inches of panel five of the bedscreen, but admitted he could not point to the exact spot.

Capt. Maurice B. O'Neil of the New Orleans police and Leonarde Keeler, private criminologist, said they did not believe that the print in evidence was taken from the surface of the screen.

"Lady Oakes said the accused was attentive and thoughful through Nancy's illness in Mexico City, and gave two blood transfusions," Higgs continued.

"He never asked for any of the Oakes money.

"It is amazing that this women who suffered so much should be made to come here and give evidence so irrelevant."

Higgs scoffed at testimony by Newell Kelly, manager of the Oakes Nassau properties, that De Marigny threatened to kick Sir Harry.

"He was joking," Higgs explained.

"Isn't it singular," he asked, "that where it was so easy to show the background of that screen and show where it came from, it was not done?"

"I'll tell you why. I suggest that lift never came from that screen. Capt. O'Neill and Mr. Keeler said it could not have come from there."

Changed Story

Higgs pounded upon the fact that Barker first testified that the fingerprint came from an area marked five on panel five of the screen, and then changed his testimony to say that it was from the top six inches of the panel.

"Conway and O'Neill said they never heard of a lifted print being offered in evidence, but they said a lifted spot should be plainly marked," he said.

"Barker made between 50 and 70 lifts and cannot tell the exact spot where any came from. He has only his memory to say where he lifted this print, and his memory is faulty."

"I ask you to believe the evidence of Captain O'Neill that the lifted could not have come from that screen because it does not show a background design," Higgs said.

OBITUARY

HENRY FREDENBURG

A life-long resident of the Peterborough district, Henry Fredenburg, of Lakefield, died at his home on Tuesday in his 89th year.

In poor health for several years, Mr. Fredenburg moved to Lakefield 17 years ago, and prior to that had spent practically all his life in Peterborough. He was born in Trenton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Fredenburg. His wife, Ann Clarke, passed away 32 years ago last March.

Two sons and three daughters are surviving: John and Mrs. Fred Kiff, of Peterborough; Fred, Owen Sound; Mrs. Richard Simpson and Mrs. A. E. Tucker, Toronto.

There are also three brothers, Tobias of Peterborough, William of Toronto and Elija in Michigan; and 13 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be held on Friday at 2:30 p.m. from the Comstock Funeral Home, 305 Water street. Services will be conducted by Rev. Mr W. S. Crone, of Bethany Tabernacle, of which church the late Mr Fredenburg was a member. Interment will be made in Little Lake Cemetery.

French Oust General Giraud

By NOLAND NORGAARD.

ALGIERS, Nov. 10 — (AP). — Gen. Henri Giraud, a soldier who always said he was not a politician, was ousted yesterday as co-president of the French Committee of National Liberation, leaving Gen. Charles de Gaulle alone at the head of the committee.

Giraud remains as Commander-in-Chief of France's fighting forces, the job that has occupied almost all his time in recent months.

Three other commissioners also were ousted. They are Gen. Alphones Georges, who was Chief of Staff of the defeated French Army in 1940 and commissioner without portfolio in the committee; Dr. Jules Abadie, Commissioner of Education, and Finance Commissioner Maurice Couve de Murville.

The Communist Party refused to take a place in the new lineup, which includes seven new faces. Andre Mercier, Communist member of the Consultative Assembly, asserted that "under-cover methods" were usel in the committee's formation

"We favor discussion in broad daylight before taking a responsible post," Mercier said.

Invited to Act.

The committee's spokesman said the Communists had been invited to take a post but "had declined."

Ordinarily the committee's official meetings are announced publicly in advance, although the sessions are private. Yesterday's meeting was not announced and a spokesman described it as an "unofficial" meeting at which changes in personnel could be adopted.

The move was regarded here as designed to increase the hold of De Gaulle over the committee.

A decree signed by all members ordained the separation of French civil and military authority.

Post Divided.

In addition to removing Giraud, Abadie, Georges and Couve de Murville, the committee replaced National Defence Commissioner Gen. Paul le Gentilhomme, but his post was split in two, with former Socialist Deputy Andre Letrocquer, a lawyer, becoming Commissioner for War and Air, and Louis Jacquinot, local head of the "Groupe Combat" and son of a former Communist changed. On the Tyrrhenian British troops of the 5th Army are up against formidable defences at the mouth of the Garigliano and on the Adriatic Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's 8th Army veterans have seized heights dominating the Sangro. Crossing of these two rivers in force will require moving up of considerable numbers of men and much material.

In a sharp new blow at Nazi war production American heavy bombers shattered the ball-bearing works at Villar Perosa, southwest of Turin—the last Italian source of the vital bearings—and other bombers hit the Ansaldo steel works, docks and railways at Genoa, Italy's leading post.

The Fiat Company's large ball-bearing works at Turin were blasted Monday and reconnaissance photographers showed yesterday the plant was badly damaged.

Hit Albanian Port.

Durazzo, Albanian port, was again attacked.

Final recapitulation disclosed that heavy American bombers set a record for this theatre by shooting down 56 enemy fighters in a raid on plants at Wiener Neustadt, Austria, recently.

The Allies were gradually drawing closer to the strongly-defended line which the Germans hope to hold through the winter months.

The enemy "winter line" runs southwest from the heights north of the River Sangro on the Adriatic side of the front through the rugged Apennine backbone of the country and across the Aurunci mountains to the Tyrrhenian coast.

Allied advances yesterday had brought the 5th and 8th Armies into position for thrusts against these rampart defences.

Captured German soldiers told of the plans of the enemy to make a stand along this line.

The Nazis have brought in heavy reinforcements and are using Italian forced labor to strengthen the natural barriers by addition of walls ditches, pillboxes, forts, minefields and trenches.

The Germans now have at least 11 divisions in the front area, totalling perhaps 165,000 men.

Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's 8th Army yesterday pushed forward five miles, approaching the mouth of the Sangro River on the eastern end of the line. The 8th captured Torino di Sangro, within a mile of the Sangro, the Paglieta, less than two miles from the river.

Seize Terrebruna

Some 20 miles inland from the Adriatic, British, Canadian and Indian units of the 8th Army seized Terrebruna, three miles west of Celenza, on the important lateral road running southwest from Vasto to Isernia.

In the centre of the front an 8th Army unit in mountainous country occupied Pescolanciano, eight miles northeast of Isneria and other formations captured Fornelli, five miles west of Isneria.

Enemy resistance was strong in the 5th Army sector, along the wide turbulent Garigliano River and in the upper Volturno Valley. The Germans held grimly to Mignano guarding the main inland road through Cassino to Rome and made a number of counter-attacks, supported by strong artillery and mortar fire.

Once the beach-heads are established and we have our armies ashore, our losses will lessen greatly. We know from such bloody operations as Dieppe and Salerno what these landings can mean. We need only add to that knowledge the reminder that the coming invasions are on a vast scale and will challenge defences many times the strength of previous expeditions. The dangers will be immeasurably greater.

Churchill Talk Sobers Britons

LONDON, Nov. 10 —(CP)—The British press today expressed hope that Prime Minister Churchill's speech yesterday might put an end to untimely peace talk and halt declines on the London and New York Stock Exchange, which have been attributed to a sudden wave of over-optimism.

Mr. Churchill repeatedly warned against any hope of a sudden German collapse and the financial news, commenting on the market fluctuations, said that if peace expectations were to blame "then perhaps Mr. Churchill's speech will make people think again."

The rest of the London press followed much the same vein in applauding the prime minister for putting a damper on unjustified peace expectations.

The Times called Mr. Churchill's speech a summons to the people "to eschew speculation....and to brace themselves instead to face the climax of their long struggle."

The News-Chronicle asserted: "It would be criminal folly to let up on our exertions in this supreme crisis of the war."

"A note of caution was observable in the speech which was not merely the formal insurance of a statesman against the unexpected," said the Daily Telegraph, adding: "A disproportionate optimism is one thing which might snatch defeat from the jaws of victory."

Canadian Killed In Sunday Raid

LONDON, Nov. 10—(CP Cable). — One Canadian soldier was killed and another injured when a German bomb hit a dance hall during last Sunday's air raid on London, Canadian military headquarters announced today. Both were members of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps.

The soldier killed was Cpl. John Earley, 24, of Winnipeg. Injured was Pte. Francis Richard McKane, 46, of Longueuil, Que., whose wife lives at Fulham, England.

One member of the women's division, R.C.A.F., May MacCormack of Montreal, was injured. R.C.A.F. headquarters said a thorough check of the personnel branch of the division showed that reports in London newspapers the day after the fire that three women of the R.C.A.F. had been hurt were incorrect.

This check required a couple of days in view of the number of girls away from the various stations on leave and the difficulty of getting in touch with them.

GOVERNMENT NOTICE

NATIONAL WAR LABOUR BOARD

General Order

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has found that the cost of living index number for October 1, 1943, of 119.3 (adjusted index 118.4) has risen by 1.4 points over the index for July 2, 1942, of 117.9 (adjusted index 117.0).

Accordingly, pursuant to the provisions of Section 34 (1) of the Wartime Wages Control Order, P.C. 5963, and subject to the provisions of the Order, the National War Labour Board orders that:

1. Except as otherwise provided in sections 2, 3 and 5 of this General Order, every employer shall, effective from the first payroll period beginning on or after November 15, 1943, increase:
   - (a) the amount of cost of living bonus payable to adult male employees and to other employees employed at weekly wage rates of $25.00 or more by the amount of thirty-five (35c) cents per week;
   - (b) the amount of cost of living bonus payable to male employees under 21 years of age employed at weekly wage rates of less than $25.00, and to female employees employed at weekly wage rates of less than $25.00 by 1.4% of their weekly wage rates.
2. No employer shall, by reason of this General Order, increase the amount or percentage of any cost of living bonus payable to employees where such amount is more than $4.25 per week but less than $4.60 per week, or if such percentage is more than 17% but less than 18.4% of weekly wage rates, to an amount in excess of $4.60 per week or a percentage in excess of 18.4% of weekly wage rates.
3. If payment of cost of living bonus was commenced, not pursuant to Order-in-Council P.C. 8253 and established prior to the effective date of that Order, and is in excess of the amount of $4.60 per week or 18.4% of weekly wage rates, such amount or percentage of cost of living bonus shall remain unchanged.
4. The adjustment or payment of a cost of living bonus calculated as ordered shall be to the nearest cent of any fractional figure.
5. Nothing in this General Order shall affect the operation of the Direction of the National War Labour Board dated June 14, 1943, applicable to employers in the construction industry.

Durham $43,000 Above Loan Objective

MILLBROOK, Nov. 10 (ENS) — Final figures in the Victory Loan drive for Cavan and Millbrook were well over the top by Saturday night, over $131,000 having been subscribed, the objective having been $115,000. That means a balance on the right side of $16,000. Millbrook's share of the total objective had been set at $30,000, and practically $61,000 was subscribed. For Durham county where the objective had been set at $1,425,000, a total of $1,468,000 was subscribed; that is, the county went over the top by $43,000.

Dr. H. A. Turner was chairman for the county in the drive.

Blood Donors

Blood donors are still urgently needed, and in response to the appeal, ten local residents went to Peterborough last week, the list including: Mrs. L. Wilson, Mrs. Ralph Innis, Mrs. E. C. Debatable Subject

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP).—Councillor Bill Beech of York township believes horror movies are neither entertaining nor educational for youngsters and should be confined to midweek performance, giving place to 'more conservative pictures' on children - frequented Saturday matinee programs. The council yesterday agreed to seek discontinuance of horror pictures on Saturday afternoons.

CAMPBELLFORD

Well Balanced Diet Stressed To Institute

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 10 — (ENS). — Food and nutrition was the subject of a conference attended by Institute members West Tuesday afternoon in the from Seymour East and Seymour Parish Hall. Miss V. Bambridge of the Women's Institute Department, Toronto, conducted the discussions during the session and outlined the importance of a balanced diet explaining the difference between that and just plain eating.

Miss Bambridge told of the value of vitamins but emphasized to the gathering that they would not suffice if taken alone. She told of the part each of the more commonly known vitamins plays in feeding and re-building the human body and cited the various foods in which each was found. A food chart displayed by the speaker illustrated a well balanced diet.

It was suggested that Institutes should follow up this meeting at one or two subsequent gatherings by reviewing the subject and to encourage this the speaker provided pamphlets for study. A vote of thanks to Miss Bambridge was moved by Mrs. R. A. Rutherford and Mrs. Jesse Locke, presidents respectively of the Seymour West and East branches of the Institute.

CAMPBELLFORD

Religion Moulds Japanese Foreign Policies

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 10 (ENS) —"It is impossible to understand Japan politically unless you understand her religious set up" said Rev. H. G. Watts, Field Secretary of the Missionary Society for the Church of England in Canada, guest speaker at the Rotary Club. The speaker, who had spent quite a number of years in both China and Japan endeavored to interpret the reason why Japan had chosen to be on the side of the aggressors when she had stood firmly with Britain in World War I.

Rev. Watts discussed the history of Japan stating that prior to 1549 she had been isolated from the rest of the world. Following the introduction of the first missionaries her rulers, seeing a threat to their power, subsequently offered rewards for Christians handed over to them for liquidation. Less than 300 years ago, some 30,000 Japanese gave up their lives for Christianity by refusing to put their wooden clogs on the treading step where the small metal discs bearing a replica of the crucifix were placed by the rulers. Japan was subsequently isolated for another 250 years largely because of her refusal to accept Christianity.

Two striking things happened after 1854. One of these was the visit of the fleet under Admiral Perry and the subsequent opening of certain Japanese ports to foreign ships and trade. The second was the coming to power of a new Emperor who sensed the strength of Britain and the United States and determined that his nation should not be annexed by either. After seeing a portion of the fleet he decided the first thing Japan should have was a navy. Orders were placed with British ship builders for fleet units and British naval officers were loaned to give them technical advice.

Built Defences

The Japanese build the army after that of Germany and sent representatives to America to copy many of their inventions and their educational system and have developed a standard which is higher now than Canada's. "The most extraordinary part of these people who went back was that not one of their emisaries reported that the heart and soul of the white people was based on Christianity."

The speaker declared that few people realized at the time of confederation in Canada there was little difference between the Japanese and the North American Indians. Even after diplomatic representation was had from the other nations the manners of the Emperor were "so disgusting that ladies in the ambassador's retinue did not attend state functions." Today with her modern cities, wide paved streets, department stores enormous changes have taken place as they have moved forward with material changes of life.

Think Carefully

Referring to the peace principles as laid down by the Atlantic Charter the speaker said "when we think of victory today we need to remind ourselves we will have to win another war in 20 years unless we win the peace as laid down in that Charter." Having lived among the Chinese the speaker declared he was in a position to say that they were among "the greatest haters of mankind," and with good reason when it is recalled that 50 million have been driven from their homes and another 10 million have fled to the hinterlands.

In Honan alone 40,000 are dying of starvation every day, Mr. Watts declared, and those that remain alive may be seen wrapped in mud eating the bark of trees. "Do you think they are not going to hate the Japanese or that the Russians will be fully satisfied merely when the Germans are driven from their soil? As we approach another victory and think of those who gave their lives in the last war and in this war we should stand quietly and think what we are going to do about it."

Rev. G. N. Maxwell moved the vote of thanks to the speaker.

Mechanics Course Is Planned For Farmers

COBOURG, Nov. 10 — (ENS). — Mindful of the scarcity of new machinery and the necessity of good service from that on hand, the Northumberland County agricultural representative, Ralph C. Banbury, is laying tentative plans for two-day mechanics' courses in any community desiring this assistance. The plan is to hold the meeting in some fair-sized workshop and to demonstrate as well as see, by slides and charts, practical use and adjustment of labor-saving machines. An expert on mechanics, particularly tractors, will be secured.

Any community where it is felt that 25 or more farmers would like this work, can arrange for the course by contacting the office of the Department of Agriculture at Brighton.

"We are in the age of machinery and with present labor supplies and production demands, human energy must be used to direct machinery rather than exerted in the direction of the man with the hoe," Mr. Banbury declared.

Obituary

JAMES MASSIE.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 10. — (ENS). — James Massie, 81, lifelong resident of this town and caretaker at the Public and High Schools here for over 37 years, passed away at his home on Booth Street on Tuesday. Mr. Massie had been a member of the Oddfellows Lodge for more than fifty years, and was a staunch member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, where he had been an elder since 1925.

Born in Campbellford the deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Massie. He received his education in the Campbellford schools, and as a young man went to work in the Campbellford Cloth Co. where he was employed for more than 23 years. Though he will be best remembered for his work at the schools, Mr. Massie was also a hobbyist, and he constructed several motor boats and skiffs in his younger days. He was a regular attenadnt at the meetings of the I.O.O.F. No. 248, and enjoyed fraternizing with men of all ages for he was alert and active till last August, when he sustained a fall from which he never completely recovered.

There survive besides his widow, the former Emma Reid of town, one daughter Mrs. Thomas Hay of Seymour, and one son Clarence of Campbellford and Peterborough. Three brothers, Charles, George, and Alexander, and three sisters, Mrs. Walter Davidson of Brighton, Mrs. Joseph Atkinson, Bridgeport, and Mrs. E. T. Morton of Toronto, also survive.

The funeral service will be held under auspices of the I.O.O.F. on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and will be conducted by Rev. K. O. Ralston. Interment will be at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

ROSENEATH

Fire Destroys Home Of Towns Brothers

ROSENEATH, Nov. 10 (ENS) — Fire of unknown origin which broke out early Tuesday morning, destroyed the farm home of Towns' Brothers, about four miles north of Roseneath village in Rice Lake vicinity. The family escaped in their night clothes, and the contents of the house were totally destroyed.

Commission Buys Portable Pump

COBOURG, Nov. 10 — (ENS). — Cobourg Public Utilities Commission at its meeting here decided to purchase a portable pump for pumping out water either in its own installations or for householders. For householders the pump will be available at a certain fee, including the cost of a Utilities man to operate it. Cost of the apparatus will be about $400, and whether it will be electrically-operated or run from a gasoline engine will be decided upon later.

The Commission approved a resolution of Kitchener Public Utilities Commission in which it was urged that the maximum depreciating reserve be set at 30 per cent in order that unnecessary reserves would not be set up. The local Commission pointed out that so far it didn't affect the local Utilities, but that they were in favor of the resolution in principle.

The secretary was authorized to send out a cheque for $25 covering premium in the group plan of public liability utilities insurance.

CAMPBELLFORD

Stanwood Church Has Anniversary Service

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 10 — (ENS). — Rev. David Grey of Stirling was guest speaker at the anniversary services held at Stanwood United Church Sunday. He delivered challenging messages at both services and special music was provided by the choir under the direction of Mrs. F. M. Rutherford. The anthem sung during the morning service was "Thanksgiving and Praise", and in the evening they gave "A Guide Divine." Guest soloists included, Miss Isobel Irwin, Mrs. Charles Milne and Mrs. C. McNeice. Rev. J. R. Holden, pastor, expressed thanks to the congregation for the generous offering they had contributed on the occasion. The anniversary celebration will conclude tonight with a supper and program in the church basement.

LAKEFIELD

Women's Institute Packs Ditty Bags

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 10 — (ENS). —The Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Roy Bullock and Mrs. W. J. Charlton reported 45 ditty bags had been filled while Mrs T Chaplin reported the Consumer's Branch meeting. Mrs. W. Gillman gave a recipe for meat bails using dry rice as a meat extender and Mrs. May Jory recited "Thoughts By The Way."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. J. Charlton.

Mayor Has a Big Job

PORT HOPE, Nov. 10 — (CP).—Mayor Charles Stephenson promised to send a letter to every Port Hope serviceman overseas if the town reached its Fifth Victory Loan objective. The citizens came through—so Mayor Stephenson has more than 300 letters to mail.

Generous Mr. X Made Money The Hard Way

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 — (CP). — Harry Falconer McLean got his money the hard way—and maybe that's why he's been dropping ten spots, centuries and grands in the hands of the little fellows he meets in his wanderings. The patients and staff in Toronto Christie Street Military Hospital experienced his largess 10 days ago. He was in Halifax more recently Down there he gave a couple of thousand dollars to the 5 months-old son of his taxi driver.

McLean, 60-year-old head of Dominion Construction Corp. Ltd., of Toronto, who lives in Merrickville. Ont., 35 miles from Ottawa, isn't one to get his name in the papers often. But he does things on the spur of the moment—like the time in 1939 when he decided he'd fly around the world for his health and did so, with Nurse R. Atkinson of Toronto.

Mr. McLean turned up in the capital last night but none of that free money has begun to show — yet. The legendary construction executive registered at an Ottawa hotel last evening and was entertaining friends when reporters called at the door. McLean, big, jovial and grey-haired, invited the newsmen in for a drink, but declined to be interviewed.

Friends said he was expected to leave for the United States shortly.

Now a top-flight executive reputedly worth millions, McLean hasn't found life a bed of roses. He started as a water boy with Winston Bros., a railway construction firm in Minneapolis. Later he became timekeeper with a Montreal firm and then—starting up in earnest —was made general superintendent of Toronto Construction Co., a post he held until 1912 when he became general manager of Cook Construction Co.

Worked His Way Up.

The First Great War came along and McLean became a colonel. His friends say it was his army experience that has endeared servicemen to him — and why servicemen so often are the recipients of his informal gifts.

Back in Canada, he held many executive posts and at one time operated a construction firm carrying his own name—Harry F. McLean Ltd. He took over as president of Dominion Construction in 1931.

No construction job has stopped him. He built the Abitibi River dam and power project and helped push a tunnel more than 100 miles long from the Catskill watershed to New York City When the present war began he got into it as best he could, building airports and vital industrial plants. He keeps busy, often travelling between two or three major jobs in a few hours by plane.

But he'd sooner be in the thick of things, he told one reporter in an interview.

"Here's what I'd like to be doing, kid," he said, "taking my own plane and $1,000,000 worth of bombs.

"Boy. Would I like to unload on a few good targets myself."

McLean was born at Bismarck, N.D., February 28, 1883, son of John A. McLean of Prince Edward Island and Mary L. Falconer of Glengarry County, Ont.

Premier Drew On Education

The best news of the current Education Week comes from the pronouncements of Premier Drew. He made a speech in Toronto on Monday night which set forth, with admirable clarity and simplicity, his plans for the educational development of Ontario, and those plans will recommend themselves, we feel, to the majority of those in the Province who are genuinely concerned with the cause of education.

Boiled down to its essence, Premier Drew's opinion is that of Socrates — namely, that wisdom is virtue, and that the truly well-educated man is the best citizen. The training of body, mind and character are inextricable; that was the Greek idea, and one which bore fruit in the Golden Age of Athens, probably the most genuinely productive and influential period in the history of the human race. That is the ideal of education which Premier Drew seeks to introduce in Ontario. The path will not be an easy one; the Greek ideal has been given lip service for centuries, but it has rarely been pursued by an elementary organization so large or so complex as that which exists in Ontario. Many a Minister of Education has spoken along these lines before, but none whom we can recall has spoken with such a business-like air as Premier Drew.

He has progressive ideas, also, about the use of the film and the radio in education. These mediums have been used to good advantage in Britain and the U.S. for years, but Canada has lagged behind. It is scarcely necessary to stress their value. Instruction by radio can supplement teaching in the classroom, and in such subjects as music, history, English literature, and sciences it can bring experts to the most obscure country school to give instruction which the resident teachers can then proceed to elaborate. The film is clearly a first-rate medium for giving instruction in geography and, as Premier Drew suggests, in history. His idea that great scenes of history might be re-enacted for classroom exhibition may not be an entirely happy one; we have never seen a film of this type which carried conviction. No actor, in a wig, spouting the sentiments of Laurier or Macdonald is likely to make those great men very real to classes of children. But the film has other possibilities, and educators will know what they are.

The progressive attitude which Premier Drew takes toward education is extremely welcome, and will do much to increase the faith which the people of Ontario have already shown in him.

A Letter From Jesus Christ

We have received a curious communication from a reader who tells us that the Denver Post and a number of other newspapers are paying considerable attention to a letter which is alleged to have been written by Our Lord and deposited by Him under a stone at the foot of His cross; copies of it are being circulated on the chain-letter system, and dire misfortune is supposed to befall any who dare to break the chain.

Our informant sends us also the contents of the letter, which is a crude imposture, obviously written by someone lacking both education and guile; it is couched in a rough approximation of the English of the King James Bible, but its grammar is faulty; its message consists of an adjuration to observe the Sabbath day by doing nothing, to avoid wearing fine clothes on the Sabbath, and to fast for five Fridays in the year. The letter ends with a curse on those who fail to spread the injunctions contained in the letter itself, and promises a blessing on any house where a copy of the letter is to be found.

The whole thing is clearly the concoction of some zealous and simple-minded soul, too ignorant to be aware of the impiety of such a forgery. We would not give this matter any publicity if we did not wish to warn any of our readers who might be credulous enough to pay some attention to this chain-letter if it should reach them. The letter itself is harmless enough, but the spirit in which it is conceived is detestable.

Why, you may ask, would anyone trouble to circulate such a letter, and who would believe it? Thousands and hundreds of thousands would believe it. No imposture is too gross to gain credence in some circles, and the history of frauds of this kind is a long one. They range from the most cunning forgeries to such tomfoolery as the letter which has come to our notice. During the last century great attention was attracted to a document which was supposed to be an account of Christ's crucifixion sent by Pilate to Tiberius. It was a clever piece of faking, but it was quickly exposed. Another forgery of the kind was the supposed Gospel of Joseph, which was alleged to be the source-book for the gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, written by a contemporary of Our Lord immediately after the crucifixion; as it was written in Renaissance Greek and not in the Greek of the gospels it was exposed almost before it became known to the world of scholarship. But these two impostures were fairly elaborate; a French millionaire once paid a large sum for a bundle of letters, reputedly written by Judas Iscariot, which were in French on ordinary notepaper!

The world is full of credulous people. That is why a chain-letter purporting to contain a hitherto undiscovered message from Christ should be put down rigorously. It can do no good and might possibly do much harm.

Was Wellington a Cricketer?

When Winston Churchill was a boy he went to famous Harrow School. Now, with all the cares of the wartime premier on his back, he still finds time to pay visits to the scenes of his boyhood, and on Friday last he spoke thus in an address to the Harrow boys:

"I can see myself, it seems but yesterday, a small boy in these audiences, feeling the thrill of songs of the school and the glory of England and its history surrounding and about me, and always praying the day might come when I should have the great honor of doing something to forward the great association with which our lives have been connected".

The Ottawa Journal takes note of this, and comments:

"Everybody has heard of the traditional rivalry of Eton and Harrow, with the former having, perhaps, the edge on its opponent through the famous dictum of Wellington: 'The battle of Waterloo was won on the playing field of Eton'. It looks, however, as if this proud claim might soon be supplemented and it may be added: 'But Britain's greatest war was determined in the halls of Harrow'".

It may be so. But there are grave doubts that the Duke of Wellington ever made such a remark. He went to school before Dr. Arnold of Rugby spread the belief that the only sure way of making a Christian gentleman was by means of games, and sent thousands of little boys chasing balls of various sizes through England's green and pleasant land. In his recent Life of the Duke of Wellington Richard Aldington points out that when the Duke himself was at Eton he rarely played games of any sort, preferring to go for solitary walks in the country. Possibly the Duke thought that the playing-fields developed good junior officers, but had little value for great commanders.

We hate to banish the vision of the young Duke of Wellington, knocking up sixes on the playing-fields of Eton, and the old Duke, praising manly sport as a preparation for warfare, but we love truth even better than legend.

The Battered Bard

In the New York Times account of the funeral of the late Max Reinhardt we read that the Rev. Dr. Stephen S. Wise concluded his eulogy with these words: "...we say only, in the words he loved, in immortal poetry whose beauty and glory he brought to multitudes in our own tongue and his native tongue, 'and troops of angels sing thee to thy rest'". Somewhere, either in the mind of Rabbi Wise or the Times' reporter, this oratorical transport has become badly mussed; Max Reinhardt, the greatest theatre genius of his time, never loved a misquotation or an actor who fumbled a crucial line. The quotation from Hamlet should be, 'and flights of angels sing thee to thy rest'.

Rabbi Wise, or the Times reporter, should have looked that up before using it at a funeral or in an obituary notice. It is a good example of the commonest sort of misquotation — that which unerringly and brutally destroys the poetry of the line. To the sensitive ear 'flights' is the right word in the right place; 'troops' simply will not do. As well say 'gangs' or 'fighter squadrons'. When Rabbi Wise himself journeys to Elysium Max Reinhardt will probably tick him off for not knowing his lines better.

Perhaps Shakespeare will have a few words with the Rabbi, too, if he is not broken to misquotation by then. No other author is quoted so frequently, and with such wanton disregard for accuracy. Perhaps the popular Shakespeare envies Bacon, who is never quoted except by pedants who would rather be taken in adultery than with a misplaced comma, and consequently is rarely quoted at all.

Three Faces Of Fascism

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

THREE books have come to hand from the Macmillan company which give three quite different pictures of Fascism, and for this reason it may be interesting to consider them as a group. All, it may be said as a beginning, are excellent in their way. The first, and in my opinion the best, is "See What I mean?" a novel by Lewis Browne which gives us a notion of how the various Fascist organizations in the United States gained their following. Lewis Browne began his career as a Rabbi, but soon turned author; his desire to fight against what he believes to be wrong, however, is still his driving force, and he preaches with his pen. Some of his books, like "This Believing World"—a study of comparative religion—have been first-rate and have made his reputation. Others, like his recent "Something Went Wrong," have merely been superficial, ill-informed, and worthless. Impatience with facts has been his great fault as a pamphleteer. But "See What I Mean?" is a novel, and artistic truth is more in Mr. Browne's line than factual truth.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE narrator is Clem Smullet, a discredited Los Angeles press-agent and blackmailer. Clem is an excellent creation; every aspect of his nasty little mind is revealed as he tells the story of The Crusade, the fascist movement with which he was mixed up. The head of The Crusade was John Christian Power—"The Power"—and its object was to show that the Jews were responsible for all that ails America and the world. Power was a fanatic—vegetarian, teetotaller, and physical culture addict—who gave enemas in a health-hotel before he founded The Crusade; aided by Smullet and Doc Gribble, a petty racketeer, he built up a small but ugly 'movement' which collapsed only after the attack on Pearl Harbour roused the U.S. to action. Power's personal secret, too, was death to The Crusade, but he kept it hidden as long as he could.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE sordid means by which the essentially fascist Crusade was kept going are fully revealed; as Mr. Browne has had much to do with anti-fascist investigation we may assume that his material is authentic, and certainly it has the ring of truth. The book is amusing, sordid, and somewhat frightening; the kind of people who join the Crusade, and their reasons for doing so, are the kind of people and the kind of thinking which we meet with too often in daily life. The ease with which a showman and a crook can dupe a great part of the public reflects painfully on our democracy. This is a novel which I recommend strongly, as good entertainment and a warning to those who have a simple faith in the judgment of "the common man." The common man doesn't stand a chance if he falls under the spell of a slick crook like Clem Smullett.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE second of these books about Fascism is "Kathrine," by Hans Habe. It is a pleasure to read this book because it is written by a man who looks on the novel as an art-form, and shapes his story with conscious skill. Written in German, it has been admirably translated by Harry Hansen. Kathrine is the mistress of a wealthy French manufacturer; as she has been his mistress for more than a decade no one need search the book for spicy scenes; there are none. Her life is devoted to one subject—the establishment of her daughter Manuela in the society which has always been closed to her mother; the plain fact that Manuela is selfish, commonplace and silly are hidden from Kathrine, and she works toward her end with all that power of scheming and devotion which some people can apply to unworthy causes. The main business of the novel is the revelation of Kathrine's character, which is fascinating, and likely to be a novelty to Canadian readers.

BUT behind the principal plot lies all the story of France during the years before the German invasion. It was a sick country—sick with ideas. A country may be compared to a man in this: if it is going to play with dangerous ideas it must have a strong character; otherwise the ideas will destroy such character as already exists. In the world of the past ten years there has been plenty of decadent intellectuality and plenty of stupid strength; there has been a pitiful lack of strength which can balance and appraise daring new ideas. This lack showed itself clearly in France, where ideas have always had plenty of scope, but where character failed in too many high places. In "Kathrine" we see that failure at work, through the eyes of a skillful novelist.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE third book is not a novel, but a record of an experience. It is 'Free Trip To Berlin" by Isabel Russel Guernsey, a Canadian who was a passenger on the "Zamzam" when it was torpedoed and the passengers taken prisoner by the Germans. For fifteen months she was interned in Germany, most of the time in Berlin, and was allowed to wander freely about that city. She appears to have had as good a time as was possible under the circumstances, talked to all sort of people, met P. G. Wodehouse — whom she describes as being "bewildered" — and even made a few friends, notably a Jewish professor who has since died. Mrs. Guernsey writes in a lively and pleasant style, not at all like the portentous manner of the press correspondent, and not in the stodgy manner affected by most Canadians. Her book is unpretentious and honest, and the picture which it gives of Fascism, though unpleasant, is novel in that it shows fairly decent people living in a fairly decent manner under an utterly indecent system of government. It should be read widely.

'Give Us Oleo'

In spite of all that may be said, I believe it little short of a crime that we are unable to substitute margarine for butter at this time. If the armed forces or Russia or Greece or Africa need our butter, let them have it. We can go without. But whoy deny us the use of margarine?

In Denmark, the greatest butter-producing country in the world, there is (or was) more margarine used than butter.

There were 300 margarine factories in little Denmark with its 3,000,000 people. No one disputes that butter is richer in food value but, when one cannot get butter, margarine is an excellent substitute. — Letter from Taycheedah, Wis., in the Milwaukee Journal.

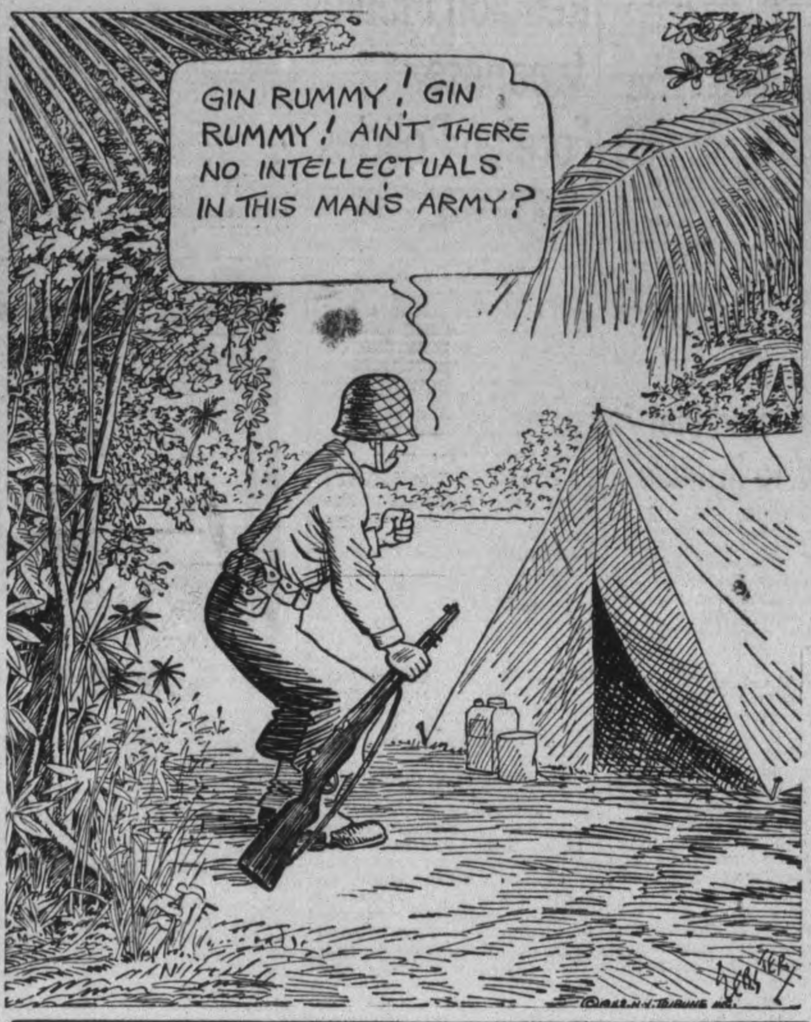
BRIDGE



An Abuse of Power?

(MILWAUKEE JOURNAL)

THERE is increasing reaction against what the public believes is the abuse of power by labour unions. The reaction has shown itself in legislation in Congress—both proposed and passed. It has cropped out in at least a dozen States where laws have been passed defining and, in some cases, curbing labour's rights.

The support for these laws has come from those who believe in unions but think they have become too arrogant in their attitude and have abused their powers, and from those who are frankly enemies of union labour and would smash it—if they could.

Conspicuously lacking has been any effective leadership from labour's ranks to clean up the sore spots, to stop the abuses, to convict the small minority of racketeers and crooks—in short, to improve unions and to improve the labour laws.

Not only has there been no leadership from labour's top men in this direction, but there has been consistent opposition to all major attempts to rectify existing abuses. This has further changed public opinion to the point that many an average fair-minded person has listened with increasing sympathy to the enemies of labour.

It would be remarkable if the public had not inclined toward this state of mind. It has noted the scandalous record of George Scalise, ex-convict and now a convict again, who made his money from the sweat of scrubwomen and labourers in a union he dominated. The fair-minded average citizen had seen the racketeering George E. Browne sit as vice-president of the A.F.L. The public has noted that no high A.F.L. official helped expose the rottenness of Mr. Browne, or of his pal in the shakedown of the motion picture industry, Willie Bioff, who, as a convict, now retells the whole sordid story at a trial of still other pals.

The public knows that most union labour is sound. It knows that most unionism is honest. But it can't understand why union leaders, almost to a man, resist efforts to correct abuses by law. It can't understand why, when an honest labour leaders, such as David Dubinsky, rose to ask a resolution to clean out racketeers, he was punched in the nose at an A.F.L. convention.—Milwaukee Journal.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

WOMEN almost invariably esteem widowers the capital prizes in marriage. This is not without reason, for the widower is generally a settled man who can offer his wife a home and security so that the second wife reaps where the first wife sowed, and lives in luxury because her predecessor pinched pennies.

Also, the widower has been broken in to domesticity. Like Mr. Kipling's hero, he has learned about women from Number One and doesn't go blundering in on those sacred feminine precincts where even an angel would fear to tread. He has learned to eat what is set before him without offering any criticisms on it; the futility of arguing with a woman instead of yes-yesing her; that it costs money to tell a wife that her hat is a scream and her new dress makes her look fatter. Above all, he has acquired the priceless knowledge that you can jolly a woman into going anywhere, but you can't drive her an inch.

WIDOWERS SNAPPED UP QUICKLY

ALL of this saves a bride a lot of work and worry, so it is no wonder that women prefer house-broken husbands to ones that they will have to train themselves, and that widowers are snapped up by the matrimonial bargain-hunters the first minute they show signs of beginning to take notice.

But, alas, in this imperfect world nothing ever quite comes up to expectations, and, lucky as is the woman who gets a widower, there are still a few crumped rose leaves under her forty mattresses of ease. The biggest bump, of course, is the children, with which the widower is only too often too plentifully supplied, and who regard a stepmother as their hereditary enemy against whom they are justified in using Commando tactics. The cruel stepmother is a legendary figure, who are generally aided and abetted by their mothers' families.

What these darling innocents can do to torment the unfortunate woman, who is doing her best to try to civilize them and teach them decent manners, deserves a whole chapter in the Book of Martyrs. She is at their mercy and the little demons know it, for she can't tell on them, while they can run to Papa with their grievances and start something. For Papa feels that he has to side with his poor, motherless babies.

MAN STILL LOVES FIRST WIFE

AND, even when there are no children to complicate the situation, being a Number Two wife is not always the cinch that the optimistic lady who undertook the job expected it to be. Frequently she finds that unbeknownst to herself she has committed bigamy and that her husband is far more married to the lady out in the cemetery than he is to her. For the old adage that blessings brighten as they fade finds no more curious verification than it does among widowers.

Many a man who has fought from the altar to the grave with his wife canonizes her as soon as she is dead. He may have criticized her cooking and housekeeping. He may have called her a dummy. He may have raised ructions over the bills. He may have spent most of his waking hours wondering why he married her and pitying himself because he did. But once she is gone where she can't bore him and rub his fur the wrong way any longer, she becomes a shining example of feminine perfection, and Mrs. Number Two has to spend her life listening to the saga of her virtues.

Why more second wives don't take the carving knives to their husbands who tell them at every meal how Mary cooked, and how she could run a house and set a good table on practically nothing but air, and how she never paid more than $5 for a hat, is a mystery past all understanding.

SECOND WIFE JEALOUS OF FIRST'S GHOST

ALSO, there are husbands so lacking in all understanding of feminine psychology that they don't realize that their second wives don't want to be reminded continually that there were women before who occupied their places. They don't want the walls covered with pictures of their husbands' first wives. They would rather live in a tent than in the house that Mary or Jane planned. And they would rather eat with their fingers on a board than off of her mahogany table and with the solid silver she got as a wedding present.

These good, stupid men never know that the reason their wives are unhappy is because they are ghost ridden, and because there is no siren on earth of whom a wife can be so jealous as she can be of her husband's first wife.

History via Hollywood

For at least 30 years educators and others have been talking about the use of films in the schoolroom to teach the younger generation history, geography, and kindred of the social sciences in a more realistic fashion. But little has been done about it, except to a very limited extent. Perhaps this is because the movie producers themselves have been doing a fairly creditable job through the regular channels of commercial distribution.

This thought struck us recently after viewing two stimulating biographical films, "Tennessee Johnson" and "The Young Mr. Pitt." The first (although it took many liberties with incidental situations) succeeded in bringing to millions of theatregoers the basic truth about a much maligned and much misunderstood President of the United States — facts which American school children never learn, unless they later read such authentic biographies as George Fort Milton's "Age of Hate."

The Pitt picture, produced in Great Britain, was principally of value, it seemed to us, because of its present-day parallel. Britain, in William Pitt's day, was also at one time left without allies, facing alone a ruthless aggressor who was separated from what seemed to be certain victory by only the width of the English Channel. Pitt and Nelson, plus other factors, such as the British tenacity which appeared again in 1940, saved the day. But it is interesting to speculate whether the United States of America would have become a Napoleonic vassal had the Continental dictator got his armies across the Channel, or had Nelson failed at Trafalgar.—Christian Science Monitor.

A Bible Message

Knowest not thou this of old, since man was placed upon earth, that the triumphing of the wicked is short, and the joy of the hypocrite but for a moment?.... He shall fly away as a dream, and shall not be found: yea, he shall be chased away as a vision of the night. (Job 20: 4, 5, 8.)

O Lord, thou hast searched me, and known me. Thou knowest my downsitting and mine uprising, thou understandest my thought afar off....

Search me, O God, and know my heart: try me, and know my thoughts: and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting. (Ps. 139: 1, 2, 23, 24.)

Letter To The Editor

CHILDREN IN HEAVEN.

Sir,—May I have a little space in your good paper—for I was moved by "a bit of humanity" shown in the address given over CHEX by Flight Lieutenant Lloyd Parnall. I did not hear the address but I read it in the Examiner afterward. In the course of his talk he said, you have not heard the wail of sirens or the whine of bombs or seen the wreckage of a hundred homes piled high before you or heard the heart-rending terrified scream of a child. That last sentence hurt my soul, for it matters not where that cry came from, it is the cry of innocence, and a mother knows the anguish of that other mother no matter if it be enemy or friend.

What becomes of these little ones? I will tell you: They are taken Home and tenderly cared for. Our Saviour tells us that these angels do always behold the face of my Father; but I have other information from the same source given to Swedenborg nigh on 200 years ago. In one of his books—"Heaven and Hell," he has a chapter on "Little Children in Heaven." No fairy tale either. Here is the opening of the chapter: "It is a belief of some that only such children as are born in the church go to Heaven and that those born out of the church do not, for the reason that those born in the church are baptised. Such are not aware that no one receives Heaven by baptism but that it is the sign that such should be regenerated, etc. Let them know, therefore, that every child whether within the church or out of it, whether of pious parents or impious are received in Heaven when they die and are trained up in Heaven." There is much more than here written but here is enough food for thought.—Thanking you, I am, yours truly,

M. B.

Robing the Mayor

In the course of discussion on supplementary clothing coupons for mayors the Mayor-elect of Blackpool has been quoted as saying that he had the offer of a stage mayoral robe, but that, if the worst comes to the worst, he can always fall back on his dressing-gown. Actually Blackpool is one of very few boroughs (it may be the only one) in the country where each mayor has the privilege of buying his own gown. Moreover, he chooses his own colour and usually picks it according to his politics. So that Liberal mayors at Blackpool are often robed in red while Tories select blue (those being the local colours.)

The failure of a mayor to appear properly clad today carries no such penalties as in days gone by, when it was not merely customary for the "first citizen" to appear on important occasions suitably robed but compulsory. It was laid down in 1415 that Lord Mayors of London should wear scarlet gowns on festivals and state occasions, violet or black robes on less important days; in 1585 to wear his scarlet on holidays "....as of ancient tyme hath ben accoustymed."—Manchester Guardian.

Simonds Returns To Head Tank Division

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 (CP)— It has not been defence department policy in recent months to connect divisional commanders with specific divisions, but a study of the progression of appointments indicates the set-up now is this:

5th (Armored) Division — Maj.-Gen. Guy Simonds, 40, Kingston, Ont.

Appointment of Gen. Vokes to a divisional command, announced last week, apparently makes him the fifth leader of the 1st Division, original formation of Canada's overseas army. While it has not been specifically announced, it is taken for granted in London that Gen. Vokes succeeded Gen. Simonds in command of that division, now in action in Italy with the British 8th Army.

First McNaughton

Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, now commander of the 1st Canadian army overseas, took the division to Britain late in 1939 with rank of major-general, and he was succeeded by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes of Calgary, now head of Pacific command. That much was announced officially.

After the 1st Division went into action in Sicily it was permitted to be said that Gen. Pearkes was succeeded by Maj.-Gen. H. L. N. Salmon of Winnipeg and Toronto—killed last April in an air crash—and that he in turn was succeeded by Gen. Simonds, switched from another division.

The 2nd Division started out under Maj.-Gen. Victor W. Odlum of Vancouver, now Canadian Minister to China. He was succeeded by Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar of Ottawa, who later became commander of the 1st Canadian Corps. When units of the 2nd Division participated in the Dieppe attack in August, 1942, under Maj.-Gen. J. H. Roberts, it became known definitely that Crerar had been succeeded by Roberts in the divisional post.

The army announced April 14 that Gen. Simonds had succeeded Gen. Roberts when the latter became commander of all Canadian army reinforcements in the United Kingdom. About a month later Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. (Tommy) Burns of Ottawa was appointed a divisional commander. Since it now is known definitely that Gen. Simonds was switched to the 1st Division after Gen. Salmon's death, presumably Gen. Burns went to the 2nd Division post which this switch vacated. Only one vacancy was known to exist at the time.

The first commander of the 3rd Division was Maj.-Gen. E. W. Sansom, of Montreal, now commanding the 2nd Corps overseas. When he took over the first armored division (the 5th), the 3rd infantry was turned over to Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price of Westmount, Que., the army announced. Then Price became Overseas Commissioner for the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Two Vacancies

There were two divisional commands vacant in early September, 1942, when Gen. Salmon and Gen. R.F.L. Keller were named to lead divisions. Since Salmon now is known to have gone to the 1st Division, apparently Keller went to the 3rd—the other vacancy—and so far as is known he still commands it.

The 4th Division, which went overseas last year (the 5th preceded it, arriving overseas two years ago), started out as an infantry division under Maj.-Gen. L. F. Page, now commander of the Atlantic command. When it was reorganized as an armored division the army announced that Gen. Worthington, Canada's veteran tank expert, had taken it over. There has been no indication that he does not still head it.

The 5th Division—Canada's first venture in the field of large tank formations—was originally headed by Gen. Sansom, shifted from the 3rd Division. When he became commander of the 2nd Corps it was announced Maj.-Gen. G. R. Stein, 46, of Quebec, succeeded him as commander of a division. Now, according to announcement overseas, Gen. Stein is taking another post and his division—presumably still the 5th—has gone to Gen. Simonds, fresh from Italy.

TRENT RIVER

H. Pollock Has 85th Birthday

TRENT IIVER, Nov. 10 (ENS). —Henry Pollock celebrated his 85th birthday at his home on Sunday. He has been a resident of Trent River for 68 years, coming here as a boy of 17.

The year before Mr. Pollock came the first bridge to span "the Narrows" was built across the river, and he says the road through what is now the village was only a wagon trail. In his younger days Mr. Pollock operated a general store where McLaughlin's store is now, and was known as a guide and trapper.

In later years Mr. Pollock built boats and canoes, and his small 13-foot trapper's canoe became famous along the river amongst trappers and guides for its workmanship and durability.

A dinner in his honor was served at his home on Sunday, with 22 guests present. They were: Mrs. Sam Ellis of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Pollock and family of Trent River, Mrs. E. Kennedy and daughter Mrs. Hyssop and Mrs. Anne Nancarrow and R. W. Nancarrow of Kingston, Mrs. Richards and Mrs. oJhn Pollock, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pollock of Rush Point, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pollock and family, and Fred Pollock and son Beverly of Havelock, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. McNeely, Toronto, and Mrs. J. McNeely, Mrs. John Post, and Mrs. J. Ruttan of Trent River.

The Junior Welfare League wish to express their sincere thanks to all those who so kindly helped in aiding their recent annual Thrift Sale. Namely, the Public, the Press, the Merchants, the Dairies, and all friends who generously responded by donating many saleable articles. The proceeds to War and Child Welfare.

BAILIEBORO

Women's Institute Appoints Delegate

BAILIEBIRO, Nov. 10 — (ENS) —The November meeting of the Women's Institute was held in Fletcher's Hall, ten ladies present. Miss Clara Seens was appointed as delegate to attend the annual convention in Toronto this week. The convention resolutions were read and discussed, and it was decided to have the December meeting in the form of a Christmas social at the home of Mrs. Roy Greer. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in quilting three war quilts.

Personals.

Twelve members of the Women's Association met in Bateson's Hall and quilted two comforters. It was decided to send fruit and flowers to Mrs. Joseph Lancaster and Mrs. Blanche Dawson.

The Junior Room of the school has been closed because the teacher, Mrs. Ada Montgomery, and two of the pupils are suffering from mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Armstrong have moved into the house formerly occupied by Miss Charlotte Wood.

Miss Bertha Jewison and Mrs. L. Tyler of Toronto spent a few days with their brother, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jewison.

Mrs. Thomas Dawson and Mrs. S. Finnie have moved into the home of Miss Jean Dawson.

Miss Eileen Thompson spent the week-end with her friend, Miss Edith Cook in Foxboro.

Mrs. Way Byers is spending a few days with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Morgan of Ajax.

Miss Lottie Wood left Saturday to spend a few months in Toronto.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Heaslip on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. William Bamsey of Quays, and Miss Florence Bamsey, Mr. and Mrs. John Dew of Peterborough.

Christ Church will hold anniversary services on Sunday, November 14.

Women Warned Home Comes First

HAMILTON, Nov. 10 (CP)—"As individuals, women must first be the mothers of the race and accept the training of young children, which is a responsibility, a duty, and a great privilege," declared Mrs. Clarence Holmes, Belleville, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, to-day. She addressed the Hamilton area Women's Institutes convention, which opened a two-day session.

Mrs. Holmes said: "The want of home influence is tragically affecting the young to-day. One of our most precious possessions is in jeopardy by this war—the ideal of the home as a unit and influence.

"A mother who is physically and mentally tired, cannot do her job of keeping her family happy and healthy so efficiently as one who has some interests outside her home," the provincial president said. "The Women's Institutes offer this outside interest."

USE PEPSODENT WITH IRIUM AND ADD CHARM TO YOUR SMILE!

You will have more poise...more charm...even more pleasing personality, if you can smile confidently...buoyantly. And you can, if your teeth are given their natural brilliance. Make sure that your teeth are bright and lustrous. Film on teeth collects stains, makes teeth look dull and dingy. Pepsodent with Irium removes that film...uncovers the natural brightness of your smile.

Only Pepsodent contains IRIUM

How IRIUM in Pepsodent uncovers brighter teeth

This film-coated mirror illustrates how smiles look when commonplace methods don't clean film away.

But look what Irium does to that film! It loosens and floats it away, leaves the surface clean and bright.

That's how Pepsodent with Irium uncovers the natural, cheery brightness of your smile . . . safely, gently.

TAMBLYN APPRECIATES CO-OPERATION

Just a few days ago we were told by one of our "Good Friends" that it was a "Treat to shop in a Tamblyn Store"—the clerks were so friendly and anxious to please. We, of course, were greatly pleased with this statement as naturally those are the kind of things we like to hear. On the other hand, we also know that the co-operation of our patrons has enabled us to maintain to the fullest that friendly atmosphere. The shortage of merchandise in a number of lines, we know, quite often is both disconcerting and in many cases works a hardship on you our Customers and we indeed appreciate the fact that wherever possible you have satisfied your needs with other contemporary and procurable products. So when you visit your nearest Tamblyn Store and by chance they are forced by these circumstances to say "Sorry" to your wishes, please bear in mind that they greatly appreciate your forbearance and will do their utmost, we are sure, to please you and maintain that quality of Service which has always been synonymous with the Tamblyn name.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Basketball will swing into the centre of the sport stage here Friday night when the Ladies' Basketball League at the Y.W.C.A. will pry the lid off what is expected to be a very successful season. The opening double-header will give the fans a chance to see four of the league teams in action. In the first game on the card scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, the Y Cadets will clash with a new entry Payne's Transports while the C.G.E. team will meet the St. John's team in the second half of the twin bill. Both games should be full of action. The Transports are made up of a number of well known girl cage stars, most of whom performed for the Y and the Y Cadets last season and they are looked upon as one of the teams to beat. The Cadets have lost some of their last season's battle array but they have filled up the gaps with young players and should have a good season. The second game will mark the return of St. John's to the league after an absence of a year and the church team have gathered together most of the girls who formerly performed for them, with Bob Dyer scheduled to do the coaching. C.G.E. sparked by Mary McPherson and other well-known basketball stars will be strong in every department. The opening games rate a good crowd and will probably get it.

The attendance of prominent sporting officials at the funeral of J. Percy Bond here Tuesday testified in unmistakable language to the high esteem in which the Peterborough sportsman was held by leaders in sport circles throughout the country. Mr. Bond had long been associated with them in the governing of sport, especially of hockey, in Ontario and in Canada generally and he had earned the liking and respect of all of them with the result that these sporting celebrities made the trip to Peterborough to pay their last respects to a colleague whose counsel was always welcome and whose comradeship was always appreciated. W. A. Hewitt for decades secretary of the Ontario Hockey Association and of the C.A.H.A., Past President W. A. Fry of Dunnville, Past President George Dudley of Midland, P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Ontario Olympic Committee, Fred Steele, secretary of the Ontario Athletic Commission, Charles E. Higginbottom of the Central Ontario branch of the A.A.U. of C. and R. G Fry. secretary of the same branch, and Beulah Davidson, veteran member of the O.H.A. executive were among the prominent figures in sport who attended the funeral here yesterday.

Outlook Dark

While the situation in regard to military hockey teams and soldier players is not exactly clear it is evident from the alarmist reports from centres in which military players were expected to star this winter that dire developments are in the wind. Some light on the situation is supplied by Bill Walshe, Kingston sports scribe, in an article in which commenting on the Kingston Soldiers-Montreal Army exhibition game in which Joe Blewett notched two of the four Kingston goals he remarks: "Kingston and Montreal soldier hockey teams held what they termed an embarkation party Saturday night following the exhibition game at the Jock Harty Arena, the majority of them expecting immediate moves overseas or to other camps, following the recent army orders. Orders have been issued from M.D. 3 Headquarters that the Kingston soldier team must be withdrawn from the O.H.A. senior series but the Kingston civilian hockey executive has asked the O.H.A. to consider Kingston as a contender and the team may be reorganized to start the schedule next Friday. A delegation from Kingston will go to Ottawa in an effort to get the army order modified that forces the immediate dispatch overseas of all players. Arrangements to meet high Ottawa officials were completed by telephone Sunday. According to word from Ottawa the blackout of senior hockey was ordered by Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of National Defence, before he went overseas but it so happens that Kingston is one of the few cities in Canada directly penalized. If soldier players from other army teams come to Kingston for military training an even stronger squad than the present club may be formed if the army will permit players to take part in open or senior competition. The Kingston delegation visiting Ottawa will be well fortified with facts to plead for permission to continue senior play if it does not interfere with Canada's war effort or the immediate needs of the army."

* * * * * *

"Typical of soldiers, there were no squawks at the final party when both teams were entertained by the Kingston Club," continues the Walshe article, "although many agreed that the order to ship all army hockey players overseas, even if they are not needed, seems hysterical. The official army order, printed in this column Saturday, is repeated again to show the public the exact decision. It is as follows: "Dispatch of all players up to standards of overseas service will be made as soon as they are qualified, whether or not a shortage exists in the army service, army trade or specialty in which they may have been trained." The R.C.A.F. and Navy will continue with their sport plans so senior hockey will not completely collapse in Canada while a few civilian clubs will carry on. Ottawa Comandos, who will lose many soldier players, at the start of the season at least, will continue with civilians. The Laprades, of Port Arthur, who were inducted into the army in Kingston two weeks ago to play with the Commandos, were reported returning here for training but latest word from Ottawa is that they are posted to Camp Borden, where most of the senior hockey players will be marooned."

Likes Halifax Team

A letter to this column from Lieut. Lloyd Grose, former Peterborough football player who is at present on duty in Eastern Canada says that he saw the Halifax and Montreal Navy teams play at Halifax last Saturday and that Les Ascott and Emmet Creighton from Peterborough and Jack Lucas from Cobourg played with the winning Halifax team. Lieut. Grose says that the opinion of many of the service men from Ontario and Quebec who saw the battle said the winning team from H.C. M.S. Stadacona at Halifax are equal to any of the clubs in the Ontario or Quebec senior leagues. "The score (9 to 0 for Halifax) was no criterion of the play" the Peterborough officer writes, "for Halifax dominated at every point. They have a good team with a powerful line and an excellent backfield. Les Ascott," the letter says, "played his first game. He was very good. He started as a regular and played right inside wing."

Clayborne Loses In Lively Tilt

By this time Gentleman Jack Clayborne has probably decided that there is something wrong with his aerial attack. Twice here recently he has taken to the air in important engagements and both times the strategy has back-fired.

The Black Comet lost a bout to Killer John Katan two weeks ago when the Panther ducked a flying tackle and the colored grappler went sailing out of the ring to make a perfect three-point landing on the arena floor. Last night Clayborne launched a similar tackle at Jan Gotch and again missed his target. This time he did not go out of the ring but he hit the ropes hard enough to drop him for the count.

The result was that the rough-house Gotch took the match for the bout was all even at one fall each when the Comet missed with his tackle. Gotch had taken the first fall in 18 minutes, and Clayborne had come back in ten minutes to sew up the bout. The third round lasted only three minutes.

The weekly Tunney wrestling show at the Brock Street Arena was a well-balanced card. Mike Demetre won a neat victory over a newcomer, Buddy Knox of Cleveland in the opener after 17 minutes and Rowdy Dick Hogan was disqualified in his semi-final brawl with another fresh addition to the Tunney talent, Nick Elitch of New York, for punching Referee Maxwell.

The Clayborne-Gotch battle was a strenuous affair with honors about even. Gotch, the stormy petrel of last week's show was plenty tough and none too careful about the methods he used and the colored star met him at his own game most of the time. The result was lots of action.

Clayborne punished Gotch early in the first round with arm holds and several times used a full nelson with considerable effect but the Pole weathered the storm and retaliated with a series of chin locks that had the Comet badly worried. He followed up by tossing Clayborne out through the ropes and repeating the feat several times when his black opponent got back in the ring. Finally, however, taking advantage of the fact that Referee Maxwell had Gotch by the hair in making him break a hold Clayborne cut loose with a barrage of punches to the jaw that had the bad man worried.

Ottawa Loses 3 Top Players

OTTAWA, Nov. 10.—(CP).—Floyd Perras and Edgar and Remi Paprade, members of Ottawa Commandos army hockey team, left last night to take basic training with the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps at Camp Borden, Ont., while Kenny Kilrea is expected to leave to-day for Barriefield camp near Kingston, Ont., for basic training with the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps.

Transfer of the four players was the first move under latest army regulations to affect Commandos, who opened the Quebec senior hockey season last week against Quebec Aces.

Hockey Meeting

WELLAND, Ont., Nov. 10.—(CP)—President F. W. Moore of the Ontario Hockey Association said today a meeting of representatives of all clubs in the senior series would be held in Toronto Sunday to consider the situation caused by the withdrawal of the Toronto Army Daggers from the series.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Senior hockey situation cleared slightly last night with the holding of an emergency meeting of the Quebec loop at Montreal when it was decided to make a fresh start with five clubs, disregarding league matches already played at Ottawa and Quebec City. The reorganization was found necessary through the withdrawal of Montreal Army under the stiffened military training order. For a time it looked as if Cornwall Army would withdraw and, even at the meeting, President Clarence Markell said he could give no guarantee of continued operation. The "new season" opens Friday night with Quebec Aces visiting Cornwall.

Pte. Turk Broda, formerly of the Leafs, has arrived at Petawawa Camp for military training, it was learned last night, and Ottawa Commandos, Allan Cup champions, were said to be fishing for his hockey services, the Commandos will carry on with practically a civilian line-up. In Toronto, it was announced the Army Daggers would drop from the Senior O.H.A. and it was still rumored Frontenac Army at Kingston might also find it necessary to retire from the O.H.A. because of army regulations.

From Peterborough, where he had gone to attend the funeral yesterday of Percy Bond, past president of the O.H.A., W. A. Hewitt, secretary of the Association, declared he had no final information of developments.

Has New Defence

Coach Reg Threlfall last night at Winnipeg attributed the poor showing of his R.C.A.F. Bombers in the Western playoff game last Saturday to a new defense formation of the Regina Rough Riders who used a five-man line, backed up by two rows of three men and only one player in the safety position. Peg was able to win only by a 1-0 score.

Pitcher Spud Chandler of the New York Yankees yesterday was designated the most valuable player of the American League, receiving 246 of a possible 336 points in the balloting of the Baseball Writers' Association. Chandler's record as 20 wins and four defeats, plus two straight victories in the World Series against the beaten St. Louis Cardinals.

A Great Game.

A capacity crowd of 48,000 is expected in Evanston, Ill., on Saturday to see North-Western stack up against Notre Dame, seven-time winner of the U.S. college football season. North-Western is sparked by Otta Graham whose 1943 record in forward-passing shows 25 completed out of 49 attempts.

Word from Halifax is that the Halifax Army hockey team will not operate this season. Among last season's players was Pte. Mike Welychka of Crowland, Ont., who is making a bid for a place with the Halifax Crescents, a civilian team.

Bridges 1-A

DETROIT (AP)—Pitcher Tommy Bridges, last member of the 1935 championship team of the Detroit Tigers, has been re-classified 1-A and has been ordered to take his final army examination Nov. 20, it was announced last night. Bridges is 36, married and has an eight-year-old daughter. He has been a member of the Tigers for his entire big-league career, joining the club in 1930.

War Worker

Mel Ott, playing manager of the New York Giants baseball team, has a new job now. The ball player is taking a wartime job building ships at New Orleans.

Demers Loses

NEW BEDFORD, Mass —(AP)—Fernand Demers, 150, of Montreal, did not last two rounds of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night when he was flattened by Leo Sawicki, 147, of Worcester. The Canadian was floored for a count of eight in the first frame and took the full 10 in the second.

A Fair Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army-Navy football classic, scheduled for Nov. 27 at West Point, came to the attention of War Secretary Henry Stimson yesterday when Representative Samuel Weiss of Pennsylvania made a plea for the transfer of the game to some city where it could be witnessed by 75,000 or more persons without a strain on transportation.

Kingston Stays In Army Hockey

TORONTO, Nov. 10. — (CP). — Secretary W. A. Hewitt of the Ontario Hockey Association said today he had been notfied by the management of Toronto Army Daggers that their entry in the O.H.A. senior series would be withdrawn.

"I have been notified by telephone that Daggers are out," said Mr. Hewitt. "I have not yet received notice in writing but that probably will be along soon. The game Daggers were scheduled to play in Hamilton Friday night has been cancelled and an executive meeting will be held soon to arrange a new schedule."

Mr. Hewitt added that he had been notified that Kingston Army would continue its entry in the series. Other teams are Toronto R.C.A.F., Toronto Navy, Hamilton and St. Catharines.

"Kingston Army can continue because it is a basic training centre, while Toronto is not," said Mr. Hewitt. "While some of the present Kingston players may be at the conclusion of their training, transferred elsewhere in mid-seaso" there probably will be others among men transferred there so they expect to be able to carry on."

The plant pictured is the latest addition to Sunoco's Marcus Hook Refinery, which every week produces enough 100-octane aviation gasoline to propel 2000 four-engine bombers from England to Berlin and back.

Adds to Sunoco's position as one of the world's largest producers of aviation fuel!

Now in full operation Sunoco's huge new aviation gasoline plant is the largest of its type in existence. In this self-contained plant, all petroleum components of aviation gasoline are produced and blended into the finest 100-octane fighting fuel. The new plant, added to the giant facilities already in operation, makes our Marcus Hook refinery one of the largest producers of 100-octane aviation fuel in the world.

Sun First to Make Catalytic Cracking Commercially Practical

Sunoco's leadership really began long before Pearl Harbor, when the company first made commercially practical a now-famous process of catalytic cracking. No greater contribution has been made to the war effort. For, without the principle of catalytic cracking, Allied aviation fuel requirements could not have been met.

A Triumph of Private Initiative

Sunoco's entire aviation fuel program has been accomplished without government aid or subsidy. Facilities costing more than 36 million dollars are now devoted to war production in the company's Marcus Hook refinery alone. It is only through such free play of private initiative that progress on this continent has been achieved.

Canada's Gerard Cote Wins Marathon Championship

Sergt. Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Quebec and the Canadian army, is shown as he crossed the finish line to win the annual national marathon championship at the Empire City race track, Yonkers, N.Y. By winning the race, Sergt. Cote duplicated the grand slam honors he won back in 1940. The race covered 20 miles of road running traversing the Westchester county route. Fred McGlone of Roxbury, Mass., was second, and Clayton Farrar, of the Millrose A.A., third. Cote was timed in two hours 38 minutes 35 and 3-5 seconds for the full marathon distance.

Durnan Leads All Net Minders

By The Canadian Press.

Preliminary statistics indicate Coach Dick Irvin made a shrewd move in gambling on Rookie Bill Durnan to guard the nets for the Montreal Canadiens this season.

Before the campaign opened Irvin was faced with a choice between Durnan, veteran Bert Gardiner, and 17-year-old Jerry McNeil from Quebec. Irvin picked Durnan. Gardiner, last year with Chicago Black Hawks, went to Boston Bruins after some behind-the-scenes bickering involving Canadiens, Bruins and Chicago.

After four games, Durnan leads all league goalies in the goals-against column with seven. Ironically, his nearest rival is Gardiner, who has allowed 10 goals in three games with Boston.

One of the tallest netminders in professional ranks (5 feet 10 inches) Durnan is launching his first season in the major leagues, but he had a long and distinguished record in amateur company with the Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior League.

His next league test comes Saturday against Detroit Red Wings in Montreal. Canadiens now share the league lead with Toronto Maple Leafs, who play Detroit in Toronto on Thursday, while the fourth-place Bruins visit the fifth-place Hawks Wings are in third place, two points behind the leaders.

TORONTO, Nov. 10—(CP)—Some of the most biting criticism of service hockey during the Broda boil-up a couple of weeks ago was directed at Ottawa which has won the Allan Cup the past two seasons. But the Army's new "soldier first" policy is hitting Ottawa just as it is affecting other cities. Jim McCaffrey of Ottawa Commandos announces (probably with tears in his eyes) that Edgar and Remi Laprade and Floyd Perras are leaving Ottawa to take their basic army training. McCaffrey says these three athletes, all army rookies, have played their last games for Commandos because army regulations insist they begin basic training immediately... The Laprades are from Port Arthur and Ed is considered one of the nation's greatest players. Perras is a goalie of wide experience... Ordinarily the Ottawa rink management would be wailing at loss of such players—but not Clare Brunton, who says his auditorium is sold out already for all 15 home games the Commandos will play there this season.

Rookie Joe:

After Frank Boucher, at 41, took over that centre ice position for New York Rangers with five years' retirement behind him, he told Dan Daniel of the New York World-Telegram: "I was jittery as a rookie when I went out there for my first comeback game Saturday. I went around talking to myself all day Saturday." Having scored a goal and two assists in his first two games, the Ranger coach is convinced he can continue through the season.

Incidentally:

Despite his previous announcement he will play no hockey this season because of a chipped bone in his knee, Frankie Eddolls may turn out with Montreal R.C.A.F. Alouettes. Eddolls says his knee feels more comfortable now although an operation is inevitable sooner or later... Hec Craig of Winnipeg, one of Manitoba's most active hockey officials before the war, now is Cmdr. Craig of the Canadian Navy and a newlywed. Hec married Norma Alleyne Rice of Halifax... Now that senior hockey is dead at the Lakehead, Freddy Edwards of the Fort William Times-Journal suggests an intermediate league be formed to keep the game alive... Calgary Army hockey team has four former Chicago Black Hawks—Max Bentley, Bobby Carse, Alex Kaleta and Ken Stewart.

Army May Ice Teams In Competition

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(CP)—Military districts across Canada have been sent a special order outlining the "mechanics" of carrying out the Army's policy in regard to service hockey teams, a Defence Department spokesman said Tuesday but he added the new order "does not, of itself, cancel hockey league entries by Canadian Army teams."

"The requirement that army training must come first may result in cancelling some army entries, because of loss of players, but there is no objection to army teams being entered if men are available under the established policy," he said.

In Toronto Secretary-Treasurer W. A. Hewitt of the Ontario Hockey Association had been quoted as saying he understood orders had been issued cancelling hockey league entries by Canadian army teams across the country.

"That is not correct," the Defence Department spokesman said. "The new order does not do that directly. Only if players are not available does it have that effect."

There was no word here, he said, of the reason for withdrawal of the Toronto Army Daggers entry in the Senior O.H.A., announced by Mr. Hewitt.

Joe Carveth Tops Scorers

MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (CP) — National Hockey League statistics released today show two Detroit forwards leading the scoring race.

Joe Carveth is atop the heap with nine points on three goals and six assists—three points a game for the three games he has played so far this season. Modere (Mud) Bruneteau, has eight points on seven goals and an assist.

Toronto's Theo Kennedy is third with seven points in five games, one up on a five-way tie for fourth spot.

Bruneteau's seven goals put him well up in the goal-scoring department, three ahead of a four-way tie for second spot, Carveth leads the assist column with his half-dozen while team-mate Pat Egan has five.

The League hasn't produced anybody who might be called a bad man as yet this season. Eight minutes in minors is the highest penalty time so far and three players have that mark—Grant Warwick of Rangers, Lorne Carr of Toronto and Murph Chamberlain of Canadiens.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Jack Sharkey met one of the 11 defeats of his career 24 years ago tonight when he was outpointed by Johnny Buff in a 15-round bantamweight bout at New York. Sharkey won the heavyweight title in 1931 and lost it to Primo Carnera at Long Island N.Y. two years later.

Navy Can Spoil Beaches Trophy Hopes

TORONTO, Nov. 10 — (CP). — The Sailors of H.M.C.S. York stand squarely astride a football dilemma to-day.

Their own championship hopes blasted beyond redemption, the fifth-place Sailors meet Toronto Balmy Beach at Varsity Stadium to-night in the league's final schedule game—a contest that holds the key to the play-off destinies of Beaches and Toronto R.C.A.F. Hurricanes.

And that's the rub. All season traditional rivalry between Airmen and Navy has been inflamed by a "jockeying" campaign in which both sides indulged freely. Navy players say frankly they don't want to see Hurricanes in the play-offs—but in the same breath they avow their determination to beat Beaches.

If they do beat Beaches—and the odds are 3-1 they won't—Hurricanes will hold second position by one point and enter the sudden-death O.R.F.U. play-offs Saturday in Hamilton against Flying Wildcats, who already have clinched first place. If Beaches win, Hurricanes will be eliminated and Beaches will meet Wildcats for the Ontario title and the right to advance against the Quebec Rugby Union champions in the November 20 eastern final here.

Beaches trounced Navy 9-1 in the first meeting of the two teams, but Coach Alex Ponton warns against over-confidence. The player he fears most is Royal Copeland, 19-year-old Navy halfback, who has been hailed as the brightest young star to crash Ontario senior ranks in several seasons. Playing with a young, inexperienced team, Copeland has earned stardom with arrow-straight passing, the speed which brought him fame in track and field, and his ability to use the 185 pounds he packs on a muscular six-foot frame.

Sport Shorts From Britain

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(CP). — A modern Sampson who defied the unhappy Biblical precedent, Arthur Danahar relaxed for a haircut between rounds of a welterweight bout with Vancouver's Sonny Jones — then raced to an easy points victory.

The young Irish Guards' sergeant was having plenty of trouble with Sonny in their eight-round contest at London's Queensberry Club until in the interval after the sixth round he had a fringe of hair sheared. It had been falling over his eyes and bothering a small forehead cut.

The effect was immediate. Danahar floored Sonny for an eight-count in the seventh round and punched him all over the ring in the final three minutes.

Sonny, a veteran who put up some fine performances in this country before the war and recently returned as a Canadian Army private, fought back like the old campaigner he is and showed a dangerous left hook. In Danahar, he was opposing one of the best welterweights in Britain.

Peter Kane, one-time world flyweight champion, gained his second victory in three days with a triumph over Sammy Reynolds of Wolverhampton that headed the Queensbury card. Reynolds, challenger for the world title now held by Glasgow's Jackie Paterson, revealed little form that would suggest championship possibilities.

Intent on a comeback, the 25-year-old Kane wants a rematch with Paterson, hard-hitting wee lad who knocked him out in just 61 seconds last June to take the world title as recognized by the New York State Athletic Commission and the British Boxing Board of Control.

Previous to the Reynolds bout, Kane kayoed Johnny Summers of Edinburgh at Bristol in 90 seconds. It was the first fight for the Royal Air Force sergeant physical training instructor since he ran into Paterson's fists.

Against Reynolds, the ring-wise Kane wasted few punches but his defence was by no means perfect and in the sixth round of the eight-round affair his mouth and eye were cut slightly.

Sgt. Rod MacDonald of Edmonton, who won the 1943 British and Canadian Armies middleweight boxing championship, lost on a referee's vote to a former titleholder over six rounds at a charity match in London't Queensbury Club.

MacDonald kept pace in the punching department with Sgt. R. Thomas, British Army middleweight king two years ago, but persisted in clinching. The Canadian previously lost a decision in the same ring to Thomas, Amateur Boxing Association welterweigh tchampion.

The biggest threat of the moment on the British profesional fight mart is Len Davies, a Swansea featherweight who has taken decisions from three champions in non-title bouts. The feat rocketed the Welshman from comparative obscurity to top-line ranking. Davies has recently defeated Jackie Paterson, world flyweight champion, Nel Tarleton, British and Empire featherweight champion and Jim Brady, Empire bantamweight king.

Down For Irish Is Grid Classic

Jimmy Mello (65) of Notre Dame goes off left tackle for a first down in the first quarter of the annual grid classic against the Army at Yankee Stadium, New York. A would-be tackler is sent kicking to the greensward. The quarter ended with the "Irish" ahead by six points. Notre Dame won the game 26-0.

Western Stars Shine In Ontario

BRANTFORD, Nov. 10—(CP)—The first injury in the Lions' Junior "A" hockey team was noted here when Bill Maughan, left winger from Point Edward, was taken to the hospital with a bad slice on his nasal organ.

Coach George Hainsworth has a good team ready for the opening game with St. Catharines Saturday night. Hainsworth is well pleased with the showing of his cohorts and, with many local boys on the team, as well as some Ontario boys added to the Western Canada imports, the club seems well defined right now.

In goal will be Ron Crone, Saskatoon, and Tommy McGrattan, Brantford. Jim Fitzpatrick and Giles McGuire, from Pembroke, will play defense, coupled with Frank Loell, Saskatoon, and Gordon Tottle, Princeton.

Robin Hewson and Jack Jeffrey of this city and Earl Braithwaite, Saskatoon, will be on the line with Donald Dust, Humboldt, Saskatchewan; John (Turk) Esaw, North Battleford, Saskatchewan, and George Edwards, local replacing Maughan at this time.

Other players who will get a trial at some time or other will be George Jolly, city; Jimmy Davies, Princeton, and some local lads who have come up through the juvenile ranks.

St. Catharines presents a team containing seven Western Canada boys, as follows: Henry Jessiman, Henry Niciwski, Tom Pollock, Sam Worecki, Steve Kurhanowicz, Stan Welch, Frank and Pete Long, Nick Phillips, Bing Jukes, Lawrie Peterson, Dutch Delmonte, Neil Jackson, Rudy Pilos, former Senior O.H.A. star, will coach the Garden City kids.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 —(AP)—The wave of Notre Dame enthusiasm that has been sweeping New York apparently hasn't engulfed the pro footballers.... We asked Buff Donelli, assistant coach of the one-victory Dodgers, whether he'd trade his club even up for the Irish and the answer was first dead silence, then a mumbled remark that they haven't had any real opposition.... Incidentally, there's a pretty well founded report kicking around that Notre Dame authorities, who still are opposed to post-season games, may have to yield to pressure for a war bond game on the west coast.

Kitty Sinkwich, flat-foot Frankie's sister who did a neat job of hurling on a Youngstown, O., warplant softball team before joining the Wacs, tells friends: "Football bores me and always has, but softball—there's a game.".... Red Rolfe, baseball and basketball coach at Yale, has been devoting his spare time this fall to tutoring the Trumbull House intramural grid team.

Chick Wergeles, manager of Beau Jack who manages to keep busy by publicizing pro football and college basketball, was watching the Dodgers-Cardinals game Sunday when Brooklyn sent a flanker far out to one side...."They're going to throw a collateral pass," Chuck announced. ....Much to everyone's surprise, it was a lateral, and Chick puffed with pride....'I know them guys' signals like a book," he explained.

Claims Quebec Blocking Refugee Plan

OTTAWA, Nov. 10. — Chairman of the Canadian National Committee on Refugees since 1939, Liberal Senator Cairine Wilson yesterday charged Maurice Duplessis of Quebec with "trying to build up his own political position on racial prejudice."

Senator Wilson's statement was made in an interview on the allegation by the former Quebec Premier that the King Government and the Provincial Government of Quebec were co-operating to settle 100,000 Jewish refugees on Quebec farms.

Her assessment of the claim was: "It will do more good than harm because his statements are so patently absurd. It is a direct political move. He is trying to build up his own political position on racial prejudice."

She emphasized that the immediate objective of the Canadian committee was to secure refuge for approximately 10,000 in Lisbon, of different races who have the common bond only of having fled Hitler's hatred.

In that objective, the committee, with the late Sir Robert Falconer taking a leading role, launched a petition on October 27 asking the Government of Canada to offer sanctuary to refugees from political or religious persecutions without regard to race, creed or financial condition; to facilitate the entry into Canada of refugees who are beyond the Axis clutches, especially those in Lisbon, and to make the necessary changes in the Immigration Act.

Opposition in Quebec.

It was still too early to assess the response to the petition, she said, and emphasized that it had been a long and difficult task to broaden people's understanding of the problem.

She said strong opposition to the admission of refugees was centred in Queebc—that any opposition to any amendment to the Immigration Act that would permit their freer entry. She admitted that response from the Administration to which she holds allegiance had been tardy and praised the sympathetic understanding of Mines and Resources Minister T. A. Crerar, whose department administers immigration.

The Globe and Mail article of yesterday, which described the contributions to Canadian agriculture made by Karl Abeles, refugee Czech farmer near Brantford, she rated as a powerful educational contribution to her cause.

"The public," said Senator Wilson, "is getting a better understanding of the fact that refugees are bringing something to Canada. The story can be repeated many hundreds of times, in the field of agriculture, war industry, science."

Reports from Denmark declared that approximately 3,000 SS men who were sent to Denmark during the recent disturbances there are being hurried back to Germany.

It appeared that one of the possible causes of concern among Nazi leaders was the inevitable confusion resulting from the shifting of large numbers of the population made necessary by the heavy Allied bombings.

Underground workers and the foreigners imported to meet the manpower shortage were said to be exploiting this situation.

The entire Nazi press, meanwhile, has been doing its share to keep the people in line by pouring out columns recalling the collapse 25 years ago and emphasizing that in the present phase of the war "the strongest nerves, greatest endurance and firmness are needed."

Bewildered Soldier Taken On Spending Trip By Generous Millionaire At Halifax Port

MONTREAL, Nov. 10—(CP)—Still a bit dazed by it all, L.-Cpl. Phil Nieman of London, England, exhibited a $1,000 cheque today and told how he spent the night in the hotel-room of Harry F. MacLean when the Merrickville, Ont., millionaire was passing out cheques and money in Halifax last week-end.

"I first met him in the hotel in Halifax," said Nieman, who is stationed near here. "We both arrived on the Montreal train but the room clerk told me there was no accommodation for me. Then this man near the desk piped up and said I could share his room. He ordered a cot put up and invited me out for a late snack.

"I wasn't long before I found out who he was. In the first restaurant he went into he started passing out $20 bills. He would just walk up to a soldier or sailor and without a word stuff a bill into the man's hand and walk away...

"He insisted that I stay with him all the time and I spent the next two days with him. It was just a whirl of taxi driving, rushing into banks to get money and touring the city to give it away."

Premier Lashes C.C.F. Program

BRANDON, Man., Nov. 10.—(CP).—Quoting Federal government statistics and comparing them with taxation in New Zealand, Premier Stuart S. Garson of Manitoba last night attacked the financial policy of the C.C.F. party and termed the party's plans "impossible of fulfilment."

Speaking here in support of Mayor F. H. Young, Coalition candidate in the Provincial by-election Nov. 18 in Brandon constituency, Mr. Garson said that the C.C.F.'s plans as stated by Rev. Stanley H. Knowles, C.C.F. Member of Parliament for Winnipeg North, proposed to benefit the farmer by increasing the price of foodstuffs without raising the price to the city workers, to increase factory wages without increasing the cost of machinery to the farmers, and to provide increased pensions and social services without increasing taxation.

Hon. J. O. McLenaghen, Manitoba Attorney Generall and Health Inspector, attacked the C.C.F. as a party leading to economic chaos. The C.C.F., he said, was the greatest menace to Canada since Confedration.

Freighters Active Again

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 10—(AP)—Transportation systems and communication lines of the Head of the Lakes area were nearing normal operations yesterday following the season's first general snowstorm which disrupted business for nearly 24 hours. Sixty-five ore carriers, storm-bound in the Duluth-Superior harbor during the week-end, pulled anchor during the night and a virtual parade of freighters moved into Lake Superior beginning before dawn.

Soldiers Can't Write To Newspapers

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 (CP).—Under recent and more extensive order on writing for publication, Canadian soldiers are forbidden to write on any subject without approval of defence headquarters.

Previously they were under orders not to write for publication on military matters. The new order says army personnel—both officers and men—"shall not, directly or indirectly, furnish any article or material for publication whether such article or material be of a military character or otherwise."

The order states the ban does not apply to special articles for which permission has been obtained from defence headquarters, to information released through official channels or to official or other departmental pamphlets or publications released through official channels.

As interpreted by a defence department spokesman, the order puts letters to the editor under the ban. It was stated, however, that arrangements have been made for rapid clearance of soldiers' literary contributions where approval can be granted, and that the order will be applied with caution and approval granted freely when the material submitted is not considered in bad taste or detrimental to the army.

One purpose of the order, it was said, is to be to ensure that complaints about matters within the army come to the attention of the proper army authorities before being made public. Another is to avoid publication of expressions of views on certain matters where the view is that of an individual and where the impression might be conveyed that it is the view of the army or the troops generally.

Peterboro-Born Aviator Killed

TORONTO, Nov. 10 — Two months before completing his pilot's course, LAC. D. Cameron MacKenzie, 21, was killed Saturday night in an aircraft accident at Souris, Man., according to information received by his mother, Mrs. James A. MacKenzie, of 332 Riverside Drive. Interment will take place at Lachute, Que. LAC. MacKenzie was the son of the late Rev. Dr. James A. MacKenzie, a former United Church minister at Peterborough, Guelph and Saskatoon. LAC. MacKenzie was born at Peterborough and received his early education in Saskatoon, he graduated in arts from Victoria College in 1941. He interrupted his engineering course at the Univercity of Toronto in December, 1942 to enlist in the R.C.A.F. and trained at Toronto and Davidson, Saskatchewan, before being transferred to Souris. After graduating from Victoria College he engaged for a time in munition work.

Surviving also are a brother, L.A.C., Ronald MacKenzie, R.C.A.F. a sister, Margaret, at the University of Toronto, and his grandmother. Mrs. George Hay of Lachute, Que.

Murder Trial Summary Starts

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 10 — (AP).— Defence and crown counsel were prepared today to deliver their summaries of evidence brought out in the 20 previous sessions at the trial of Alfred de Marigny on a charge of murdering his wealthy father-in-law, Sir Harry Oakes.

With all the evidence heard, Godfrey Higgs for the defence and Attorney-General Eric Hallinan for the crown, were ready to state their cases.

After they have spoke, Chief Justice Sir Oscar Daly will make his address to the jury and the 12 men will retire to decide on their verdict.

The case for the defence was concluded yesterday with the evidence of Nancy Oakes de Marigny, wife of the defendant.

Wearing a sombre black dress dotted with white, Nancy sobbed as she told of hearing from two detectives the accusation that her father was slain by the man she had married against the wishes of her parents.

In a low voice Nancy declared she had never heard her husband express hatred toward her father, and firmly contradicted testimony of her mother, Lady Oakes, that her husband had caused her to become pregnant before she recovered fully from an attack of typhoid fever.

She said that her physicians had advised her to "live normally" as she regained strength after her illness.

Union Delegates Endorse Overtime

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—(CP).—Delegates to the Toronto Labor Council meeting here Monday night agreed unanimously that workers should not object to overtime if it is necessary to prevent war industry bottlenecks and should remain at work at overtime rates regardless of taxation.

The discussion followed receipt of a letter from James McGregor, Toronto local employment committee secretary, suggesting that full-time workers take part-time jobs because of the man-power shortage in the Toronto area.

British Subs Bag Seven Ships

LONDON, Nov. 10 — (CP). — British submarines have sunk seven ships, probably sunk three more and damaged six others during recent patrols in the Mediterranean and the Aegean Sea, the Admiralty announced to-day.

In the Aegean a medium-sized vessel and an R-boat, both carrying troops, were torpedoed and sunk. A small German supply ship was sunk by gunfire north of the island of Leros in the Aegean and another small supply ship in convoy was torpedoed and sunk. In the same zone a ferry was sunk by gunfire.

In the Gulf of Genoa a medium sized supply ship was torpedoed and sunk off Rapallo and a large lighter torpedoed.

The ships probably sunk included a minelayer torpedoed in the Aegean, a ferry hit by gunfire and a medium-sized supply ship hit by torpedoes in the northwestern Mediterranean.

CLOSE THAT DOOR!

Don't try to heat the outdoors. When people are leaving don't stand talking at the Open door. When coming in or going out, make sure all doors are closed tight.

PULL YOUR SHADES!

Much heat is lost through windows. Draw shades to sills, or pull drapes together, in all rooms, from dusk to rising, and thus save up to 10% of your fuel.

MAINTAIN MODERATE FIRE!

Substantial fuel savings can be made by correct firing of your furnace. Ask your coal dealer for a booklet of instructions on how to get more heat from less fuel.

LET'S ALL DO MORE TO WIN THE WAR

BEFORE THE WAR: Christmas was the time for buying gifts for the family and friends. Dad almost went broke paying for them.

TODAY: Christmas parcels for the boys overseas and in camp come first. Expensive gifts for the family and friends are out for the duration.

THE MORE WE'RE IN IT THE QUICKER WE'LL WIN IT!

You may not have any immediate relative in the armed forces, but you certainly must know of some friend or acquaintance who is in uniform, either here or overseas. Send him a parcel—write him a letter. Yours may be the only one he will get this Christmas. Think what it will mean to him. Let's forget ourselves and think of those gallant lads who sacrificed all their Christmas comforts so that we can be free to enjoy ours. It's the least we can do!

GETS FINE BUCK

Louis Yeotes, who is hunting in the Apsley district, brought down a 250 pound buck on the first day of the hunt, according to advices from the north country.

FURTHER INVESTIGATION.

The case of Wilbert Smith of Cavan Township who recently pleaded guilty in a Police Court to a charge of sending a threatening letter is being further investigated, it was revealed here. Others are said to be connected with the writing and sending of the letter and it is just possible additional charges will be laid.

BAG TWO BUCKS.

C. W. Nicholson, Bolivar Street, got a 160-pound buck on the opening day of the season in the Cox Lake district, and another member of the same party, Bert Harris, Douro Street, brought down his deer 20 minutes later. This group of hunters has reported that a larger number of hunters are out this year than they have been before.

RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGE

A charge of reckless driving against James O'Reilly of Percy township, following a recent accident near Havelock was adjourned for a week when called in the police court this morning. T. J. PARCEL DISAPPEARED

A lineup of people in the Post Office Tuesday afternoon was thoroughly incensed at what they considered a shabby trick. A woman brought in a large box to send to a boy overseas and in order to get her stamp she laid it on the table and went over to the wicket. When she returned with her stamps, someone had made off with the Christmas parcel.

R. LEEPER'S SALE.

Cattle brought the following prices at the auction sale on Robert Leeper's farm east of Norwood: Cows freshening in the spring, $100 to $120; stockers, two years, $83; yearlings, $68; spring calves, $33; horses, $100; young pigs, $4 50 each; and average prices for machinery. More than one thousand men attended from the district and remained through a heavy rain. Golden Andrews was auctioneer.

RECORD CHRISTMAS MAIL

Christmas mail for the armed services in October topped the record figure for the same month last year by more than a million pounds, it was reported from Ottawa. The base post office there, which is responsible for the forwarding of parcels and letters to Canadians serving overseas, received the following items in the first three weeks of last month: 41,496 pounds of letters, 2,483,624 pounds of parcel post (444,767 items), 472,177 pounds of tobacco parcels (221,539 items), and 44,360 pounds of newspapers. The total came to more than 3,000,000 pounds.

Sanitary Inspector Has Cure For Citizens' Vermin Troubles

Have you any fleas, mites, book lice, bed bugs, cock roaches, etcetera? If you are of the infested fraternity, Sanitary Inspector McPherson would have a word with you.

His October report to the Board of Health rather emphasizes a paragraph or two that gets right down to the exterminator business without any side issues like that chap in Toronto thrusts forth in his spacious "ads."

This is how the Sanitary Inspector extols this lowly branch of public health safeguards and vigilance:—"We have on hand all the necessary information relative to every type of vermin that may infest the home. We are prepared to give every assistance possible to those who are presented with such problems, if they so desire (ah, there's the rub). The public are invited to dial 5424 for such information."

Definite Methods

And that's not all. The Inspector cites success cases in this matter of what have you in the line of mites and bugs...."This month two more dwellings were freed of vermin by use of hydrocyanic acid gas. These fumigations were very closely supervised. Several other instances of infestations were investigated, etceteras were encountered and instructions issued as to methods of eradication. Each treatment has been successful. (What more can you ask?) There are numerous types of vermin which may infest the home, and each type has its own specific method of eradication Usually these methods are inexpensive (except in the case of the bed bug for which cyanogen gas is the only sure cure) and if applied intelligently will be effective."

Presumably the number of infestations is small, although there is no definite information on that point. Mr. MacPherson was so wrapped up in his blurb for his various exterminating processes that he overlooked that detail. However, if any persons are willing to endure the mites and all their nuisance little uncles and aunts, don't blame the city's Health Department. They refuse to encourage even such minutiae as book lice.

Obviously there is no concession by way of euphemism to the tender sensibilities. This subject and virtually treatise calls for spade words, and Sanitary Inspector MacPherson marshals them forth without regard to the lifted eyebrow, and the members of the Board of Health express approval of this attention to details.

Liquor Supplies Being Depleted

By R. J. ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 — (CP).—The "squeeze" is on in earnest in the United States' liquor supply. Drinkers are downing everything in sight, no whiskies are being distilled to replace decreasing reserves, imports from Britain are 'way down and the liquor trade is worried, fearing a return of the bootlegger and pre-repeal gangster-infested liquor traffic.

A survey showed today that in almost every state supplies of the Scotch, domestic whisky and Bourbon have been cut to as low as 40 per cent of normal. Rum, much of it imported from Cuba, gins and brandies are fairly plentiful and so far shortages of beer in some localities have been due to transportation difficulties. But the trade shudders to think of the pending holiday rush and what it will do to scanty reserves

Some states have followed Canada's lead and have instituted rationing, with quantities allowed generally more than allotted the Canadian drinkers whose rations range from 26 and 52 ounces per month Michigan, under state monopoly control, has begun card rationing at the rate of one quart of whisky a month, plus whatever "dividend" stocks will permit. The Maine liquor commission has set a limit of one bottle a day.

Iowa drinkers will get a break Christmas week. In that state, whisky rations are on the basis of a quart every other week with rum and brandy sold as available on alternate weeks. Christmas this season falls in a "whisky week."

Plan Rationing In Post-War Era

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(CP).—Possibility that the people of Canada and the United States may have to keep their belts tightened for some time after the war looms with the first meeting at Atlantic City today of the council of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

If the people of enemy-occupied territories are to be fed and placed on their feet, countries which produce food in abundance may have to continue on short ratios, officials here stress.

When the council meets, it will have before it estimates prepared by experts on the amount of food, clothing and other materials that will be needed in France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Poland, Denmark, Norway, Czecho-Slovakia, Yugoslavia, Greece, China and other enemy-occupied territories.

Although prepared by experts, the estimates may well be wide of the mark for it is impossible to foresee the conditions under which evacuation by the enemy may take place.

Taking the most optimistic view, however, the volume is expected to be large and the United Nations' governments, through UNRRA and assisted by such other governments as may become members, proposed to attempt to meet the need.

Township Proud Of Record In Victory Loan

As the Fifth Victory Loan recedes into the immediate past, rural Peterborough, comprising the townships and villages, may feel greatly gratified in their contribution to the local success, with subscriptions totalling $670,000 or 111.67 of their collective objective.

Havelock village finished with the highest individual percentage, 151.18, or $57,450 as compared with their $38,000 quota. T. P. Lancaster was director of the campaign in the C.P.R. village, and all his friends in the county will wish to congratulate him and his townspeople on their position which they maintained after finally wresting it from Smith.

Other percentages were as follows: North Monaghan, 133.71; Asphodel, 132.89; Ennismore, 130.83; the northern townships, Harvey, Burleigh, Chandos and Anstruther, 123.33; 123.33; Smith, 113.55; Belmont-Methuen, 113.4; Douro, 113; Otonabee, 106.23; Norwood, 103.27; Lakefield, 82.92 and Dummer, 77.06.

Comparison Unfair

Opinions from some of the canvassers acknowledging that the Lakefield percentage was hardly a fair index of the response of the villagers to the Loan. Quite a number of them are employed in Peterborough factories, subscribing under the payroll savings plan. Their share of the Loan was absorbed in the Peterborough Employees' Canvass and could not be credited to the village.

Otonabee people came through grimly on the bit by surpassing their $130,000 objective. Total subscriptions in the township were $138,100, as compared with Smith's $102,200, their nearest contender for first place in the total of rural individual "Loans" to the government.

Although the headquarters office is continuing until Friday with the Loan books open, the above figures are quoted as showing the results up to Tuesday afternoon.

Untiring Efforts

Reeve M. H. Johnston of North Monaghan remarked this morning that the township should be proud of their position, and in that accomplishment he especially mentioned the untiring efforts of his team associates, Mrs. E. C. Moore, Henry Batten and John Arnott, Sophia street. They overlooked no opportunity to sell a Bond.

"The figures show that at the close of the 17th day, Mr. Arnott had made 593 calls and Mrs. Moore 507," Reeve Johnston said. "To quote a comparison and show how these two Monaghan canvassers stood with the others, there was only one other canvasser in the county listed as having made more than 400 calls, and that was Gordon Hancock of Smith."

"Splendid Achievement"

A. G. Walwyn, director of the city and county canvassing organization, said nearly 600 persons were actively associated with the Victory Loan campaign, serving on committees as plant salesman, team captains and speakers and the staff of bond salesmen.

"The satisfaction in Peterborough's exceeding their objective of $4,600,000 is a splendid achievement which can be share by the thousands of people whose willing and patriotic subscriptions made the result possible, as well as the team captains, committee members and canvassers already mentioned.

The employees and special names objectives were reached early in the campaign, the employees particularly doing a fine job. Due to the publishing of these results, the general canvass position was not clearly recognized by the citizens at large.

The position of General Canvass throughout the campaign was serious, and it was difficult to make every one generally recognize this fact. In the final days, however, the people responded splendidly."

Canadian Plasma Used

LONDON, Nov. 10—(CP)—Blood of Canadian civilians has reached the front line. Surg.-Capt. C. H. Best of Toronto, director of the Canadian Naval Medical Research Bureau, disclosed here that Canadian blood serum is being used in Italy, helping to save the lives of wounded Canadian, British and American soldiers.

Day Nurseries For All

TORONTO, Nov. 10—(CP).—Dr. R. P. Vivian, Ontario Public Welfare Minister, said last night he will ask extension of the Dominion-Provincial agreement on day nurseries to cover children of all women employed outside their homes, instead of merely in war industry. Toronto, Hamilton, Oshawa and St. Catharines would be affected by any extension.

At Least 2 Fans

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP).—Brunette Olive Carr, fifth in a Miss Toronto beauty contest last July, received belated consolation—a fan letter from "two homesick Canadians" in Italy who "would have picked you first." Miss Carr said she is mailing two autographed photographs of herself to the soldiers, Irvin Chambers of Toronto and Dave Irving of Ottawa, who wrote that they saw her picture in a newspaper mailed to Italy containing an account of the contest.

Here's How They Get A Tank

In man versus tank training at Camp Carson, Colorado, the men are taught to fight off a mass tank attack. The soldiers learn to wait until tanks are within grenade throwing range while other squad members attack the oncoming tanks with small arms fire aiming for vulnerable places in the tanks' armor. This photograph was taken at Camp Carson, Colorado.

Carrying Guns Cost 2 Men $50

Apparently the Peterborough County Game Preserve is not a very good place to be found in when carrying loaded rifles, especially during the deer hunting season.

Two Burleigh township residents, Charles and George Hull, and a Havelock man, Daniel Fleming, discovered that fact this morning in police court when they pleaded guilty to charges of having in their possession loaded firearms in the game preserve.

After the court had been informed that the officials of the fish and game department were not asking for more than the minimum fine, Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., fined each of the men $50 and $2.50 costs.

The fines were paid. Fish and Game Overseers Norman Sitwell of Toronto, and Stanley Windsor, Apsley, came upon the three men in Methuen township Tuesday, carrying rifles and the charges to-day followed.

Remembrance Day Plans Completed

Perhaps wondering how the years have gone so swiftly and so barrenly, members of Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion will observe Remembrance Day, Thursday, Nov. 11, with special thought of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Armistice of 1918.

The parade will leave the Legion Hall at 10 o'clock and follow the Aylmer, Charlotte and George street routes to Confederation Square, where Brigadier General Alex Ross, national director of Air Raid Precautions, will be the speaker.

That quarter century point in the flight of time will tend to sharpen the memories of the men who fought through the last war, and are now facing at home the climax of another universal struggle against the same enemy of old. One of the least effects of this preoccupation is the likelihood that the parade to-morrow may not be as largely attended as usual. Men are engaged in essential war work. Their absence tends to disturb various plants, and it was felt today that there wasn't much that could be done about it but accept conditions as they turn up and make the best of them.

Ordinarily the twenty-fifth anniversary of Armistice Day would have been enlarged in its celebration, but features of a special nature have to be left in abeyance for some other year.

Hockey Leaders At Bond Funeral

Many prominent figures in the field of sport throughout the country gathered here Tuesday to pay their last respects to the memory of an esteemed colleague, J. Percy Bond, past président of the Ontario Hockey Association and of the A.A.U. of C. who was buried at Little Lake Cemetery.

Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Church conducted a brief service at the Bond home at 590 Weller street, followed by a service in St. John's Church.

The pall-bearers were Charles E. Higginbottom, Toronto, of the Central Ontario branch of the A.A.U. of C.; W. A. Hewitt, Toronto, secretary of the O.H.A. and C.A.H.A.; W. A. Fry, past president of the O.H.A., Dunnville; George Dudley, past president of the O.H.A., Midland; Col. J. A. Dewart, Peterborough; Stanley Bond, Harvey Sproule, Toronto, and Fred Steele, secretary of the Ontario Athletic Commission.

The honorary pall-bearers were P. J. Mulqueen, Toronto, chairman of the Canadian Olympic committee; Bert McLeod, Peterborough; W. W. Davidson of the O.H.A.; R. M. Glover, past president of the O.H.A.; Mayor James Hamilton; Harry Thompson and John R Marshall, Peterborough.

Other sport leaders from out-of-town who attended the funeral were: Past President Richard Fry of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada; Fred Norbert, Toronto, boxing commissioner of the A.A.U. of C. and W. Marr, Toronto, chairman of the publicity committee.

Two Centres Close

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 10.—(CP).—Reduction in number of men called for compulsory military service and in number of voluntary active service recruits has necessitated closing of the Stratford and Listowel basic training centres, military officials said yesterday. Chatham's four-company centre has been reduced to a three-company centre

Man Who Bluffed 43 Germans Into Surrendering Returns

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 — The man who carried out what has been described as "the most masterly bluff of the Great War" — and wears the claret-colored ribbon of the Victoria Cross as the result—is back from 15-months duty in the Bahamas with the Veterans' Guard of Canada and ready for a new assignment.

He's Lieut. C. S. Rutherford, of Colborne, and the colors on his tunic tell you he's won not only the V.C. but the Military Cross, Military Medal, General Service and Victory Medals and the Coronation Medal.

Two summers in Nassau have given a life-guard's tan to this handsome, 53-year-old officer and to members of the Veterans' Guard 33rd Company who have returned with their officers, Col. A. W. DeWolf, D.C.M., and Captain T. H. Deane, M.C.

It was Lieut. Rutherford who literally talked 80 Germans into laying down their arms during the attack by the Fifth Canadian Mounted Rifles on Monchy-le Preux in August, 1918.

Then a 26-year-old and twice-wounded subaltern he had advanced alone on a well-placed pill box. Ignoring the carefully-aimed muzzles of enemy guns a few yards away he abruptly got to his feet shouted across to the defenders that their position was hopeless and gave them the choice between annihilation or immediate and unconditional surrender.

Two officers and 43 men walked out of the pill box. Its commander was then ordered to command the surrender of a second abuttment on the hill. He complied, and within a few minutes Lieut. Rutherford, joined by his section, stormed the third and last German position, taking a further 35 prisoners, thus enabling the entire assault force to advance toward the eventual capture of Monchy.

Beats One Count Man Fined $300 On Liquor Charge

Wilfrid Flint, who has been employed as a farm laborer in the Garden Hill district, was found not guilty in police court this morning on a charge of stealing a purse and $50 from Ronald Beattie, 18, of the same neighborhood, but on a second count arising out of evidence given in the hearing of the first charge was fined $300 and costs or three months in jail for illegal possession of liquor.

Hearing of the theft charge against Flint took an afternoon session of the court Monday and was concluded this morning.

The evidence showed that Flint and Beattie had been drinking together in Peterborough one evening, and eventually the younger man was arrested by the police on a charge of drunkenness. Later he discovered that his purse containing around $50 was gone, and the police arrested Flint on a charge of stealing it.

W. C. Grant defended the accused and V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

Gave Beattie Liquor.

During the trial, Flint in giving evidence admitted having liquor in a restaurant and to giving some to his young companion. He also admitted a number of previous convictions.

In dismissing the case this morning Magistrate Langley said that it had not been clearly proven that the purse had been stolen. Beattie, he pointed out, had been very much intoxicated at the time and it was possible that he had lost his purse or that some one other than the accused had stolen it. Flint, he said, had given a reasonable explanation of having possession of Beattie's car key.

Flint had no counsel in the liquor charge and pleaded guilty to illegal possession.

Inspector J. F. Reid gave evidence as to the accused's admission that he had supplied liquor to the 18-year-old Beattie, and after Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C., had said that it was no case for a minimum penalty, Magistrate Langley, without comment, imposed the $300 fine.

So-Ed Program Gets Started

The new social education program sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. was launched last night in the Y.M.C.A. Building with a fine enrolment of young people. After registrations had been completed the five different groups operating simultaneously in different parts of the building got under way under their respective chairman and leaders. Comments from both those taking the courses and the leaders as well were most enthusiastic and the indications are that some groups may want to continue their activities after the six weeks course is completed. Chairman Quirt McKinney and his committee had a busy evening and arrangements worked smoothly.

In the first series, Rev. George Easton led the group in Effective Presiding with E. W. Jones, chairman. Your Life, Miss Olga Johnston, chairman, was led by G. A. Macdonald, his subject being "Your Vocation". The group discussing of "Things to Come" was led by Dr. L. C. Thomas with L. J. Pettit presiding. The subject discussed in this group was "Canada's Post-War Problems".

"How Many Cents in Your Dollars" with "Budgetting" as the topic for the evening with under the leadership of Maurice Holt with Gordon McHenry as chairman and "Reading for Busy People" was directed by J. M. Singleton.

At 9:40 the various groups dispersed and reformed under different leaders, the Music Appreciation group was led by Miss Isabel Weddell; Hobbies and Crafts by Robert Scruton; Bridge by Mr. and Mrs. H. Barker; How to Look at Pictures, Robertson Davies; Recreational Leadership, Miss R. B. Kiefer and Dramatics, Mrs. R. Davies.

The concluding part of the evening was devoted to social recreation. The next series will be held next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Any not yet registered wishing to take advantage of these interesting courses should get in touch with the Y.M.C.A. or Y.W.C.A.

Marines' Anniversary

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—(AP)—The Marines "will not halt until they have pierced the enemy's homeland." With that expression of confidence, Navy Secretary Frank Knox last night hailed the 168th anniversary today of the formation of the United States Marine Corps.

Guilty Consciences

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 10 (AP).—Police were chasing two youths suspected of purse snatching. The officers fired several shots into the ground to halt the pair A truck pulled over to the curb and three youths jumped out. "You were shooting at us, weren't you," asked one of the youths. "We just stole this truck." The purse snatchers escaped.

Citizens Warned To Buy Licenses

A warning that in future persons found guilty of operating radio receiving sets without obtaining the necessary license will find the fines stepped up to $5 was given in police court Tuesday by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

In addition to the seventeen rural residents who were fined yesterday, fifteen others, nearly all city dwellers, were also nicked $3 and costs after they had entered written pleas of guilty.

They were A. J. Smith, Kenneth Wyatt, W. F. Scott, Lloyd McGahey, R. M. Simpson, A. Knott, Clement Galvin, Nick Elaqua, Alfred Cote, Chester Lillie, P. A. McArthur, G. Robertson, Ed Sturgeon, N. C. Sullivan and H. C. Ball.

No Thanks Given By Advertisers

Although it is unlikely that citizens missed an advertisement or other stressful expressions of appreciation that the Victory Loan had been projected beyond its Peterborough objective, some people might possibly have noticed the rather abrupt end of the campaign.

On that point here is a little off the record story of a conversation of several men who were among those contributing advertisements promoting the campaign.

One of them suggested a half-page "ad" thanking the people of the city and county for their fine response. That was the sentimentalist, or thereabouts. The other represented the hard-headed, realistic type. He said "no," and you have to fill in the rest of the account yourself, probably something like this:

"Why should you or I spend a nickel thanking the people for having done their duty? We like to think that everybody is in this together, the man at one end of the county just as much as the man at the opposite end, and also as much as any man half-way between, in the city. They all feel like ourselves, glad that we went over the top. There isn't much more to be said about it. I can't see that there is anybody to be thanked, at least not by me, so why spend any money in that direction."

It was said that remarks by Mayor Hamilton and Warden Mather would be quite proper as mere congratulation.

Russia's Chance Now

WINNIPEG, Nov. 10 (CP)—Walter Duranty, noted foreign correspondent, said yesterday in an interview that with the danger of German aggression removed and with air support from the United Nations assured, Russia may declare war on Japan.

Lily Lake Group Boosts Christmas Fund

In the Lily Lake district, there is a group, the Organized Classes, which meet Sundays in the school house of S.S. No. 1 Smith under the joint supervision of Mrs. W. D. Wilson and Arthur Hancock, who have from time to time given aid to the sufferers from air raids over Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund.

Having taken more than passing interest in the fund they wished to have a part in the special Christmas Cheer fund now being raised, so one of the pupils in the class, Dick Succee, donated a pup for which tickets were sold for a draw which culminated last Saturday when the secretary of the fund drew the winning ticket at a Bazaar held under the auspices of the Lily Lake Women's Association, which gave the prize to Louise O'Neill of 28 New Romaine street.

This was the means of adding another $15 to their previous good record, and is espcially designated for the Christmas Cheer fund to give boys and girls in Britain, many of them orphans who have lost their parents through air raids some pleasure at this season of the year.

Caban Draw Totals $142

Returns continue to come from the latest effort of Victor Caban, Senior, who is sponsoring a draw on seven prizes which he has donated. This draw will be made Friday night, November 12 at the Canadian Legion Hall on Murray street, during the course of the regular Bingo games held by the veterans in aid of their cigarette fund for those in the active forces overseas.

To the many friends who have assisted him in the sale of tickets Mr. Caban would express his thanks, and particularly ask that all of them make their returns before Friday night, either to himself or Robert Mitchell at the Legion Hall.

Another $26 is reported in today's list from this effort, which has now run up a grand total of $142 to this date and any wishing to give this a further boost may still procure tickets from Mr. Caban, or friends who have them still on sale.

Neill's Office Girls 17th

The office girls at Neills Limited Shoe Stores comprise only a small group, but it is a most enhusiastic one in support for this fund. They started out by making a contribution of $5 to which they have ever since adhered as a unit and with the $5 listed today, they have now contributed on no less than seventeen different occasions giving this small group a total credit of $85 which on a per capita basis, is one of the finest records on the behalf of the Fund in its history.

Previously acknowledged	$64,520.64
Further proceeds from draw for seven prizes donated and sponsored by Victor Caban, Sr., 543 Park street	26.00
The Organized Classes of Lily Lake	15.00

Truck Hits Doe On Road In Repeat Performance

Stuart Young of Rose Island and Archie Long of Oshawa were on their way to Peterborough Tuesday when the truck hit a doe that ran out from the game preserve. The animal was wounded in the front legs by the impact, but managed to get up and limp away before the men could get to it. The mishap, Mr. Young said, occurred at almost the very same spot where a year before he had narrowly missed running into two deer that were crossing the highway into the game preserve. He had just finished telling the story of that episode when the doe suddenly appeared, but this year it was not a near miss.

No Controls After War

KEMPTVILLE, Ont., Nov. 10—(CP)—Col. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Agriculture Minister, said in an address here last night that wartime Federal controls over agriculture—one of the "greatest" difficulties facing farmers—must end "as soon as possible" after the war is won.

Canadians Shown In Action In Sicily

No "spit and polish" is evident in these latest pictures received from the Italian battle front, but war as it is fought in the field. They give a conception of the grim advance of fighting Canadians against stubborn German resistance. Place names mentioned are Volturara and Termoli, since left behind by attacking Allied troops. In the picture on the LEFT, Canadian tanks are parked in a street in Volturara while crews take a well-earned rest. Clothes hung from balconies of the apartment houses give this street a flavor of New York's east side. TOP RIGHT shows a Canadian, well in advance of his patrol, moving cautiously to the corner of a building in Termoli. Canadian tanks played a prominent part in the capture of Termoli, largely a British action. In the tank fighting, about 12 German tanks, including two of the famous Tigers, were knocked out. LOWER RIGHT shows Canadian medical orderlies evacuating wounded under fire on the Italian front. Three years of intensive training in England gave these medics the speed and efficiency with which they are working today in Italy.

Legendary Tale Ruined By Bulldozers

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 (CP). — One of the north's most intriguing legends has turned into a bathing pool.

Government officials back from a motor journey over the Alaska Highway said today the myth of the Liard Valley tropical valley has been exploded for good and all. In its place is a warm pool where travellers, weary from more than 1,000 miles of journeying out of Edmonton, can shed the dust and ease the aches from their bones.

It wasn't always so.

Time was when the northern British Columbia prospector, down on his luck and looking for pals, always could gather a generous audience by tales about the tropical valley, where—he said— the trees grew higher than the clouds where fruit grew as it did at the equator and prehistoric animals in the flesh were supposed to have their last springhold.

It was a grand story. It lasted for a long time.

And then, a year ago, the valley echoed to the roar of bulldozers as they lumbered through to the banks of the Liard, pushing the Alaska Highway towards the Pacific coast.

The driver were hot and weary. They saw where a warm creek and a cold creek came together and the temperature was just right.

They bathed. And, as the United States Army moved in, more and more every day, the place where the creeks came together became a bathing pool, the first chance to bathe in comfort out of Edmonton, more than 1,000 miles away.

Now they have dammed the creek flow and the pool is almost as deep as a man. They have put on a roof over it and there are almost all the comforts of a home. Drivers speak of it as they chew dust from Fort St. John to Whitehorse.

Christmas boxes have been sent to the six boys from this community overseas, and four are still to be forwarded to members in the armed forces serving in Canada.

HAVELOCK

Council Considers Tax Abatements

HAVELOCK, Nov. 10 (ENS). — Belmont township council held its regular meeting last week at the Havelock hotel, with Reeve Isaac Anderson presiding and Councillors Newton, Purdy, Steenburg and McNeely present.

On a motion by Councillors Newton and Purdy an abatement of $12.53 was granted of pt. 13, con. 3, Belmont, based on valuation of $175 on barn lost by fire for 1943.

On a motion by Councillors McNeely and Purdy, Edward King received an abatement of taxes on $175 assessment for 1943, being on the amount of $15.68.

Department to Pay.

Councillors Purdy and Newton moved that the Clerk be authorized to write the Dept. of Highways, that in view of the fact, that the township had an interest in lot 6, con. 1, Belmont, that $20.38 should be paid to the municipality and credited to Mrs. E. McFaul.

Council decided that no action should be taken regarding a grant on part of the 5th concession line to Mrs. Bertha Breckenridge, this on a motion by Councillors McNeely and Purdy.

The following accounts were ordered paiad, on a motion by Councillors Steenburg and Newton:

Mrs. N. Wannamaker, salary as assessor and selecting of jurors, $153; Mrs. F. Varty, abatement 1943 tax, $12.53; Mrs. Edward King, abatement of 1943 tax, $15.68; W. R. London People Write Letters Take Complaints To Newspapers

By D. E. BURRITT
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Nov. 10 — (CP). — If you have no desire to listen to a lot of trousing you had better stop reading this now.

For this is a column of bellyaches, plenty of them. Not about the war. But about various other things of concern to various people under various circumstances. And they must be extremely important, as each of these subjects has brought letters to the press, a step which is the ultimate of something or other in Britain.

Say, for instance, that you think it costs too much to have a baby, that you consider someone is making too much money; that someone is being treated unfairly, then you write to the press, some ministry, anybody.

Some 2,000 persons did this to say their neighborhood grocer, poulterer or greengrocer was charging a farthing or a ha'penny above the Government-controlled price for a pound of potatoes, a head of cabbage or something.

These people complained during September alone and their complaints established a record. The entire year of 1941 brought only 3,800 similar complaints. So the newspapers are coming to the conclusion that the people, encouraged by the happier trend of the war, are having more time for the little things in life.

Pypama Question

At one time, no one had time to think about whether soldiers and airmen were equipped with pyjamas. But now, there's quite a little row going on. The point is, should "other ranks" be allowed to buy pyjamas? These have to be bought with coupons and, as "other ranks" are not provided with coupons, they can't buy pyjamas. At one time a colonel could issue permission for men to buy these things. That's history now.

Letters of protest have poured into the press, but the only solution seems to be for all "other ranks" to get commissions or join the Navy. Navy personnel may buy pyjamas out of "ship's stores."

Then there's the man who demands to know the reason for a ruling against double cuffs on men's shirts, a regulation which "really astonished him." And this is why:

"The area of material in a double cuff on men's shirts approximate 170 square inches, but in a shirt tail the area is roughly 300 square inches.....Is it then to be assumed that it is a furtherance of the war effort to denude a man of his cuffs, which are on view, whilst permitting him to wear his tails back and front, which are obscured from the public gaze? Cut the tails, but leave us our cuffs.."

Practically anybody able to write has been raising a row about the cost of wartime babies. People who don't even want to have babies are concerned. They frankly admit it is not their immediate problem, but claim that their interest is in the national birth-rate.

Latest development is the London News Chronicle's tabulation which shows that the cheapest baby costs at birth £37 6s (about $167). That's for Mrs. "D," who goes to a provincial nursing home. Fashionable "Mrs. A," who can afford a private nursing home, pays £67 10s.

LAKEFIELD

WMS Organizes Thankoffering

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 10 (ENS). — Mrs. Percy Darling, Regent street, was hostess to the Women's Missionary Society of the United church for the November meeting.

Conveners were Mrs. P. Darling, Mrs. E. J. Millage, Mrs. E. Orr. The opening was taken by Mrs. Orr. The Bible lesson was taken by Mrs. Frank Darling, Mrs. T. Morin, Mrs. D. Charlton and Mrs. C. S. Tanner. Prayer by Mrs. W. W. Yule.

Special Meeting

The treasurer reported $245 had been sent to the presbyterial treasurer. The sum of $13.65 was realized from the dinner at the sectional rally. The W.M.S. chose November 19 for the thankoffering meeting, to which the sister societies are invited. A committee was appointed to look after the program and refreshments, Mrs. J. McKerchar, Mrs. C. Tanner, Mrs. George Kelly, Mrs. W. Yale, Mrs. D. Charlton and Mrs. M Jory. A petition about refugees, read by Mrs. Yale, was held over for the December meeting.

Mrs. D. H. Charlton and Mrs. P. H. Darling were appointed to the nominating committee. Mrs. James Hendren offered her home for the 'love gift' meeting in December.

Mrs. J. R. Hull sang 'To Love Someone So Dearly.' She was accompanied by Mrs. McKerchar. The dedicatory prayer was given by Mrs. M. Jory. The second chapter of the study book was given as a play by Mrs. P. Darling, Mrs. Millage and Mrs. Orr.

Committees Set Up To Handle Bazaar

BETHANY, Nov. 10 — (ENS).— The November meeting of St. Paul's W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. R. W. Price. Mr. Kingston wrote asking that the final returns be sent in for the year not later than December 1st. He also reminded that the upkeep of the W. A. house requires extra assistance, financially. Mrs. Hamilton reported $17.50 in cash and other articles had been collected for overseas boxes.

The next meeting will be held at the rectory in December. Lunch committee is Mrs. Kennedy, Mras. Stevenson and Mrs. T. W. Reynolds. A suggestion by Mrs. Hamilton to be discussed at the December meeting is that the members work on Red Cross knitting during meetings this coming year.

The bazaar, which will be held Nov. 20th in Bethany town hall were discussed. The committee in charge is: Tea makers, Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Jarvis; kitchen supervisors, Mrs. C. Armstrong, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Cal Reynolds, Miss Lila Davis and Miss Nesbitt; homemade baking and farmers table, Mrs. J. Ward, Miss A. Sisson and Mrs. Kennedy; fancy work booth, Mrs. F. W. Reynolds, Mrs. Mason; supervisors of tables, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Padgham, Mrs. Gribble, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. O. H. McGill.

Honor Roll Unveiled

COTTESLOE, Nov. 10 (ENS). — At a special church service Sunday afternoon the honor roll was unveiled. Joseph Gallagher, on behalf of the veterans of the last war, unveiled the roll, and Rev. E. E. Pugsley accepted and dedicated it.

"They found I was a born navigator"

IT isn't by chance that an airman is chosen for his particular job—to aim the bombs, man the guns or keep up wireless contact—to fly the plane or navigate it.

YOU GET THE JOB YOU'LL DO BEST

The R.C.A.F. uses a method of scientific selection to make absolutely sure you get the job you'll do best. Interesting tests measure your capabilities, temperament and reactions. They make you a success—not a misfit.

For a bomber crew flies and fights as a close-knit, hard-hitting team. Each man's job is just as vital as that of any of the others—no more, no less.

There's a fighting job in aircrew that is just your measure. Get right into it without delay.

GET INTO THE FIGHT!
If you are physically fit, mentally alert, 17 or over and not yet 33, you are eligible for aircrew. High School education is not required. Ground crew are also needed; men age 17½ to 50 unfit for active duty with the Army or Navy are acceptable. Go to an R.C.A.F. Recruiting Centre today. If you are under age for aircrew enlistment, join your local Air Cadet Squadron.

Dinners Of The Week . .

By MARY MOORE

Sunday (Guests)

Roast Chicken with Stuffing
Giblet Gravy Cranberry Sauce
Mashed Potatoes
Cauliflower with Mock Hollandaise
Heart of Lettuce Salad
Fresh Dressing
Lemon Snow Pudding Cookies
Coffee

Monday

Homemade Chicken Noodle Soup
(From roast chicken bones, gravy and skin)
Scrambled Eggs and Bacon
Broccoli
Apples, Crackers and Cheese
Coffee

Tuesday (Meatless)

Homemade Baked Beans
Quick Cooked Wedges Cabbage
Fried Red or Green Tomatoes
Celery and Carrot Strips
Crepes Suzette (see note)
Coffee or Tea

NOTE: To make Crepes Suzette (which are quite a sensational dessert and should only be made for people that will appreciate them) add 3 eggs to ¾ cup flour mixed with ½ teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon sugar, mix a little then add 1¾ cups milk very slowly stirring constantly to prevent lumping. Have small frying pan hot with 1 tablespoon butter melted in it and pour on batter ⅛ inch thick (all over it). Cook until just barely turning gold on bottom and either turn over and cook for ½ minute or stand in hot oven to finish off. Roll up immediately after it is done, and add 1 teaspoon butter to pan and cook next pancake—continue this way until all are done. Make a syrup of 1-3 cup butter, 1-3 cup sugar and ¾ cup orange juice and 3 tablespoons grated orange rind. Boil 5 minutes, then place rolled pancakes in syrup very close together and let boil gently, basting tops of pancakes if necessary to keep them covered. Let bubble this way for 5 minutes, basting and moving them by shaking the pan constantly to prevent sticking or burning. Serve at once—pouring a little of the syrup over each serving — two or three pancakes are usually enough for one serving.

Another variation is to roll the "crepes" up on a paper sprinkled with powdered sugar, but first spreading them with jelly, and serving immediately Place the lapped edge of the roll on the bottom to keep it from opening.

Wednesday

Curried Lamb with Rice
Corn Fritters Spinach
Celery Hearts
Banana Cake Coffee

Thursday

Crumbed Veal Kidney Slices with Onion Fried
Boiled Potatoes with Parsley Cream Sauce (see note)
Tomato Jelly Salad
Cherry Tarts Coffee

NOTE: You will note I often mention parsley in sauces, garnishes and salads—do you know parsley is higher in Vitamin A content than any other known food?

Friday (Oven Dinner)

Filet of Flounder with Tartar Sauce (oven cooked)
Baked Tomatoes in Casserole
Baked Potatoes
Pears Baked in Lemon Syrup

Saturday

Stewed Back or Skirt Steak with Onions, Turnips and Carrot
Mashed Potatoes Applesauce
Coffee

Pupils Stage Speech Contest

The monthly meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in the Knights of Columbus club rooms. The president, Miss Lillian Hurley, presided, and reports were heard.

Mrs. P. J. Burke, as war convener, reported the number of boxes packed for the soldiers, and visits to the canteen. Mrs. George Lynch, navy league convener, told of the knitting, and Mrs. P. J. Carrol, liaison officer for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, reported the meeting at the Y. W. C. A. at which Mrs. E. S. Duggan was guest speaker Miss McNamara, Red Cross Convener, mentioned the sewing done at the library

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Toal, who, as education convener, had arranged a public-speaking contest by three boys and three girls of St. Peter's High School. Miss Catherine Ryan explained the purpose of the contest, which carried out "Catholic Book Night," that is, each speaker dealt with one catholic book, its author and content, or a Catholic writer.

Miss Marcella Crough spoke on Joyce Kilmer, as a poet, statesman and soldier. Miss Rosanne Monahan reviewed "Through Hundred Gates". Miss Mary O'Brien summarized the book, "The Quest of Don Bosco". In the Boys contest were Billie Rudkins who spoke on "Marie Chapdelaine", by L. Hemon; Ernest Schiarizza, who spoke on "The Song of Bernadette", by Franz Werfel; and Jack Wade whose topic was "Brebeuf and His Brethren", by E. J. Pratt.

Judges, Mr. Ronald McGrath, Miss Josephine Lynch, and Mr. Peter Moore, were appointd to choose the winner. In the girls group, Miss Rosanne Monahan was chosen, and in the boy's group, Ernest Schiarizza was winner. While the judges were debating, Miss Marion Downer played some piano selections. The chaplain, Rev. Father Finn, congratulated the girls and boys on their excellent speeches.

W.A. Sends Candy To Boys Overseas

BRIDGENORTH, Nov. 10—(ENS). —The monthly meeting of the Women's Association was held at the home of Mrs. W. Telford, with 14 ladies present. The meeting opened with a hymn, followed by a prayer led by Mrs. Peterson. The lesson thought was taken by Mrs. Karl Blewett, and the ccripture was read by Mrs. F. Moore. A reading, "Above the Rest," was given by Mrs. Hardill and Miss Wilma Telford sang a solo.

It was decided to send to each member of the armed forces from Bridgenorth, a box of candy for Christmas, as a remembrance from the W.A. Mrs. E. Connors and Mrs. J. Hardill are to be the conveners for this project.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Wallace Nicholls, and will deal with the election of officers for the coming year.

W.M.S. Discusses 4 Great Women

Group "F" of the George Street Women's Missionary Society held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. J. W. Hales. Mrs. V. Boorman opened the meeting with a verse on "Faith," and the roll call was answered by a gem on "Faith." Mrs. W. H. Girven gave the scripture reading, and Mrs. J. N. Fanning led in prayer.

Talk on the four great women of today, Queen Elizabeth, Queen Wilhelmina, Eleanor Roosevelt and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, was given by Mrs. Roy Powell.

Four ladies, Mrs. W. Pogue, Mrs. C. Elliott, Mrs. S. Barrett, and Mrs. W. H. Morton, read questionnaires on foreign missions. Mrs. James A. Spencer gave a reading entitled "A Previous Engagement," and Mrs. A. F. Lane told a story.

By special request, Rev. and Mrs. Walter Crone sang "Inside the Eastern Gate," and two other selections for the members. Rev. Crone accompanied on the Spanish guitar.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Hale and to Rev. and Mrs. Crone was made by Mrs. Pogue. Rev. Crone closed the meeting with a prayer.

W.M.S. Reviews Work In China

In the absence of Mrs. James Brown, Mrs. J. H. Rowe presided at the meeting of the George Street Women's Missionary Society held in the board room Tuesday. The worship service was conducted by Mrs. Rowe, and had as its theme, "The Bible, the Foundation Stone of the New Order."

The program was in charge of Group "D." Mrs. F. Latimer, Mrs. W. J. Routley, and Mrs. W. McMillan reviewed the work done in China during the past year. The material was taken from "The Blue Book." Mrs. Rowe then led in prayer, followed by Mrs. W. P. Purdy, who played "Shall We Gather at the river."

The treasurer gave her report, and Mrs. R. Parnell and Mrs. J. W. Hale reported on the visits made during the month. A motion to send a letter of sympathy to Rev. H. Roberts, who is ill, was carried, and the corresponding secretary was instructed accordingly.

It was also decided to buy 30 copies of "The World Friends," for the Mission Band, and the money is to be taken from the W.M.S. treasury. The secretary was also asked to take subscriptions to the Missionary Monthly, in the absence of Mrs. E. Wellwood, who was ill.

The motion putting the executive in charge of the Christmas meeting was carried. Mrs. H. Girven and Mrs. J. H. Spencer were appointed auditors.

A NATION OF 'CAPITALISTS'

"Capital . . . is simply . . . 'saved labour'. A man doesn't spend all he earns, and capital, which always starts in a small way, comes into being."

"Anyone who has a savings account or owns a home, a share or a bond, or a life insurance policy, is a capitalist, and a better citizen for it, since he has a stake in the country . . . we are a nation of 'capitalists' . . ."

"We provide for those who bring their investments to us for management, a helpful service in safeguarding for them the fruits of their labour during their lifetime, and a sound administration of their estates after their deaths, to best assure the security of their dependants."

MURRAY GOODWIN'S eyebrows shot up towards his receding hairline. "What? What's this? Who said that?"

"I did. The Postum you just ordered. You're looking at me as if you are sure you are not going to like me. You think I'm just a substitute for tea and coffee, don't you?"

Mr. Goodwin recovered his eyebrows and voice. "Well—yes. If I hadn't been warned to cut down on tea and coffee, I wouldn't be trying you."

"Let me tell you a thing or two, Mr. Goodwin. I'm no substitute. I have a very special flavor of my very own. Millions of people call me their favorite mealtime drink."

"What brought on all this success, may I ask?"

"I was going to tell you anyway. I'm all wholesomeness. No harmfulness. Nothing to upset nerves or digestion. Add that to my tempting flavor—and you've got good reason why I've become one of the great mealtime drinks."

Mr. Goodwin didn't say a word. He was busy drinking the Postum. A pleased smile settled over his face.

To the waiter he said, "M-m-m—I really have discovered something. I'll have another cup of Postum."

P. S.

Postum is economical (less than a cent a cup) and easy to prepare. Two forms —Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup simply by adding boiling water or hot milk; Postum Cereal Beverage, made like coffee in pot, percolator or glass coffee-maker.

S-T-R-E-T-C-H THEM WITH THESE IDEAS

When your grocer is able to let you have Jell-O and Jell-O Puddings, make them go as far as possible. Get more servings per package with recipes like these, and others you'll find on the packages. Enjoy Jell-O quality and tempting, smooth, rich flavor to the full.

SUNNY ORANGE SUPPER PLATE

1 package Orange Jell-O
1 cup warm water
2 oranges, sections free from membrane and diced.
1 cup orange juice and water
1 cup diced celery, salted
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vinegar

Dissolve Jell-O in warm water. Add orange juice and water. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in oranges. Combine celery, salt and vinegar; fold at once into slightly thickened Jell-O. Turn into individual molds. Chill until firm. Makes 8 molds. Serve, unmolded on lettuce, with cold sliced meat.

QUICK—AND—EASY CHOCOLATE FROSTING

Here's a way to make one package of Jell-O Chocolate Pudding really go a long way—use it to frost a whole two-layer cake.

1 package Jell-O Chocolate Pudding
1 cup milk
1 cup sifted icing sugar
2 tablespoons butter

Place pudding in saucepan. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Place over medium heat and cook until mixture comes to a boil and is thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from fire. Add sugar and butter and mix until well-blended. Frost cake in usual way.

Present-day problems have not brought about any change in the quality of Jell-O and Jell-O Puddings.

Three Britishers Crash Sicily Battle

LONDON, Nov. 10 (CP). —The Canadians who fought in Sicily and now are in Italy are "a broad minded lot," says a young British bombardier who "gate-crashed" the Sicily fighting with the Canadians.

Details of the exploit came out here in a letter Bdr. Donald Richardson wrote his father, a British army major. Stationed in North Africa and unhappy about the prospect of being left out of the Sicily show, young Richardson and two friends, all members of an air-borne unit, sneaked their way into Sicily. The censor cut out the details of how they reached the island.

But they got there five days after the fighting started and "worked our way into the battle area and fell in with an infantry outfit on its way up to the front —the Canadian front," he wrote home.

"Having proved our bona-fides we were accepted and remained with the brigade for about a fortnight. We saw plenty of war in that time.

"The Canadian appeared to be a broad-minded lot. During a quiet period we were talking to an officer from an artillery unit at his observation post and learned that the regiment was short of signallers. We went down to the battery saw the O.C. and volunteered to help them out until reinforcements came up. He jumped at the offer.

"Very soon we were attached to the unit and he was trying to get pay for us at the Canadian rate."

But the authorities finally caught up with young Richardson and his chum. They were taken out of the line and placed under arrest by airborne headquarters, receiving nominal punishment.

HP RATION-GRAM

Bean Eun-Bhrigh

The Scotch called it "EUN-BHRIGH"...We call it "thick soup". But regardless of what it is called, this new wartime recipe for a different kind of soup is delicious.

Soak 1 cup of dried lima beans in 1 cup of water overnight. Then drain and combine with 6 cups of cold water, 1 sliced onion, 1 sliced carrot, 1 tablespoon of salt and ¼ teaspoon of pepper. Cover and bring to a boil; then simmer for 2 hours. Rub through a coarse sieve and add 1 tablespoon H.P. Sauce. Heat and serve with a lump of butter in each dish.

Caution: In making this soup, don't use substitutes. Insist upon H.P. . . . it makes the difference. Try this grand old English type sauce also with meats, fish, fowl, salads, stews.

BOVRIL HELPS YOUR MEAT RATION!

YOU can help your meat ration with the concentrated beefy goodness of BOVRIL.

BOVRIL adds rich meaty flavour to meatless dishes like spaghetti and macaroni: In fact, you can use less meat if you add a little BOVRIL before or during cooking. (Mix with a little hot water and stir in).

BOTTLED BOVRIL, spread thinly, makes a deliciously beefy sandwich spread, with or without cream cheese or butter: delightful on hot toast. Try it!

If You Suffer 'PERIODIC' FEMALE PAIN Which Makes You Weak, Cranky, Nervous—

If you, like so many women and girls suffer from cramps, headaches, backache, "irregularities", periods of the blues — due to functional monthly disturbances—

Start at once—take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This effective liquid not only helps relieve monthly pain but also tired, weak, nervous feelings. This is because of its soothing effect on ONE OF WOMAN'S MOST IMPORTANT ORGANS.

Taken regularly—Lydia Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such symptoms. Thousands upon thousands report help. Also a fine stomach tonic, Made in Canada.

Canadian Tells Of His Escape

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 10 (CP). —Flt. Lt. Clifford Chappel's own story of his escape from the Nazis in Italy when that country capitulated is told in a letter received yesterday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Chappell, of Roseland near Windsor.

His letter describes how he and other prisoners left prison by a back door when the Germans were coming in the front, how they were sheltered by Italians and narrowly averted recapture in the subsequent days of wandering through the mountains, and how happy they were finally to hear an English challenge.

"On September 12 we left prison camp by a back exit as Jerry came in the front and escaped into the mountains where we spent 12 days pioneering under the trees," he wrote. "By the way, Chris Hare of Toronto is with me—we stuck together through it all."

"We then accepted the hospitality of a small Italian village, where the villagers treated us like long lost sons returning home. We stayed there 18 days dressed in civvy clothes."

"We then received warning that Jerry was moving into our alley in force and were advised to leave. For nine days we walked over mountain after mountain and finally, on the 19th, we heard our first Tommy voice. He challenged. " 'Who goes there?' We could have kissed him on the spot."

Victorious Red Army Rolls Into Kiev

Tanks, manned by members of the Russian army, roll through the Kiev street of Kreshchatik, after the Ukraine capital was recaptured. Kiev, the third largest Russian city, has been held by the Germans since September of 1941. The ruins seen in ABOVE photo, radioed from Moscow, bear evidence of the fierce struggle that preceded the Red's entry.

This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Hard To Beat

Very Easy to Make. No Cooking. Saves Big Money.

No matter what you've been using for coughs due to colds, you'll be the first to admit that this surprising relief, mixed in your own kitchen, is hard to beat, for real results.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—anyone can do it. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really excellent cough relief—about 4 times as much for your money. Tastes fine—children love it—and it never spoils.

You can feel this home mixture taking right hold of a cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases soreness and difficult breathing, and lets you sleep. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Just try it, and if not satisfied, your money will be refunded.

IN MEMORIAM

CARTER— In loving memory of a dear husband and dad, R. W Carter, who passed away, on November 10, 1943.

Today recalls sad memories,
Of a dear one gone to rest,
And the ones who think of him today,
Are the ones who loved him best.
- Always remembered by wife and family.

BENNETT— In memory of a loving father, W. C. Bennett who passed away, November 10, 1941

The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought the end was near,
And only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of parting without farewell,
More each day we miss you, father,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.
—The family.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Frank Gardener and son, Hubert Gardener, and family, wish to express their appreciation of the kindness and help shown them by their friends and neighbours during their recent bereavement and for the many floral tributes sent. Many thanks are also extended to the attending clergy.

Clayborne Loses

Gotch came back with a counterattack in which he did all the punching and did it so effectively that it won him the first fall. By the time he got through with his swings to the jaw it was child's play to pin Clayborne's shoulders.

There was some excitement as Gotch went to the dressing room after the fall. Some moron in the crowd threw a stone at the Pole and he countered by slapping down a spectator.

Clayborne took the second fall in ten minutes by his favorite stunt of vaulting over the referee. Maxwell was chasing Gotch back to his corner when the colored flash flew over the official's head and downed the surprised Polish battler before the latter could move a wheel. Gotch protested the fall strenuously but his complaints failed to register.

The third round was soon over. A victory for Clayborne looked in the bag when he opened out a series of flying tackles. He bowled Gotch over twice and the Pole was all ready for the cleaners until Clayborne missed completely on his next attempt, smashed into the ropes, dropped to the mat and lay there until he was counted out.

Rough-house Dick Hogan ran into a lot of trouble in the semi-final. Nick Elitch, a short but powerful battler who has a style all his own and can move in a hurry gave the turbulent Housepainter a bad half hour. No glamour boy in appearance was the New Yorker but he had the answer to most of the stuff that Hogan handed out and the crowd got a big kick out of the smart way in which he handled the bad actor. On one occasion he was tieing his shoe lace when Hogan tried a surprise attack. Elitch straightened up just in time to hit the Housepainter with a deftly applied shoulder that bowled him over then he calmly finished the job of getting that lace tied. The two battlers mixed it freely and Referee Maxwell had his hands full, in spite of the fact that he got a lot of help from a little woman in a red hat at the south side of the ring and a bespectacled fan at the north side. The woman called attention repeatedly to infractions of the rules and the other unofficial assistant kicked the ropes away from Hogan every time he tried to use them unfairly.

The bout looked like a sure draw but with two minutes to go Hogan lost the decision for twice clipping Referee Maxwell when the latter tried to interfere after the Housepainter had got Elitch in a jam on the ropes. The second punch cost Hogan the bout. Then Maxwell and Elitch ganged up and staged a joint attack on the turbulent loser, giving him a rough passage for a few moments.

Mike Demetre, the Montreal Greek, won over Buddy Knox of Cleveland in the opener after taking a lot of punishment from the big newcomer. Knox after wrestling cleanly in the early stages developed a bad man complex as the bout progressed and he had Demetre in difficulties with a series of chin-locks, reinforced with the odd swing to the jaw. Demetre finally tired of that kind of stuff and he sailed into the Cleveland battler with a series of punches to the chin. Knox took refuge outside the ropes but the Greek pulled him in again, tossed him around two or three times with the whip applied with real Watson deftness and then slapped a monkey drop on the bewildered Clevelander to pin him for the fall. The end came after 17 minutes.

Bert Maxwell who was greeted with a barrage of Bronx cheers refereed all three bouts and Fred Scates was the official timer and announcer.

While Toronto Army Daggers have withdrawn from the senior O.H.A. race and other teams are in a quandry, Secretary W. A. Hewitt who was here yesterday attending the funeral of J. P. Bond announced that he had word from Kingston and that the Kingston Army Frontenacs proposed to carry on. The situation there is that while they do not know how long they can hang on to the stars they have now they are going ahead, hoping that while there may be changes they may also have the benefit of the arrival of other players at Kingston for training. At that the military order as published does not seem to do anything about the hockey players who are holding staff jobs. Many of them will be found in that category.

Don't Let Your Table Manners Betray You

BAD MANNERS

The illustration above shows a few bad points which should never be made at the table. Gripping the knife and fork with a strangle-hold, hanging them from the plate, leaving the coffee spoon in the cup, and harpooning a piece of bread are practices condemned by etiquette.

The place for the table napkin is not around the neck but in the lap and there only.

Such little slips seem small but they are most important and are noticed as definite breaches of etiquette in eating at the table.

A girl who behaved in this manner at a dinner party would be out as far as the hostess was concerned for future parties.

Even your hesitation is noticed when you aren't sure what to do. Should you butter your bread all at once? A hot biscuit, roll or muffin may be so buttered, but you break and butter a slice of bread as you eat it. Never bite into a whole slice.

Embarrassing not to know, on a dinner party or a date! Our 32-page booklet tells what's correct for dinners, teas, buffet parties, restaurants, clubs. How and when to use silver, fingers.

For your copy of GOOD TABLE MANNERS send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T BLOCK YOURSELF

IT IS USUALLY a mistake, when defending against a No Trump contract, to let your partner win a particular trick if he is unable to lead again the suit on which defeat of the contract depends. Better still is playing a card higher than any he could have in the particular suit so that, if the declarer lets your side have the trick, you are able to fire the dangerous suit at him again.

North: ♠ A 9 8 6 4 ♥ 4 ♦ J 6 5 ♣ J 8 6 4

West: ♠ Q 10 ♥ K Q J 9 5 ♦ K 7 ♣ 10 5 3 2

East: ♠ J 7 3 2 ♥ 10 7 6 ♦ 9 8 3 ♣ K 9 7

South: ♠ K 5 ♥ A 8 3 2 ♦ A Q 10 4 2 ♣ A Q

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
3 NT

Even if West had made a heart over-call after the opening diamond bid, the chances are the ultimate contract would have been the same. Anyway, the opening lead was. West set down his heart K and, when East used the 6, he followed with the J, East playing the 6. At a suit contract, this high-low signal would betoken a doubleton in East's hand, but in No Trump such a signal suggesting continuation of the suit proclaimed desire for its repetition and hence at least three cards in his hand, to let West know declarer's heart suit was not overly long.

Seeing the high-low, West then led his fourth-best 9, on which East put the 10. South pondered only a moment, then saw that this may have assured the success of his contract. He put on his last small card and let East hold the trick. With no more hearts, East switched to the diamond 9. South took the finesse, playing low, and West won with the K. Now he knocked out the heart A, but it was too late. He set up his last heart, but never got a chance to use it, as South scored nine tricks by aid of the club finesse.

If West had led his heart Q to the third trick, hold-up or no hold-up, South would have had his A knocked out then or on the next trick. When he later lost a diamond, West's final heart would have set him.

What should East bid on his freakish holding after South calls 1-Heart, West 3-Diamonds and North 3-Hearts?

House Of Commons Advised Moscow Discussions Tend To Shorten War—Eden

Time Alone To Reveal Great Decisions At Enemy's Expense Eden Reports In First Statement

By E. C. DANIEL—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 11—(AP).—In his first public report on the Moscow conference, Foreign Secretary Eden today gave the House of Commons the most optimistic official outlook ever presented Britain for full and frank post-war co-operation among Great Britain, the United States and Russia.

Indicating that the results at Moscow had exceeded even his high hopes, Mr. Eden said the major success of the parley was not in its radically new consultative machinery, but in "the basis of goodwill and confidence" which it established among the three powers for dealing with future problems.

While not pretending that agreement had been reached on all the problems discussed, the Foreign Secretary said reasonable hope could be held "for even the most stubborn among them." Some of his listeners presumed this a reference to the question of Russia's post-war boundaries.

He also disclosed that economic questions had been discussed and an agreement reached "on a program for handling these vast problems, on many of which work already has begun." The absence of an economic agreement had been mentioned by some commentators as the principal gap left in the Moscow conference program.

He explained that only the three big Allied powers had been included on the European advisory commission because its function was to make recommendations, instead of being an executive body, and revealed that occasionally "a sort of special purpose conference of a Foreign Secretary and two Ambassadors could be set up to consider problems ...Something of a novelty in diplomatic procedure."

"The actual achievements of the conference seem to me to be solid enough," he appraised, "but it was the friendly atmosphere of mutual interest and mutual confidence in which all these conferences took place which, to me, will always make the Moscow conference memorable."

He said a large measure of credit for success of the meetings must go to Foreign Commissar Molotov for his handling of the long and complicated agenda and added that Mr. Hull must have felt the results justified "his very gallant venture in making this long flight" from the United States.

All Must Wait

Of measures taken to shorten the war, Mr. Eden declared: "The results of our discussions under this head can only be made public as they develop at the expense of the common enemy. I have confidence that the development will be found generally satisfactory by the members of all parts of the House."

Military discussions perhaps did more good to the mutual relations, by the frank and exhaustive examination that was made of them, than any other phase of the conference, he said, adding "there was no tendency on the part of any of the delegates to dodge any difficulty or important issue that these matters raised."

He said the delegates met "on a basis of complete equality" and strived "for one purpose only, to try to bring the war to an end in victory at the earliest possible moment and thereafter full co-operation with each other to ensure that the people of the world might live at peace."

Soviet Attacks Along Dnieper Gain Momentum

LONDON, Nov. 11—(CP).—Russian forces slogging through snow in the western Ukraine toward Poland and Rumania were "pushing forward with far superior forces," the German communique said today.

Berlin broadcasts pictured the whole Russian front from the invested Crimea to the frozen fields around Nevel ablaze with heavy Soviet offensives.

A violent tank battle was reported near the White Russian rail centre of Gomel where Berlin said the Russians attacked "with numerous rifle divisions, masses of tanks and planes" in an attempt to break a narrow sector of the front along the Sozh River, tributary of the Dnieper. The Germans claimed they destroyed 271 tanks.

Near Zhitomir.

The fresh Russian gains presumably carried the Ukrainian armies closer than 40 miles from the rail centre of Zhitomir, as reported at midnight by Moscow. At that time, the Russians were 42 miles directly west of Kiev and lunging forward on a 70-mile front.

The German communique acknowledged the Russians had made "a local dent" in a fresh attack northeast of the Crimean port of Kerch and told of attacks around

Brenner Pass Takes Pounding

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Powerful Allied air forces in Britain and the Mediterranean theatre struck with their combined weights at Germany's vulnerable rail routes funneling into northern Italy through both the Brenner Pass from Austria and the Mount Cenis tunnel from France.

The R.A.F.'s heavy formations of four-engined raiders last night struck a concentrated blow at Modane, France, at the northern end of the Mt. Cenis Alpine tunnel, one of the world's longest. Good weather favored the operation.

American heavy bombers from the Mediterranean command rained explosives yesterday on the freight yards, locomotives sheds and other installations at Bolzano in the Alps on the route through the Brenner Pass.

All R.A.F. planes returned safely from Modane at the end of the 7½-mile tunnel. This was the second attack in eight weeks on Modane by Britain-based air forces.

It was also the second recent attack on Bolzano.

Germany Stronger Today Than In 1939

AMERICAN GENERAL CLAIMS NAZI ARMY HAS INCREASED 3-FOLD AND AIR STRENGTH IS IMPROVED

By LYN CROST
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—(AP)—Germany's war strength is greater today than in 1939 and Japan has a mighty wallop poised over Asia, a high-ranking United Army official was quoted as saying today.

The statement was made by Representative George Outland (Dem., Calif.) who said he was quoting Maj.-Gen. George V. Strong, chief of the Army's military Intelligence division, with the General's permission.

Germany:

1—The German army has approximately three times as many combat divisions in the field today as it had when the attack on Poland began four years ago.

2—The Germans now have 300 well-trained divisions. This year alone they reformed or re-equipped or raised more than 60 new divisions, each of which has approximately 600 machine-guns and 300 heavier weapons.

4—The Luftwaffe is larger now than it was in 1939.

5—The number of workers employed in war industries in Nazi-dominated territory has risen from 23,000,000 at the outset of the war to 35,000,000 now. The weapons they are making are in some cases better than any which the United Nations yet have.

6—There is nothing in the German economic picture to justify confidence in the immediate downfall of the Nazi structure. For example, German food rations to-day are higher in caloric content than they were at the outbreak of hostilities.

Japan.

1—The Japanese still have some 2,000,000 men of military age who have not yet been called to the colors, and they have nearly as many more in the 17-20 year age group who are not now subject to the draft.

2—In the air, the Japanese strength is on the up-grade. The enemy hasq not only replaced the planes lost in combat but is improving both the quantity and quality of its air force. The pilot training program has been stepped up and is keeping pace with an accelerated production schedule.

Armistice Day Observance Has Grim Note

By The Canadian Press

Formal celebrations of Armistice Day were abandoned for grimer tasks at home and abroad today as the anniversary of the end of the First Great War was dimmed by the urgent need of getting on with the job of winning a greater struggle.

For Allied fighting men it was a day of steady slugging at the enemy. For Canadians at home it was a day of uninterrupted industrial production.

Services of remembrance were held at war memorials across the Dominion while at 11 a.m. all Canada paused for two minutes silence in tribute to the dead of the last war.

While under federal law, the day is not a statutory holiday it is being observed as such in British Columbia and Saskatchewan cities.

King Takes Part

The King and Queen, who had asked that the day be observed with simplicity and an extra measure of war effort, placed a wreath of poppies on the cenotaph at Whitehall.

Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner, also placed a wreath at the cenotaph in behalf of Canada and Air Vice Marshal W. A. Curtis on behalf of the R.C.A.F. There were no special remembrance services for the Canadian Army Overseas.

In bomb-scarred Westminster Abbey a prayer was intoned over the candle-lighted tomb of the Unknown Soldier at 11 a.m. and then for two minutes there was silence among the hundreds gathered at the shrine.

King George sounded the keynote for the United Nations when he declared it was extra effort that counted.

Apparently fearful the downtrodden peoples of occupied Europe would seize the day for new outbreaks of sabotage, the Germans were reported to have tightened policing of all subjugated areas.

The Algiers radio urged workers in France to strike from the historic hour of 11 a.m. until noon in the factories where they are forced to turn out war goods for their conquerors.

No Holiday.

In Washington, President Roosevelt arranged to place a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier in traditional ceremonies at Arlington cemetery, but government offices ordered a full working day.

DIES IN SLEEP—Dr. Herbert Fricker, noted organist, and member of the Faculty of Music at University of Toronto, died in his sleep today in his 76th year.

Noted Organist Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, Nov. 11 — (CP).—Dr. Herbert Austin Fricker, 75, internationally known organist, died in his sleep here today.

Conductor of the Mendelssohn Choir for 26 years until his retirement in the spring of 1942, Dr. Fricker had been in good health up to the time of his death and only last night was visiting with friends.

Dr. Fricker came to Canada from England in 1917 and from that time on he did considerable work as conductor, organ recitalist and adjudicator at musical competitions. He held the position of organist and choirmaster at the Metropolitan United Church in Toronto for 27 years, retiring last June.

Born at Canterbury, Kent, England, he was eduacted in England and graduated from Leeds University.

He was a member of the Royal College of Organists and Chorus Master and conductor of the Leeds Philharmonic Society from 1900 to 1917. He also was organist for the city of Leeds from 1898 to 1917.

Dr. Fricker conducted the Exhibition Chorus at the Canadian National Exhibitions here from 1924 to 1934.

He was a member of the faculty of music at the University of Toronto and in 1925 was elected the president of the Canadian College of Organists. He was elected a Fellow of Trinity College of Music in London, England in 1936.

He is survived by his widow and a son, Eric. Another son, Hubert Cecil, died in 1937.

Status Raised Of Minister To Washington

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP) — The Canadian Legation in Washington and the United States Legation here were raised today to the status of Embassies, with the ministers of the two countries elevated to the rank of Ambassadors.

The distinction between an Embassy and a Legation has largely disappeared in practice but historically there was a real distinction.

An Ambassador was presumed to represent the person of the Sovereign of his country and as such had the right to access, on demand, to the head of the state to which he was accredited.

Canada thus becomes the first of the British Dominions to establish an office of the highest diplomatic status in a foreign country while the United States becomes the first nation to establish an office of similar status in a British Dominion.

Now Becomes Ambassador

Hon. Leighton McCarthy at Washington steps up from the status of Canadian Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy extraordinary to that of Ambassador and Hon. Ray Atherton, United States Minister in Ottawa, makes the same jump in rank.

Mr. McCarthy will now rank with Lord Halifax, the British Ambassador, and other representatives of the larger powers at Washington while Mr. Atherton will be in a class by himself as the first Ambassador in Ottawa.

A Minister who headed a delegation also represented his Sovereign but in a less personal sense. He had the right of access to the Foreign Minister of the State to which he was accredited but not to the Sovereign or head of the State.

In modern practice, the distinction is largely a question of rank in the diplomatic corps. As Canadian Minister in Washington, Mr. McCarthy ranked, according to date of his appointment, with the Ministers accredited to the United States and the ministers ranked after the Ambassadors.

He will now step up to the status of an Ambassador and rank according to seniority with the representatives of those powers maintaining Embassies.

DESTROYER ECLIPSE LOST

LONDON—The Admiralty today announced the loss of the Destroyer Eclipse. No details were given. The 1,375-ton destroyer, completed in 1934, carried a normal complement of 145 men.

HON. LEIGHTON McCARTHY, Canadian Minister to Washington, has now been named Ambassador to the United States, by virtue of the change in status of the Canadian Legation at Washington to that of an embassy.

Fighting Bitter At Bougainville

SOUTH-WEST PACIFIC ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 11 (AP). — Powerful reinforcements of regular United States Army troops, landed without loss from warship - guarded transports and fought today alongside the spearhead of Marines on Bougainville against decimated Japanese.

The tide of jungle battle — a welter of tanks, mortars and camouflaged men contending in the roughest type of terrain— swung toward the invaders of that last big Solomons Island protecting the Japanese fortress of Rabaul.

"Our Bougainville operations were successful beyond our fondest expectations," said Rear Admiral Robert B. Carney after watching the soldiers swarm ashore and after seeing an enemy raiding air force lose 26 out of 60 divebombers and fighters without sinking one of the ships in the convoy.

Bombs damaged one transport but Admiral Carney emphasized that "no boat was laid up and all the ships got back to base."

Work Pincers

The army reinforcements landed Monday at Empress Augusta Bay. At that time Japanese troops which went ashore the day before from 21 barges north of that beachhead to join with forces on the south in a pincers operation, had begun to infiltrate American lines.

Roosevelt Reveals Figures Of Tremendous Support By Lend-Lease In Reverse

Churchill Points Out Many Other Aids Cannot Be Measured In a Dollars And Cents Computation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—(AP).—Congress received from President Roosevelt today a report that the British Commonwealth, through last June, had contributed $1,174,900,000 "to the defence of the United States" through lend-lease in reverse.

The help from the Empire, in return for upwards of $5,500,000,000 in lend-lease supplies from the United States, covered such varied items as corn-on-the-cob and socks, plane repair shops and boxing gloves.

Most of it came from the British Isles, whose total was $871,000,000. Airports, barracks, hospitals and similar facilities for American air and land forces accounted for $371,000,000 of Britain's share, goods and services for $331,000,000 and shipping for $169,000,000.

Australia helped out to a total of $196,000,000, New Zealand provided $51,000,000 in reverse lend-lease, and India $56,900,000.

The analysis of reverse lend-lease, Mr. Roosevelt said, "emphasized the contribution which the British Commonwealth has made to the defence of the United States while taking its place on the battlefronts.

Pool Resources.

"It is an indication of the extent to which the British have been pooling their resources with ours so that the needed weapon may be in the hands of that soldier—whatever may be his nationality—who can at the proper moment use it most effectively to defeat our common enemies," he said.

The figures represent an incomplete accounting. For instance, he said, many supplies and services have been made available by Britain to United States forces in North Africa, Sicily and elsewhere for which no report has been received.

Nor do they take into account anticipated exports of raw materials, commodities and foodstuffs for the account of the United States. Previously this country purchased these things, the President said, but the United Kingdom agreed last summer to put them on the basis of reverse lend-lease.

The presidential report was the 12th to Congress since lend-lease was was inaugurated in March, 1941, and it dealt entirely with reverse lend-lease from the British Commonwealth. It took no direct note of demands originating in Congress for investigations and closer checks on lend-lease activities.

Canada Pays Cash

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (CP) — President Roosevelt in a report to Congress today on reverse lend-lease said Canada had not entered in a lend-lease agreement with the United States. The Dominion had her own mutual aid program.

Allies Pierce Germans' Mountain Line

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Nov. 11—(AP).—Skilled mountain fighters of the Anglo-American 5th Army stormed up the heights and drove the enemy from two mountains, including Mount Rotondo northwest of Mignano where the main inland road to Rome passes through the heavily fortified line that Nazi soldiers have been ordered to hold until New Year's, Allied headquarters announced today.

American troops, making up the right wing of the 5th Army, smashed forward against German counter-thrusts to the peak of Mount Rotondo overlooking the broad valley leading to Cassino, eight miles north of Mignano.

Wreck Ships.

Meanwhile, an Air Force statement disclosed that the Germans are blasting and wrecking ships and port facilities at both the west and east coast ports of Leghorn and Pescara, either in preparation for evacuation of those places or in fear of their seizure by Allied amphibious forces.

Simultaneously, Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's British 8th Army, fighting through snowstorms in the Apennines, advanced five miles south of Castel di Sangro on an important trans-peninsular highway.

At Leghorn, the biggest fort on the west coast between Naples and Genoa," the Air Force statement continued, "the obsolete cruiser Quanto has been scuttled, probably blocking the harbor entrance, and a 330-foot merchant vessel appears to be scuttled at the outer harbor entrance.

Blanket Of Snow Hits West Ontario

TORONTO, Nov. 11. — (CP).—A light blanket of snow was "fairly general" through Ontario to-day.

Meteorological officials in Toronto said the fall last night and early to-day was heaviest in Muskoka and Huron and Bruce counties, but light in the eastern section.

In Toronto, half an inch of snow covered the ground and was accompanied by a brisk north-east wind. Early to-day the mercury hit 29 degrees above zero—lowest since April 15.

Heavy snow fall was reported in some sections of southern Ontario and at Port Burwell, 26 miles east of St. Thomas, a 16-inch fall was recorded during the night.

Europe Invasion to Be Many Pronged

Forecast Simultaneous Attacks On Europe And Asia To Bewilder Axis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

As we stand in silence at the eleventh hour of this Armistice Day in honor of the brave men who have died for our country, let us not forget a prayer that strength be given to the living—to the gallant Allied forces which soon will launch their crucial offensives of the war, and to the home-fronts which must not falter in this fateful moment.

The signals now are fairly set for the Allied offensives in both the European and Asiatic theatres, and the way things are developing we are likely to see them go into action at somewhere near the same time. The preliminaries are well advanced.

Actually there probably will be not one but several almost simultaneous assaults launched in both Europe and Asia. The idea will be to bedevil the enemy on as many fronts as possible at the same time—to weaken him by dividing his forces.

Indications are that when the day for the big invasion of western France arrives the main cross-channel assault will be supported by thrusts at numerous other points along the coast of France, the Low Countries and Norway, though some of these will be feints and won't be developed.

An invasion of Southern France through the Rhone Valley may also be expected, bringing into action the 300,000 or more French soldiers who are waiting in Corsica and North Africa for a chance to fight again for their country. A drive into the Balkans is another contingency.

The offensive against the Japanese will be a many-pronged affair. Observers generally expect it to develop into a vast pincers movement, with the main claws reaching for Japan from India in Southeast Asia and from the American strongholds in the Southwest and Western Pacific.

Provinces Agree To Code

Labor Representatives Finish Conference

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 — (CP). — A three-day conference between Dominion and Provincial government labor representatives ended, the Federal department began today to modify proposed legislation on compulsory collective bargaining and arbitration to include recommendations by the provinces.

During the discussions, which extended a day longer than originally anticipated, differences of opinion between the provinces and the Dominion were apparent.

An official statement issued at the conclusion of the conference last night said "unanimity" was reached on "the four basis principles" of the legislation recommended by the Dominion, but mentioned specifically one instance in which there were varied opinions — the definition of war industries to which, the Dominion proposed, the legislation should be restricted.

The four points on which the delegates agreed in principle were:

1 Compulsory collective bargaining

2 Compulsory arbitration of disputes arising from negotiated agreements.

3 Definition and probihition of unfair labor practises.

4. Adequate machinery for enforcement.

Arabs, French In Trouble

Crisis Develops In Lebanon Over Status

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(AP).UCairo dispatches said to-day that the President and Premier of Lebanon had been arrested by the French National Committee of Liberation, as the crisis between the Arab State and the French over the Republic's status reached a grave turn.

The dispute apparently reached a climax several days ago when the Lebanese Chamber of Deputies announced that it intended to adopt several constitutional changes. The French committee at Algiers immediately informed the Chamber that the French committee must be consulted first.

The Cairo dispatches said that the Lebanese president, Shoukri El Kuwatli Bey was placed under house arrest by Senegalese Guards yesterday, and the premier, Riad El Solh and two other ministers were arrested to-day.

Disturbances have broken out at Beirut, the capital, and communications have been severed from both Lebanon and the neighborboring State of Syria, the Cairo reports said.

The only official French comment on the crisis came to-day from Jean Helleu, French delegate general, who in a Beirut broadcast denounced the Chamber's action as a plot against France.

Banker Shows Value Of Present System

MONTREAL, Nov. 11—(CP)—Canada's "prodigious" war-time expansion and the "potent" part played in it by her banks were outlined by Charles St. Pierre in a presidential address prepared for delivery at the annual meeting here today of the Canadian Bankers Association.

He said "in every way that money serves the war effort the smooth functioning of our banking system is a real and ever-present factor.

"It is strange that at the very time when our democratic initiative, industry and finance have risen to such great heights of service and efficiency...A clamor should arise to... throw it all on the scrap-heap and substitute something which has failed wherever it has been tried. It is my earnest conviction that... Canadian common sense will withstand any urge to abandon the substance for the shadow."

Tracing the expansion of the national economy, the banker mentioned that on Aug. 31, 1939, ten days before war was declared, total deposits in banks were $2,524,000,000. At Sept. 30, 1943, these deposits had grown to $4,085,000,000. bank notes rose from $210,000,000 to $747,000,000.

National income Mr. St. Pierre pointed out moved up from less than $5,000,000,000 to one neighboring a-around $9,000,000,000 in four years of war. Total trade had increased 167 per cent.

Employment had advanced until practically everybody was at work, with shortages appearing here and there. Cash income from the sale of farm produce in 1939 was $710,000,000 and $1,083,000,000 in 1942, a record. The total budgetted cost of government in Canada, including war costs, was $5,500,000,000, for the current fiscal year compared with $553,000,000,000 in 1939.

Debt Kept Down

Mr. St. Pierre quoted figures to show that Canada's public debt had risen by $4,507,000,000 against an increase of $2,209,000,000, in 1914-1921. The gain in the last war represented a seven-fold swelling of the funded debt. This time the increase was only one and one third. The net debt charges absorbed less than four per cent of the total Dominion budget outlay in the last complete fiscal year.

The banks had cooperated to bridge the gaps occurring from time to time between current Federal expenditures and revenues from taxes plus regular borrowings, the president stated. Accommodation advanced on deposit certificates returnable in six months bore the low interest rate of three quarters of one per cent.

Western Mines Remain Idle

CALGARY, Nov. 11. — (CP).—About 50 p.c. of the 8,500 miners who went on strike at midnight Oct. 31 in Alberta and British Columbia continued to stay away from their jobs to-day.

Preparations went ahead for another appeal to 2,000 miners in the Crow's Nest Pass field to end the strike in compliance with an order from District 18, United Mine Workers of America.

Meanwhile, miners at Fernie and Michel, in British Columbia, voted to return to the coal pits.

District President Robert Livett issued the order last Saturday when union officials accepted the government's strike settlement proposal at Ottawa.

The miners seek an increase of $2 a day in pay, time and a half for overtime and two weeks' vacation with pay annually.

George Weaver, Michel sub district official, said it was expected miners of both Michel and Fernie would be at work this morning. Previously some 150 miners at interior Princeton, B.C., went back to their jobs. Of British Columbia's 2,500

Four Children Serve In R.C.A.F.

In a bare Y.M.C.A. room before Air Force personnel standing stiffly at attention, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kay, 536 Chamberlain street, watched proudly as they made a third contribution to the R.C.A.F. Their two daughters, Alice and Anna, along with Mary Hanlon, have followed two sons into the Air Force. They were sworn into the Women's Division by A.S.O. Pauline Patterson Wednesday night, the first time that W.D. recruits have actually been enlisted here.

While the three recruits did not actually know one another, they were soon comparing notes and finding mutual friends until it was time for them to be documented, the final step before enlisting. Alice Kay has been employed at the DeLaval office for more than three years, and her sister Anna has been a comptometer operator at the C.G.E. for three years.

Both sisters are hoping to qualify for the wireless course so that they can remain together, although Alice prefers to stay in Canada, while Anna is keeping her fingers crossed for overseas service. Cpl. Robert Kay is stationed at Winnipeg and the other brother, AC2 James Kay, is at present in Toronto. The girls report on November 19.

To Do Accounting

Mary Hanlon, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Hanlon, 337 George street, has been working in Silverwoods office for some time. This bright-eyed young woman is better known in Peterborough for her singing, but she has enlisted in the Accounting course, which is at Trenton. Her work will involve handling of the payroll and the checking of equipment. To be enlisted direct for this work, girls must be experienced. She reports November 26 for her basic training at Rockcliffe, and is enthusiastic about going overseas, if, as and when.

In the presence of Flt. Lieut. T. Pryde, officer commanding the mobile unit, Major Clare Stuart of Peterborough and LAW. Patricia MacKenzie, the three recruits stood at attention as A.S.O. Patterson read the Oath of Allegiance and Déclaration. In halting voices, underscored with determination, they repeated the officer's phrases and signed the papers that meant they were now airwomen.

Remember Uniform

After the induction A.S.O. Patterson spoke briefly, congratulating the girls on entering the Service. She told them they were a fine type of recruit and she was certain that they would enjoy the life, but pointed out that a great deal depended on them. She warned the girls to remember that when they were in uniform they represented the King, and that they were airwomen before they were Anna, Mary or Alice, and that anything they did reflected on the R.C.A.F.

LAW. MacKenzie presented each girl with one day's pay and one day's living out allowance, and they were then put on leave without pay until it is time for them to report.

"Canada has received no lend-lease aid from the United States," said the report. "She has paid cash for the supplies obtained in this country.

"It may be noted, however, that Canada has already made a billion dollars worth of aid available without payment to the United Kingdom and is now engaged in making available another billion dollars worth of aid to the United Kingdom, Russia, China and the other United Nations on a mutual aid program similar to our lend-lease program."

Churchill Reports

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(CP).—The British government, in a white paper, outlining for the first time the scope of aid furnished by the United Kingdom to the United States, Russia and other Allies, declared to-day the war is being fought "on the significant concepts of mutual aid and the pooling of resources."

The white paper announced that Britain has furnished more than £250,000,000 ($1,112,500,000) worth of reverse lend-lease assistance to the United States and said the scope of this aid is being broadened to include raw materials and bulk foodstuffs from both the United Kingdom and the colonies.

The greatest assistance, for which specific figures were given only to last June 30, has been in supplying base facilities, barracks, hospitals and so forth for American air and land forces based in the British Isles.

Up to that time the total of mutual aid, as British lend-lease activities are called, amounted to £216,000,000 to the United States and £179,000,000 to Russia.

These figures were the first detailed report of Britain's assistance to other United Nations.

Totals Soaring.

It was accompanied by an official summary which stated that at present "Britain's cash expenditures under mutual aid total well over £250,000,000 for United States forces, and more than £375,000,000 to Russia and other Allies."

The report does not include reverse lend-lease supplied by Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India, which have separate assistance agreements with the United States.

The report was further qualified with the statement that the figures are not complete and that many of the goods and services furnished to American armed forces in various parts of the world cannot be measured in money terms, either because strict accounts have not been kept or because no accurate value can be placed upon them.

In the latter category the White Paper places information and experience gained in battle and in research about the performance of military equipment and the strong and weak points of both enemy and Allied tactics and weapons. Such information, it was stated, aided in the development of the Sherman tank and the Flying Fortress bomber.

"This is not a service which can be valued in money," the report said, "but it cost more in blood and effort than most aid."

13 Billions

(President Roosevelt reported to Congress August 25 that total American lend-lease aid through July 31 amounted to $13,973,339,000 and that the total of lend-lease goods actually exported through June 30 amounted to $9,882,000,000, of which $4,458,000,000 went to the United Kingdom and $2,444,000,000 went to Russia).

While Britain's reverse lend-lease to the United States has consisted chiefly of camp installations and airfields in the United Kingdom, military supplies, food, airplanes and naval services and shipping services, the aid to Russia included 4,690 aircraft and spare parts.

MRS. AGNES TULLY

Smith Township's Oldest Woman Mrs. Agnes Tully Passes At 97

After a lifetime packed with community activities, the grand old lady of Smith Township, Mrs. Agnes Tully, died Wednesday in her 98th year after passing through almost a century, when she saw the pioneer homes grow to the thriving settlement of to-day.

Born in Ireland, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Porter, Mrs. Tully came to Smith at the age of ten and has resided there during her entire lifetime, her present home being on the 3rd Concession of Smith. She and her family helped with the building of Lakevale Presbyterian Church, and she is believed to have been the only original member still living. It was built in 1866. The church has always interested her, and until two or three years ago she continued to play an active part in its organizations. Mrs. Tully was also a life member of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Following the pioneer traditions Mr. and Mrs. Tully raised a family of 11 children of which three daughters and five sons survive. They are: Mrs. Charles Rutherford of Best Station, Mrs. W. Fowler and Mrs. J. Davis of Springville, Joseph and Sidney of Smith, Valentine of North Monaghan, Alfred of Peterborough and Alex of Mount Pleasant.

The funeral will be held Friday at 2:30 from the home of her daughter Mrs. Rutherford at Best Station, with Rev. Sharpe of the Lakevale Church officiating. Interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

He devoted the time to an attempt to convince the jury that the fingerprint on exhibit—with which the prosecution seeks to prove that De Marigny beat and burned the aged multi-millionaire last July—is good evidence.

Many Points Obscure

Defence counsel have charged that the print was faked.

Hallinan defended the method used in obtaining the print, and declared De Marigny could not have made the impression after Sir Harry's body was discovered.

The Chief Justice's charge came after 20 days of testimony and one day of final arguments.

"No man in the empire, even in time of war, can be found guilty except on a verdict of a jury," said the Chief Justice.

"With the feeling of liberty bred into our bones, you will not rush, but still reach a decision calmly and with thorough deliberation."

He thanked counsel for able representation of both sides.

"Still we are completely in the dark," Sir Oscar said, "as to many of the baffling circumstances which surrounded the death of Sir Harry Oakes.

"Nassau awoke July 8 to learn the appalling news that an outstanding citizen was mudered in a most cruel and unnatural manner."

"The prisoner is entitled to the benefit of reasonable doubt," Sir Oscar continued, "if the prosecution has not proved to you that his print came from the bedscreen or that his explanation of the burned hair is untrue.

"The prisoner need not satisfy you, regardless of your own feeling if it is not proved to your satisfaction, he is entitled to the benefit of reasonable doubt.

"The doctrine of reasonable doubt should run like a refrain through your every discussion."

"I say as presiding judge," Sir Oscar continued, "that to my mind there is no evidence whatsoever to justify allegations made during the trial or to justify any charge of fabricating or falsifying evidence."

The justice pointed out that even police evidence must be accepted with caution.

"Capt. Barker may have made a mistake," he said, "but that is far different from fabrication as the defence charged."

OBITUARIES

MRS. GEORGE CLARKE

LINDSAY, Nov. 11 — (ENS). — The funeral of Mrs. George Clarke was held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd James, 104 Regent Street. Mrs. Clarke, formerly Katherine Louise Jackson, was born in Ops, the eldest daughter of Louise and Henry Jackson. She was a member of the L.O.B.A. 336, members of which attended the funeral and of St. Paul's Anglican Church.

Surviving are her husband, a son, Sgt. Harry Clarke and a daughter, Mrs. Lloyd James.

MRS. DONALD BELL

BONARLAW, Nov. 11 — (ENS). —In the death of Mrs. Margaret Bell, wife of Mr. Donald Bell, who died at the Green Nursing Home, Stirling, this week after a long illness, this community has lost a beloved citizen.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. McDermid, she was born at Rob Roy village, Grey County, 72 years ago and for the past 41 years has resided at Bonarlaw. She was a member of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Stirling and for many years until her health failed was prominent in church and community work being president of the Springbrook Women's Institute during the last war.

A service was held in the Duffin Funeral Home, Stirling, conducted by Rev. W. H. V. Walker, which was largely attended by friends and neighbours from Bonarlaw and vicinity. The remains were taken to Stayner for interment.

Soviet Attacks

Perekop on the narrow land bridge tying the Crimea to the mainland.

Plagued by rain, snow and fog of the approaching Russian winter, and heeling under the blows of the Russian forces, the Nazis were abandoning huge stores of food and war material in their flight, a Soviet communique declared. It said the Russians, fanning out on a 70-mile arc from Kiev, had overrun more than 60 towns and captured Komarovka, 40 miles northeast of Zhitomir and 48 miles southeast of Korosten, another important rail centre.

The Red Army thus was more than 42 miles due west of Kiev, captured last Saturday.

Pincer Drive

South of Kiev, Red Army columns were beyond Vasilev, captured yesterday, and were less than 20 miles northeast of the rail city of Byelaya Tserkov, Moscow declared. These Units formed part of a pincer drive apparently aimed at entrapment of German remnants in the bend west of the Dnieper river.

Meanwhile, Moscow advices said, Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's fourth Ukrainian army was massing at the north end of the Crimea for an assault on the peninsula over the Perekop land bridge and the Sivash sea causeway.

The Soviet communique also said Russian marines supported by fighter planes had smashed German tank attacks against Red Army beachheads on the Kerch peninsula on the eastern tip of the Crimea. Thousands of Nazi soldiers died in the unsuccessful counter-attacks, Moscow said, and Red Army planes sank two of a fleet of small German torpedo boats attempting to halt Russian landings.

In the Nevel area, far to the north, where Red Army forces were reported within 50 miles of the Latavian border, five German counter-attacks were smashed and the Russians moved up to capture several strongly fortified areas, Moscow said.

Warden Mather Lauds County Loan Effort

Warden Peter J. Mather, in a reference to the success of the Fifth Victory Loan in Peterborough said the support manifested by the people of the county reflected great credit upon themselvs and also on the county as a collective municipality.

"I know from my own experience in the canvass that we had more buyers of $50 Bonds than ever," Warden Mather said. "That was an indication of the special effort made by our citizens to bring the Loan to the required total. Peterborough County passed its objective, and while it is true that the people were only doing their duty, nevertheless, I wish to extend my congratulations to them. The Wardenship of this county retains its traditional honor through the loyal co-operation of its citizens. Peterborough County is what its people make it, and it gave me a new feeling of pride in our county when I heard that we had again gone over the top."

A. De Marigny Awaits Verdict

By E. V. W. JONES
Associated Press Staff Writer

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 11 (AP)—Alfred de Marigny waited tensely today to learn whether he will be a free man or be under sentence to hang for a crime he says he did not commit—the murder of his father-in-law, Sir Harry Oakes.

Only hours remained before the 12-man jury retires to bring in its verdict of guilty or not guilty.

Eric Hallinan, the attorney-general had the floor to complete his summation of the Crown's case. Chief Justice Sir Oscar Bedford Daly waited to follow with his charge to the jury. Then the jury will retire to reach their decision.

Hallinan and Godfrey Higgs, defence counsel, spoke at length yesterday bringing out for the jurors ramifications of the evidence by nearly three-score witnesses.

Each advanced theories to explain away seeming contraditions and define the issues.

Higgs pictured De Marigny as an innocent man who was brought into court the victim of faked evidence. He attacked the fingerpint which the Crown said was left by De Marigny on a bedscreen in the room where Sir Harry was beaten to death and set on fire.

Hallihan described a rising crescendo of enmity between De Marigny and his father-in-law which reached a climax, he asserted, in the slaying. He said the defendant married 19-year-old Nancy, daughter of the slain man for mercenary reasons.

Modane Railway Hit By Bombs

LONDON, Nov. 11 — (CP). — Britain-based R. A. F. bombers pounded the German lifeline leading into Italy by striking approximately 600 miles across Europe to blast the northern terminus of the Mount Cenis Alpine railway tunnel at Modane, the Air Ministry announced today.

The R.C.A.F. bomber group did not operate but there were many Canadians flying in R.A.F. formations.

All planes returned safely from the raid, which was the second attack on Modane within six weeks, the announcement said.

Simultaneously, Mosquito bombers attacked targets in Western Germany and mines were laid in enemy waters, the bulletin added.

The attack on Modane, located on the French side of the Italian frontier, was described officially as "well concentrated" and was favored by clear weather.

IF BABY IS CROSS FIND OUT WHY

HEALTHY BABIES are not cross. Your baby should not be cross. If he is, then something in his little system is "out of order". Probably Baby's Own Tablets can promptly "put it right". Mrs. H——, of Fenelon Falls, had the experience. She writes: "My little girl was irritable, feverish and sometimes sick at her stomach—what a relief it was, after giving her Baby's Own Tablets, to see how much better she was."

No matter how delicate your baby may be, these little sweet-tasting tablets cannot harm him. Easy to take. Promptly effective in clearing up simple fevers, diarrhoea, colds, constipation, simple croup, colic, teething troubles and other minor ills.

Never be without a full box of Baby's Own Tablets. Sickness so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if you are not satisfied.

Lots of folks want 'Crown Brand' but I NEED it!"

More Crown Brand Syrup is being made than ever before, but, in these days of shortages, Crown Brand is doing a big war-time job in Canadian homes.

Of course, when he has stock, your grocer will first supply his customers who have tiny babies—and then will do his best to provide Crown Brand for other needs.

Please try and help the available supply go around. Don't buy more than you need when you find it at your grocer's. Remember—the wee babies need it most.

Doctor Upsets High Price Of Penicillin

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11 (AP) — How precious, life-giving penicillin is being produced in the kitchen of his home "at five cents a plateful" was explained today by Dr. Julius A. Vogel, plant physician for the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation.

Although a comparatively crude type, he said his pencillin has proved effective in treating external infections, and that any properly equipped physician can "grow" his own supply.

Dr. Vogel cited more than a score of cases where he said complete cures were effected with his kitchen penicillin," as he spoke before 500 executives and medical directors of leading American industries at the eighth annual meeting of the Industrial Hygiene Foundation at Mellon Institute.

"All surface pyogenic infections can be treated by the green mold culture, produced at five cents a plateful," he remarked, "and it doesn't require the services of an experienced bacteriologist."

Dr. Vogel's penicillin is grown in covered glass dishes about the size of saucers. The greenish mold spreads over pieces of gauze, and within four days is ready for use on infections. About a dozen "patches" can be taken from each dish, Dr. Vogel explained.

The gauzes can be used anywhere from the fourth to the 12th day after the penicillin is started, the doctor said. Growth of the mold continues after the gauze is placed on the patient. Bandages are fastened securely, but are not made airtight as penicillin needs oxygen to generate.

Russians Near Old Borders

Prospect of the loss of all Russian territory that they once held and invasion of satellite and occupied countries by victorious Soviet troops now faces the Nazis. Kiev was captured by the Red Army which has now driven far past that city and rapid Russian gains are being made in other large areas. C.C.F. Leaders Agree With Winch Speech

TORONTO, Nov. 11—The statement attributed to Harold Winch British Columbia C.C.F. leader, that under a C.C.F. government the police and military forces would be used to force those opposed to obey the law, found unanimous agreement among the Ontario members of the party last night. Mr. Winch was reported as saying at a Calgary meeting that those who defied the government "will be treated as criminals."

"The headline on the story was misleading,'" remarked F. A. Brewin, vice-president of the Ontario C.C.F. 'When one reads the article carefully one finds that what Mr. Winch says is that if the democratic will of the people is enacted into legislation, then the police and the military will be used, if necessary to carry out this will. I think he was alluding to the possibility of resistance, illegal resistance, by those who do not like the C.C.F. There is nothing in what Mr. Winch said to suggest that a C.C.F. government would put down lawful opposition to the government."

Asked if he agreed with Mr. Winch's statement that the British North America Act would be scrapped under a socialist government, Mr. Brewin said the C.C.F Party took the stand that fundamental revisions in the B. N. A. Act were necessary. The use of the word "scrap" might suggest no consideration would be given to other views, but he was sure this was not what the British Columbia leader meant, he said.

Bert Leavens, Legislature member-elect, also thought afternoon newspaper headlines were misleading. Illegal opposition would be put down, but the C.C.F. had no intention of departing in any particular from the democratic form of government.

What Any Government Does

"What Mr. Winch says is that if a C.C.F. Government comes to power by the free expression of the people's will, and minority groups attempt to overthrow that Government by illegal means, then the full power of the Government will be exerted to suppress them," said Mr. Leavens. "After all, that is what any Government does. Don't forget Section 98 of the Criminal Code. I know Mr. Winch pretty well and I am quite sure he meant exactly what I have said."

Charles Millard, one of the Ontario chieftains and member-elect for the Legislature, said Mr. Winch undoubtedly meant that there must be the same respect for law and order under a C.C.F. Government that existed today under a different form of Government.

George Grube, vice-president of the Ontario C.C.F., saw nothing to be alarmed about in the British Columbia leader's statements. He thought the newspaper headline gave a misleading impression and one that was not borne out by the context of the report. It was the duty of a duly elected Government to suppress any illegal attempt to overthrow the Government and thus defy the will of the majority, he declared. There was no thought in the C.C.F. mind of attempting to curb any democratic process.

Mr. Winch's use of the word "scrap" in referring to C.C.F. plans for the B.N.A. Act, might be a little "wholesale," Mr Grube admitted. He added: "But after all, exaggeration is a form of emphasis."

CAMPBELLFORD

D. D. Brown Pays Visit At Lodge Convocation

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 11. — (ENS).—The official visit of R.W. D. D. Brown of Keene, D.D.G.M. of the Peterborough District, was made at the regular convocation During the early part of the meeting the work of the First Degree was exemplified by local members under Hilton Beatty, who later presided as toastmaster during a luncheon at the Temple. After the toast to the King, one to the Grand Lodge was proposed by O. C. Watson, and this was responded to by the D.D.G.M., who traced the work of the Order and its Biblical background. The unity of the Empire was emphasized by Major N. Clark Wallace, who proposed the toast to "Canada, the Empire and the Armed Forces," and Alex. McColl responded, saying as a part of the Empire, Canada's future was assured.

Others who spoke briefly were William Coulby, Prince Edward, Mr. Carleton of Stirling, P. Gillespie of Peterborough, and Cyril C. Brazill, Stirling.

Northumberland Short $100,000

COBOURG, Nov. 11.—(ENS). — The Fifth Victory Loan campaign officially came to a close in Northumberland last Saturday when it became obvious that the county would not be able to reach its objective of $1,700,000. While several returns have yet to be made to the Victory Loan office, the latest total is $1,595,000 or about $105,600 short of the objective. It is expected, however, that the late subscriptions would bring the amount obtained up to the $1,600,000 mark to leave the county $100,000 short of its objective.

The Victory Loan committee was naturally disappointed that the objective was not reached. The latest returns from Provincial Headquarters showed that six out of sixty-one units in the province failed to make the grade and that Northumberland county stood in sixtieth position as having obtained 91.36 p.c of its quota. In the Fourth Victory Loan campaign, the county objective was $1,575,000 and $1,680,450 or 106.7 p.c. of the quota was obtained.

Out of the fourteen canvassing districts in the county, seven districts exceeded their objective while seven fell short of the quota set for them. Following is a tabulation of the results:

	Objective	Results
Cobourg	$500,000	$403,650
Hamilton township	175,000	128,600
South Monaghan township	40,000	45,700
Hamilton township	100,000	88,500
Alnwick township.	35,000	36,050

CAMPBELLFORD

Y.P.U. Hears Lecture On Chinese Missions

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 11 (ENS) —An illustrated lecture on China was the feature of the meeting of St. John's Y.P.U., which was in charge of the missionary conveners, Ruth Waters and Morely Maxwell. Rev. G. N. Maxwell discussed the slides and his commentary described mission work carried on in China. The musical portion of the program included a duet by Elsie MacDonald and Betty Bennett; a guitar selection by Miss Josephine Locke and Mrs. Fred Thompson, after which a reading was given by Gerald Heagle. The president, Miss Pearl McComb, presided for the business period.

ASHES IN CORNERSTONE

CAPE TOWN — (CP). — The casket containing the ashes of the late Sir Patrick Duncan, the first South African to be appointed Governor-General of the Dominion, who died July 17, was placed within the cornerstone of the new Duncan dock here.

Plague Of Foxes

GUELPH, Nov. 11 (CP).—Hereabouts it's fox and skunk hunting that's in fashion. District farmers blame the ammunition shortage for a marked increase in the farm-marauding pests. They are organizing official hunting parties, issued with special supplies of shotgun shells by Game Overseer Gordon Matthews.

CAMPBELLFORD

Holstein Association Plans To Hold Banquet

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 11 (ENS) —The Northumberland Holstein Association will hold its annual banquet in Roseneath November 17, according to E. L. Anderson, secretary of the Association. It is expected breeders throughout the county will be represented, as it will provide an opportunity to discuss problems of increased milk production. Speakers of the evening will be George C. Jackson, president of the Dominion Holstein Breeders' Association and A. H. Martin, assistant director of the Agriculture Representative Service. Reservations may be obtained from the president, A. J. Campbell of Roseneath, the secretary, or from Agriculture Representative R. C. Banbury at Brighton.

Mining Contractor Funeral At Toronto

TORONTO, Nov. 11 — (CP). — Funeral services will be held today for John Nicholas Maguire, 62, mining contractor in the Porcupine district for more than 25 years who died in hospital here on Sunday.

Born at Almonte, Ont., he spent most of his life in Northern Quebec mining districts. He came to Toronto a year ago.

He is survived by his widow and a son John D. of the United States Army Air Force. A brother Michael lives at Kirkland Lake, Ont., and a sister, Mrs. Anna McCabe at Almonte.

Disillusion In Germany

Adolf Hitler's speech, delivered at Munich on the anniversary of the 1923 Putsch, was robust, but its orientation was exactly opposed to his speeches of two and three years ago. Then he spoke of conquest and victory; now he demands victory, and says nothing about conquest. No one can justly say that his recent speech faltered, but there was plenty of evidence in it that Hitler knows how serious his situation is. He declared that he would have no pity for Germany if it failed in its hour of trial, and he declared that his nerve would never falter. We need not discount this latter statement. It has been customary for our propaganda to represent Hitler as a weakling and a coward; we have no certain proof that he is either. All things considered, there was more backbone in his beer-hall speech than we would have expected.

It is plain that disillusion with the war is widespread in Germany. Hitler and Himmler have promised a generous use of the headsman's axe to silence talk of defeat or disloyalty, and they have not made their threat idly. Even the German newspapers — usually the obedient echoes of the official voice — have acknowledged that there is a good deal of dangerous talking and thinking in present-day Germany. Consider, for instance, this portion from an article in a Nazi paper published at Stuttgart:

> "Some Volksgenossen say: We have lost valuable districts through the withdrawal of our front in the East.
>
> "Some Volksgenossen say: At first I always thought that we would succeed in throwing the enemy out of Italy. Judging from present developments one cannot possibly assume this any longer.
>
> "Some Volksgenossen say: I was sure that retaliation against England would come in September. That is the month when fog lies over England and an attack on the British Isles would be possible. Now winter is coming and every chance of active fighting will again disappear.
>
> "Some Volksgenossen say: Can't we make peace; the others are certainly fed up with the war? And another says: I certainly know we will and must win the war, but how long will it last?
>
> "Some Volksgenossen say: The increase of the bread ration is only a sop for the people in order to mitigate the negative character of military events."

We cannot say just what the exact shade of meaning of the word 'Volksgenosse' is; it is used here as opposed to 'Parteigenosse', meaning a Party Comrade or member in good standing of the Nazi party, and so it may be taken to mean 'one of the general public' or 'the man in the street'. Obviously the Volksgenosse is not pleased with conditions and is doing a little grumbling of a sort which would attract no attention in a democratic country—where we call our leaders scoundrels and nincompoops, and ask for their resignations every other week—but which is shocking in Germany.

Another newspaper published in South Germany goes so far as to say that "not everybody who compares 1943 with 1940 and draws comparisons is a gossiper and a traitor". A paper in the north-east writes thus:

> "We know perfectly well that even in Germany words like 'retreat according to plan' and 'orderly evacuation' get on many people's nerves in the long run, but those who rack their brains about things which will remain inaccessible to all their inquiries can only be consoled with the comfort, however cheap, that they must wait."

And something of the same uneasiness may be felt behind these words, published in a paper in the south-east:

> "The words 'according to plan' are interpreted in a peculiar way by many readers for reasons which are understandable, because they are regarded as denoting something abandoned and lost. But only the person who is malevolently willing to overlook the superhuman efforts of our soldiers will overlook their meaning in this case and thus refuse to give the fighting troops their due."

Knowing as we do the rigorous restrictions which are imposed on the German press these extracts are significant of a widespread pessimism and disillusion. The press would take no notice of minority opinion, knowing that the Gestapo would deal with it in its own inimitable way. Clearly the feeling of pessimism is so widespread that even the German press cannot overlook it without straining itself to do so.

"Couples in the courting stage", says a contemporary, "will no doubt help the fuel situation by sitting closer together". And those whose marriages have grown cold may like to see what they can do with an old flame.

Compulsory Bond Buying

A Mr. Jerry Dunkleberger, who has charge of an engineering office in Vancouver, is reported to have told the men in his employ that they would either buy Bonds in the recent Victory Loan campaign, or face exposure and possible dismissal.

Mr. Dunkleberger's patriotic fervour suggests that of another Jerry, who also has a method of making everybody see things his way. We are glad to feel that he is so exceptional in Canada that his action attracts the attention of the press. The merits of Victory Bonds are clear to all Canadians except those who are hopelessly ill-informed or ignorant, and the country has gone over the top with every campaign it has held so far. The methods used in selling the Bonds have been those of persuasion, not intimidation. Canvasses among employees in large and small industries have been carried out without threatening any man's job. We should like to keep things on that plane.

For there is nothing patriotic about buying a Bond to save your job, and there is nothing patriotic about holding dismissal over a man's head if he fails to buy. Both methods suggest Fascism at its ugliest.

Most employers know approximately what their employees are able to afford for Bonds. They know about the home circumstances of their men, what their charges and expenses are, and what they are trying to do with their money. They usually know, also, when special problems exist which make the buying of a Bond an impossibility. We have had five Victory Loan drives in Canada, and we do not think that undue pressure has been used to raise money in any of them. That is something to be proud of, and a record to keep unblemished. If Mr. Dunkleberger hopes to impress the nation by his action he has underestimated us grossly.

Experiment At The Y.M.C.A.

The local Y.M.C.A., in partnership with the Y.W.C.A., has embarked on an interesting experiment which we hope will be a success. It has arranged for a series of classes to be held on Tuesday nights covering a wide range of subjects, including current events, personal finance, hobbies and crafts, leadership in recreation, appreciation of modern literature, bridge-playing, and appreciation of the theatre, music and painting. The first gathering for this purpose was held on Tuesday night last.

This is Education Week, and the experiment at the Y.M.C.A. may serve to wake up some of those who believe that education is for children or for other people, but never for themselves. The war has greatly curtailed the amount of entertainment which is available, and has thrown people on their own resources, with the result that many of them are anxious to develop special interests of their own. The experiment at the Y.M.C.A. gives them a chance to do so in several different fields.

The conservatism of Eastern Ontario cities toward ventures of this kind is notorious, and not easily overcome. Such conservatism has its good and bad side. It discourages fly-by-night ventures which are ill-conceived and lightly undertaken; it also, however, tends to breed a complacency, a contentment with things as they exist, even when many things do not exist at all which are necessary parts of life in a large and prosperous provincial city. Peterborough people who have overcome an understandable reluctance to try something new have found the Y.M.C.A. experiment stimulating and entertaining, as well as a worth-while way of spending an evening.

We hope that others will follow their example, and will show a willingness to try something new. The Y.M.C.A. experiment has been tried in a number of cities across Canada, and has worked splendidly in all of them; it has become a regular feature of the winter season in many. We hope that Peterborough will not show itself unwilling to try something which has proved itself to be a valuable part of community life elsewhere. Anyone who would like to learn more about the experiment may have full details if they telephone either the Y.M.C.A. or the Y.W.C.A.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Eat Here And Get Gas", says a sign on a highway hamburger and ethyl joint. Frank, at any rate.

Russia has 8,000 newspapers and not a single comic strip. They are even pushing the Katzenjammer Kids back from their territory.

Mr. Graham Towers of the Bank of Canada says that the average Canadian now receives $1.60 for every dollar he received in 1939. This convinces us that, whatever we may be, we are not average. Somebody is hanging on to our sixty cents.

The Labor Conference

From the WINNIPEG FREE PRESS

No one will argue today, and least of all this newspaper, that the government's handling of the trades unions in the overall war labour situation has been one of its conspicuous successes. This is unfortunate, for it has undoubtedly militated against the efficient possible prosecution of the war. There have been stoppages in vital war industries which should never have occured. To wholly blame the government for these stoppages, as labour so consistently does, is dishonest and unfair. But that these stoppages do reflect upon the government's war labour policy can hardly be denied. That policy is in the process of getting a complete if belated overhauling. Representatives of all provincial governments are meeting the department of labour in Ottawa this week. It is profoundly to be hoped that constructive measures may flow from this meeting which will restore peace and order and mutual understanding between the government and organized labour.

When and where the government got out of step with organized labour is difficult to say. Certainly it got off on the right foot, for in June, 1940, it passed P.C. 2685, which was labour's charter. This order-in-council set the government's seal of approval on collective bargaining between employers and workers, forbade intimidation of workers for joining unions, upheld the rights of workers to join unions of their choice and bargain collectively with their employers.

As a statement of principle, this was completely satisfactory to labour. In 1941, however, the gold miners of Kirkland Lake, having established their union and obtained a majority in a number of mines, tried to get union recognition and a collective agreement. The gold mine owners, in defiance of the government's labour principles, flatly refused to recognize the union. A bitter strike ensued in which the employers triumphed and the unions were broken. By allowing the mine owners to defy it, the government erred on two counts. Organized labour lost faith in the government's policy; and the implication which labour quickly drew was whoever had the necessary power could challenge the government's policy and get away with it. The steelworkers tried their strength with a strike. They got what they wanted. Since then there have been a number of strikes in war industries from which the strikers emerged with concessions.

Immediately after the Kirkland Lake affair, there arose a demand from organized labour for a labour code with teeth in it. Here, however, the Canadian constitution intruded. Because the Dominion's scope in labour control is limited by the B.N.A. Act, the government tried to work out a system which would be satisfactory to the provinces. It brought the provincial labour departments into the picture by the organization of regional labour boards. These regional boards however have not worked with the smoothness and satisfaction anticipated. In some provinces there have been delays and a good deal of buck-passing. The conference now being called undoubtedly will discuss the adoption of some kind of national jurisdiction over labour which will be satisfactory to the provincial authorities and to labour and industry as well. It will thus be a step toward the solution of the Canadian constitutional problem.

Yet while the Dominion labour policy has had its defects, it should be emphasized that the case is not anything like as black as the trades union spokesmen make out. In Ontario particularly, the trades unions have become sounding boards for C.C.F. politicians. Because their main interest is in advancing their own political careers, they have not hesitated to exaggerate grievances and generally to misrepresent the government's labour policy. In short, they have magnified the defects out of all proportion to reality. They never mention the number of plants the government has taken over because management has boggled its labour relations. They do not mention the substantial increases in wage rates that have been achieved by labour, nor the great strides that have been made by union organization since the outbreak of the war.

The Canadian trades union movement has been blind to the menace of inflation. It does not want wage ceilings and has shown little or no concern in marshalling its forces in defence of the price ceilings. It paid no attention whatever when it was told by President Philip Murray of the C.I.O. that labour in Canada had been able to make more progress economically and organizationally than it had in the United States.

While the criticism of the government has been prolonged and extreme, it would be wrong to assume that the critics speak with the voice of Canada, or even of the whole of organized labour. A recent poll of public opinion showed that only 25 per cent of the public and 34 per cent of trades unionists believed the government had been unfair to labour. Fifty-four per cent of the Canadian people and 34 per cent of the trades unionist felt that the government had been definitely fair to labour. A quarter of the public and the same number of trades unionists were undecided. Regardless of what action the government takes now, it will not be able to satisfy the vocal critics among organized labour. Most of them are in pursuit of political careers which necessitate their continued opposition to anything the government does. This, of course, should in no way deter the government from attempting to find some solution to the difficulties which are so apparent.

From Army to Pulpit

All chaplains are being asked to watch for men in the forces who might enter the ministry after the war.

One prisoner-of-war camp in Italy has a small theological college of its own. There are 20 men studying, and the staff of lecturers, which maintains ten courses of lectures, includes a scholar of Christ Church, Oxford, and a double first, another scholar of Corpus Christi, Oxford, and a graduate in modern history.—Manchester Guardian.

Newfoundland in War

Out of a male population in Newfoundland of 40,000 between the ages of 20 and 40, more than a quarter have volunteered to serve abroad. Numbers of these men are with Newfoundland artillery regiments of the United Kingdom forces; with the Royal Navy, the Royal Air Force, the Merchant Marine and the Forestry Unit. Many have enlisted in the Canadian armed forces. In this war as in the former world struggle the Newfoundlanders are doing their full share of the fighting.—Montreal Gazette.

THE UNSEEN AUDIENCE

"Uncle Joe"

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

Louis Bromfield is well known as an eminent novelist. He is also a successful practical farmer. As if these achivements were not sufficient for one man, he has now turned newspaper columnist. Quite recently he wrote a piece about "Uncle Joe," which explored and explained the growing popularity of Premier Joseph Stalin with the people of western democracies.

It was a good article. Along about the middle of it, however, Mr. Bromfield had this to say: "And 'Uncle Joe' hasn't gotten into a muddle like the one in North Africa and the one in Italy. He hasn't played ball with Darlans and Badoglios. He has always had a policy ready when the emergency arrived."

With all due respect to Mr. Bromfield, we think this is a bit silly. The dealings with Darlan and Badoglio were necessary or they would not have been entered into. Almost certainly, they saved the lives of many of our soldiers. They turned hostile or semi-hostile groups into allies—always a worth-while achievement from a standpoint of decreased opposition if nothing else. The dealings, at this distance, appear to be realistic diplomacy of a fairly high order. And if Mr. Bromfield means to suggest that the agreements with these men were entered into without preparation, then he hasn't read the papers.

Premier Stalin is no stranger to realistic diplomacy of this sort. Far from it. We seem to recall "Uncle Joe" playing a bit of ball with one Adolf Hitler while France fell and England rocked under the blows of the Luftwaffe. We seem to recall also that he entered into trade and non-aggression treaties with his Nazi neighbours. Not that we blame him for it. It is long since proved that he saw what was coming and, with superb realism, played for time as long as possible. In so doing, he set the stage for the gallant and effective fight since waged by the armies of his country.

Has Mr. Bromfield forgotten these things? Or does he think they were done by two other fellows named Joe?

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

Dear Miss Dix: Is it possible that two people can be happily married if they love one another deeply, yet have have different philosophies regarding life, happiness, success, and so many of the little common things that are really meaningless until they pop up in marriage?

The young man to whom I am engaged is in the Army and expects to marry me after the war, but I have come to the decision that a marriage between us would not and could not thrive on two different schools of thought. We differ on so many points that we always seem to be holding a debate that often ends in a quarrel.

I come from a family that believes in security and taking thought for the morrow. He comes from happy-go-lucky people that lets the future take care of itself. He is 24 and hasn't even decided on his life work. He believes that the fun in living is to do whatever you feel like doing at the time, and claims that if I really loved him I'd be happy to live his way.

But I believe in having a plan of life and sticking to it, a goal to work for, and something to hold on to, and I don't want to trust my happiness to a man who is going to let chance decide things for us. I will firmly say that I do not care to alter my viewpoints, because I believe they are right. Do you think it possible for him to ever change?

CONFUSED.

PARTIES TO MARRIAGE MUST BE CONGENIAL

ANSWER: Love can take a lot of punishment and still survive, but argumentation is sure and certain death to it. The thing that binds us to others, whether they are our parents, our brothers and sisters, our friends, or our husbands and wives, is congeniality. We may respect those who differ from us; we may appreciate all of their good points, but we don't enjoy their society. They irritate us like a pebble in a shoe, and we avoid being with them as much as we can.

Why do parents have favourite children? Because Sally or John "takes after" them and thinks as they do about things. Why do certain brothers and sisters pal up together? Because they are cut off of the same bolt of cloth. Who are the happy husbands and wives? The couples who speak the same language, like the same kind of cooking, enjoy doing the same things.

No one, except those who are born with a chip on their shoulders, enjoy a perpetual fight. The people of whom we never grow weary are those who yes-yes us and with whom we can spend hours in amicable discourse, discussing our favourite themes, and who fall in with all of our plans. Nobody's idea of a pleasant evening at home is engaging in an acrimonious debate with someone who throws cold water on our every suggestion, opposes our every plan, and tells us how idiotic our every viewpoint is.

For any marriage to be happy and successful the husband and wife must be congenial. For whether they live together in harmony or are continually in each other's hair depends upon whether they can talk together without arguing, whether they are both stay-at-homes or stepper-outers, whether they have the same religion and politics, and like their coffee strong or weak.

Don't marry a man with whom you argue before marriage. You will divorce him if you do, or else become one of the bitter, disgruntled wives who are always chewing their tongues off to keep from telling their husbands what they think of them.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a sailor and on my first leave home after I joined the Navy I wanted to have someone waiting for me when I came back, so I became engaged to be married. When I went home again I decided I wasn't in love with the girl, as I thought I was, and I found someone new.

Now I am back at my station waiting to be shipped across and I think I must have been crazy to have done what I did because I am not in love with either one of the girls. I was just lonesome. I have told both of the girls how I feel, but they keep writing me letters saying they don't want to give me up. What should I do?

A GOB.

LONELY SERVICE MEN MARRY UNFORTUNATELY

ANSWER: As you value your safety I urge you not to answer the letters of either girl. Your life protector is silence. Complete, impenetratable silence. When a man argues a love proposition with a woman, he always and invariably loses out. She breaks down his resistance by weeping on his breast, and by the time he has wiped her eyes she has him.

You are lucky in that you are about to be sent overseas, because where you are going the girls cannot follow you, and by the time you get back they will have given up the chase and be married to somebody else. But don't leave any clues behind you. And thank Heaven for your narrow escape. For, believe me, you are in greater peril from being shanghaied into marrying a girl you don't want than you ever will be from being captured by the Japanese or the Nazis.

One of the most tragic and pitiful things about this whole war is the number of young boys who are wrecking their whole lives by making unfortunate marriage that should never take place. So many of the boys are so young, so unsophisticated, so ignorant of life, so utterly unfitted to deal with women's wiles. They are fresh from home and Mother. Among strangers. They are desperately lonesome. They want somebody to love, somebody to miss them, and so they are easy prey for the first man-hunting girl who comes along.

Thousands of these boys marry girls they have only known a few days, sometimes only a few hours. They marry girls who are out of their class; girls who are not fit for them to marry; girls whom they will tire of in a week and hate the balance of their lives, but who will cling to them like leeches, and drain them of not only all of their money, but of their happiness and their hopes of success in the world. What a pity that our soldier boys can't distinguish between loneliness and love!

Hard To Believe How Time Flies

IN WAR TIME

1918 The Armistice was signed today and fighting in the great war came to an end.

Peterborough early gives herself over to rejoicing. The Examiner issues an extra in the morning and then calls it a day.

Impromptu parade over a mile long moves through city streets this morning and a more formal affair is announced for tonight.

In giving the details of the celebration The Examiner uses the heading "There'll be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

The Red Cross campaign here has ended with the objective of $30,000 surpassed by over $1,000.

A Bible Message

Lord, what is man, that thou takest knowledge of him! or the son of man that thou makest account of him! Man is like to vanity: his days are as a shadow that passeth away. (Ps. 144: 3, 4.)

◇ ◇ ◇

As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone: and the place thereof shall know it no more.

But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children's children. (Ps. 103: 15-17.)

The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance, and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot. The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage. (Ps. 16: 5, 6.)

◇ ◇ ◇

As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness. (Ps. 17: 15.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A woman in the midst of divorce proceedings was complaining to a friend about the boring conferences she had to endure with lawyers.

"Oh," said her friend, "don't talk to me about them! I've had so much trouble over my property that sometimes I wish that my husband hadn't died."

Economy or no economy, the married woman was insisting that she must have a new dress.

"If you don't give me the money," she said stormily, "I'll never speak to you again!"

"How like a woman!" sighed the worried husband. "When everything else fails you try bribery."

The captain of the local fire brigade entered the Pig and Whistle and ordered half a pint of beer. The landlady looked at him in astonishment, for she had never known him to order less than a pint.

Doubting whether she had heard aright, she said, "Did you say half a pint, Captain?"

"Why, yes," replied the fireman. "I know it's unusual, but I haven't time for a pint. I'm on my way to a fire."

A widow who kept a confectioner's shop was being courted by an eligible bachelor. He came to her shop every night at closing time, and she gave him her bag with the day's takings to carry home. The bag was heavy and this prompted her lover to remark "You surely do a big trade, seeing you always have such a heavy bag."

"Oh, yes," was the modest reply. "I have a pretty good business."

But it wasn't until after they were married that he discovered she had been giving him the shop weights to carry home every night.

A conceited man joined a Kentish regiment. The recruit boasted so much of what he could do to the enemy that his chum decided to take a rise out of him.

One morning the recruit received a wire from a famous general: "Heartiest congratulations. We need men like you!"

He showed the telegram to everyone, and pinned it up where all could read it.

The next day he got another, even more important than the first: "Thanks and compliments. Britain is proud of you.—George R.I."

Still unsuspicious, he showed his second wire round the barracks. But he smelt a rat when the third arrived: "Goering says he will resign unless you do. How much to remain neutral?—Hitler."

ROSENEATH

MissionaryGroup Elects Officers

ROSENEATH Nov. 11 — (ENS) —The election of officers and the making plans to hold a bazaar were the features of the regular meeting of the W.M.S. held on Tuesday afternoon at Mrs. A J. Campbell's home The president, Mrs. R. Crego, conducted a devotional period on the theme "The Bible, the Foundation Stone of the New Order."

Officers Re-elected.

All officers were re-elected and are; President, Mrs. R. Crego; first and second vice-presidents, Mrs. D. Brisbin and Mrs. A. Halstead; treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Nichol; recording secretary, Mrs. M. Davey; corresponding secretary, Mrs C. W. Varcoe; dept. secretaries— Christian Stewardhip and Finance, Mrs. Crego; Community Friendship, Mrs. W. Smith; Supply, Mrs. G. Mouncey; Literature, Mrs. Nichol; Missionary Monthly, Mrs. Andrew Brown; Temperance and Christian Citizenship, Mrs. A. J. Campbell; Mission Band, Miss Clarice Atkinson; Press, Mrs. A. Nill.

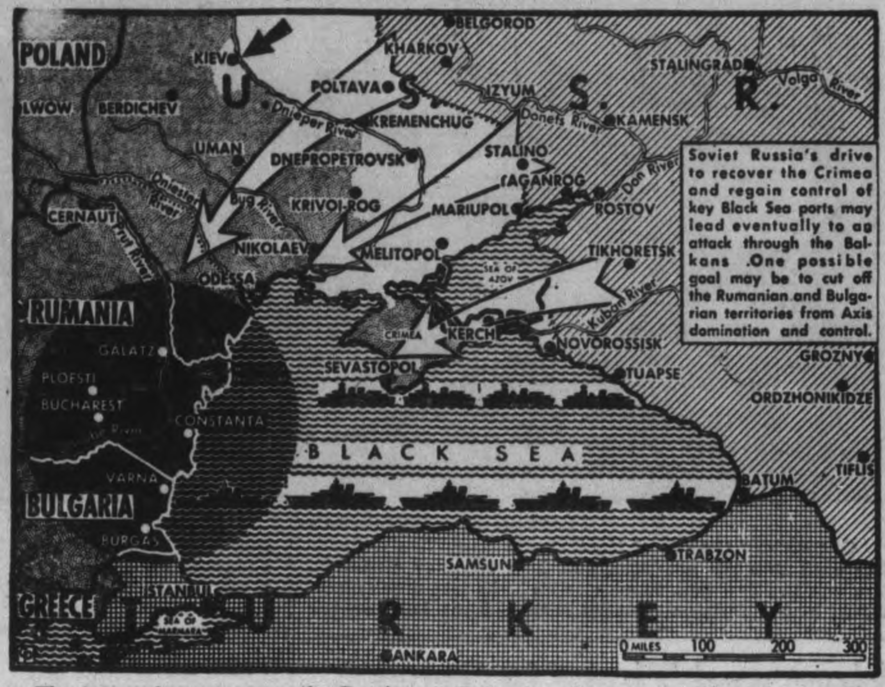
Bazaar Committees.

It was decided on motion to hold the annual bazaar Saturday afternoon, December 4. The committee of management appointed to various departments were: Afternoon tea, Mrs. Crego, Mrs. Brisbin and Mrs. Varcoe; home cooking, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Halstead, and Mrs. Mouncey; farm, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Nichol; needlework Mrs. Davey, Mrs. E. H. Unstead, and Mrs. Smith; surprise parcels, Mrs. Nill; poster convener, Mrs. Davey.

Mrs. J. A. Nichol announced the amount of thankoffering as $21.03.

Mrs. Davey, in presenting the second chapter of the study book, "Christ Gives the Blessing of Health," revealed through story and by poster, how the foreign mission hospital reaches out in remote villages and establishes hospital clinics and teaches health education, first-aid, and baby welfare.

How Russia May Strike After The Dnieper



The tremendous successes the Russians are meeting in their offensive has brought them in control of several strategic Black Sea ports. In Russian hands, these harbors may be used for an attack on Rumania and Bulgaria, German-satellite states. The three white arrows indicate the directions of possible attack, in which the Red fleet is destined to play an important part. The small black arrow shows the tremendous current drive past Kiev.

Millbrook Women Aid Church Funds

MILLBROOK, Nov. 11 (ENS).—Mrs. Percy Stinson was hostess for the November meeting of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's church, held at her home, Centre street.

The subject of the opening devotional period was "Resignation," based on the words: "The Lord will give strength unto His people, the Lord will bless His people with peace." Mrs. Ross Edmunds read the lesson, Mrs. Ball took the study, and Mrs. Franklin Bannister led in prayer, after which contributions to the Mile of Coppers, and fees, were received; a donation of $10 from Mrs. A. R. Payne, and of $2 from Mrs. Wilson, came in at this time, and the secretary reported $1.50 in fees at the October meeting, and $1.76 in coppers.

Mrs. J. McKnight reported $52.10 taken in at the recent lecture and pictures, with half this amount cleared; $100 paid the church thankoffering, and $90.80 in taxes on the parsonage also paid. From the fowl supper fund to date $137.85 has been received and more is to come in. An account for $19.07 due on repairs to the parsonage was ordered paid, including in this being some storm windows, and the secretary will send a letter of thanks to Mr. T. A. Campbell for his help in this work.

The annual bazaar was given attention and it will be in the waiting-room on Saturday, November 27, one week beyond the date arranged for some months ago. Afternoon tea will be served; those in charge including Mrs. J. H. Barringer, Mrs. Ross Edmunds and Mrs. Edmund Ball; at the fancy work table: Mrs. J. McKnight, Mrs. P. Stinson and Maud Finnimore; the country store and home baking table: Mrs. F. J. Smith, Miss Josie Sutton and Mrs. John Rowland. A pot luck supper at the church in December will be arranged for later if the fuel situation will permit.

The annual meeting will be at the parsonage the first Wednesday in December, and owing to war conditions, the custom of serving lunch will be foregone. Mrs. Stinson served homemade candy during the social hour. At the bazaar, Mrs. J. A. Brown, Mrs. Weston Fallis and Mrs. Wilson will have charge of the tea.

Killed In Crash

NAPANEE, Ont., Nov. 11 (CP). —Harold Baker, 18, of the Camden East district, eight miles from here, died of injuries last night when his car hit the Canadian National train bridge at the east end of the town. A companion, Elmer Smith, suffered undetermined injuries.

Millbrook News

The service of St. Andrew's church Sunday was of a memorial character, and two airmen, members of the congregation, who have been killed in the present war, Flight Sergeant Jack Arundel, and PO. Kenneth Harker, were mentioned. Rev. A. L. Siscoe mentioned self-sacrifice, suffering, and self-subjugation as essentials in the warfare of the Kingdom, as they are of the present world struggle. Miss Margaret Lang, of Toronto, sang 'His Wonderful Love' and setting of the Lord's Prayer.

Pte. Mary Dawson, CWAC, of Toronto, was home for the week-end with her mother, Mrs. B. B. Dawson; Brentin Dawson, of Peterborough, was also home.

Mrs. Harry Lang and two daughters, of Toronto, visited her sister, Mrs. J. McKnight, over the week-end.

Dr. G. H. Needler, of Toronto, who visited his brother and sister, Mr. A. A. and Miss Henrietta Needler, last week, has returned home.

Influx Of Hogs Sets New Record

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP). — A record influx of hogs into stock yards during the next two or three months was foreseen by the livestock experts today and Chicago meat packers were confronted with a new problem—finding sufficient manpower to handle the big runs. It gives every indication of being the severest crisis yet produced by the manpower shortage in the United States.

There were 74,000,000 little pigs born on American farms last spring — a record. Fattened, these pigs have started to come to market. Already, in outlying markets, pens are jammed. The run of previously purchased hogs at Chicago yesterday was the year's largest.

Vivian Lloyd President

LINDSAY, Nov. 11.— (ENS).—Vivian Lloyd was elected president of the Red Cross Society of the North Valentia school at the annual meeting. Other officers appointed were: Secretary, Shirley Smith; treasurer, Vada Perrault; circulation manager, Douglas Maddock; program committee, Douglas Maddock, William Mark, Glenn Swain; lunch committee, Audrey Simpson, Dorothy Mark, V. Perrault; sports committee, Kenneth Mark, James Mark, Thomas Stafford.

Catholic School Burns

SARNIA, Nov. 11 (CP). — Fire of undetermined origin last night destroyed Our Lady of Mercy Separate school, causing damage estimated at more than $40,000 and leaving 250 pupils without classroom facilities.

Arrives Overseas

P.O. Farley Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hill, 316 King street, has arrived overseas. He enlisted as a navigator August 28, 1942, and trained at Toronto, Belleville, and graduated at Winnipeg in September. Before enlisting he was employed at Agnew Surpass store. A brother, AC2 Reginald Hill, is at Centralia.

ART BACON — BOB SAGER

SPORTS - Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Collegiate football comes back to the local stage this Saturday. After an absence of a year the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School rugby team returns to the interscholastic wars, meeting Lindsay Collegiate at Riverside Park in a Cossa fixture. The great little team of 1941 which won the title is of course no more. Practically all the star players of that fast-moving, high-scoring outfit are in the armed services. Spike Matthews, Gordie Burns, Max Graham, Lillico, Bill Guppy, Rob Roy and others are in the Navy; Les Graham, Stew Saunders and several more are in the R.C.A.F. and Jim Allen and Harold Matthews are now wearing the uniform of the Army. The result is that P.C.V.S. will be represented out there Saturday by a fast light team of youngsters who will be making their interscholastic debut. They have been drilling hard for the past month in practice and inter-form games and they should give a good account of themselves in spite of the fact that this will be their baptism of fire so far as out. de competition is concerned. They have lots of enthusiasm and like all Peterborough Collegiate squads will probably flash plenty of crowd-pleasing open football, with the razzle-dazzle stuff that has been a feature of P.C.V.S. teams.

* * * * * *

The Lindsay Collegiate outfit is said to be a strong, well-balanced team. They were ousted out of the Lakeshore group this season but have been keeping in shape and they are delighted with the chance to meet the Peterborough students in a playoff series. It will be a treat to have the Collegiate atmosphere rampant again at Riverside Park for the first time in two seasons. The Collegiate student body will be out in force to give their young team plenty of vocal support and in spite of the gasoline regulations the Lindsay team will not lack for backing either so there should be plenty of noise along the side-lines in the best Collegiate tradition. Peterborough fans will undoubtedly be glad to see interscholastic football revived and will show their appreciation by turning out at Riverside Park Saturday and watching the two collegiate squads battle for the right to continue in the Cossa series. The kickoff will be at two o'clock sharp and there should be a real crowd on hand for the clash between the two old rivals.

The Whipper Takes Over

Jan Gotch who has won his last two bouts here in tumultuous style will be back again next Tuesday night as a main-bout attraction at Frank Tunney's weekly wrestling show at the Brock and this time he will have an opponent who will give the rough-house Pole plenty of argument. None other than Whipper Billy Watson will be the opposition Gotch will have to face. Strangely enough it was the Whipper himself who asked for the bout and there's an interesting little story about that. Two weeks ago the ruthless Pole gave Irish Pat Flanagan a bad going-over here, winding up by an attack after the bout had ended that almost caused a riot. Everybody knows that the Whip and Flanagan are buddies who work out together frequently and Watson has been sore ever since the Gotch-Flanagan clash. So when Promoter Frank Tunney was casting about for another opponent for the Pole, the British Empire champion caused general surprise by asking to be assigned for the match himself. "By the time I get through with that bird," Watson muttered "he'll probably think I have invented a few new holds. I don't mind ordinary rough stuff but anybody that pulls what he did on Flanagan deserves to get the works and I would like the pleasure of making sure that he gets them." Needless to say the offer was eagerly accepted by Tunney and the match is on.

* * * * * *

Mister Gotch, is not the least dismayed by the fact that he is being asked to meet the champion. In fact that powerful Pole is tickled to death at the chance. "That fancy Dan stuff of Watson's goes over big with some of the crowd," Gotch declared "but it will take more than a few new names for holds to beat me. I'm not afraid of his Canadian avalanche and as for that commando grip, it's nothing but a strangle hold and if the referee don't break it, I will. Those spinning, bouncing babies like Clayborne and Watson are pushovers for my kind of going. I'll jar all the brilliantine out of the Whipper's hair before he realizes he has a battle on his hands." Personally we think that Gotch is indulging in a little wistful thinking but at all events he is tough enough to make Watson produce the best he has and that should tote up to a classic bout as the top-liner for next week's grunt-and-groan circus.

Good Season Expected

Reports from the Ladies' Basketball League which opens its long season tomorrow night with a double-header are that the loop expects one of the best campaigns in its history with the clubs well-balanced and the prospects for keen competition all along the route. The advent of a new team, Payne's Transports and the return to the league of one of its mainstays in by gone years of the St. John's team are partially responsible, too, for the optimism that prevails in league headquarters. The opening card tomorrow night sees the Y Cadets clashing with the Transports in the first game on the bill and the C.G.E. outfit and the St. John's club battling it out in the second. Some of the teams played a pre-view doubleheader a few nights ago and the quality of basketball displayed on that occasion indicated that there should be plenty of lively games before the championships are decided. The two opening battles should be a fitting start to a good season and a real crowd is expected to see the action.

The Y.M.C.A. House Basketball League has been organized and will get under way Saturday night with a doubleheader. Although many of last year's players are now in the armed services, younger eagers have been lined up to fill the gaps and the league will have six civilian and two from the Military Training Centre. The schedule which opens Saturday is slated to end on December 29th. The team captains are Steve Csumrik, Frigates; Harry Currie, Destroyers; Jim Ferguson, Corvettes; Joe Stewart, Algerines; Pete McArthur, Fairmiles; and Gord Johnston, Cruisers. The captains of the two military teams have not yet been announced. The Saturday schedule calls for Frigates to clash with Destroyers and Corvettes to meet the Algerines.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: With a chance for the championship at stake the Balmy Beach club did not fool in its game with Navy last night. ....They needed a win to eliminate the Hurricanes and came through with a 20 to 0 victory, decisive enough for anybody....Now it's the Bammies and Hamilton Wildcats in a sudden-deather Saturday for the O.R.F.U. honors....Stu Scott did some great running and Annis Stukus, scoring champion added to his lead by another field goal and two converts... Chicago Black Hawks may gain the services of the veteran defense player Art Wiebe....John Katan got a draw with Vic Holbrooke in one of the two main bouts in Toronto last night and Earl McCready tossed Doc Felice in the other....The Doc must have forgotten his coat-hanger on this occasion....Detroit Red Wings meet the Leafs in Toronto tonight and it should be one of the best of the early-season clashes....The N.H.L. hasn't developed a bad man so far this season. LEAFS' GUS BODNER SHOOTS PUCK RIGHT INTO NET

By The Canadian Press

An outline of Ottawa's place in Quebec senior hockey last night twanged a mournful note in the statement Commandos had been further deprived, through the new Army rule, of the playing services of Joe Cooper, former Black Hawk defenceman, and Jack Brunning, right winger, in being posted to Petawawa for advanced military training. A civilian member of the squad, Norm Larsen, former Brooklyn American, had also handed in his kit and was heading for Port Arthur to enlist in the Navy. Previously, Floyd Perras and Edgar and Remi Leprade had departed for Camp Borden and Ken Kilrea was bound for Barriefield Training Centre. Last night's roll call made the Allan Cup champions appear somewhat riddled for the "re-opening" at Ottawa Saturday night of the re-formed Quebec Senior League against R.C.A.F. of Lachine. And all this, when the Ottawa Commandos had started the season with an executive filled with National defence headquarters officers.

At Kingston it was announced Frontenac Army would cling to the Senior O.H.A. group and would play in St. Catharines Friday night, probably strengthened by the addition of members of the disbanded Montreal Army team, plus Army reinforcements from Halifax and Roy Giesbrecht, former Detroit Red Wing.

Amateurism.

The subject of amateurism popped up at last night's meeting of the Montreal Athletic Commission in Montreal when it was decided to investigate the recent boxing show at Rochester, N.Y., to ascertain if three Hamilton, Ont., boxers appeared on the program. One of the Hamiltonians, Nelson Broadhead, wants to fight at Montreal next Tuesday but the commission wants some information before granting him a permit.

LAC. Johnny Lake, injured backfield star of the R.C.A.F. Bombers, emerged from a Winnipeg hospital to accompany the team to Regina for tonight's Western championship grid final but Coach Reg. Threlfall said it was improbable his ace would appear on the field. The Bombers have a one-point lead in the points-to-count home and home series.

Leo Durocher, who resigned as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Comedian Danny Kaye, are headed for overseas for the purposes of entertaining the troops, it was revealed at New York last night. They will put on an umpire-bating skit apparently based on Durocher's real-life diamond experience.

Organizers of military boxing shows in England were reported last night to be working up a feature bout of titular proportions between light-heavyweight champion Gus Lesnevich, in the U.S. Coast Guard service, and Freddie Mills, the British favorite.

Featherweight Wins

Florian Bibeau of Montreal, aspirant to the Canadian featherweight crown, gained an eight-round decision at Quebec last night over Fernando Gagnon of Asbestos, Que.

Toronto Navy of the O.R.F.U. last night announced the names of its candidates for the Imperial Oil trophy for the loop's most valuable player. They were OS. Royal Copeland and OS. Steve Karrys, both tars, and LAC. Bob Cosgrave of the R.C.A.F. Hurricanes.

Mr. Van, from the Pine Ridge Stable, London, won the $300 open trot feature of the harness card at Toronto Dufferin yesterday, outstepping Triple Threat from Newcastle, Pa. Three straight heats of the classified trot and pace went to Peterene, owned by H. Black of Everton, Ont., with Beth Harvester, from Peterborough, second.

Lady Bowler Rolls 854

This week it was R. Pearse of the Commandos who supplied the fireworks in the Ladies' City Bowling League. She came up with the huge total of 854. She started off with 168 in the first game, jumped to 317 in the second and finished with a smashing 369, which of course gave her high single as well as high three on the week's performance. There was a lot of high class bowling.

Kay Calladine of the Outboard Marine team took the blind score prize with 659.

Beaches Swamp Navy 20-0 Gaining Finals

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—(CP).—Climaxing an uphill drive into the play-offs with a 20-0 conquest of Toronto Navy last night, Toronto Balmy Beach to-day prepared for a sudden-death game with Hamilton Flying Wildcats Saturday for the Ontario Rugby Football Union title. Combining vastly superior play along the wingline with a brilliant running and plunging attack featured by sensational Stu Scott, Beaches crushed Navy into submission before 1,000 fans who huddled together in Maple Leaf Stadium in nearly freezing weather, coupled with occasional flurries of snow.

The game was the last scheduled contest in the O.R.F.U.'s 29-game program.

Scott paced the Beach offensive last night with two touchdowns, one in the second quarter and another in the third, and he broke away for the longest run of the game—a 62-yard dash from a kick-off in the third quarter, going from his own five-yard line to the Navy 43 through a swarm of tacklers.

That play was his last of the game for he was injured and left the field. While the Beach offensive lost some of its sting with his departure, Coach Alex Ponton's crew came through with another touchdown on a Bobby Porter titanic forward pass in the fourth quarter.

Annis Stukus, leading scorer of the Union, fattened his season's "total" with five points, all of them on placement kicks. Two were on converts of Scott's touchdowns and the other a three-point field goal. Titanic's touchdown was not converted, a forward pass being batted down by the Navy defenders.

Kilrea Scores Three For Hershey Bears

HERSHEY, Pa., Nov. 11—(AP)—Captain Wally Kilrea, veteran leader of the Hershey Bears, scored three goals to give his team a 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Barons in an American Hockey League game here last night.

Kilrea scored twice in 23 seconds in the first period while Les Cunningham was in the penalty box for slashing Hank Lauzon.

The Barons tied the score in the second period on a pair of goals by Emerton and Shabaga. The Bears took the lead before the close of the period on O'Neill's goal.

In the third period Lauzon started a scoring parade when he carried the puck from deep in centre ice and tallied. Kilrea followed with his third goal of the game. The Barons rallied for the last time as Shabaga scored his second goal, and Hudson gave the Bears their final point on a play set up by Hergert and O'Neill.

Hershey: Goal, Damore; defense, Knowles, Moe; centre, Kilrea; wings, Harms, G. Gauthier; subs, Hergert, Hudson, O'Neill, Lauzon, Pearson, Patterson, McCarthy, Hodgins, Grinke.

Cleveland: Goal, P. Gauthier; defense, Sproul, Adolph; centre, Shabaga; wings, Prokop, Horeck; subs, Bessone, Ferens, Ward, Bartholome, Trudel, Burlington, Cunningham, Emreton.

Officials: McVeigh and Blinco.

TORONTO, Nov. 11 — (CP). — Fritz Hanson, a little fellow who has been picked on dozens of mythical all-star football teams, has reversed his field and picked an all-star team himself.

Hanson went from North Dakota State College to Winnipeg Blue Bombers in 1935 and that same year was the big little man of the Canadian final at Hamilton as Bombers took the national title West for the first time. Hanson helped Bombers repeat in 1939 and 1941, then joined the Canadian Army. Now he's a second lieutenant in training at Brockville, Ont., but he's still football conscious and attended the Toronto Indians-Ottawa game at Ottawa last Saturday.

There he picked this all-star team of men he had played with and against in Canada:

Flying wing — Howard (Highpockets) Cleveland, Regina.

Halfbacks — Tony Golab, Ottawa; Bill Stukus, Toronto Argos; Bob Isbister, Toronto Argos.

Quarterback — Art Stevenson, Winnipeg.

Snapback—Curly Moynahan, Ottawa.

Insides — Bert Oja and Martis Gainor, Winnipeg.

Middles — Dave Sprague, Ottawa, and Lou Mogul, Winnipeg.

Outsides—Bud Marquardt, Winnipeg, and Bernie Thornton, Toronto Argos and Winnipeg.

Five of that team were former United States college players—Cleveland, Stevenson, Oja, Gainor and Marquardt.

Quip of the week:

Ed (Toronto Star) Sitkin: "News item: Modere (Mud) Bruneteau of the Detroit Red Wings has scored seven goals in three games. Now we know why N.H.L. goalies insist his name is not Modere but "Moider."

Incidentally:

'Twas good news for golf greenkeepers when the Prices Board lifted restrictions on use of fertilizer containing chemical nitrogen. .....Al Lust, the Calgary welterweight who took a couple of pastings from LAC Dave Castilloux in Canadian title bouts last year, now is reported ith the Canadian Army "Somewhere in Africa".....George Patterson of Kingston, Ont., expects to report to Hershey Bears shortly for ihs 18th season in professional hockey......A couple of veterans coaching young hockey players in Winnipeg this season are Paul Goodman, former Chicago goalie, and Walter Monson, who helped Moncton Hawks win the Allan Cup a couple of times before moving his hockey talents to England.

That film about the life of George Gershwin may set off a stream of them dealing with the times and troubles of the great music makers. A new film, "At Night We Dream," will offer Chopin as one of its leading characters. It's about time that the film companies were able to turn out popular films about classical composers. Perhaps that could be solved by putting the emphasis on their gayer or more melodic works. Up to now most of the great composers have been considered poor story material and their music has been used for purposes of background only. . . Al Jolson, cautioned by the death of Ben Bernie, is helping the doctors get him over his illness. When recovered Jolson will do his part in "Rhapsody in Blue," the George Gershwin film biography mentioned above. . . The late Tom Mix will also be the subject of a motion picture. . . The next "road" film of Bing Crosby, Dorothy Lamour and Bob Hope will be "The Road to Utopia." The best films of each have been made together. . . Bette Davis delivers a stirring appeal for the Red Cross in "Old Acquaintance," which she shares with Miriam Hopkins.

The Russians are very serious about the making of entertaining films for showing in the post-war world. Recently Leonid Altzev, representative to Canada of the Soviet Cinema Committee, arrived here and was welcomed at a luncheon given in his honor by members of the Canadian motion picture industry.

Altzev will study Canadian tastes and examine films produced in Canada that might be shown in the Soviet to further relations between his country and ours.

The Soviet representative, a young veteran of this war, was a director of pictures for children. In the Soviet Union, he revealed, there are special theatres for children only.

Reversing the Canadian way, no adult is admitted to those theatres unless accompanied by a child!

A popular Canadian in Hollywood is Albert Wooten of St. John, New Brunswick, who, as Lane Allen, has appeared in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," "The Mortal Storm," "Navy Blues" and other films. . . The recent piece about Mary Pickford drew a note from that charming lady, who wrote: "I am sentimental enough to have felt more than a little grief that the house on University Avenue should have been torn down—it was one of the remaining links between me and my childhood." Mary was born in it. . . A new film discovery is Clare Hamilton, none other than the sister of Maureen O'Hara, real name Fitzsimmons. The mother of both girls is a former stage personage who is now planning careers for the two remaining Fitzsimmons kids, a boy and a girl. . . When asked what she would save in case of fire Ann Sheridan answered, "My ration books, a can of coffee, a pound of butter and whatever eggs there were in the icebox." And Canadian-born Alexis Smith was honest enough to say, "My scrapbooks—and if there was time I'd take a letter from Craig." That's Craig Stevens, her sweetheart, now in the army.

Quebec League Has 5 Teams

MONTREAL, Nov. 11 (CP)—The Quebec Senior Hockey League, meeting in emergency session here last night, decided to carry on with a five-team loop, after they received official word of the withdrawal of the Montreal Army team.

The decision to carry on was reached after Clarence Markell, president of the Cornwall Army entry, said he hoped to keep a team in action all season but he could give no guarantee.

Two games, already played in Ottawa and Quebec, will not be counted and a new tentative schedule calls for Quebec Aces to meet the Army team at Cornwall Friday night.

On Saturday night Montreal R.C.A.F. will visit Ottawa, while the Montreal season will open with a double-header Sunday afternoon with R.C.A.F. meeting Ottawa and Cornwall meeting Royals. President George Slater will draw up the rest of the schedule within the next week.

The Montreal Army team withdrew after its player strength was reduced by new Army regulations applying to men of high medical categories.

A propasal by Gus Ogilvie of Royals providing for a referee and two linesmen for league games was voted down and Jimmy McCaffrey's suggestion that the old system of two referees be retained again won support.

Detroit Can Make It Three-Way Tie

By The Canadian Press

Whispers that Detroit Red Wings have ditched defensive hockey for headlong attack provoked a snort of derision from Manager Jack Adams, who contends Detroit never has favored kitty-bar-the-door play.

"If it's defensive hockey to play around the other team's net all the time, then we're guilty," said Adams in Toronto as Wings prepared for tonight's game against Toronto Maple Leafs.

"What we did was develop forechecking, and the system paid dividends... Now we'll do our best with material available to make the most of the new forward passing rule."

Thus there is no protest from Adams about the rule change, despite instructed opinion that the change was made to cope with Detroit's highly-developed forechecking tactics—tactics which seem difficult to confuse with defensive play.

Undefeated in three games but two points behind Leafs and Montreal Canadiens in the standings, Wings can make it a triple tie at Maple Leaf Gardens tonight. Don Grosso, centre star from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., will return with Wings in a utility role after being rejected recently for military service.

Leafs announced yesterday they have signed Don Webster, Toronto boy last season with Providence Reds of the American League.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 — (AP).— Just when everything seemed peaceful, the furore about the major league baseball has broken loose again....Fred (Newark News) Bendel came up with a story from a source we can't question saying the 1944 model baseball will have a synthetic rubber core instead of balata, which is a kind of rubber, anyway, but not a popular kind last summer....But National League President Ford Frick says he hasn't heard any discussion of the subject and it hasn't been listed as a topic at the major league meetings in December....One sure thing is that minor leaguers would like to have a livelier ball next season. They've missed those big batting and home run records that were very useful when it came to selling players.

Self service:

When Coach Harold Clark of Holy Trinity High School at Trinidad, Colo., quit to join the Army Air Force, it looked as if football was out....But 17 kids begged to play......The boys ran their own practices, arranged their own three-game schedule and won two out of three....Wonder how the coach will rate when he comes back?

Mounting moans:

Coach Bob Higgins of Penn State puts in a claim for the season's hard-luck prize on this basis: (1) Eight Navy-program players declared ineligible before the season started; (2) a good Marine tackle was shipped out just for poking a fellow Marine; (3) 17 more Marines sent to camp in mid-season; (4) his veteran fullback joined the Air Corps and left the same day; (5) his best freshman back was lost because of injuries after two minutes of play, two good frosh prospects flunked out and three regulars were declared ineligible on the eve of the Cornell game, and (6) to cap the climax, a primising frosh tackle ripped his leg open in an accident.

More Players For Kingston Team

KINGSTON, Nov. 11. — Kingston Frontenac Army will continue in the O.H.A. Senior series. They open the schedule on Friday in St. Catharines as arranged, but virtually a complete new staff of players will wear the Kingston colors in the next few weeks.

The soldier team that has done so well in exhibition games, breaking even with Cornwall and tying Boston Bruins, will play St. Catharines, but next week most of the players will be moved to other camps. They will be replaced by players who are being despatched to Kingston for training.

Plenty Coming.

The destinations of the Kingston players and the names of the expected newcomers are military secrets. However, it is known that four members of the Montreal Army team, which dropped out of the Quebec Senior League, Mahaffy, Phillips, White and Peters, are coming to Kingston, as well as Ken Kilrea, from Ottawa Commandos; Polly Drouin, formerly of Canadiens; Roy Giesebrecht, formerly of Detroit Red Wings; McGloyne, Murphy, Ledoin, and Robinson from Halifax.

The Kingston team will be reorganized next week.

The O.H.A. has been notified of the change, and it is understood the original opening games will go as scheduled, while the games planned for next week will stand, except those in which Toronto Daggers were scheduled.

moved to positions in the southern harbor entrance to act as block ships. The activity of ships in and out of Leghorn has been markedly decreased in the last two weeks."

The statement added that photo reconnaissance also showed that the south quay at Pescara had been demolished by mining.

The reference to an enemy evacuation in the Air Force statement suggested that the Germans, in the case of Leghorn, might fear an Allied amphibious thrust at the northern coast of Italy from Allied-held Corsica. From Bastia it is 75 airline miles to Leghorn.

At Gaeta, on the west coast just a dozen miles from the 5th Army front, headquarters announced early this week that explosions had been heard in the harbor area, indicating that demolitions were in progress as an Allied advance into the town became hourly imminent.

Cassino Menaced

(Radio France at Algiers said in a broadcast that Cassino, eight miles north of Mignano on the main inland road to Rome, had been encircled by Allied forces during the past 24 hours.)

In the ground fighting, forward elements of the 8th Army crossed the Sangro river and won new positions on both sides of the river near the Adriatic coast. The 5th Army captured important new heights to the west.

Both armies battled in extremely bad weather against increasingly stiffening German opposition, the communique said.

Heavy bombers again attacked the ballbearing works at Villar Perosa, near Turin in Northern Italy, bombed the previous day.

Long-range bombers also flew to the Alps to attack a railway bridge and yards at Blozano, on the railway to Brenner Pass.

A naval announcement said British destroyers sank a Siebel ferry laden with gasoline and ammunition off the Albanian coast. The craft presumably was attempting to move supplies to the Nazi forces in that section of the Balkans. A Siebel ferry is a make-shift type of craft, difficult to sink, which the Germans used widely in evacuating Sicily.

The communique said the American inland flank of the Anglo-American 5th Army had swept forward and occupied Mount Rotondo.

The town of Vallerotonda is four miles north-east of Cassino. Cassino is 73 miles south-east of Rome. To reach Mount Rotondo the Americans made an advance of five miles through mountains from the most recently reported positions in the Venafro-Mignano area. Mignano was last reported still in German hands while Venafro fell to the Americans last week.

The left flank of the 8th Army occupied Rionero, 10 miles north-east of Isernia. Yesterday's dispatches told of Rionero being in flames as the Germans evacuated it. This advance represented a gain of five miles in the centre on the highway to Casa di Sangro Roccisicura, on the Vasto-Isernia highway, was also occupied.

On the Adriatic front as the 8th Army occupied most of the south side of the Sangro Valley, British troops pushed into Casalanguida, about 15 miles inland from the Adriatic and one-third of the way from the Sinello River to the Sangro.

Canadian Troops Taking Rest In Italy

LONDON, Nov. 11 — (CP). — Canadian troops in Italy now appear to be taking a less active part in the front-line fighting as the 8th Army pushes northward, and possibly some formations are getting a chance to rest.

In more than two months' campaigning since the landing at Reggio de Calabria on the toe of Italy, September 3 the Canadians have had only one week's rest, after the capture of Potenza, east of Salerno Bay, and they are probably due for a chance to get a breather and to overhaul much-travelled vehicles and tanks.

No stories of action in the last week have been received from the correspondents with the Canadians and it is evident there has been a lull in action by the 1st Division.

Canadian formations travelled in the roughest country of any formation of the 8th Army—moving right up the spine of Italy through the Apennine Mountains after leaving Foggia Plains.

Campbasso, south of the Biferna River, was captured by the Canadians in the middle of October and then one formation advanced 10 miles northwest along a narrow road to take the villages of Molise and Torella.

Canadian pressure at this point undoubtedly helped the other troops to capture Isernia, 10 miles to the west, and Canadians also likely shared in the advance on Carovilli, northeast of Isernia, officially reported today as captured by the 8th Army.

An Apology And An Announcement

We regret that through our misunderstanding of the By-law recently passed by the City Council at the request of a certain group of merchants, we felt compelled to close our store last Saturday evening and that no public announcement of the closing was made. To those who called expecting to find the store open, we offer our sincere apology.

Because we believe that the housewife, the war worker and the farmer are entitled to shop at least one evening each week, THIS STORE WILL REMAIN OPEN SATURDAY EVENINGS UNTIL 9.30 O'CLOCK.

FLOWERS STRICKEN

The weather during the night finally signalled "curtain" for the few surviving flowers. Their numbers went up, but at that the fire of the salvias had burned low and the glisten had been rubbed off the marigolds. The cosmos were standing up valiantly at a barricade where they were being steadily deserted, and even this morning they were nodding with the breeze as if they had not been struck a blighting blow in the cold hours of daybreak. A few snapdragons and petunias were wizened and through with life, but the geraniums were carrying on as if they wished to lived forever.

GETS HIS DEER

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., returned home last night from a three-day hunting trip in the Apsley district, bringing back with him a nice deer as proof of his success. Ald. Gordon reported the deer as plentiful and the hunters not quite so numerous as usual.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Recalling the memorable scenes that marked the first Armistice Day, 25 years ago today, a Main Streeter remarked that it was one of the brightest days in the city's history, yet the sun did not shine for a single moment. Citizens marched around all day under leaden November skies in impromptu parades, climaxed by a huge organized demonstration at night. Work was forgotten while the people gave themselves up to the spirit of rejoicing.

Bicycles Stolen Then Tossed Into The River

The story of bicycles being stolen in Peterborough, ridden to Nassau and there thrown into the river by the thieves was told in Police Court this morning when Max Stevens, 17, Nassau, pleaded guilty to four charges of stealing wheels, and William Nicholson, 19, Rockcroft, admitted the theft of one machine.

Stevens was charged with stealing bicycles owned by Robert Thornton, Kenneth Fleetwood, Clayton Dummitt, and Bud Murphy, and in giving evidence Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher said that Stevens had stolen the wheels in Peterborough, had ridden them out the River Road to Nassau, and thrown them into the river near his home, where they had been recovered by the police.

It was intimated that the youth had taken the bicycles to get a ride home and then tossed them into the water so there would be no evidence against him.

Similar evidence was given in the one charge against Nicholson.

The two youths had previously pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a pickup truck from Hood & Cumming's on the night of November 3.

In giving evidence on that count Detective Sergt. Meagher said that the two had stolen the truck from the rear of the Ford Garage. They had driven it north of Apsley, repainted it, and started back for Peterborough, when Nicholson was arrested. Stevens was later taken into custody at his home at Nassau.

Magistrate Langley remanded the pair on all the charges until next week for sentence.

Britain Reveals Lease-Lend Not One-Sided

The monetary values placed upon mutual aid were described in the White Paper as incomplete and by no means a true measure of the full assistance rendered by Britain. Complete estimates are impossible, the White Paper saiad, because mutual aid "is a decentralized and flexible system designed to meet the needs of armed forces at war in many scattered countries."

Of raw materials and bulk supplies, the official report said that the United States formerly paid for them in dollars to provide Britain with funds needed "to meet our heavy liabilities on pre-lend-lease armament contracts in the United States, which were not covered by lend-lease."

"But now that those contracts are largely fulfilled," the report continued, "and in furtherance of the general pooling of (United Nations) resources, His Majesty's government have recently decided to extend reciprocal aid to raw materials and foodstuffs purchased by the government of the United States from the United Kingdom and the colonial empire which would thus be made available on terms analogous to lend-lease.

"In addition, His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom will defray the cost of British shipping services for these materials from all parts of the British commonwealth. Thus a very wide range of additional products and services is brought into the scope of reciprocal aid which is not yet reflected in the statistics given."

Concert Association Selects Three Artists

William Kapell, well known pianist who has played with every symphony orchestra in the United States of any size, will be the first to appear under the auspices of the Community Concert Association on December 3, it was announced today.

At the present time only the approximate dates are known for the others. The second concert will feature Rose Brampton, famous Metropolitan Opera singer, and she will appear near the end of January. The third and last concert will be late in March and will present the Bary Ensemble made up of four women playing flute, violin, cello and piano.

Association officials stated that the membership campaign which netted more than 500 students and adults has been very successful and topped last year's efforts, but was still not sufficient to allow for a fourth concert.

Moose Fulton Dead

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP)—Wing Cmdr. John (Moose) Fulton, D.S.O., D.F.C. and A.F.C., formerly one of the R.A.F.'s outstanding bomber men and leader of the R.C.A.F.'s famed Moose squadron, was listed in last night's Air Force casualty list as "now for official purposes presumed dead."

War May Last Year

London, Nov. 11 (CP).

LT.-GEN. Jacob L. Devers, commander of the U.S. Army's European theatre of operations, expressed belief today that German submarine crews would lose their morale under "the beating that they have been getting."

"I don't know when the war will be over but the end may not come for a year and if there is a slowing up of material anywhere along the line it may tie us up," Devers told the Anglo-American Press Association.

He expressed hope "the body of water" between Britain and the continent "will soon be crossed as though it were not there."

Students Honor Memory Of 88 Graduates

"In paying tribute to the memory of those who gave their lives fighting for freedom and democracy in the First Great War and in the present conflict, young Canada can do nothing better than to remind itself of the nation's 'goodly heritage'," Rev. Dr. George S. Easton, minister of Trinity Church, told the student body of the Collegiate Institute at Remembrance Day services this morning.

"The best way to remember our boys," Dr. Easton said, "is to go back into the nation's history and choose for ourselves a goodly heritage by which to live, to remind ourselves of the heritage of our homes, our schools, our churches and our ethical traditions. It is our duty to look into our past and choose an inheritance, because our victory over Germany—to be lasting—must be one of ideas."

The New Order of the Nazis had been built on a foundation of the blood, soil and master-race tenets which Hitler and his subordinates had dredged up from the lowest era in German history, Dr. Easton explained. The Nazi overlords had gone back to the age of paganism and Hun barbarism for the principles which they taught to the youth of the country as the real heritage of Germany. It was the duty of Canadians, he pointed out, to pick from their history, in contrast to the Germans, only the grand and inspiring episodes.

"The very word 'Armistice'," Dr. Easton said, "should have given optimists food for anxious thought when the fighting came to an end 25 years ago. My dictionary tells me it means a brief cessation of hostilities by agreement, and that is all this Armistice proved to be. We tried to build a new world on old foundations—foundations of greed, selfishness and hate. To be successful, to create a great tomorrow, we must build on the foundation of our great yesterdays."

The Remembrance Day address was preceded by the reading of the names of 55 graduates of the Collegiate who gave their lives in the Great War, and of 33 who have made the supreme sacrifice in this. Last Post was sounded, and a two minute silence observed in honor of the dead.

Bishop Lists New Parishes

Pastoral changes and other appointments in the diocese of Peterborough announced by Bishop MacDonald become effective Sunday, November 21.

Rev. P. P. Butler is transferred from Kinmount to Grafton and the Mission of Colborne, and Rev. Joseph Walsh, assistant priest at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, is appointed pastor of Kinmount and Missions.

Rev. John V. Ryan, administrator at Grafton, is appointed assistant at Parry Sound.

Rev. James Greenan, assistant at Trout Creek, is appointed assistant at the Immaculate Conception Church, Peterborough.

Rev. P. J. Lynch, pastor of Kearney, becomes pastor at Trout Creek and the missions of Loring and South River.

Rev. H. J. Fitzgerald, administrator of Trout Creek, is appointed pastor of Kearney and missions.

Rev. Frank Marrocco, assistant at Parry Sound, is appointed assistant at St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough.

Two new parishes have been erected in the diocese—Powassan and Honey Harbor. The missions of Powassan, Alsace and Himsworth, have been separated from Trout Creek, and Rev. Gregory A. Wolff of the Cathedral staff has been appointed pastor of this new parish of Powassan and the missions of Alsace and Himsworth.

The missions of Honey Harbor and Port Severn have been separated from Parry Sound parish, and Rev. James S. Collins, assistant at Parry Sound, has been appointed pastor of the newly created parish of Honey Harbor with mission at Port Severn. Rev. V. J. Corkery, chancellor of the diocese, has been appointed resident chaplain at Mount St. Joseph.

R.C.M.P. Stage Raid

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP) — Royal Canadian Mounted Police combined with municipal forces last night in their second surprise raid on restaurants and pool-rooms in the Ottawa-Hull area, detaining for questioning 40 of the approximately 1,000 men of military age who were called upon to show registration cards.

Genelco Union To Appeal To Goverment

Genelco employees Wednesday night appointed a delegation to go to Ottawa to interview the Department of Munitions and Supply respecting changes in their plant operations which will cause 150 of their number to be laid off.

The hall of the Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers was crowded to capacity last night to hear the report of the committee which had interviewed Genelco management. The following statement was quoted to the Examiner today:

"The committee reported that despite this pending lay-off being known to the management, by their own admission, some six weeks ago, official notification had been given only this week to the union representing the workers of the plant. The management expressed determination to put the revised schedule of reduced hours and layoffs into effect at once despite the protests of the committe. It was also reported the company had rejected a proposal of the union committee to make joint representation to their employers, the Department of Munitions and Supply, for any re-allocation of war orders to replace reduced output on present contract."

The meeting, taking as it authority, Prime Minister Winston Churchill's statement "This is no time for relaxation . ." went on record as expressing the view that any hestitation or relaxation in the prosecution of this war now would jeopardize the successful outcome of the efforts on the home and fighting fronts.

It was noted, by the meeting, that the Genelco case was not just an isolated one and in view of this fact, fear was expressed that a policy of curtailment of war production was being planned by the government or industrialists, despite Mr. Churchill's warning. The seriousness of the situation, with its potential dislocation of workers and hindrance to the successful prosecution of the war, impelled the meeting to elect a delegation to interview the Department of Munitions and Supply at Ottawa.

It was the opinion that any lay off would in itself, adversely affect the whole community, merchant and worker alike, and the delegation was therefore instructed to seek the assistance and attendance of community representatives in their interview with the government department.

Burke Elliott Said Missing

Word has reached friends in Peterborough that Burke Elliott, R.C.A.F., a former employee in production at the C.G.E., who has been attached to the R.A.F. overseas for many months, is reported missing after operations.

Mr. Elliott enlisted in the spring of 1940 as a navigator but was later transferred to the pilot's course, and he received his training in Toronto and the West. He participated in a number of bombing raids on Europe, was stationed at Malta during the heaviest part of the blitz, was active at El Alamein and remained with the R.A.F. through the capture of Tunisia, Sicily and in Italy.

A graduate of the University of Saskatoon, Burke Elliott came East several years ago to work at the C.G.E. where his employers described him as being very popular. Before he enlisted he was living with Gordon White.

8-Year-Old Found

HAMILTON, Nov. 11 — (CP).— Eight-year-old, Kenneth Jardine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jardine, Hamilton, ended a 2 week odyssey about Hamilton streets on Wednesday when he was found fast asleep in a car packed downtown. Disappearing from home two weeks ago the youngster had wandered aimlessly about, window shopping, making friends here and there sleeping in parked cars.

One Cent Wage Left

WINNIPEG, Nov. 11—(CP)—J. A. Garrick of Winnipeg has a cheque he won't be anxious to cash. After being off work for several days he arrived back the day before pay day. His pay for that one day was $6.83, but income tax, unemployment insurance, pension fund, hospitalization and Victory Bond deductions from the cheque totalled $6.82. His part of the cheque, therefore was one cent.

HER BIGGEST THRILL

One little Peterborough girl in the North End went to bed Wednesday night, exhausted after a blissfully happy day. Scrambling on a bus in the afternoon, she spotted a teacher in her school and excitedly made her way to the back of the bus where she breathlessly explained she wasn't going to be able to go to school for the rest of the day because when she had answered the door, a short time before, her big brother who had been overseas three years, was standing there. "My sister hasn't got a phone and doesn't know he's here and I just had to go and tell her. So you see, I couldn't go to school today."

Christmas Fund Given Aid At Market Stall

Christmas time is the happiest in the whole year for most children, but how blank indeed it would be for those in the British Isles who have suffered losses through enemy air raids, unless kind hearted people did something to bring some cheer into their lives at this time.

For the past two years, the people of this city and district have had a share in bringing joy to many of these boys and girls through the special donations sent for that purpose by the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, and once more the fund is endeavoring to bring joy into their lives by raising further help for that object, the need for which was expressed in the last letter received from the Lord Mayor of London.

Market Stall Assists

Last Saturday, the stall on the market was operated for this special purpose by Mrs. J. E. Parker of Norwood, who received some help in the supplying of articles to sell by Mrs. Dave Nixon and Mrs. H. Johnston and in the operation of the stall from Miss Nona Johnston, their efforts resulting in $13.73 being raised.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker have been a tower of strength in helping to raise money for the fund, their joint efforts to date being responsible for the splendid total of $1,123.53 and they plan further efforts to be included in this special Christmas Cheer fund.

Next Saturday the stall will be supplied and operated by the Honor Bound Class of the George Street United Church, under the leadership of their teacher, which has given assistance in a similar manner on previous occasions, and it is expected that Mr. Parker will be on hand the following Saturday, to be followed by the Fraserville Community Service Club, November 27, under the convenership of Mrs. McClenaghan.

The stall is still available for the three Saturday immediately preceding Christmas Day and any person or group wanting to use the facilities it affords, in order to give the Christmas Cheer Fund a boost, should contact the secretary for the fund at the Examiner Office.

Everyone recognizes that the Red Cross has a particular object for good of its own, so when it branches out to help in other directions, it shows an excellent spirit, which applies to the Sixth Line branch of the Keene Red Cross, who have with today's donation of $5 per Mrs. Ernest Fife, now given twice to the fund since the midsummer months.

Then there is a personal donation for a similar amount from J. F. Pilley of 39 Ware street, who has now given a like amount on no less than ten different occasions, this time the gift being specially designated for the Christmas Cheer fund.

Previously acknowledged	$64,566.64
Proceeds of Market Stall operated by Mrs. J. E. Parker, Norwood	13.73

Key CBC Station

TORONTO, Nov. 11 (CP) — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation announced yesterday that effective Nov. 15 its station CBY in Toronto will be known as CJBC, operating on the same 1,010 kilocycles. CJBC's power will be increased from 1,000 to 5,000 watts "as soon as technically possible" and CJBC will become the key station of CBC's new National Network which will be created Jan. 1.

New Deadline For Navy Names

At a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Navy held Wednesday night it was decided that Saturday of this week would be the final deadline ofr the reception of names and addresses of Peterborough boys and girls serving in the Navy The Auxiliary is anxious to get a complete list not only for the purpose of sending Christmas ditty bags to every Peterborough man and woman wearing the blue of the Navy, but also for record purposes, and friends and relatives of Navy members who have not registered the names and addresses with the Auxiliary are asked to do so without delay. The information may be mailed or telephoned to Mrs. F. D. Craig, 544 Water Street, telephone 5591, the convener of the Ditty Bag Committee.

The Auxiliary has already mailed Christmas ditty bags to Peterborough sailors who are serving overseas and the others will be on their way in a short time. Close to 400 Peterborough sailors have already been registered, but it is felt there are still some names left off the list. The Auxiliary is particularly anxious to have the names and addresses of Peterborough girls serving with the Wrens and Peterborough men in the Merchant Marine.

General Public Forgotten Sacrifices Made

"The fewness of the general public here today indicates that they have forgotten," said Brigadier General Alexander Ross, C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., of Ottawa, in his address at Peterborough's observance of Remembrance Day and the twenty-fifth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice in the Great War, at the war memorial in Confederation Square this morning.

Although his statement was an assertion it carried more the tone of questioning as Brigadier General Ross looked out over the assembly which was composed mostly of veterans of the last war, with a comparatively small cluster of citizens who joined them in ceremony of remembrance of the sacrifice of Peterborough manhood in years that have become dim with the flight of one-quarter of a century of time.

His words of comment and criticism were intermittently overborne by the intrusive and indifferent traffic passing the memorial scene which the veterans of the Canadian Legion have established as an annual tribute of reverence to the comrades who fell beside them in turning back the German threat of twenty-five years ago.

Fire Chief George Gimblett, president of Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion directed the morning's half hour snatched from the year 1943 for the revivifying of grateful recollections of the men who went forth from Peterborough when the Germans turned their forces of destruction upon the freedom of the world in the years from 1914 to 1918. Those thoughts were expressed in the brief addresses by Captain the Reverend George S. Easton, Rev. John T. Finn and Brigadier-General Ross, and also in the many tributary wreaths which were placed on the war memorial after the two minutes' of silence at 11 o'clock were observed with bowed heads.

Temporary Cessation

Dr. Easton said that the Armistice of November, 1918, had actually become only the literal meaning of the word, a temporary cessation by agreement of the hostilities the Germans began in 1914. The enemy of that period had employed the years which were hoped to be the beginning of a new dedication to peace as means of preparing for the new war same enemy launched in 1939. For ten years under the leadership of Hitler the youth of Germany was brought up on the idea of racial superiority and of a paganism recalled from a remote age and phrased anew to the purpose and end of trying once more to dominate the world. Instead of taking the best of its heritage as idealized by Beethoven, Goethe, Luther and other great Germans of the past, Hitler turned back to the Nordic paganism.

Dr. Easton's theme was an exhortation to choose from the heritage of the British and Canadian people the treasured things they had learned in their homes and schools and churches, and to perpetuate these influences as the sustenance of our race through all the years and in the every day life.

Rev. John T. Finn, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, recalled that the Armistice of 1918 was signed only after a great multitude of Christian men and women had given their lives to preserve peace and freedom based on justice and freedom for those who were to come after them.

"Today, we pay tribute to their heroic sacrifice on our behalf," Father Finn said. "For, like Him, after whom they were named 'Christian,' they suffered because they willed it; they freely died that we might live; and live to defend the principles for which they gave even life itself."

The people of today were keeping faith with those men of 1914-18, the speaker said. "In the air and on the land, on the waters and under them, Canada's answer has gone forth, 'we are keeping faith with you.' We shall not rest until a peace based on justice and charity, a peace gained through a sacred victory, becomes your achievement and ours in the days that lie ahead."

Outside Mons 25 Years Ago.

Brigadier-General Ross recalled briefly the scene outside Mons twenty-five years ago "when we were listening to the last shots of warfare, and then came that silence that seemed so unnatural at the front."

That victory was bought with precious lives that were sacrificed for the future safety of the world, but those who survived the armistice and the declaration of peace failed the men who had fallen, and some of the signs on this twenty-fifth anniversary indicated that they were forgotten. "We are now facing the climax of the tragedy in which we are now engaged to secure again the things that were won for us in those years of 1914-18."

Brigadier Ross appealed to his audience to reclaim the spiritual and moral values that were so transcendent in the newness of that Armistice and its victory. In concluding his address which ended on the strokes of eleven o'clock, he recalled the words of King George V. as he stood in the great cemetery of the British dead at Boulogne in 1921:

"Standing beneath the Cross of Sacrifice facing the great stone of remembrance, and compassed by these sternly simply headstones, we remember, and must charge our children to remember, that, as our dead were equal in sacrifice, so are they equal in honor, for the greatest and the least of them have proved that sacrifice and honor are no vain things, but truths by which the world lives."

Tokens Of Remembrance

If the attendance of civilians other than the men who fought in the last war was notable small this morning, the signs of remembrance otherwise were impressive and reassuring. The preceding parade of the Canadian Legion seemed to be equal in its numerical representation with those of other years. They were led by a composite band directed by Lieutenant Peryer, many of whom are employees of the Canadian General Electric Company. Some of the industrial plants arranged for their Veteran employees to attend the morning's customary ceremonial.

Another evidence of remembrance of the full significance of the celebration was observed in the large number of wreaths placed on the community's memorial in the park. Mayor Hamilton representing the city council and Warden P. J. Mather representing the county council were the first to place their tributary palms and poppies at the foot of the engraved stone which perpetuates the names of the men from Peterborough who fell in that other war. Other wreaths bore the following names: Board of Education, Province of Ontario, Canadian Legion Branch No. 52, Peterborough; all the service clubs, many of the local mercantile shops and manufacturing plants; the Progressive Conservative and Liberal Associations; Y.M.C.A., Red Patch Club, Bishop J. R. MacDonald, C.G.E. Social and Athletic Club, the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion Post Office, Police Department, various chapter of the I.O.D.E., the fraternal orders of the city, Utilities Commission, the Royal Canadian Air Force, the members of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, Peterborough Local No. 524; the Conservative Women's Association, and others.

Freight Train Strikes Truck

Two men were taken to Nicholls Hospital, suffering from cuts on the head and face, Wednesday evening, following a collision between the truck in which they were riding and a C.N.R. freight train at the Water street north crossing.

They were Marvin Armstrong, Lakefield, driver of the truck and Hobart A. Sutherland, proprietor of the Wenonah tourist camp on the Lakefield road, a passenger.

Armstrong was driving north and apparently failed to see the train which was travelling in a southwesterly direction with the locomotive hauling a number of cars backwards.

The rear of the engine struck the truck about the middle and the force was enough to break the coupler off the locomotive. However the train was moving slowly and was quickly stopped. The truck was badly damaged.

Armstrong and Sutherland, who were cut around the face and head by broken glass, with the driver also sustaining a gash on his arm, were taken by ambulance to hospital.

The train was in charge of William Sutherland Stewart Street and J. E. Hill, conductor, 318 King Street.

Prime Minister Contacts Union

A telegram received by the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers from the private secretary of Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in reply to their telegram of Monday night, was received as follows today: "I am directed by the Prime minister to acknowledge your telegram of Nov. 8, to let you know that it representations are being brought at once to the attention of his colleagues of the Cabinet." Sgd.—H. R. L. Henry.

The Union has also had a reply from M. M. MacLean, director of Industrial Relations, respecting the impending lay-off at Genelco Limited of 150 employees, and other plant changes, advising that their letter was being referred to the Department of Munitions and Supply "to ascertain exactly what is involved."

Nine passengers were bruised and shaken up as the T.C.A. Airliner, pictured ABOVE, was forced down three-quarters of a mile northwest of Malton, Ont., airport after it had begun its flight from Toronto to Winnipeg. Due to skillful work on the part of the pilot, the plane made a successful forced landing in a plowed field after one engine failed. All but two of the passengers resumed their flight in a relief plane.

Group Redrafts Labor Proposals

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP)— Dominion - provincial conferences on proposed Federal measures for compulsory collective bargaining and arbitration went into their third day yesterday with a committee scheduled to submit a re-drafted report on details and the principle of the legislation.

The meetings, which began Monday, were to have concluded last night but the committee was instructed to re-draft the report after it had been submitted to an afternoon conference.

Disagreement was reported to have developed over details and methods of approach rather than principle. Many provinces were understood to have taken the stand the legislation should be patterned after existing provincial labor measures.

The conference scope was broadened yesterday when wage stabilization and Dominion-province farm labor programs came under review, with Arthur MacNamara, deputy labor minister, proposing a Dominion-provincial meeting in December to discuss a 1944 farm labor program. No decision was reached.

At yesterday's afternoon meeting, Labor Minister Mitchell dealt with the principles behind wage stabilization, and invited opinions from the provinces. The government's plans for a new labor program call for amendments to wage control measures parallelling the proposing bargaining and arbitration action.

Basing views on their own experience and on the operation of Regional War Labor Boards, the provincial delegates discussed the majority and minority reports of the National War Labor Board arising from its inquiry into wage conditions and labor relations.

Wartime Souvenir

TORONTO, Nov. 11 (CP). — Sydney Moye, 23-year-old Toronto seaman, will have a tangible reminder of the sinking of a German U-boat by the corvette H.M.C.S. Chambly. He sent home a leather jacket bearing the autographs of the Chambly's crew and the printed names of seven Germans picked up after their sub was destroyed.

After Two Years He Tells How Syntona Helped Him

Tells of Relief From Years of Suffering With Stomach and Kidney Disorders. Bladder Irritation, Dizzy Spells, Headaches and Tired Feelings—Says Whole System Felt Improved.

CHARLES SAGEMAN

"I will always have a good word to say about Syntona after the great comfort and relief it gave me two years ago when I was suffering with stomach and kidney disorders," said Mr. Charles Sageman, 129 Charles Street, London, in a recent statement.

"For years I hardly had a decent night's sleep because I had to get up so often at night to relieve my kidneys and I suffered greatly with bladder irritations. In the morning I always felt nervous and unrested. My stomach, too, was in a disordered condition, and it seemed my whole system had become weakened and rundown. Awful spells of dizziness came over me, spots floated before my eyes and I was subject to frequent headaches. My tongue was constantly coated, my complexion was rough and sallow, and I was losing weight.

"It was then that I first began taking Syntona, and I was surprised at how quickly and pleasantly it acted on my stomach and bowels. Before long I could eat regular meals and my food seemed to be doing me some good. Then the kidneys and bladder suffering was gradually relieved and those headaches and dizzy spells left me. I could get my proper sleep, so my energy returned and my whole system felt toned up and improved.

"I am now eighty years of age and I can confidently say that I owe much of the improved health I enjoyed these last two years to the few bottles of Syntona I took at that time. I think it is just great to get a medicine that does so much for a person and yet contains no harmful drugs."

If you who read this, suffer from disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys or bowels, or any of their long train of distressing symptoms, make up your mind to-day to take a treatment of this pure herbal tonic. Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

KEENE

26 Answered Call For Blood Donors

KEENE, Nov. 11 — (ENS). — Twenty-six persons have answered the call for blood donors in drive of the Otonabee Red Cross Society.

The regular monthly meeting of the United Church Women's Association was held on November 8 at the home of Miss Bryce with the president, Mrs. G. S. Taylor in the chair. The president invited the ladies to her home for the next meeting when the program will be in charge of Mrs. F. Easson. A nominating committee was named. Miss M. Bryce sang a solo in her usual pleasing manner.

Armistice service was observed at the United Church last Sunday when the topic of the sermon was based on Isaiah 6.8 "Whom shall I send and who will go for us." The Rev. George Murray recalled incidents in 1918 at Arras, Vimy Ridge Lens, and Mt. St. Eloi as he travelled over that field of sacrifice. "The present war is a challenge to end war, if we do not, it will end our civilization as we know it today," he said. A very appropriate anthem was sung as a tribute to those who paid the supreme sacrifice.

German "Master Minds" Scratch Their Heads

This photo which recently arrived in London through neutral channels show a conference between four of the master minds charged with the defence of Germany. At the LEFT is Albert Speer, Nazi minister in charge of construction work on fortifications. Beside him is Reichmarshal Hermann Goering, who once boasted that Allied bombs would never fall on Germany. Second from RIGHT Major-General Loerzer of the Wehrmacht, and at RIGHT, General Korten, chief of staff of the battered Luftwaffe.

Youthful Tories Complain To Parliament

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 11 — (CP). — The voice of the restless young has spoken from beneath the shadow of the political greybeards who have been Britain's big men in the war.

It came as a 5,000-word pamphlet "Forward — By The Right," from the Tory Reform Committee, otherwise known to the political world as the "Young Conservatives." Their leader is Viscount Hinchingbrook, 37, former secretary to Earl Baldwin.

Whitehall knew their outburst was coming. Their case, as one lobby reported put it, "is that the Conservative party is doomed to extinction if it rests on the negative policy of the past."

Their statement was signed by 41 M.P.'s, some of them actually veterans, but in the main, relatively young.

They came out for:

Practical demobilization and reconstruction plans ready for immediate application when peace comes; a post-war Britain of adequate armaments and compulsory military training in "order that her contribution to security may be integrated with those of the rest of the commonwealth in a single military system appropriate to a world power;" participation by the commonwealth in any international organization for world peace; full employment; the provision of homes for all, of an adequate standard; an educational system, general religious and technical which will enable any child to develop his capabilities and character to the full; social security guaranteed by adequate minimum wages and a system of social insurance on the line of the Beveridge Report; a preventative and curative health service.

People.

Scepticism was rife when outspoken Lord Strabolgi laid claim to knowledge of 100 cuss words. As Cmdr. Kenworthy, he long sat in the Commons but it was not there that he became proficient in profanity. For years he roamed the seas and, he confessed later, amassed a vocabulary including Arabic, Chinese and other tongues. "You had to learn swear words," he explained. "It's the only way to make the natives understand." Lord Strabolgi, incidentally, is a sergeant in the Home Guard.

Quinton Hogg, one of the young Conservatives, brought down on War Minister James Grigg one of the most scathing attacks in parliamentary years. The immediate target was payment of a lieutenant's pension to the widow of a doctor who entered the army with the promise of becoming a major when he reached his post in North Africa. He was drowned en route when a ship was torpedoed. Mr. Hogg's description of the evolution of Mr. Grigg: "Born and conceived in a pigeon-hole, swaddled in red tape, educated in the treasury, achieved manhood at last in the war office. On his tombstone there will be placed not an epitaph but a treasury minute, "Passed to you for further consideration and comment."

Contract Is Let To Plow Otonabee Roads

Making ready for winter, Otonabee council has engaged Fred Nelson of Keene to supply power for the snow plow for the season of 1943-44.

The council had previously made a survey of the roads and bridges, and several ideas were noted for reference in probable postwar program. Mac Short, road superintendent, was present at the meeting, and most of the morning was spent in discussing township road conditions.

Purchase of 2,000 feet of snow fence and 200 steel posts was ordered in a resolution by W. W. Dawson, seconded by Harry Reid.

A supplementary bylaw whose readings were moved by Deputy Reeve Reid, seconded by Mr. Dawson, provided for a further expenditure of $2,000 on township roads, increasing the total for 1943 to $15,000.

A list of tax arrears was presented, and these names were directed to be stricken off. In session as Court of Revision the members authorized twenty-three members in the assessment roll which was then adopted for 1944.

Moved by Mr. Spears seconded by Mr. Dawson that the following accounts be paid:—

Richard Fife $76.00, William Drummond $2.00, Thomas Weir, making copy for assessment for 1944, $36.00; Stanley Darling $16.00; Peterborough Examiner $3.36; A. Rennie $4.70; Jury Selecting (Reeve, Assessor and Clerk), $14.00.

Road Accounts:—Mac Short $126.44; Robert Renwick $45.50; Hugh Renwick $1.10; Earl Dixon $10.50; Harold Eason $10.50; Mac. Clancy $3.40; Charles Gouett $10.95; Gerald Carey $64.16; Keith Manley $69.05; Thomas Weir $6.25; John Wood $44.25; Fred Nelson $354.50; William Godfrey $24.20; Leo Foley $8.50; G. W. Green $13.00; Canadian Oil Co. $57.95; H. Albert and Co. $85.00; G. S. Taylor $4.80; A. Davidson $9.90; Joe Manley $11.70; William Crowley $2.70; S. Dawson $9.90; Harry Wood $6.00; G. Thompson $7.50; J. M. Hope $36.80; Peterborough County Forest $36.30.

Farm Service Force Operated 28 Camps

TORONTO, Nov. 11. — The closing of the Farm Service Force camp at St. David's, at the end of October, brought to a close the third season of operation for these camps, Mrs. Allan Colerick, chairman of the Farm Service Force Committee of the National Council, Y.W.C.A., announced to-day. "In spite of the fact that this has been 'the worst year in the agricultural history of Ontario,' 28 camps operated with a total attendance of 2,380 (1,803 girls and 577 boys)," she said.

The National Y.W.C.A., co-operating in this project with the Provincial Government, was responsible for housing, feeding, staffing, supervision and recreation in the 22 girls' camps, and for the housekeeping and food service in the six boys' camps. The Y.M.C.A. directed supervision and leisure-time activities in the boys' camps.

Miss Dorothy Hankinson, Reg. N., Field Director of Health, reported a high standard of health among the campers. Health of the girls is an important consideration, and doctors and nurses in local communities assist in this service by visiting the camps and giving medical and nursing care when needed. A medical insurance plan, developed in several camps during the past summer, will be operated in all camps during 1944.

U.S. Army Plane Rescues 4 At Fort Ross

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP).— —The rescue of three men and a woman by the United States Army Air Forces Emergency Rescue Branch from an Eskimo trading post 400 miles north of the Arctic Circle was announced Tuesday by the War Department.

The Hudson's Bay Company appealed for help after its supply boat failed to get through the ice to Fort Ross, Canada's farthest-north settlement. The four white people there had only enough food to last until November 15.

Those brought out by the Air Forces' transport plane were W. A. Heslop, manager of the Hudson's Bay Company post at Fort Ross, whose home formerly was at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England; his wife, formerly of Winnipeg; Constable C. L. Delisle, Royal Canadian Mounted Police of Ottawa, and D. W. Munroe, company clerk, of Clanwilliam, Man.

The rescue plane was fitted with additional fuel tanks, snow and ice tires, and skis. The first attempt to land on the ice at Fort Ross was made on November 1, but bad weather forced the plane to return to its base. On November 4, the plane dropped 2,000 pounds of supplies, and an officer parachuted to test the ice before a landing was attempted. The landing finally was made November 7, and the four person brought back to a northern base, where they now are waiting for favorable flying weather before going to Winnipeg.

Hull Gets Bouquet For Moscow Triumph

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 —(AP). State Secretary Cordell Hull is due back from the Moscow conference late today and will report immediately to President Roosevelt on what is generally considered his greatest diplomatic triumph.

With general war and post-war accords among the Allies in his pocket, Hull is expected to give the president much announced detail of the historic conference and of his conversation with Marshal Stalin, Foreign Commissar Molotov and Foreign Secretary Eden.

Hull's party is returning with him except for Charles Bohlen of the state department who remains in Moscow as counsellor of embassy and Maj.-Gen. John D. Deane who stayed behind to head a United States military mission in the Soviet capital.

MOTHERS VISIT SCHOOLS—Peterborough schools are this week observing Education Week and as part of the program the mothers are visiting the schools on certain afternoons and discussing the courses of study and the progress being made by their children with the teachers. (At LEFT) is a special class in art conducted in the Central School by the art instructor, Miss Connie Wagar. Pupils in this class are those who have shown an aptitude in art and they are gathered together in one class and given special instruction. (At RIGHT) a group of students in the library at the Collegiate and Vocational Training School. The library is in charge of Miss Genevieve Fowler, a qualified librarian. Here students spend their study periods receiving the assistance from the librarian and making full use of the books on the shelves.

Accident Group To Meet On Dec. 15

TORONTO, Nov. 11. — H. A. Cranfield, Peterborough, chairman of the Central Ontario Division of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations, presented the divisional report at a meeting of the Administrative Committee of the organization at the Royal York Hotel on Tuesday.

Speaking at the meeting, John Harold, retiring chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board of Ontario, said, "Every day 200 maimed men and women are given treatment and training at the Board's clinic." In telling of the enormous amount of money paid out by the Board since its inception in 1915, Mr. Harold said, "Over $1,100,000 was awarded last month."

The committee decided to hold the general meeting of directors of the I.A.P.A. at the Royal York Hotel on December 15. W. H. Munro, Ottawa, president of the associations, presided at the meeting.

Special Classes In Art At Central School Give Training To Better Pupils

To meet a lack of opportunity for children specially talented in art, an interesting experiment is being tried out in one of the city schools, as a supplement to the regular art lessons.

This experiment has taken the form of a special art class composed of sixteen of the more artistic pupils from the senior grades in Central Public School. A secondary reason was to give scope for the profitable use of a wider range of materials, too expensive, or too difficult to handle in the ordinary classes.

The choice of Central School as the centre was made because a suitable room, with the essential good lighting was available and readily converted in to a "studio." The nucleus for the proposed class is the Art instructor at the teachers upon a basis of the past work by pupils artistically inclined.

The present teacher of the new class is the Art insructor at the Normal School and supervisor of Art in the six City public schools Miss Constance Wagar, B.A. In preparing for this new venture, a visit was paid to the Children's Art Centre in Toronto where many worthwhile features were gleaned, methods of teaching, the handling of equipment, subject matter, etc.

Tried at Prince of Wales

The first impetus toward the organization of such a class came through a similar trial made by Miss Wagar while teaching in the Prince of Wales School here, which resulted in a signal success.

This art course has included finger-painting, which emphasizes freedom of movement and originality of expression, resulting in some fine landscape and design work. The making of murals was another interesting project, when the boys chose for their theme "The evolution of the airplane" and the girls did 'a garden scene.' Quite gay and colourful were the garden markers made of light wood and painted. The chief enterprise this year, was that of designing and printing lino-cuts to decorate the curtains for the teacher's room at Central School, which speak for themselves.

The projects for the immediate future include modelling in clay, outdoor sketching and visits to places of interest from the art standpoint.

Creates Competition

The keen interest and evident enjoyment of these art students is an incentive to their classmates, and creates much competition for membership in the class.

To prove that this interest is real several class members have requested further out - of - school work and have gone so far as to ask for special classes for Saturdays and evenings.

It is hoped that in the near future, such art classes may be extended to other schools for Peterborough is rapidly becoming a place of keen art appreciation.

Lebanon Rep. Faces Martial Law

LONDON, Nov. 11 — (CP). — Reuters News Agency reported today a state of martial law had been proclaimed in the republic of Lebanon on order of the French Committee of National Liberation and that the president, prime minister and several other cabinet members had been placed under arrest.

The development apparently was the aftermath of dispute between the Lebanese government and the French committee over the republic's status as a free and independent state.

The dispute developed when the newly elected Lebanese chamber of deputies gave notice of its intention to adopt several constitutional changes. The French National Committee in Algiers informed the chamber it could not permit any changes unless it had been consulted about them.

The chamber's stand was based on the fact that on November 26, 1941, the independence of Lebanon was proclaimed by Gen. Georges Catroux, then commander of Free French forces in the Middle East, after his men had joined the British in overpowering the Vichy garrisons.

Lebanon had been under French mandate since 1920.

The Reuter report said French troops had been ordered to occupy all strategic cities in Lebanon.

Allow Agriculturists Increased Fertilizer

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 — (CP). — Under an agreement between Canada and the United States, 500,000 tons of fertilizer is expected to be available to the Dominion for the spring—almost double the quantity used a few years ago —Grant Peart, fertilizers administrator, said today.

Mr. Peart said farmer should be prepared to accept deliveries during winter months.

"The demand will probably be the heaviest in our history and the supply may not be sufficient."

Religious Writer Lucy Sandys Dies

CHATHAM, Nov. 11 — (CP). — Miss Lucy Sandys 85, last member of one of Chatham's distinguished families, died in hospital here yesterday.

She was the daughter of the late Archdeacon F. W. Sandys, who came to Chatham in 1849 as an Anglican missionary.

Miss Sandys wrote prose and poetry and was an extensive contributor to religious periodicals. One of her books, "Child Life in Bible Times," was published in England some years ago.

SPRINGVILLE

Speaker Urges W.M.S. Preach In Own Sphere

SPRINGVILLE, Nov. 11 (ENS)—The autumn thankoffering service of the W.M.S. was held, with Mrs. Dixon of the Salvation Army in Peterborough, bringing the message.

The president, Mrs. Bernard Preston, was in charge of the call to worship, and Mrs. J. F. Everson led in prayer. The Mission Band, under the direction of Miss Velma Staples, contributed special music.

Mrs. Dixon chose as her text Acts 8:5. She made a plea for more courage today in the preaching of Jesus Christ. She touched briefly on some conditions with which she has come in contact, and urged that those present grasp every opportunity of being missionaries in their own sphere, and to be, like Philip, ready to follow the guidance of God.

Eastern Counties Snap Up Grain

Purchases of western feed grain by the farmers in Ontario up to the end of October were 129,770 tons representing 12,291 applications, with the Government subsidy amounting to $233,587.

Huron county leads the province with 1,063 applications for 10,650 tons. Their subsidy is $19,170.

Peterborough: 96 applications, 1,658 tons, subsidy $2,984.

Northumberland: 135 applications; 1,309 tons; subsidy, $2,357.

Durham: 195 applications; 1,880 tons; subsidy $3,385.

A. H. Martin, asssitant director of agricultural representatives, reports applications at the rate of 2,000 a week. The Manitoba Department of Agriculture recently commented: "Regarding the matter of cars, it is simply impossible to get any because until the freeze-up of lakes every car is filled with wheat."

Bat-Wielding Lady Goes To Jail At Toronto For Slugging Selective Service Official

TORONTO, Nov. 11 — (CP). — A middle-aged woman who gave her name as Mrs. Ann Shanu was arrested last night on a charge of aggravated assault following an attack yesterday on R. J. Davis, National Selective Service Registrar for Toronto district.

Police said Davis was struck about the head three times in his downtown office by a woman wielding a baseball bat.

Davis, declaring he had been informed his injuries are not serious, said last night woman said "we had spirited her boy away from her." Davis said the boy joined the R.C.A.F. voluntarily in Septemper after receiving a call-up notice.

Yesterday Davis denied an earlier report that the boy had been sent a notice to report for Army training after he had joined the R.C.A.F.

50 Years Bring Few Changes Mrs. Mary Horsfield Finds

A forest fire which had spread to the railroal tracks and the telephone poles was the first Canadian experience of Mrs. Mary Horsfield, who celebrated her 94th birthday Tuesday. Born Mary Jackson, in Oldham, England, in 1849, Mrs. Horsfield came to Canada with her husband, the late George Horsfield, about sixty years ago. They first moved to Stayner, in Simcoe County, and it was on the trip from Montreal to Stayner that the train on which they were passengers went through the forest fire.

She was married when she was 22, on July 14, which was the mechanics' yearly holiday. Mrs. Horsfield comes from a sea-faring family, and remembers her Uncle John and tells how watchers saw his ship pounded to pieces on the Cumberland Rocks, and how he, as captain, went down with his ship. Her grandfather was buried at sea, she said, and told how he had been on a trip to India, contracted a fever, and had died on his way home.

Mrs. Horsfield has lived in Peterborough almost fifty years, and recalls scenes of Peterborough in the old days. She maintains that the most noticeable change has been in the stores, and that the rest of the city is just about the same, but larger, of course.

She has 6 children, 4 girls and 2 boys. Two daughters, Miss Jane Horsfield and Miss Agnes Horsfield, live in Peterborough; another, Mrs. E. Carveth, lives in Toronto, and the fourth, Mrs. W. Sindon, lives in Rochester. One son, Arthur, is with the Reserve Army at Cornwall, and the other, Charles, lives in Port Hope. There are 16 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren. Two grandchildren, Jim and Bob, of Port Hope, are overseas with the armed forces.

Mrs. Horsfield is still very active. Her mind is keen, and she takes a real interest in world events. She has her own radio and listens to the news and all the continued stories every day. Until last year, she played bridge, and, as she says, was very good at it too. Fond of music and singing, whenever God Save the King is played she rises and stands until it has been played.

Riding has always been popular with her, and she goes for drives whenever the opportunity presents itself. Every summer is spent at a cottage at Long Point, Lake Chemong, and Mrs. Horsfield enjoys every minute of a full and happy summer.

Recalling childhood days, Mrs. Horsfield remembers marching as a school child in a parade for the Prince of Wales, who later became Edward VII. The decorations were wonderful, she said, and the streets were decorated with Prince of Wales feathers, which were illuminated at night. The celebration lasted for a week, and she says she has never seen a sight to equal it since.

Mrs. Horsfield has returned to England 6 times, and was there when the first World War broke out. She came home in a blacked-out ship, and said that she always stayed near a porthole, although she never suffered from seasickness.

She has no special formula for a long life, but says that she has loved every minute of her stay here, and has enjoyed life to the full. Her philosophy is best described in her own words. "I'm alive by the grace of God, and He'll take me in His own time."

Army Auxiliary Has 90 At Tea

The executive of the Peterborough Active Army Auxiliary served at a tea Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. A. Dewart, 589 Weller street. The tea took the place of the regular meeting and about 90 ladies were present. As they entered, the ladies were received by Mrs. J. A. Turnbull, and then registered, the register being in charge of Mrs. Eric Haley. Mrs. R. Gamble and Mrs. R. C. Heideman poured, and dainty sandwiches and cakes were served. Those assisting and serving were: Mrs. Ralph Honey, Mrs. J. C Dawson, Mrs. L. A. Craig, Mrs. James Morley, Mrs. Robert Ingram, Mrs. Harry Willis, Mrs. Lorne Bateman, Mrs. H. G. Mason Mrs. H. Welsh, Mrs. R. S. Allan, Mrs. R. J. Bolton and Mrs. B. D Hall.

Mission Circle Makes New Plans

The November meeting of the Jean Wagar Mission Circle of St. James United Church was held Wednesday night at the home of Gladys Langton, Simcoe Street west.

The meeting opened with prayer led by Jessie Martin. The Christmas meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wagar, Lock Street, the first Monday in December. The nominating committee was named including Jessie Martin, Connie Wagar, assisted by the Advisory president form this committee.

A solo by Miss Joan Miller was accompanied by Mrs. Tamblyn and "The Book Talk" by Mrs. Stan Leggitt was enjoyed.

Zetta Wood secretary of the Christian stewardship, reported on the work in this department, which coupled with giving has made possible the financial abjectives of this circle.

The worship service consisted of scripture readings by Helen Moncrief and Jean Davis and prayer with several girls assisting.

The offering was received and dedicated in prayer .

Taking the place of the usual contest, was the questionaire dealing with various projects in which the Circle might do practical missionary work. A brief social hour was enjoyed when refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee.

Dr. Peaker Gives Address

Dr. Charles Peaker, who was recently appointed assistant principal at the Toronto Conservatory, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Ontario Music Teachers Association held this week. His topic was "Appreciation of Music," and he dealt with the idea that individual tastes in music change, and should progress leaving a great deal behind. Wealth of variety in music was illustrated by numbers played by Mrs Agnes Logan Green. Dr. Peaker played examples of music that by their character have lived for years, and mentioned one outstanding hymn, in which the words and music are "wedded." Miss Mabel Clarry thanked Dr. Peaker for his address. Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. R. Philp and her committee.

Hutchinson—Channon

A pretty wedding was solemnized in Oakwood United church, recently, when Helen Eileen, youngest daughter of Mrs. J. Channon and late Mr. Channon of Oakwood, became the bride of Robert John Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Hutchinson, R.R. No. 4, Omemee. Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh officiated, and Mrs. Vanderburgh played the music.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother. Mr. Marvin Channon of Toronto, wore a street-length dress of pale blue sheer, black accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

She was attended by Mrs. S. McCall of Omemee, sister of the groom, who wore a street-length frock of old rose crepe, black accessories, and a corsage of red roses. Mr. Ray Hutchinson, Peterborough, was best man.

At the reception held at the bride's home, the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of black sheer and black accessories. The groom's mother, who also received, was dressed in black sheer, and wore brown accessories.

After the reception, the young couple left on a trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls and points west. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson will live in Oakwood.

I.O.D.E. Plans For Bazaar-Tea

Plans for a tea and bazaar to be held on December 4, were discussed at the November meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter of the I.O.D.E. which was held on Wednesday evening, with Mrs. J. K. Hughes presiding. Mrs. C. L. Upper is convener for the tea and reports from the various committees were heard. Tickets were distributed for the Chicken Dinner Raffle, to be drawn for at the tea.

Two new members, Mrs. Frank Jopling and Mrs. P. C. Saunders were welcomed to the Chapter, A cash donation of $25 was sent to the Peterborough corvette, and a donation of $5 for soldiers' Christmas boxes was received from Miss Maude Roddy. The Chapter also wishes to send two barrels of apples to its adopted ship "H. M. C. S. Salisbury," for Christmas.

It was reported that 80 ditty bags had been packed and shipped before November 1, as the Chapter's donation to the Navy League and a Christmas remembrance was also sent to Mrs. G. Sunde, (nee Fern Blodgett).

Friends Guests Of Mrs. Guy Peel

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 11 (ENS). — Mrs. Gery Peel was hostess to a number of her friends at a delightfully arranged tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Games and contests were held, the prize winners being Miss Grace Yonge, Mrs. Alexander Nicholls and Mrs. Peel. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Fire Chief Allan Clark and Mrs. Clark received a cablegram from their son Bill on Wednesday, that he had arrived safely "somewhere in England."

Miss Ann Renwick of Ottawa is a guest this week at the home of Dr. G. E. Renwick and Mrs. Renwick.

Friends of Capt. Reg. Campbell and Mrs. Campbell will be interested to learn that their ten year old son Colin, who fell 50 feet in the Canadian Cement Plant, is progessing nicely at Nicholls Hospital.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. Reynolds, who recently moved to Dummer after residing all their lives in Douro, visited them at their home and presented them with a lovely dinner set. Mrs. Errie Garbutt read the address and Mrs. T. Hatton and Miss Hazel Garrett made the presentation. Games and cards were played, followed by dancing. The lunch was served. Mrs. Charles Frankish and Mrs. Garbutt arranged the affair.

Men from the village who are deer hunting this week include:— S. J. Charlton, D. H. Charlton, Elwood Northey, Bruce Charlton, Percy Spence, Harry Dunford who are at Eel's Lake district. W. W. Leonard, Reeve Gordon Scriver, Reg Doubt and Carm. Payne.

Mrs. A. E. Prest W.M.S. Hostess

Mrs. A. E. Prest, Lansdowne Street, was hostess on Tuesday afternoon to the Women's Missionary Society of St. James' United Church. In the absence of the president Mrs. W. Rose, Mrs. E. L. Woodley the first vice-president presided. In her temperance talk Mrs. E. Beavis quoted from recent news clippings of interest to the work of her department. Christian Stewardship was presented by Mrs. W. K. Sloane. "The Blessing of Health" as the theme for study, and Mrs. Eric Hunter paid tribute to the work of the doctors and the nurses in the W.M.S. hospital in India. Mrs. Prest, the group leader, took the chair and carried out the group devotional program. A beautiful solo, "There's a Voice in the Wilderness," was rendered by Mrs. Ross Moore, accompanied by Mrs. George Wallace.

The feature of the afternoon was the address by Miss Mary Irwin, a retired missionary of the former Methodist Church to China. She referred to her work in the Province of Honan, which is known as "the rice bowl of China,' illustrating her address by a wealth of personal exxperiences. An inspiring story of the conversion of a rich Chinese man who was influenced by reading a tract upon which one of his receipts was written, was the highlight of her message. She paid tribute to the Christian character of the great Chinese leader Chiang-Kai-Shek in closing. The Mizpah benediction concluded the service, at which there was a fine attendance.

Navy Auxiliary Runs Off Draw

A draw for a 5 piece chesterfield set was held at the regular meeting of the Peterborough and District Auxiliary to the Navy, which took place on Wednesday evening in the Y.W.C.A. with the president, Mrs. E. Wand, in the chair. Mrs. M. James, Bethune street, made and donated the set to the Auxiliary, and proceeds from the sale of tickets amounted to $27.05. The set was won by Mrs. Hotson, with ticket number 348.

Mrs. Fred Craig, who reported on ditty bags, told the meeting that there were 381 names on her mailing list. These boys and girls are stationed either in Canada, Newfoundland, England, or the United States, and each will receive a bag, filled with useful articles. 37 overseas ditty bags have already been mailed, and 3 to the United States. She said that the list was not complete, and asked mothers of boys and girls in the navy or merchant marine to send in the names before the deadline this Saturday.

In memory of Coder Ralph Freure, a short silence was observed, and a prayer was given for Canadian boys who are sailing the seas in their country's defence.

A social hour closed the meeting, and it was decided to have the next meeting in the form of a social evening, thus giving the members a chance to become better acquainted.

How To Make Full Use Of Your Root Vegetables

"My Singin' Cousin" is married to a man who is made of the finest husband material any girl could desire. In World War One he knew hunger. He knew what it was to have nothing but boiled defrosted potatoes for dinner for four months on end. He says the sweetness the freezing developed in them is a flavor he hopes never to taste again.

As a consequence potatoes are anathema to him and his wife has become an expert vegetable cook as a result.

Last Sunday we had dinner there and around her beef she had roasted slices of white turnip, onions and strips of carrot. She arranged them to look like a Harvest Home picture on the platter at serving time around the meat and I was impressed; I think of her as my baby cousin because she is still on the sunny side of thirty, — and for her to serve such an expertly handled meal was a great satisfaction.

I've been visiting two other places this past week and another one of my hostesses did an unusual vegetable stunt: her cauliflower was too small to serve six people so she added a few slices of cabbage to the pot and it made an interesting dish of vegetables.

First and best method of serving root vegetables is raw: grated in salads; shredded on lettuce; cut in strips as or with celery; but do this cutting just before serving, and mask with mayonnaise or French dressing—this quick coating conserves vitamins.

One-Pot Vegetable Combinations

I hope the conservation program that is so acceptable to housewives now persuades them that waste in peace time is also inexcusable, and that they should keep their wartime economy habits.

I am thinking of the stunt of cooking some vegetables together in the same pot. For this a pot the same size as your favorite burner with a large flat bottom, tight-fitting lid and of good thin metal or glass is essential. In it you may boil together such vegetables as potatoes and carrots; or cauliflower and cabbage or brussels sprouts; or turnips and potatoes; or beans and carrots; it is not necessary to mix the vegetables—they may be served in double vegetable dishes or in separate piles on the meat platter.

Mixed Vegetables

I am not claiming some or any of these unusual ideas as original, but it is obvious why I am reminding you of them: we will be obliged to use Canadian root vegetables all winter. Even if we could afford the high prices imported vegetables will cost we should use vegetables indigenous to Canada and invest the surplus in bonds.

We are limited to about eight Canadian vegetables which can be stored fresh for winter consumption: potatoes, carrots, turnips, beets, parsnips, onions, cabbage and Hubbard squashes. (Dried beans, peas and lentils are under a different classification.)

You know the common ways of preparing them,—so that your family never gets a chance to say "What! Carrots again?" beat them to the punch with your various ways of preparing.

Oven Methods With Carrots

(1) Shred well scrubbed carrots on wonder shredder or cut in strips 2 or 3 inches by ⅛ to ¼ inches square. Put strips in buttered casserole, dot with a very little buttter, sprinkle with a very little flour, and salt and pepper, and barely cover with milk. Put on lid and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about ¾ hour.

(2) Shred, or cut into large or small strips or rings, washed carrots, and put into buttered casserole as above, and omit the milk, but add a little more butter than you would use if milk were added. Bake tightly covered.

(3) Pan roast carrots either whole or cut in pan with roating meat.

(4) Bake well mashed and trimmed carrots the same as you would bake potatoes in their jackets—they should be place on a lightly greased pan. If they are brushed with butter about 5 minutes before taking from oven the skin is tender.

Best Cooking Methods For Beets

(1) Shred beets finely on wonder shredder, into top of double boiler. Add ½ cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, cover tightly and cook over boiling water in double boiler about ½ hour—time depends on age of beets.

(2) Shred about 1½ pounds beets that have been washed and peeled and add 2 cups boiling water containing 1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice, 1 tablespoon butter, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon sugar and cover tightly. Boil rapidly 10 minutes. Either serve with liquid in pot or thicken liquid with 2 tablespoons flour rubbed.

(3) Beets Piquante: Six small beets, 1 tablespoon butter, ¼ cup water, ½ cup vinegar, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Cook beets in boiling salted water until tender. Melt butter and add water, vinegar, sugar, salt and pepper and bring to the boiling point. Remove skins of beets. Slice and reheat in sauce to serve very hot.

Turnip Tips

(1) Bake sliced yellow or white turnip in pan with roast beef or pork.

(2) Delicate Turnip: Mashed cooked turnip with 2 potatoes which have been boiled in the same pot with it. Beat very well and season with salt, pepper, butter and a little milk or cream if you can spare it. Reheat stirring, so that they are served very hot.

(3) Fluffy Yellow Turnip: Two tablespoons fat, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 3 cup yellow turnips mashed, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, few grains cayenne, 2 egg yolks, 2 egg whites. Melt fat, add onion, and fry until a delicate brown.. Add turnips, salt, sugar, pepper cayenne and mix well. Add beaten egg yolks. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Put in greased baking dish and bake in hot oven of 400 deg. Fahr. for 20 to 25 minutes.

Parnips—Boiled Steamed or Baked

(1) If you are boiling a cauliflower or potatoes or any other vegetable you choose to boil and are having parsnips for the same meal, cut them in strips and steam them. Delicious and mild.

(2) Steamed or boiled parsnip strips or rings are nice with egg sauce, made by adding 1 chopped hard cooked egg and 1 tablespoon parsley to 1 cup medium white sauce.

3) Dip boiled parsnip rings in flour and fry in butter.

Onions Can Be Elegant

(1) French fried onions when served with roast befe and pan roasted potatoes cannot be improved upon by any chef. Slice onions (preferably Bermuda) in ¼-inch slices and separate each slice into rings. Dip in milk. Drain. Fry in deep hot fat at 375 deg. Fahr. until golden. Skim out of fat and drain on unglazed paper. Sprinkle with salt. Serve as soon as possible after frying.

(2) Pan roast onions with a roast of beef or pork.

(3) Bake onions in buttered covered casserole, putting dot of butter in depression on top of onion and sprinkling with salt and pepper. A good combination is a casserole full of sliced carrots and whole onions, baked with a ¼-inch slice of butter, salted and peppered, and covered tightly, for about ¾ to 1 hour.

Potatoes are a subject in themselves for another day—I merely want to say cook them in jackets as often as possible, and if you boil them cover tightly and save water in which they were cooked for soup or gravy.

GESTURE IN JET—It takes black jet to add the finishing and finest touches to a smartly simple basic black frock, and it's doubly beautitul if the wearer is a demure and dainty blonde, or then again, it's wonderful on a brunette with alabaster white skin. Lillian Barkow, the brilliant young American designer of hand-made jewelry, is cited by the fashion field as the person responsible for the revival of jet. Here is one of her designs, a delicately fringed jet necklace and earrings of illuminated jet—spiked with tiny rhinestones.

QUESTION: In a recent edition of your page you gave a recipe for Rita's Chocolate Fudge Cake, and in the directions you said to use baking powder and also to use sour milk, but further in the recipe you said to put soda in. As the cake looked good, I would like the recipe. —Lena A. B.

ANSWER: Thank you for bringing this error to my attention. It was my error.

The ingredients for Rita's Chocolate Fudge Cake should be: One-half cup shortening, 1 cup granulated sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup good quality cocoa, 2 cups sifted cake flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sour or buttermilk, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

The method is to cream the shortening until it is the consistency of thick cream. Sprinkle in the sugar a little at a time, creaming after each addition to keep the mixture light and fluffy. Add the well-beaten egg yolks and mix well. Add just enough hot water to fill the cup with the cocoa mixture. Add it to the creamed mixture. Sift the flour and measure it, then sift it with the soda baking powder and salt and add it by sifting it into the creamed mixture alternately with the sour milk to which the vanilla has been added. Mix just enough to blend, then carefully fold in the beaten whites. Pour into 2 buttered and lightly floured layer cake tins. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 30 to 40 minutes.

The best part of this cake is Rita's Fudge Custard Frosting:

Two tablespoons cornstarch, 4 tablespoons cocoa, 2 tablespoons butter, ¾ cup sugar, 1 cup boiling water, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Stir over boiling water until thick and allow to cook covered for 15 minutes to cook cornstarch. Then beat until cool enough and stiff enough to spread on cake. Rita doubles this recipe for her layer cake for she spread it very thick between and on top of the layers.

I have reprinted this in the column hoping other interested readers will catch the correction.

QUESTION: I read with interest your splendid suggestions with recipes for good things to eat, which today means much to the home-maker—when doing a bit of stretching, as Sir Harry Lauder would say—one of the burning questions of the day. I am sure you could help me out with a little information.

A friend of mine of a few years ago told me they never had a tough steak in their home. They used oil or oil and vinegar or some mixture which when allowed to ripen for an hour or more, the meat when cooked or broiled was always tender and delicious. Can you please tell me what oil or mixture to use to accomplish the trick,—also proportions and quantities. The old time saying—The way to a man's heart is through the gastronomic highway—then with tender beef all is well. An early reply will be appreciated—I will keep in touch with your columns for reply.—Elizabeth.

ANSWER: There is no royal road to tenderizing tough steak so that it will be tender when broiled or fried—but marinating good quality round steak and sirloin is a combination of 2 tablespoons vinegar and 4 tablespoons corn or other salad oil, for ½ hour does soften the tissues somewhat. Rub this mixture into the steak with back of spoon and cover both sides well. Cover with either wax paper or good fitting lid and stand in refrigerator until cooking time to "ripen." Don't add salt or pepper until last 2 minutes of cooking.

By ALICE ALDEN

A DIFFERENT HEADLINE — We just can't determine whether the new smooth-centerpart hair-do is responsible for the templet, or vice versa. Anyway, Lily Dache has scored heavily with her design, the templet, which she has interpreted in many fabrics, materials and colors. This beautiful version of a most becoming hat that has a medieval derivation, is heavily encrusted with opalescent pailletes and green wool embroidery, all worked on a black felt frame. There is a matching handbag.

BIRTH

TOBIN — To Pte. Jim Tobin and Mrs Tobin (nee Nina Caccavella) the gift of a daughter on Wednesday, November 10, 1943. Father overseas.

DIED

TULLY, Mrs. Agnes—On Wednesday, November 10, 1943. Agnes Porter, wife of the late David Tully, of the 3rd Concession of Smith in her 98th year.

Funeral service on Friday November 12, at 2:30 p.m. from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Rutherford, Best Station. Interment, Little Lake Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

SWAN—In loving memory of Mrs. W. J. Swan who passed away 13 years ago today, November 11, 1930.

Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days,
Sincere and kind in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory she left behind.

— Ever remembered by grandchildren, Alvin, Noreen, Margaret and Carolyn.

SWAN—In loving memory of Mrs. N. J. Swan who passed away 13 years ago, today, November 11, 1930

Oh what would I give to clasp your hand,
Your dear, kind face to see,
Your loving smile, your welcome voice,
That meant so much to me.
No one knows the heartache,
Only those who have such can tell,
Of the grief that is borne in silence
For the one I loved so well.

— Ever remembered by husband and family.

Home and School

QUEEN ELIZABETH.

At the November meeting of the Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association held on Wednesday evening, Mr. L. Bird, the principal, told of the new interest taken by the pupils in the purchase of War Savings Stamps, and said that the objective for the year was $100.

There was a good attendance at this meeting, and the group joined in community singing led by Miss M. Taylor.

Mrs. C. Doughty, president, was in the chair, and the various conveners reported. The treasurer, Mrs. W. Ellison, told of the splendid results of the rummage and paper collection, and said that the pupils had collected one ton of paper in a day. Seven parcels have been sent to boys overseas. Grade 8 won the book for the month for having the greatest percentage of mothers present.

Mr. Bird, in reviewing the school activities for the month, said that many pupils were joining the Audubon Bird Club, and that plans were being made to start a feeding station. In his short talk on "Education for Victory," he explained that this really meant teaching children to live victoriously, by raising the standard of unselfishness, honesty and purity.

Rev Dr. J. D. Smart was guest speaker, and discussed "Anti-Semitism." He deplored the prejudice against the Jewish race, and said they had made tremendous contributions to the world in art, science and music. He hoped the world would become more tolerant and kindly in its attitude.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Friday, November 12

A DIFFICULT and dangerous day with pitfalls, mistakes, and peculiar adventures arising from many sources. While the energies and inclinations to industry diligence and constructive effort are stimulated yet there may be lack of approval from influential places and at the same time there may be a threat of fraud, misrepresentation, schemes and financial loss. Be cautious in handling all writings, contracts and agreements. In all shun ever the semblance of suspicion or collusion.

Those whose birthday it is may accomplish moderate success in the use of well-directed energies and hard work, if they use more than customary vigilance in handling papers, writings, agreements, verbal and legal understanding, as these are subject to distortion, misconstruction, fraud, schemes and other irregularities resulting in financial loss. Elders, employers and superiors may not be cooperative, and needed support at critical moments may be withheld. Be careful in travel and dealing with all manner of agents and go-betweens. Husband the financial resources.

A child born on this day may have sound traits and practical abilities but may be the victim of misfortunes, with loss of papers, funds and reputation through strange or tricky circumstances.

Weave Your Own Rugs for Smartness

A LOVELY RUG

Wouldn't you like to be able to make this fringed American beauty rug? Not so difficult as it would seem because, even if you have never made a rug before, you'll be able to do this.

This particular rug is attractive either with or without fringe. It is crocheted over clothesline, which gives it strength and durability. Full instructions are in our booklet.

Our 32-page booklet is full of step-by-step directions for hooked rugs, woven rugs, braided rugs, crocheted rugs, tufted rugs. It even has knitted rugs, floral applique rugs, mosaic rugs, French knot rugs and cross-stitch rugs. Every variety is included and you have your choice of whichever type you particularly desire.

The types of rugs described in this booklet have had their origins in many parts of the world and in many ages. They were made on looms or with tools very much like the ones used here. They are all easy and simple to make, and were designed to be adaptable to many types of interiors and to many uses.

You will find much pleasure from them.

For your copy of HOW TO MAKE YOUR OWN RUG send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

ARMISTICE DAY SERMON

IF THE Allies had done a better job in making use of their powerful situation immediately after World War I, when they had the ability to do almost anything they wanted, they might have protected the fruits of Victory so well that the present holocaust would never have had a chance to break out. In its own lesser way, that principle applies also at the bridge table, when one member of your side has indicated by a forcing bid that your pair has the controlling power and is able to pick and choose its final contract. Thoroughness and care then can pay big dividends.

North: ♠ J 10 9 8 2 ♥ J 9 6 3 2 ♦ 9 5 ♣ J

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

What's the awful hurry, there, Mr. East? Your partner had "put a force" on the side, so to speak, and there was no earthly chance that he would pass you out at less than a game if you did something a bit more careful and thoughtful.

Why didn't you merely bid 4-Clubs, and give him a chance to show you what his next bid would be, especially when you had three cards to an honor of the suit in which he had jumped? Your 4-Clubs would have been a "free-bid," indicating a certain amount of high card strength, as North's bid had made it unnecessary for you to "keep it open." So West would know you had bid because you wanted to, not just because he made you do it.

If you had bid 4-Clubs, he would have bid 4-Diamonds. Then see what you could have done. With a satisfactory fit now for slam purposes, in his diamond suit, you could have cue-bid the opponents' suit at 4-Hearts. He would have hopped then to 6-Diamonds, or he could have accepted your invitation by cue-bidding 4-Spades. You would know he would not do that unless he also had the ace of his own suit, and a powerful holding in it. If you felt strong after either 6-Diamonds or 4-Spades, you might bid 7-Diamonds. In any event, you would have been a lot better off playing in diamonds and making seven than in clubs and making six.

Why did he pass your 5-Clubs? Why, because anybody would when you made your hand look weak with that terrific jump when a force was on the side.

Report Frowns On Boston Police

BOSTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Recent anti-Semitic disturbances in Boston "would not have been possible" if police assigned to those areas performed their duties conscientiously, according to Public Safety Commissioner John F. Stokes.

In a detailed report presented to Governor Leverett Saltonstall and his advisory committee on anti-Semitic disturbances yesterday, Stokes said the incidents were a "police problem" and should be dealt with accordingly.

The report disclosed that 40 cases of assault, insult or property damage were investigated. The investigation found no organized anti-Semitism behind the attacks and insults but said the widespread dissemination of anti-Semitic literature was "organized and should be dealt with immediately."

Plan To Have Election

MARMORA, Nov. 11 — (ENS).—The monthly meeting of the Reliable Life Insurance Society was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. G. W. Henderson, Chief Councillor, Mrs. I. B. Nichol presiding. Cards were enjoyed, to be followed by lunch served by the hostess and a social half hour. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Nichol when there will be an election of officers.

2 Million Bushels Shipped Every Day

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 11 CP).—With about 100,000,000 bushels of wheat expected to be shipped out of Fort William-Port Arthur by boat during the next 3 days, lakehead vessel and railway facilities will be kept at peak operation until the close of navigation.

Railway car unloadings at present are running approximately 900 cars daily, and this is expected to increase. The railways expect to transport to local terminals from the West about 60,000,000 bushels between now and the close of navigation. Daily arrivals are expected to exceed 1,000 cars at the lakehead.

For the past 10 days the movement out of here by boat has been at the rate of 2,000,000 bushels daily, of which about 99 per cent. is wheat.

A shipping official declared that there will be sufficient vessel tonnage available for the rest of the season to move receipts of grain from western points as well as grain in stocks in store at the lakehead.

Pupils Help Red Cross

INDIAN RIVER, Nov. 11 (ENS).—The teacher, Mrs. M. McCaw, and pupils of Indian River School held a successful social evening when about $7.00 was realized for Red Cross work. Parents and friends gathered at the school house and enjoyed a program by the children as well as contests, games and dancing. The evening concluded with refreshments served by the pupils.

LINDSAY

Commander Made Honorary Citizen

LINDSAY, Nov. 11—(ENS)—Lieut. G. V. Thomson, R.C.N.V.R. will be made an honorary citizen of Lindsay by the town council in recognition of his serving as commander of the new corvette "Lindsay" which is to be christened this month by Mrs. Charles Lamb, wife of Lindsay's mayor. The council decided to attend the christening and commissioning of the ship.

Definite plans made at the council meeting were the construction of a new sewage disposal plant and town incinerator. Engineer W. B. Redfern submitted plans and a committee was appointed to select a suitable site for the new buildings.

Mayor C. Lamb criticized the unsanitary condition of certain public buildings which he said were unfit for people to go into. Reeve R. Butler drew the attention of the council to the fact that the ARP had been disbanded and asked that an inventory be made of equipment on hand.

ARABS IN UPROAR ON FRENCH ACTION

Jury Acquits De Marigny In Oakes' Murder Trial After 22 Days Of Evidence

Jurors Recommend Deportation Action
Going Beyond Their Power
Baffling Murder Mystery Irks Police

By E. V. W. JONES—Associated Press Staff Writer

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 12—(AP).—Alfred de Marigny is a free man today, and the mystery which surrounds the slaying of Sir Harry Oakes is more baffling than ever.

A Bahamas Supreme Court jury decided by a nine to three vote last night it was not De Marigny who beat the millionaire on the head last July 8 and set fire to his bedroom and bed in an apparent effort to hide the crime.

But in acquitting the husband of Sir Harry's daughter Nancy, jurors unanimously recommended that De Marigny be deported — a suggestion which apparently has no legal standing.

Once the "not guilty" verdict was announced to cheering spectators, police officials again were confronted by an unsolved killing.

Case Closed.

A reporter asked Attorney-General Eric Hallinan whether a new investigation would be started.

"Nothing as far as I am concerned," he replied. "It's completely closed, call it a day."

Police Commissioner Frederick Lancaster echoed his statement.

The end of Nassau's widely-discussed murder trial was as spectacular as were the 22 days of testimony and arguments.

The jury had retired at 5.27 p.m.

JURY ACQUITS

FREED BY JURY—Count Alfred de Marigny is shown entering the court-house at Nassau in the Bahamas during the trial for murder of his famous father-in-law, Sir Harry Oakes. The trial lasted 22 days and De Marigny was acquitted.

Germans Apply Torch To City Of Kerch

LONDON, Nov. 12 — (CP). — Reuters News Agency reported from Moscow today the Red Army had stormed to a point 10 miles northeast of the Western Ukraine rail centre of Zhitomir on the last north-south railroad held by the Germans east of the Polish-Ukraine boundary.

The Germans were said in various Russian dispatches to have applied the torch to the Crimean post of Kerch, a city of 105,000 invested from two sides by Russian amphibious forces ferried across the narrow Kerch Straits from the Caucasus.

The Moscow radio declared the German line in the Gomel sector of White Russian near the Pripet Marshes "has been broken," the BBC said. It was in this area that the Germans said yesterday the Russians were attacking with numerous rifle divisions, masses of tanks and planes.

The reported Russian gain in the Zhitomir area would mean an overnight advance by Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's 1st Ukrainian Army of 18 miles and place the Russians within 70 miles of the Polish frontier.

Henry C. Cassidy, Associated Press reporter in Moscow, said "traffic is about at an end on the Korosten-Zhitomir sector of the Leingrad-Odessa railroad."

Razor Blades Used On Japs

GUADALCANAL, Nov. 12 (AP). —A battalion of marines and that perennial puzzle — what do with old razor blades — got together in the swampy jungles of Choiseul island in the Northern Solomons.

The solution — they used the pesky things to kill Japs.

"It sounds kind of inhuman," said Lt.-Col. Victor Krulak, commander of the Marine parachute battalion, "and I suppose the Japs will hate me for it. But they had the annoying habit of whizzing up those jungle trees like monkeys whenever opposed and then turning into snipers.

"So we went along the trails, pretending to be Jap patrols looking for good climbing trees. In the bark of these trees, we stuck a lot of razor blades fairly high up.

"Then when the Japs came up these trails, we opposed them and they would run up the trees about feet, then drop suddenly and while they were looking at their hands someone would shoot them."

De Marigny's Go To Chicken Farm

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 12 (CP) —Acquitted yesterday by a Bahamas Supreme Court jury on the charge of murdering Sir Harry Oakes, his millionaire father-in-law, Alfred de Marigny was up early today at his Victoria Avenue cottage.

With his wife, Nancy, de Marigny apparently was headed for his chicken farm.

"They look fine and happy," said Edith Smith, their cook, "and we're happy too."

There was no comment on the verdict from crown officials.

The Duke of Windsor, governor of the Bahamas, meeting with his advisers, will receive the jury's recommendation for deportation of de Marigny along with a full report. He is now in the United States.

The Duke, staying at his partment in a New York hotel, could not be reached for comment.

Wire Staple Removed From Boy's Lung

PHILADELLPHIA, Nov. 12 — (CP).— Eight-year-old Melvin Gilliland of Vancouver was on the road back to normal health to-day following a successful operation for removal of a wire staple from his lung.

The staple, lodged in his lung for more than a year, was removed last Sunday at the Bronchoscopic Clinic of Temple University, the hospital announced.

Melvin came to the clinic from Vancouver after three unsuccessful operations were performed there.

Allies Continue To Stage Gains

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Nov. 12 — (AP). — Extremely bad weather and difficult terrain in front of the German winter defence line slowed the Allied drive in Italy to limited gains, Allied headquarters announced today.

Capture of one more commanding feature on the slopes of Mount Camino, three miles southwest of the enemy strong point of Mignano on the inland highway to Rome by American troops of Lt.-Gen. Mark Clark's 5th Army was announced, together with a one-mile advance at an unspecified point.

Nearby a sharp German counter attack at Calabritto on the northwest slopes of Mount San Croce was beaten back by the British wing of the 5th Army and prisoners were taken.

Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's 8th Army engaged in sharp patrol skirmishing near Acquaviva on the highway running northwest up into the mountains from Isernia. Acquaviva is immediately south of Rionero and Prefilve, which have already fallen to the 8th Army.

'Far to the east, along the Adriatic coast, the 8th Army exchanged artillery fire with the Germans across the Sangro River.

Activities on the 8th Army front were limited to patrols, the communique said.

The enemy made a fairly strong counter-attack on Calabritto, on the northwest slopes of Mount San Croce, but the British flank of Lt.-Gen. Mark Clark's 5th Army beat it off.

American troops further inland made a one-mile advance at an unspecified point in the mountains.

Leaders Fear Bloody Riots Will Be Inevitable Unless British Avert Crisis

French Leader Dissolves Lebanon Party
Occupies Government Offices
In High-Handed Unauthorized Action

By STEPHEN BARBER—Associated Press Staff Writer

CAIRO, Nov. 12—(AP).—The recently-elected Lebanese parliament was dissolved today by proclamation of French Commissioner Jean Helleu amid a mounting storm of protest over his dismissal and arrest of officials of the eastern Mediterranean republic.

At the same time, Helleu, acting with the approval of the French troops, occupied the Government chambers.

As reports of shooting and violence came from several sections of Lebanon, protests piling in upon Helleu reached a vitriolic high in the Egyptian newspaper Almisri.

"Free French imitate Germans," cried Almisri's headline over an article that said "We don't think the Allies could have been rendered any worse service than by the French. The Germans could not have done more."

The Arab Federation Association, Cairo, messaged Helleu that "a wave of contempt has swept the Arab world, the results of which can only be bad and the responsibility whereof you will have to bear."

British Protest.

Sir Edward Spears, British Minister to Lebanon and Syria, objected in the name of the British Government. Terrence Shore and Alexander Kirk, British and United States Ministers to Egypt, were received in audience here yesterday by King Farouk, presumably in reference to the situation.

Egypt lodged a protest with the French Committee at Algiers. Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha declared that unless French policy was "re-established logically" Egypt "would be bound to consider her position vis-a-vis France in the light of events."

In explanation, Helleu said in a Beirut broadcast that his measures were prompted by a "plot against France" contained, he declared, in the Lebanese parliament's action in voting changes in the republic's constitution on Nov. 8.

Native Refuses

Eddeh, picked by the French delegate to form a new government, was understood to have dissented with seven others in this parliamentary action.

A spokesman for the French Committee of National Liberation said in Algiers that in the French view Lebanon at present is neither a French colony nor mandate but is in the process of attaining a new status of an independent state linked to France by treaty.

Fear Bloodshed

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Nov. 12 (AP)—Christian and Moslem leaders told the British Minister, Gen. Sir Edward Spears, today that bloodshed would be inevitable unless action is taken to alleviate the crisis precipitated by the French Committee of National Liberation in ousting the Lebanese government.

The Maronite Archbishop of Lebanon, speaking for the Christian population, expressed indignation at the arrest of Premier Riad El Solh and other members of the cabinet by the French.

The archbishop reaffirmed his support of the native regime and predicted a revolt if Britain did not intervene, emphasizing the complete unity of Christians and Moslems on the issue. The Moslem mufti gave Gen. Spears a similar statement.

(There are 342,388 Christians in Lebanon's population of 862,618, of which the majority are Maronites.)

Strategic Area

LONDON, Nov. 12 (CP)—The British Government would not permit disorders in the Lebanon area, it informed the French Committee of National Liberation today in a strong protest against the arrest of members of the Lebanese government and parliament.

Official informants said the French action in the Levant state was taken without consultation with, or notification to, British authorities.

The British Government protested both the action taken by the French authorities and the French failure to consult Sir Edward Spears, British Minister. British interest in the Lebanese situation was described authoritatively as arising from two considerations:—

1. Lebanon is in a strategic area where British forces have responsibility and the British Government cannot permit a situation of disorder to develop.

2. In 1941 the British Ambassador to Egypt, Sir Miles Lampson, declared his government supported and associated itself with the assurance of independence given Syria and Lebanon by Gen. Georges Catroux on behalf of Gen. Charles de Gaulle. Catroux was then Fighting French commissioner.

The British Government stands firmly by that declaration, it was announced.

Fighter Planes Lash At Crete

CAIRO, Nov. 12 — (AP). — R. A. F. fighter planes attacked the German targets in the island of Crete yesterday, and bombers last night hit airfields on Rhodes and Kos it was announced today.

The landing field at Maritza on Rhodes was well covered by bomb bursts. The Kos attack was concentrated on Antimacchia field.

Other aircraft shot up a concentration of landing barges off the island of Calinos, in the Dodecanese group.

Allied ground defences on the island of Leros shot down three Junkers 88's from a force attacking installations there yesterday.

Ghost Washed Up

STERLIN, Ill., Nov. 12 — (AP). — Sterlin's "ghost" stood revealed today—not as a shadow — but as a reflection of an electric sign, in the opinion of a Chicago Times reporter who spent three nights in the House of the Orange Hand.

The mystery that puzzled the Howard Johnsons and their four children — and caused them to move out— was a ghostly orange hand that skittered up and down the staircase to the accompaniment, they said, of asserted creaks and groans.

Heavy Bombers Batter City Of Cannes

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—British-based R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bombers struck a heavy blow at the French Riviera rail link with Italy last night a few hours after Mediterranean-based heavy United States bombers blasted the same area in the two-way assault to seal feeder arteries to Nazi armies in Italy.

The R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. blow was "heavy and well concentrated" at Cannes, only 15 miles east of Antheor, target of the Thursday daylight assault by the Mediterranean-based aircraft.

At least four squadrons of R.C.A.F. Halifax bombers flew with the R.A.F., including the Moose squadron commanded by Wing. Cmdr. W. P. Pleasance of Calgary and a squadron commanded by Wing Cmdr. D. T. French of Hamilton, Ont.

Strike at Italy

Other Mediterranean-based formations surmounted the Alps to blast the Nazi bearing factory at Annecy, nestled in the mountains 30 miles south of the Swiss frontier and 40 miles west of the Italian frontier. Allied bombers have hit repeatedly at similar plants in Germany and Italy, in an effort to end German production of this war product.

Last night's return blow at the Riviera railroad emphasized the importance with which the Allies view this rail link as the result of damage to the Brenner Pass and the Mt. Cenis tunnel railroads during the past 48 hours.

The stepped-up campaign of Nazi communications began Wednesday with a daylight attack by Mediterranean-based aircraft on Bolzano, on the Italian end of the rail line through the Pass. That night the R.A.F. blasted Modane, at the French end of the Mt. Cenis railway tunnel from Italy.

Reports on the deadly accuracy of the Allied airmen came through immediately.

Dispatches from Spain said that some German civilian trains had been stalled in their stations for two days. The Swiss radio asserted Modane was in smoking ruins.

American heavy bombers from the Mediterranean command combined with the R.A.F. to make the attack a two-way affair, with the planes of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower bombing the railway at Antheor near Cannes to complete the Germans' New Rocket Bomb Weird Contrivance Acts As If It Had A Brain

Released By High-Flying Planes
The Bomb Travels Horizontally
Then Dives Directly At Given Target

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(AP).—Germany's new rocket bomb, employed against Allied ships in several theatres of war recently, is an engineering and mechanical marvel that chases its targets and often behaves as if it had a built-in brain.

Details of the bomb's operation were not given, but persons who have seen the bomb in action give the following weird but true data on its performance.

Actually there are two types of rocket bomb. One apparently is a straight-away rocket fired directly from the aircraft simply to give it greater accuracy and speed than the usual gravity-propelled bomb.

The other is armor-piercing with a delayed-action fuse and is estimated to weight 3,000 to 3,500 pounds. Its body is like a torpedo, about 25 inches in diameter and 12 feet long. It has an eight-foot wingspan and a tail assembly which make it look like a midget airplane.

In flight it emits whitish smoke from its tail, and a fiery glow.

The bomb is released from a high-flying plane. Apparently the aimer must have both bomb and target ship in clear view if he is to succeed.

Terrific Speed.

Once released, the bomb glides in the same direction as the parent aircraft at a speed estimated in the neighborhood of 400 miles an hour.

Its flight is almost horizontal, with a slight downward glide. Over the target it suddenly dips into a vertical dive and hurtles downward with the aid of gravity and rocket impetus. Its force and penetrating power are gigantic.

The vertical dive apparently is controlled by an operator via radio although magnetic attraction may also play a part in the latter stage of its descent.

So far as is known it has only been used against ships.

While on the horizontal the bomb can alter course to any point of the compass, pursuing an evasive target ship. However, once it goes into its dive it cannot apparently be controlled further.

When several ships are close together and moving in various directions the bomb's accuracy seems to fall off, apparently due to the conflicting magnetic fields set up by the ships.

The control method is not clear but apparently it is by radio impulses on little used frequencies where they are unlikely to be detected.

Efforts have been made to jam these frequencies.

Early Invasion In Pacific Nimitz Forecast

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

PEARL HARBOR, T.H., Nov. 12.—(AP).— The United States is prepared to take a slice from the Japanese defence perimeter.

That is the definite conclusion drawn here from the Armistice Day address of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, who last night told a radio audience:

"Our time has come to attack. Henceforth we propose to give the Jap no rest. All hands in the Pacific....we see beginnings of a new victory."

The Admiral, in his boldest declaration of the war, almost called his next shot. He said:

"Our northern flank in the Aleutians has been secured. In the South and Southwest Pacific intensified attacks by all forces have placed the Jap in a precarious position. In other areas he has been relatively unmolested but henceforth we propose to give him no rest."

That draws a clear picture. There are two "other areas"—the Central Pacific and Japan proper. This conclusion therefore is logical:

"We know that our ships and our planes alone cannot destroy the enemy. The Jap has dug himself in. We must land and dig him out."

The Pacific Command is planning an early invasion of one or more of Japan's well-defended Pacific bases. Admiral Nimitz strengthened this inference with his concluding remarks:

The United States does, however, have the greatest fleet in history in the Pacific as evidenced by the multi-carrier raids on Marcus, Nauru, Tarawa and Wake Islands within seven weeks in September and October.

Expect King Victor Will Abdicate

NAPLES, Nov. 9 —(Delayed) — (AP). — Every indication points toward the probability that King Victor Emmanuel will abdicate within a few days and a regency will be established.

Count Carlo Sforza, who recently returned to Italy from New York after many years in the United States, is likely to succeed Marshal Badoglio as Prime Minister.

The New York Times printed a Naples dispatch to-day saying Italian political minds were contemplating making Crown Princess Marie Jose regent for the six-year-old Prince of Naples, her son, in a plan contemplating the abdication of the King and Crown Prince Humbert.

Both the King and Crown Prince are objectionable to anti-Fascist Italians. Previously, Marshal Badoglio, the Premier, had been mentioned as regent.

Germans Attack Dodecanese

CAIRO, Nov. 12 (AP)—German sea forces attacked the British-held Dodecanese Islands of Leros this morning, gaining footholds "at some points," a British Middle East communique announced today.

Other landing attempts were repulsed and several German landing craft were destroyed or damaged, the announcement continued.

Indicating spirited battles are under way at the points where the Nazis succeeded in landing, the statement said "Italian forces are fighting side by side with the British."

Leros lies just north of Kos, which was wrested from the British by a German sea and air-borne force several weeks ago.

Earlier it was announced R.A.F. fighter planes attacked German targets on Crete yesterday and bombers last night hit airfields on Rhodes and Kos.

58-Year-Old Guard Killed

Believe Juveniles Waylaid Man In Bedroom

WINNIPEG, Nov. 12.— (CP).— Two juveniles, who escaped from the Vaughan street detention home after a guard, Edwin Pearse, 58, had been beaten to death, to-day were captured in St. Boniface. One is 14 years old, the other 15.

A third youth, 17 years old, surrendered to police last night three hours after the death of the guard and the escape of the youthful prisoners.

The three were taken to Winnipeg police headquarters to-day, where they were question by Police Chief George Smith. He said they would be held for a hearing in juvenile court.

Pearse was attacked and beaten to death when he walked into what police said appeared to have been a trap as he attempted to stop a disturbance in a bedroom at the home.

The boys had been held on charges of housebreaking, garage-breaking and theft of a bicycle.

Police described it as a "planned break." A shoe, with a steel-capped heel, was found beside the guard's body.

Earlier, police said a witness, another juvenile, told how the guard was ambushed and beaten. The youth told officers he had refused to aid the boys. He said they had revealed a plan to waylay Pearse and slug him with the shoe.

Balkans May Explode in Hitler's Face

Allies And Turks Lay Plans As Reds Approach Rumanian Border

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

It's taking a mighty lot of desperate materials to win the war and build our brave new world, and often in studying the current news in preparation for writing this column I feel like breaking away from the formal article and just setting down some of the medley of impressions one gets from this humanized daily history of mankind— and to-day we'll mix it up a bit.

100 Miles To Go.

The Red forces thundering southwestward from Kiev are 100 miles or so from the Rumanian frontier. The border is Hitler's lid which is keeping all hell from breaking loose in the Balkans.

Impression: The moment the Fuehrer is forced to withdraw his control from this cockpit of south-eastern Eurjope, the Balkans will blow up in his face. No wonder the Allies and the Turks are whispering animatedly.

Smash Production

Donald Nelson, head of the United States War Production Board in telling a press conference about his recent trip to the Soviet Union, said the Russians had perfected the flow of materials in a war industry — "I mean the flow of material into a plant, and the flow of material out, much better than we have."

Impression: When you're fighting the greatest battles ever waged and are consuming more war material than ever before has been poured into conflict, you have no alternative but to prefect your flow of supplies. There can be no consideration in Russian industry of anything but to move supplies as fast as human strength and skill permit. That's a home-front job, and Russian civilians are a lot nearer the actualities of war than we in North America.

Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary gave the House of Commons an accounting of his stewardship at the Moscow tripartite conference. He didn't make many disclosures, but he did say that the major success of the parley was in "the basis of goodwill and confidence" which it established among the big three.

Impression: That's the foundation of all peace. Also, it does seem like a good idea for a foreign minister or other members of the cabinet, to appear before parliament and talk direct to the members. Do I hear someone paging "that gallant American eagle," Mr. Cordell Hull.

Western Strike Nears End

1,500 More Coal Miners Return To Jobs

CALGARY, Nov. 12.—(CP).—The strike of Alberta and British Columbia coal miners appeared near an end to-day as 1,500 more men were scheduled to resume work in the pits after a 11-day strike, previously about 50 per cent. of the 8,500 miners had gone back to work at request of District 18, United Mine Workers of America.

The 1,500 men in the Crow's Nest Pass field voted almost unanimously yesterday to resume mining, following the lead of 1,100 at Fernie and Michel, B.C.

At Bellvue, Alta., 500 miners decided to remain out. Other fields idle are Edmonton, and district Cumberland and Nanaimo, B.C.

The miners went on strike at midnight, Oct. 31, following disagreement with powers given a Royal Commission set up to investigate wage rates. The miners demanded an increase of $2 a day, holidays with pay, and time and a half for the sixth day of a week.

The Commission, now with power to act as a Labor Board, will resume hearings in Edmonton today. The Calgary sittings were concluded yesterday. Its decision is due Nov. 20.

6000 Ground Men Remuster To Fly Planes

OTTAWA, Nov. 12 — (CP).—A change in overseas command of the R.C.A.F., to take effect about Jan. 1, was announced yesterday by Air Minister Power during a press conference at which he said that home defence establishments of the R.C.A.F. in Canada are being reduced, with emphasis being given to training.

The Minister said Air Marshal L. S. Breadner, 49, chief of air staff, will go overseas to succeed Air Marshal Harold Edwards, 51, as air officer commanding-in-chief of the R.C.A.F. overseas.

Succeeding Air Marshal Breadner as chief of staff will be Air Vice-Marshal Robert Leckie, 52, present member of the air council for training. The Air Minister said that Air Vice-Marshal Leckie, who has played an important role in developing the training side of the R.C.A.F. program, will fit into the present trend to emphasize training.

Pending the change in overseas command Air Marshal Edwards, now in Canada, will meantime return to Britain. It has not yet been decided what position he will take when the command is transferred.

Maj. Power said improvement in recruiting had given assurance that there will be no shortage of R.C.A.F. aircrew before "well into next year" at least, and that some 6,000 members of R.C.A.F. ground crew have re-mustered for aircrew this year.

He said several fighter and army co-operation squadrons now in Canada will be sent overseas as squadrons, the first time since the war began that this has been possible.

Of the planned overseas set-up of 38 squadrons 36 have been established, and the Minister said the number of squadrons to be sent from Canada would be additional to the proposed 38.

Millbrook Honors Unreturning Men

MILLBROOK, Nov. 12—(ENS)—The ringing of the town bell summoned the people of the community to the town hall square for the annual Remembrance Day service on Thursday at 10:45 a.m., the pupils of the Continuation and Public schools marching in a body to the cenotaph.

Reeve P. I. Bentley was in charge of the service, Lieut.-Colonel E. H. Bounsall representing the armed forces, the three local clergy being also on the platform, with Councillors J. J. Powell and G. F. Harrington, the latter wearing his beret as a veteran of the last World War.

Rev. A. E. Chevis led in prayer after the singing of "O Canada," the two minutes' silence being followed by the laying of a wreath on the base of the cenotaph by Captain Frank Stinson in memory of those who had paid the supreme sacrifice. Ralph Richards, son of Sergeant B. L. Richards overseas, placed the wreath in memory of the three local boys, former pupils of Millbrook school, who had been killed in the present war: Kenneth Harker, Jack Arundel, and Harold Howson, and an appropriate poem was read by David Fallis, one of the senior pupils in the Continuation School.

Rev. Walter Patterson stressed the fact that the service was held "to call to mind the gallantry of the men of the Allied nations who gave their lives in the defence of liberty; to pray that we may be delivered from the mistakes of the past, and that we may be prepared for whatever may come to us in this war brought about by cruel and godless men. For this is a war between two great spiritual forces—by Satan-inspired men and those fighting for our Christian survival, and our faith."

Donald McKnight sounded the Last Post, Rev. A. L. Sisco pronounced the blessing, and the singing of the National Anthem brought an impressive service to a close, the pupils of the schools, and the military, marching back to their respective station, the former under their teachers, C. E. Wilson, Percy Hamilton, principals; Misses F. Wally, H. Gibson, J. L. Burnham, and Gladys Williamson.

Woodsmen At Work

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 12 (AP).—Declaring he saw no sense in keeping able-bodied men in jail when labor is so badly needed, Judge John A. Leaders Refute Japanese Story

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Admiral William F. Halsey gave the lie to-day to Japanese claims of sinking battleships, aircraft carriers, cruisers and destroyers during the current Allied drive in the Northern Solomons towards Rabaul.

Not one Allied warship has gone down, the two leaders said through their spokesmen.

The naval score since the marines landed Nov. 1 on the now firmly secured Empress Augusta Bay beachhead on Bougainville's west-central coast thus reads:

Against Japan — Three cruisers and eight destroyers sunk; at least 11 cruisers and four destroyers damaged; and two cruisers probably damaged.

Against the Allies—Damage to an undisclosed number of warships.

On Bougainville, the marines and army reinforcements have established a solid six-mile long position and at nearby Choiseul, where marines landed Oct. 27 to divert the Japanese from the impending thrust at Empress Augusta, the American forces have withdrawn, their mission completed.

To-day's communique reported a 32-ton bombing raid on the naval base of Soerabaja, Java, entailing a round-trip flight of more than 2,000 miles; the sinking by aerial action of an enemy destroyer off Kevieng, New Ireland, and a possible torpedo hit on a cruiser by planes raiding Rabaul.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I.D.A or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

CHEESE BOARD

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 12 (CP) — Boarded, 8,065 boxes white cheese. All sold 20 cents F. O. B. Campbellford.

TORONTO POULTRY

TORONTO, Nov. 12 — (CP).—There is a slightly firmer tone to the dressed poultry market, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported. The larger dealers are quoting an increase in price for chickens and turkeys but the prices for fowl, ducklings and for geese are steady.

Receipts of chicken are heavy and in excess of current requirements but any surplus is being stored wherever storage space is available.

Quality of arrivals is only fair. Supplies of fowl are light but are sufficient for local enquiry. The frozen stocks are being used for out-of-town requirements. The quality of receipts of fowl could show considerable improvement.

Demand continues good. Good enquiry for turkeys, ducklings and geese is resulting in a small volume of receipts being cleared locally.

Receipts of live chicken are lighter than in the previous week. Quotations on live poultry are unchanged.

Dealers are paying producers and country shippers for dressed poultry, delivered Toronto.

Broilers: Grade A milk milk-fed 35 cents lb., B milk-fed 33 cents, B 31 cents, C 24 cents.

Obituaries

MRS. DAVID JOHNSTON

A member of one of Peterborough's oldest families and a long-time resident of North Monaghan township, Mrs. Sarah Ann Lee Johnston died Thursday in Toronto at the age of 83. She had been in ill health for a number of years.

Born in Peterborough, daughter of the late George and James Bickerman Lee, Mrs. Johnston was the widow of David Johnston, who was at one time game warden for Peterborough County. She was a member of St. Andrew's United Church, Peterborough.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Gordon E. Deyell of Toronto. Bruce Johnston, clerk of North Monaghan Township, is a nephew.

The remains are resting at the home of her daughter, 182 Old Orchard Grove, for funeral service on Saturday at 2:30 p.m., Rev. Dr. J. E. Todd, St. Clair United Church officiating. Further services will be held on Monday at St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough and the late Mrs. Johnston will be resting at the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, Sunday and Monday.

MISS MARGARET SEDGWICK

Following a brief illness, the death of Miss Margaret Sedgwick, daughter of the late Thomas Sedgwick and Margaret Deyell, occurred today in her 76th year.

Born in Otonabee Township, her life was spent in the district, and she was a member of the United Church. She leaves three sisters—Mrs. Thomas Woods, Omemee; Mrs. W. Miller, Rochester, N.Y., and Mrs. Robert Ruth, of Saskatchewan. A brother, Fleeton Sedgwick, of Saskatchewan, also survives.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. from the Comstock Funeral Home, 305 Water street, and services will be conducted by Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James' United Church. Interment will be made in Little Lake Cemetery.

Germans Apply

serted Nazi and Rumanian troops had halted Russian attempts to extend their bridgeheads around Kerch in the Eastern Crimea and had thwarted efforts to reinforce the Red Army already on the eastern shores of the Black Sea peninsula.

Berlin claimed the Germans had beaten back a Russian effort to cross the Dnieper River in the marshes around Nikopol, where the Germans hold their lone bridgehead on the east bank of the river.

Counting yesterday's gains the Russians have advanced nearly 60 miles west of Kiev, captured last Saturday, toward the sole railroad giving the Germans a direct connection between their forces at opposite ends of the far-flung front.

Take 100 Towns.

Altogether, Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's First Army yesterday overran more than 100 towns and villages, in its deepest westward drive of the campaign, a Soviet communique said.

Cutting of the Koroseen-Berdichev railway and the consequent splitting of the Nazi Ukraine armies would open the way for a direct advance to the Polish frontier, 60 miles further west.

Other Soviet forces advanced on the Gomel front, 140 miles north of Kiev, the Russian bulletin said, capturing six fortified places and killing 2,000 Germans.

Battles of "local importance" in which 4,500 Germans were slain, were reported on the north-central front west of Nevel.

Russian troops on the eastern Crimea beachheads were said to have improved their positions and killed 700 Germans.

The Berlin radio said the Russians everywhere were employing "numerically superior" forces in an effort to "force a turning point of the entire war."

Battalion Command Plans Rangers' Dance

Rounding out its program for the physical training and social entertainment of members of the Prince of Wales Rangers (R.F.), the battalion command has arranged, through the courtesy of the Y.M.C.A., to have facilities for swimming available for a number of its men during a period of each Tuesday night parade, and is planning to hold a dance for the enlisted men on a parade night near the end of the month. The date will be either Nov. 23 or Nov. 30, and battalion members may bring friends whom they have sponsored to the dance.

Enlistments during the past week included three names: Alfred T. Homan, 218 Perry street; Joseph V. Delpellaro, 78 Park street south, and John Baggaley, 650 Park street north.

Furious Battle Looms Along Sangro River

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 12 —(CP Cable)—Another river battle is imminent in Italy as the British 8th Army approaches the swollen Sangro River in force, coming into the valley from the hills and mountains bordering it on the south.

The Germans probably have prepared strong defences on their side of the Sangro, as they did on the Volturno River on the Tyrrhenian side of the front, and heavy fighting is expected along the new river front extending from the spine of Italy to the Adriatic.

Once the 8th Army breaks this river line, an advance of 25 miles north along four available roads will put the British, Canadian and Indian troops on the main highway cutting across Italy from Chieti near the Adriatic to Rome.

Flank Menaced

The fall of Rome then will be inevitable, even if the 5th Army is tardy in coming up opposed as it is now by particularly strong German forces. With the 8th Army on the eastern flank, the Germans would have to clear out of the south portion east of Rome or be trapped.

But the big obstacle for the 8th is the Sangro River. It will take sev-

3-Prong Attack Aimed At Tokyo

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(AP)—Signs from the South Pacific today pointed toward an imminent assault against the Japanese from three quarters—all aimed in the general direction of Tokyo.

In two areas other than the South Pacific-Australian zone of current operations Allied leaders have been massing their striking power for months. One of these potential theatres is the Central Pacific, under command of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz; the other is the India-Burma area under Britain's Commando expert, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten.

Informed belief here is that Nimitz and Mountbatten will throw their forces into action in co-ordination with major operations by Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the south. This would bring maximum pressure to bear on the Japanese from three direction and minimize their ability to resist at every point.

The importance being attached to air-borne strategy was underscored by yesterday's announcement that an air officer had been appointed commander of Marine forces in the South Pacific. He is Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger, an aviation officer well versed in amphibious and aerial warfare.

The Central Pacific offensive could start any time. Admiral Nimitz said in Hawaii this week that the fleet now has the ships, planes and men with which to do the job.

United States Plans For Soldier Vote

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(CP)—American election authorities are already laying plans for the gigantic task of taking the votes of United States service men and women scattered over the world in the 1944 presidential election.

They are starting to work on a task that will be faced by Canada on a somewhat smaller scale next year, or whenever Prime Minister Mackenzie King decided to call a Dominion election.

Congress is preparing legislation designed to ensure that every soldier, sailor and marine, at home and abroad, has an opportunity to vote. The privilege is extended also to members of the merchant marine and civilians serving with the forces abroad.

The possible service vote may total 11,000,000—enough to swing the result either way. So Democrats and Republicans alike are vying to make the voting machinery as perfect as possible. The set-up hasn't yet been decided.

Election Feeling

It is quite likely that the job of taking the soldier and sailor ballots in the fighting areas and bringing them back will be entrusted to the army and navy, with the ballots distributed far in advance and information on the candidates sent as early as possible.

Just how bitter the feeling over the election in general and the taking of the uniformed vote may be judged from this excerpt from a recent Daily News editorial: "We expect that an attempt will be made .. to use the top sergeants and chief petty officers in the armed forces as precinct captains to induce the fighting men to vote for Roosevelt or else."

The Daily News, of course, isn't for Roosevelt.

Rumor Pot: The newest rumor that persists is that Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff who is believed slated for the European command, will be asked to accept the Democratic nomination for President if Mr. Roosevelt does not choose to run, but those close to the General declare that he would be a most unwilling candidate.

COBOURG, Nov. 12—(ENS).—The sum of $212.70 was realized at the tag day held by the Cobourg Branch of the Legion. Girls of the Collegiate did the tagging, and Mrs. William Craig was in charge, assisted by Mrs. A. Barton and Mrs. C. Parsons.

W. A. Davidson To Manage Peterboro Co-Op

After 14½ years as representative of the Department of Agriculture for the Province of Ontario in Lanark County, W. A. Davidson is leaving the department and district on December 1st for Peterborough, where he is to become manager of the feed division of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company, also manager of the Peterborough Co-operative Services.

After graduating from Guelph Agricultural College in 1928, Mr. Davidson spent some time at St. Thomas and in Leeds County before receiving appointment to Lanark County, where he has identified himself with every phase of agricultural and community life, and has won the regard and friendship of a wide circle, which will regret his departure.

Chief of his interests has been the junior section of farmers, and he will be remembered for his interest and work on behalf of the boys' and girls' calf clubs throughout the county. He organized this movement and has seen it develop to become an important feature for young farmers.

Holstein Progress

Mr. Davidson has taken a keen interest in Holsteins and under his direction the success of this breed in the county has been most marked. In his 2nd year, 1930, the Holstein inter-county competition was inaugurated and since then district stock have risen from bottom place. This year the county herd stands right at the top, having gained premier place at Kemptville this fall.

With the late Joseph Ebbs and John Echlin, Mr. Davidson organized the local cheese Board the year before the Provincial organization was founded. Belleville district was the first to organize, closely followed by Lanark, and their plan was adopted as the basis for the provincial organization.

Other agricultural matters which have claimed his support and activity have been the market lamb competition in Ottawa which Lanark won consecutively for 11 years, and the blood testing of poultry which he introduced. He has been a judge of poultry at County fairs. Lanark Field Crop Improvement Association owes the origin to Mr. Davidson.

Beef cattle too have claimed their place in Mr. Davidson's work and for three years he has been secretary and manager of the Lanark, Renfrew and Carleton Shorthorn Club, organizing special shows at Renfrew each year.

The Federation of Agriculture owes much of its success to the active part taken by Mr. Davidson since its foundation in Lanark in 1941 and he is president of the South Lanark Agricultural Society.

Community Interests

Besides his close association with all activities pertaining to agriculture, Mr. Davidson has been identified with many community interests. He has taken an active part in Masonic circles, the local Red Cross blood donor service and was responsible for organizing parties of young farmers who visited Ottawa to donate blood. He has been chairman of rural sales for the County Victory Loans. He is a member of the Board of Education, the Perth Curling Club and was a member of the Board of Managers of St. Paul's United Church.

COBOURG

Delegates To Attend Corvette Christening

COBOURG, Nov. 12 — (ENS). — Councillor Clara Delany will represent the Council at the christening of the corvette "H.M.C.S. Cobourg." Due to the absence of the town clerk through illness, Mayor Jack Burnet will be unable to attend the ceremonies. Members of the corvette committee will also attend the christening Saturday.

The corvette fund to buy sailors' comforts for the boat is nearing the $2,000 mark. Among the larger donations last week were: Kinsmen Club bingo, $129.54; Rotary Club, $50; Mrs. Bessie Dick, $100; J. S. Walden canvass, $50; H. Bellamy canvass, $35; canvass of Jack Allen and Fred Pepino, $33.

Two Men Sentenced Under Mobilization

COBOURG, Nov. 12 — (ENS).—Remanded from last week, Steven Goode of Toronto and Fred Cleland of Montreal, appeared for sentence in police court Thursday for failure to notify their national mobilization registrar of their changes in address. Magistrate R. B. Baxter sentenced Goode to 13 days in jail dating from October 31. Cleland was given eight days in jail, dating from November 4. Both terms will expire this week and they will be turned over to the R.C.M.P. for escort to the nearest army centre for medical examinations.

COBOURG

Immunization Clinic Ready For Children

COBOURG, Nov. 12 (ENS)—Clinics will be held each Wednesday afternoon from 1:30 to 3 by Dr. W. E. Wilkins, local M.O.H. for immunization treatment of children. During Immunization Week, from November 15-20 there will be a drive to have the children of the town immunized against scarlet fever, whooping cough, diphtheria, smallpox and other communicable diseases. The clinics are free and protective toxins supplied by the provincial department of health. There is no danger of post-treatment illness, the M.O.H. states.

Allied Bombers Hit Rabaul, Strategic Jap Port

This photo is a remarkable closeup of the damaged waterfront section of the great Japanese base at Rabaul, New Britain. Installations along the shore are in flames after direct hits. Two nights later Australian Beaufort bombers hit again at Rabaul starting more fires, hitting a heavy cruiser, a cargo vessel and eight other ships.

CAMPBELLFORD

Utilities Commission Purchases Extra Bonds

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 12 (ENS)—With the purchase of an additional $15,000 in Victory Loan Bonds subscribed during the current campaign, the local Utilities Commission now holds a total investment of $25,000, which is earmarked for "deferred maintenance costs to the system." This was revealed at the November meeting of the Commission held Thursday evening at the home of Commissioner Charles Davidson, who had been absent for the past five months owing to illness.

Commenting on the proposal to make the additional purchase of Victory Bonds, Mayor Frank Long cited the fact that apart from being a sound investment, "it is good business to the Commission to be getting 3 per cent instead of 1½%." Chairman J. O. Benor who proposed the investment was equally enthusiastic.

A communication from Harry Redden, an employee at the Water Works Pumping Station, tendering his resignation was received and accepted, and Mrs. Charles Duncalfe was engaged to fill the vacancy as night operator. Manager Denyes commented on the lamp standard recently broken on Sebastopol street and remarked that it was the third of these new fixtures to be broken in the past four years. Members also discussed plans for the annual Utilities banquet for later in the month at Woodlawn Inn.

Stanwood Church Ends Anniversary Week

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 12 (ENS)—Stanwood United church climaxed its anniversary celebration Thursday evening with supper, held in the church basement. It was arranged by members of the Sewing Circle and was followed by a program.

Rev. J. R. Holden was chairman and he expressed appreciation on behalf of the congregation for the generous support the affair had been given. Those taking part in the program were Shirley Redden, Joyce Rowe and Doreen Rowe, each of whom recited; Mrs. Lorne Johnston, Springbrook, a piano solo; Birdie Simpson and Betty Redden, a piano duet; Joyce Rowe and Eleanor Dutton a vocal duet; Robert Lisle, Mrs. Roy Young and Helen Young an instrumental number; Miss Isobel Irwin and Mrs. Williams, vocal solos; Mrs. Fred Thompson and Miss Josephine Locke, a guitar duet. Proceeds of the evening approximately $100.

Badminton Club Starts Fall Season

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 12 (ENS)—The Badminton Club held its first social function of the season Thursday night as about twenty-eight members had a mixed tourney and supper at the Parish Hall. Though the club has been functioning for the past six weeks they have as yet made no plans for inter-club meets.

The affair took the form of a mixed tourney arranged by the games committee, Mrs. E. C. Roberts and Mrs. J. D. Mills and was in the form of an elimination. Best of the evening were Don Meyers and Mrs. Bannister who met all comers without a loss while second place went to W. Callaghan and Rosamond Leloquin who dropped a single game.

Milburn Seeks Marketing Curb

TORONTO, Nov. 12 — V. S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, said yesterday the federation joins with the Canadian Meat Board and the Federal Department of Agriculture in requesting farmers to withhold their sows from the market until the present increase in volume has been handled.

Replying to a request made by L. Pearsall, manager of the meat board, that Canadian farmers co-operate in temporary keeping sows from market, Mr. Milburn said the present marketing of the hogs is seriously overtaxing the packing plants. Good bacon hogs deteriorate in quality if held on farms or in yards beyond the time they are ready for slaughtering, he said, and two hogs can be killed and dressed in the time required to kill and dress one sow.

"The current increase in marketing of hogs is the result of the appeal made last year to Canadian farmers to produce bacon for Britain," Mr. Milburn said. "This factor plus seasonal pressure, has created a serious situation, which must be relieved as soon as possible. We hope farmers will co-operate."

Farm Home Burned West Of Hastings

HASTINGS, Nov. 12 — (ENS).—The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Towns was completely destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Towns and Mr. Towns' brother Frank were awakened about three o'clock by the smell of smoke and on investigating found their kitchen to be ablaze. The fire spread rapidly and nothing could be done with the three escaping in their night clothes. A table and five chairs were all that were saved. The fire is thought to have started from the kitchen stove.

The farm is owned by Richard Manoney of Campbellford and is situated about six miles west of Hastings. The Towns' people are living at present with Mr. Edward Fanning a nearby neighbor.

The L.O.L. held a euchre party in the Orange Hall on Wednesday evening. There were 11 tables of progressive euchre played. The prizes were as follows: ladies' 1st Mrs. Basil Johnston, 2nd, Rita West. Gentlemen's 1st, Learl Humphries, 2nd, James Duff. A consolation prize was won by Mr. James Forde.

After the euchre, dancing was enjoyed for a couple of hours. Clifford Scriver and Jim Montgomery provided the music for the evening.

Travelling Towel Started

Mrs. Scott Fife was hostess to the Red Cross of Fife's community on Wednesday afternoon. There were 13 ladies present. During the afternoon they quilted a Red Cross quilt and started piecing the top for another quilt. Mrs. Ray Humphries donated a towel which is making its rounds, at each home throughout the neighborhood. The hostess served a dainty luncheon. The next meeting will be held at the same home on Wednesday afternoon, November 24.

COBOURG

Telephone Company Wins 3-Star Flag

COBOURG, Nov. 12 — (ENS).—The Bell Telephone Company at Cobourg was presented on Thursday with the Victory Loan three-star flag. Richard Parker, chairman of the payroll and savings section, presented the flag to S. R. VanDusen, local manager. The employees, numbering 15, are 100 per cent subscribers in the recent campaign. Fifteen per cent of the wages for six months when converted into bonds, entitles the flag winner to the three stars in the flag, and in the case of the Bell Telephone Company at Cobourg the amount was 17.64 per cent. Amount of bonds was $1,300, and $90.80 a month goes into War Savings Stamps.

Car Taken From Lake

BRIDGENORTH, Nov. 12 — (ENS).— The car owned by Frank Murphy which went off the Chemong Bridge on October 26 was taken out of the deepest part of the lake this week. Because it kept catching on the bridge anchors, a diver had to be used before it was finally raised.

Soldier Travels 1,300 Miles To See Dog Animal Dying Of Grief Little Hope For Him

ALBANY, N.Y., Nov. 12 (AP).—Four months of grieving ended on Thursday for Pal, 17-year-old Airedale shepherd, when the dog was reunited with its weepings soldier-master.

Pte. Franklin E. Higgins went to his pet upon arriving in Albany after a 1,300-mile train trip from Camp Crowder, Mo.

The soldier, granted a special furlough when Pal suffered a stroke Saturday, burst into tears as he picked up the animal. Pal, recognizing him, licked the master's face.

The dog has been dying of grief since Higgins entered the army. Mrs. Frank A. Higgins, the soldier's mother, said there is no hope for Pal, but added the reunion will gladden the dog's last hours.

Coldwell Agrees With H. Winch

OTTAWA, Nov. 12.—(CP).—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader, said yesterday that if a C.C.F. Government is elected to power in Canada it will take "such steps as are necessary to reflect the will of the people."

Mr. Coldwell was commenting on a statement by Harold Winch, British Columbia C.C.F. Leader, to a Calgary meeting Tuesday evening that "a C.C.F. Government would scrap the British North America Act, and give Canada a Canadian constitution."

Mr. Coldwell said he assumed Mr. Winch was answering a question frequently placed before C.C.F. speakers. Mr. Coldwell said that when he was asked what would be done with the B.N.A. Act if the C.C.F. were elected, he had answered by stating that it would be amended or otherwise changed, if necessary, with the consent of the Provinces which agreed to Confederation.

Mr. Winch told the Calgary meeting that when the C.C.F. came to power it would immediately start to establish socialism, and "those who defied the Government's will would be treated as criminals" with the power of the police and military used against those who failed to keep the law.

Mr. Coldwell said yesterday: "Any Government faced with a rebellion within the country would use the police and military to suppress it. "The power of the State should be used to see that its purpose is not thwarted by any rebellious force, either of the right or the left."

Mr. Coldwell is leaving on a Western tour to-day, to visit his Saskatchewan constituency of Rosetown-Biggar, and speak in a number of Prairie cities.

Interpreting Mr. Winch

Harold Winch, the C.C.F. leader in British Columbia, has attracted some attention with a fiery speech which he made at Calgary on Tuesday last, in which he gave an exciting picture of what his party would do if it ever came to power. "We will institute socialism immediately", he is quoted as saying, and assured his hearers that the police and the military would be used to force those who opposed the government to obey the law. "Those who defy the government's will would be treated as criminals", he went on; "if capitalism says no, then we know the answer — so did Russia!"

That is brave talk, but we are not impressed. We do not think that Mr. Winch expressed the real views of any large section of the C.C.F. party. Talk of revolution is to some natures what brandy is to a hopeless drunkard—a pitiful indulgence. There are always a few people in Canada who are fascinated by the notion of revolution, but who have not the brains, the influence or the strength to start a street-corner brawl. We recall in 1930 being asked by a serious young leader of a "discussion group", "Do you think we can bring the revolution about in Canada without bloodshed? I don't". Talk of blood, shooting, and riots is victuals and drink, wife, children and tobacco to such spirits; they are no more dangerous than other lunatics.

Several C.C.F. spokesmen are busy trying to convince the press that Mr. Winch was wrongly reported, or that he did not really mean what he said, and that of course the C.C.F. has no intention of putting down any legal opposition to itself. But Mr. Winch has spilled the beans; socialist governments are totalitarian governments, and they have all the totalitarian dislike of opposition and what we know as parliamentary rule. Whether a C.C.F. government in power would be controlled by the moderate faction in the party, or whether it might fall into the hands of bloodthirsty fellows like Mr. Winch, is something which Canadians may fitly speculate upon.

Recently Bernard Shaw said that after a long life devoted to the socialist cause he had found that "the world is round and extreme Left is the old Right, with its nonsense and corruption cleared off". In other words, socialists are as desirous of absolute and unquestioned power as the old Tories who have long since vanished. And we are not so sure as Mr. Shaw that "nonsense and corruption" might not be found in a socialist government; the greater the power, the greater the corruption. Parliamentary government is built on the sound principle of not putting implicit trust in any group or individual, and it has proved its worth time and time again. In spite of Mr. Winch we think that Canada will keep to that principle for a while longer.

Fundamentals In Education

In connection with the current Education Week it may be valuable to consider briefly a scheme for the regeneration of education on this continent which has been advanced during the past few years by a group of the most influential American educators, and which has now been given concise expression in Liberal Education, a book by Mark Van Doren.

Briefly, these gentlemen recommend a return to fundamentals in education. Let us stop teaching everything in our universities from cost-accounting to swine husbandry, they say, and concentrate on teaching men and women to be well-informed, clear-thinking citizens who know what freedom is and how to use it. Let us stop talking nonsense about 'education for democracy' and get on with the job of making wise citizens, assuming that democracy will follow as a matter of course; let us realize that it is pointless to 'teach democracy' to people who do not even know how to think, for they will certainly not know how to use their democracy or how to preserve it.

To achieve this end, the American educators, of whom Mr. Van Doren is one, recommend a return to the curriculum of the great medieval universities. Those universities taught the 'trivium' of grammar, rhetoric and logic, and the 'quadrivium' of arithmetic, music, geometry and astronomy. Thus they equipped their students with a body of knowledge which was not all-inclusive, but infinitely superior to the equipment of the average modern M.A., who has a smattering of a few things and a mastery of none.

In order to give education of this sort, St. John's College in Maryland demands that its students spend four years reading a number of carefully selected books, and discussing what they have read with men who are well-versed in the subjects with which the books are concerned. Stress is laid on the fact that these books are all great books, and that no time is spent—as in most universities—in reading books about great books, but carefully avoiding the fatigue of reading the great books themselves. In this way, the American educators believe, real learning can be acquired.

The American educators have gone a long way round the mulberry bush to find this out. The system they put forward has been in effect at Oxford and Cambridge for five or six hundred years (at Oxford for nine hundred) and has worked admirably. But any sign of getting down to fundamentals in education is a sign of grace, and must be welcomed.

We Return The Greeting

On July 20 and 22 last we published in our Third Column articles written by Mr. G. T. Vawser, the editor of the Standard of Peterborough in England. The articles were sent to us with the idea of creating a bond between the two Peterboroughs, and Mr. Vawser's account of the English city was read here with great interest.

Now we are sending a letter in return, which has been written by the local Librarian, Mr. F. M. DelaFosse, to tell the people of Peterborough in England something about our Peterborough in Canada. We asked Mr. DelaFosse to undertake this task because we felt that he possessed the combination of intimate knowledge of Peterborough and literary skill which were needed for such a delicate commission. In our Third Column today we reproduce this letter, in order that our readers may know what has been sent to our friends abroad.

Some time ago we published a brief account of a letter from the Hon. Peter Robinson, in whose honour this city was named, which Mr. W. F. Huycke is presenting to the local Library. At that time we received calls from several citizens who felt that in our remarks on that letter we had slighted the memory of Adam Scott, the first man to settle on the present site of our city. It will be seen that in his letter Mr. DelaFosse pays ample tribute to that remarkable man. We are sure, also, that the writer speaks for the whole community in his promise of a warm welcome to any visitors from abroad who care to come to Peterborough, or who are looking for a place to settle in Canada.

We are happy to have been a party to this exchange of greetings, and we hope that they will help to create a feeling of warmest friendship between the two Peterboroughs.

Fooled By John L. Lewis

At the time of the recent coal strike we pointed out what we believe to be the folly of control of Canadian workers by American labour leaders. That folly has been emphasized during the past few days. The strike in the U.S. is over. John L. Lewis won his victory; the government baulked him in a few demands as a face-saving move, but on the whole he got most of what he wanted. He sent his miners back to work and coal production is the U.S. is going on as before.

But the miners who struck in Canada had no chance of gaining anything by their action. A commission had been set up to examine their claims and to give them a square deal, and if they had remained at work their cause would have been advanced. But they struck, as a gesture of solidarity with their American brothers; now they know what a fraud that "solidarity" is. What solidarity, save one of friendship and understanding, can there be among workers of different nationality, working under different laws and governmental systems? John L. Lewis is unable to do anything for Canadian miners, and if they did not know it before, they know it now.

Some of the miners have refused to go back to work. They feel that they have been fooled, and so they have. But it was Lewis, and not the Canadian government, which fooled them. They have lost several days' pay; they have sabotaged the war effort of their country, and all for nothing.

Why do they put up with a dictatorship which puts them in this humiliating position? Can they not organize themselves in a Canadian union which will meet Canadian conditions and problems, instead of being vassals to a man who can do little for them? Intelligent self-interest, which is supposed to be the base of union organization, seems to have no part in this scheme whatever.

Peterboro, Canada Greets Peterboro, Eng.

The Editor, Standard, Peterborough, England.

DEAR SIR,—It is indeed a great pleasure to have been requested by the Editor of the Examiner to acknowledge the receipt of your cordial message of greeting. Additional zest attaches to it in remembering that our cities are similar in name and that cordial relations have been established between us for so many years.

It was a thoughtful act on your part to seek an interchange of correspondence, for only in such a way can comprehensive views be gained of the progress that is being made in the far-flung portions of our Empire. If this were more generally practised an immense amount of good could be accomplished.

You have been kind enough to furnish us, as a prelude to this endeavour, with a very able epitome of the main points in the history of your city. It is an account redolent of old-world romance and is exceptionally interesting. It will be impossible for me to take advantage of the contents of such a well-stocked muniment-chest as you possess, for our story goes back only a bare century and a quarter; nevertheless, meagre as it is, when compared with yours, it is one of which we are not ashamed. At the outset it may be as well to make clear a point touching the similarity in our names about which a certain amount of misconception has arisen in recent years. The early designation of this place when it was a struggling hamlet was "Scott's Plains", so called after the first settler, Mr. Adam Scott. When Sir Peregrine Maitland, the Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada, paid his first visit to the growing village some five years later, a dinner party was given in his honour. During its progress a suggestion was made by Mrs. T. A. Stewart, the wife of the Hon. T. A. Stewart, the local member of the Legislative Assembly, that it would be a fitting tribute to the efforts of Hon. Peter Robinson, also a member of the Assembly, to perpetute his memory by naming the town after him. Mr. Robinson had been instrumental in bringing out from Ireland over 2,000 settlers to people the lands in this district. We may be fairly confident that Mrs. Stewart in making the suggestion that the town be named Peterborough, hit upon the happy expedient of achieving two things, one of perpetuating the memory of the Hon. Peter Robinson and the other of adopting the name of your city. I may add, in all truth, that we have always taken pride in the possession of it and rejoice in the knowledge that it has been the means of forming such a pleasant bond between us.

PRIOR to the year 1820 no white man had ever settled on the land where our city now stands, but so great had been the rush to acquire farm lots when the new area was thrown open to settlement shortly after Scott's arrival that at the beginning of the year 1825 and before the advent of the Robinson immigrants, at least five hundred settlers had obtained holdings in the townships north of Rice Lake and the River Trent.

When we view the city's present prosperous condition, its magnificent industries, its fine residences, splendid stores, churches and public buildings and the well-ordered way in which its streets and parks and all other utilities are looked after, it is hard to realize that a little over a hundred years ago, the place was a wilderness, used as a camping ground by roving bands of Indians and trappers. These Indians belonged to the Mississauga, Algonquin and Chippewa tribes. Unlike the great Iroquois nation they had no fixed abiding-place but wandered about seeking the best grounds for hunting and fishing. The lands over which they roamed covered a great area, extending from the boundaries of Quebec to the shores of Lake Simcoe and even further northward to the region beyond the Georgian Bay.

In the year 1820 however, a prospector named Adam Scott, having discovered what splendid water powers the river Otonabee possessed took up his residence here with the intention of erecting a mill to cater to the needs of incoming settlers. Adam Scott was well-suited by disposition and physical fitness to be a leader in any pioneering movement. He was a man of marked individuality and of heroic proportions, standing fully six feet four inches in height and weighing 260 pounds. He was a man of immense physical strength. Tales of the amazing feats he performed are legendary lore in the district. The story is told that on one occasion, the crank of his mill having broken down, Scott was compelled to convey it to Port Hope to be mended. The distance was fully thirty miles, the woods were deep in snow, the waterway was impracticable for traffic and he had no vehicle capable of sustaining the rough usage one would receive in jolting over the corduroyed track that was dignified by the name of a road. The only thing to be done was to shoulder the part and carry it to the repair shop. When one takes into account that the crank weighed at least 250 pounds, that his path lay over swamps covered with snow to the depth of ten inches, through dense thickets of prickly shrubbery, up steep hills and along rocky defiles, some idea can be gained of the tremendous task he undertook and successfully accomplished.

THE arrival of the immigrants from Ireland, which has already been referred to, took place in the years 1825-26. It is known in our local history as "The Robinson Immigration" and has in it all the material for a modern saga.

It must not be supposed that when the Irishmen began to make homes for themselves in this district they found it easy and delectable. They suffered deprivation of many comforts that they had been used to in their island homes. Sturdy and eager as they were to enter into their new life they found it hedged about with many difficulties; ignorance of the extremes of heat and cold to which the would be subjected was one of them and equal ignorance of the new modes of labour they would have to learn was another. There had been no chopping of trees in the evergreen isle of their birth in order to prepare their lands for means of subsistence. There were no troubles with wild beasts in the woods, nor with foxes and skunks and weasels and other noxious creatures making constant onslaughts on hen-roosts, nor of bears trespassing on rich fields of grain and squatting down to enjoy huge armfuls of the succulent crops. These were only a few of the troubles they had to encounter. They had to travel miles to obtain the services of a doctor for themselves and their children, and as often as not the physician would be miles away attending to other patients, when they called to see him. In fact, to make a long story short, they were pioneers in the truest sense of the word and had to suffer and endure, as all pioneers in every part of Canada had been forced to do before them and as thousands in every part of its backwoods and prairie territories are doing still. Adam Scott and his brave and kind-hearted helpmeet were of wonderful assistance in helping the newcomers out of many troubles but it is sad to relate that Mrs. Scott's anxiety to help the sick ones in the settlement proved too much for her strength. In a short time after her arrival she died of an illness contracted in nursing one of her neighbours.

The Government, true to its obligations, did all it could to alleviate the needs of the settlers in those dark days and the absence of any records pointing to the contrary is a sure sign that it was not found wanting. In a few years brighter days dawned for the iron willed newcomers; they had come, they had seen, they had conquered. Today the fruits of their soil are seen in our best townships and the pleasing feature is that many of the farms they created are still held by their descendants.

I HAVE striven to give a cursory glimpse into the beginning of our city and county up to the present time when their inhabitants have become a very sentient and enthusiastic body of men devoted to the high ideals of democracy in which they have been nourished. But I have left little enough space to give more than passing mention of the great industries which are helping at the present moment to pave the way to victory and to a happy and restful peace.

Our industries are many and varied. Some of them are of world-wide fame. The Canadian General Electric Company employs no less than 4,500 hands and there are at least three that employ between five and six hundred each. It can be easily seen, when noting our swift rise in importance, that there can be little reason for discouragement as to our future when our rivers and streams within a radius of forty miles can produce water-power for hundreds upon hundreds of fresh industries. Water power is easy to obtain and electricity is cheap also.

This letter is not written in any sense as a touting epistle to advertise the advantages that our city and district offer to men and women anxious to travel and discover some clime where they can be assured of secure anchorage and a certainty of freedom from harassing foes. Canada offers a wide field to choose from and Peterborough city and county are only two among hundreds of places blessed with much to allure old and young alike by the simple exercise of their eyes and minds. If one wishes for scenery it is to be found everywhere in its ravishing beauty; if one wishes for rest there are millions of nooks and corners in this great Dominion where the handmaids of the Spirit of Quiet hold out greeting hands in surroundings that are superb, and if one seeks a field of endeavour, the common lot of work-a-day humanity, there is room here for everybody and work for everybody.

In the spirit of kinship and camaraderie this reply to your kind letter is sent coupled with the assurance, and all our residents would heartily endorse the statement, that if any of the people of your hospitable city ever come to Peterborough they will be received with as sincere and hearty a welcome as the Peterborough of dear old England has always extended to our native sons and daughters.

FRED. M. DELAFOSSE.
Peterborough, Ont., Nov. 9, 1943.

TALKING POINTS

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

THE newspapers recently reported the case of an army sergeant who returned the marriage license he had taken out the day before because, he said, the girl's mother tried to boss the whole wedding, so he had quit cold, at the very foot of the altar, as you might say.

O, wise young man! A second Solomon if there ever was one! What vain regrets, what years of misery, how many divorces might be saved if all prospective bridegrooms would follow his example and make an intensive study of the manners and habits and peculiarities of their girls' mothers before they had acquired them for keeps, instead of waiting until it was too late to discover that they had fallen in to the hands of a female Hitler, before whom they would walk in fear and trembling the balance of their days.

CONSIDER MOTHER-IN-LAW

STATISTICIANS tell us that mothers-in-law wreck more marriages than all the seven major and minor sins, yet apparently it never occurs to the average man to take a good square look at a girl's mother before he pops the question, and see what he would get if he married Sally. He is so obsessed by gazing into Sally's violet eyes that he doesn't notice the steely glint in her mother's. He is so enraptured by kissing Sally's cupid bow mouth that he fails to observe that mother's mouth is set like a steel trap, and that she has a jawbone that bodes ill for those who come in contact with it.

Anyway, the enamoured youth thinks that Sally's mother is a negligible quantity in his life. He is marrying Sally, not her mother. And he won't have to live with the old lady if she is allergic to him. But that is where he guesses wrong. Any insurance company will tell him that the great majority of women outlive their husbands, and that unless Sally is an orphan there is every chance that Mama will spend her declining years with her dear daughter and son-in-law.

Now, of course, not all mothers-in-law are pests. There are plenty of them who are household angels who are sweet and gracious and pleasant to live with, an everpresent help in times of trouble, and lucky are the men who get them thrown in as a sort of a bonus with their wives.

BRIDE'S MOTHER INFLUENCE IN NEW HOME

SO these lines are written not to pan mothers-in-law as a class, but merely to call the attention of young men in love to the fact that there is a wide choice in mothers-in-law, and that the success, or failure, of their marriages is going to depend just as much upon what sort of a mother-in-law they get as it does upon what sort of a girl they marry.

Indeed, the two things are so interlocking that you can hardly separate them. For in the great majority of cases girls follow the pattern their mothers have set them, and make the kind of wives that their mothers are.

Occasionally there is an exception to this rule. Sometimes a girl is so disgusted with the lazy, slovenly way in which her mother keeps house that she becomes a crackerjack cook and a model of order and thrift. Sometimes a girl is so sorry for her poor, downtrodden, henpecked father that she pampers her own husband to death when she gets one.

But, for the most part, girls run true to form and make the kind of wives their mothers brought them up to be. If their mothers regarded marriage as a high and holy calling and if they made comfortable homes for their husbands and children, so will they when they set up for themselves. If their mothers treated their husbands with respect and affection and tenderness and made every effort to make them happy, that is the way their daughters will treat their husbands. If their mothers tried to help their husbands in their careers, so will the daughters help push their husbands' fortunes.

OLDER WOMAN'S CHARACTER WORTH STUDYING

HENCE it behooves every young man when he goes a-courting to give his sweetie's mother his most careful and prayerful consideration. See how she treats her husband. Is he a meek little man says "ma'am" to her and jumps when she speaks? Does she rule the roost and order him about as if he were a feeble-minded child? Does she pick out his clothes for him, and tell him what he shall eat? Does she keep his nose to the grindstone with her extravagance? Does he have to ask her permission to go downtown of nights? Is she a nagger, or a whiner, or a complainer?

If she is any of these things, let him make his escape while the going is good, unless he desires to follow in her father's footsteps.

A safe rule in picking out a wife is to select the mother-in-law first. If she is O.K., so will the girl be.

Quaint Geography

Peace and post-war problems are to be considered this week by university delegates meeting in Vermont. The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace is sponsoring the gathering, and in its publicity says that representatives will be present from, among other places—"...Rhode Island, Canada, Newfoundland and Nova Scotia."

It is a question of being flattered or flustered. Is Nova Scotia another self-governing Dominion like Canada or merely another state like Vermont?

The confusion of foreigners is understandable, however. Twice in a single week, distinguished visitors from the United States speaking on national broadcasts in connection with a Federal campaign and reading scripts otherwise admirably prepared, ended coast-to-coast descriptions at "the sunny St. Lawrence beaches." Another failed to get east of the Ottawa.—Halifax Herald.

A Bible Message

Then Jesus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tyre and Sidon. And, behold, a woman of Canaan came out of the same coasts, and cried unto him, saying, Have mercy on me, O Lord, thou son of David: my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil. But he answered her not a word. And his disciples came and besought him, saying, Send her away; for she crieth after us. But he answered and said, I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel. Then came she and worshipped him, saying, Lord, help me.

But he answered and said, It is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it to dogs. And she said, Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table.

Then Jesus answered and said unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was made whole from that very hour.

And Jesus departed from thence, and came nigh unto the sea of Galilee; and went up into a mountain, and sat down there. And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them: insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel. (Matt. 15: 21-31.)

Pathfinder Of the Seas

MUCH of our early knowledge of the prevailing winds and currents of the oceans was a product of the researches of Matthew F. Maury, an American naval officer....In 1841 he was placed in charge of the depot of charts and instruments which later grew into the Naval Observatory and the Hydrographic Office. Maury then began a systematic collection of observations from seamen in order to show the prevailing winds and ocean currents.

In the stirring days of the American clipper ships and the California gold rush, sailing ships raced around the Horn, setting new records for speed by taking advantage of Maury's charts. And some of these records show that the sailing ship was not a snail in comparison with the steamship. Clipper ships could make a speed of 18 knots, and one clipper made 363 miles in 24 hours. In one year 90,000 passengers were carried to California around South America on clipper ships. The great armada which carried invasion forces to North Africa in November 1942 numbered 350 warships and 500 other ships. By comparison, during the gold rush there were at one time 500 ships in the bay at San Francisco deserted by sailors who had gone to the gold fields.

The gold rush maritime commerce was merely the most striking illustration of the value of Maury's charts. They won him an international reputation. He has been called the "Pathfinder of the Seas." Although modern ships are not dependent upon the wind for power, there is scarcely a steamship today without pilot charts and every such chart of the U.S. Hydrographic Office bears in the margin a notation: "Founded upon the researches made in the early part of the nineteenth century by Matthew Fontaine Maury, while serving as a lieutenant in the United States Navy."—From "Weather Around the World," by Ivan Ray Tannehill. During his tour of the kitchen the sergeant tasted a fruit pie.

"What kind of pie is this?" he snapped, after swallowing the mouthful with an effort.

"What does it taste like?" asked the cook, hurt at the question.

"Putty!" snapped the sergeant.

"Then it's peach pie," said the cook bitterly. "The apple pie tastes like paraffin!"

Retiring Age For Teachers Being Studied

In order to expedite the two-room school under construction in the Park Hill Road area G. T. Parmenter, a representative of Wartime Housing appeared at the Board of Education Thursday night to iron out all problems which might exist in the agreement between the two which is about to be ratified.

Things between the two sides were so agreeable that after a brief interchange Mr. Parmenter was able to take his departure. Although at the previous meeting the members expressed their willingness to accept the agreement and instructed the secretary to get the necessary papers they suggested a few minor changes. With one exception these have all been granted, the exception being fluorescent lighting. Mr. Parmenter explained that it was not the cost, but the matter of departing from a uniform plan which barred it, and the Board decided to forget about it.

Although only the foundations have yet been dug for the school, Wartime Housing expects that the building will have been completed by January 1.

Accumulative Sick Leave

The special committee which has been investigating the possibilities of accumulative sick leave advanced the idea of building up this leave each year, and that the retiring age for teachers be, male 65 and female 60. After a lengthy discussion, the matter was deferred to a special meeting of the entire Board which will be called in about two weeks.

The Health committee reported on the progress made in adopting a plan for sex education. At a recent meeting, Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H., and Dr. Robert Nott, school medical officer, were present, and they were asked to prepare a plan covering a series of suitable lectures to be submitted for further consideration. It was also thought that such lectures might be augmented by talks from members of the Ministerial Association. Dr. Kelly also mentioned the possibility that a portable X-ray machine may be coming to the city within the next two months to examine industrial workers and it was thought the service might be extended to high school pupils. The Board is awaiting further information.

Forget Radios

After hearing the Property committee's report on the cost of installing a complete unit for school room broadcasts which was listed as around $700, and considering the alternative of purchasing individual receiving sets, it was decided to let the matter stand, although the members stressed the importance that radio talks are expected to play in future developments.

Proper heating for the teachers' and medical rooms at Prince of Wales school has been arranged at a cost of $169 and a tile drain costing $45 is being laid at Queen Alexandra school, where poor drainage has been causing trouble. A typewriter desk for the Collegiate library has also been agreed upon and the expected cost is $73.

Vocational School inspectors who recently paid a visit gave a particularly pleasing report, C. S. Browne, collegiate principal reported. The Night School received particularly fine praise and they commended the principal for his organization and the teaching staff for their loyalty and cooperation. The pupils were complimented for their deportment and discipline. Because he had been placed in charge of setting up vocational guidance, Mr. Browne requested that he be allowed to spend November 19 in Toronto to contact authorities on this matter and suggested that L. J. Pettit be acting principal for the day.

Wants Assistant

Inspector K. Wightman made a request on behalf of Miss Constance Wagar, who is to hold an art exhibit of her pupils work. The teacher wanted a central place for the exhibit and suggested the Recreation room at the Y.W.C.A., to which the Board of Education agreed. He also requested that he be given an office assistant to handle the routine work as it was becoming too heavy, and the secretary was authorized to advertise.

A letter from E. Outram, city clerk, requesting the use of King Edward, South Central, Central, Prince of Wales and Queen Mary schools as polling divisions in the municipal elections was granted, as was also a three-months leave of absence to Mrs. Francis Craig, who will be replaced by Mrs. Kidd.

The recommendation of the Advisory Vocational committee that the rate of pay for Night School teachers be set at $5 a night was passed, and a complete list, referring to equipment and machinery requested by the Dominion-Provincial War Emergency Training Program, has been prepared.

261 Outside Pupils Are Attending Collegiate And Vocational School

Of the 921 pupils in attendance at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational Training School 261 come from outside the city of Peterborough with 238 from the county, 16 from Northumberland and Durham; five from Victoria and two from other counties it was revealed at the Board of Education meeting last night by C. S. Browne, principal of the school.

The attendance report also showed that average attendance for the pupils who come from outside the city was higher than that of those who reside nearer the school. There are 605 pupils enrolled in the academic department and the average attendance was 588 or 97.07 percent. In the vocational school the enrolment is 316 wth the average attendance 308, or 97.19 per cent. giving an average for the two schools of 896 or 97.33 per cent.

Inspector Wightman reported 2,924 on the rolls in the public schools with an average daily attendance of 2,718, or 93.03 percent. In the six city schools the attendance at the Queen Alexandra school averaged 94.99 per cent; Queen Mary 93.61; Prince of Wales 93.35; King George 93.16; King Edward 91.91 Central 91.56.

During the month the children bought War Savings Stamps amounting to $1,007.50.

Fred R. Revoy, attendance officer, reported 30 children during the month absent through illness, 17 absent for home help; 5 due to lack of clothing, but in these cases loss of time from school was only one half day; eight children were absent on account of parental neglect and two boys were punished by parents for truancy.

The inspector reported a total of 35½ days absence on the part of the public school teachers during the month and Mr. Browne reported three days in the Collegiate.

Presbytery Starts Marriage Probe

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 12 (CP)——An inquiry into alleged irregularities in the performance of the marriage ceremony at the Lakehead has been ordered by the Superior Presbytery of the United Church of Canada.

Church officials said yesterday the inquiry was ordered at a meeting on Tuesday following receipt of a resolution from Trinity Church. The resolution drew attention to reports of irregularities which in the opinion of the Trinity Church session were injurious to the church and to society. A committee was named to investigate and report to the Presbytery.

Rev. A. E. McCutcheon of Trinity named Rev. Dan McIvor, Liberal member of Parliament for Fort William, and former minister of First United Church, as the pastor to whom the resolution referred.

Mr. McCutcheon said Mr. McIvor allegedly performed a marriage of an 18-year-old girl and a soldier after midnight on a Sunday morning. Under the Ontario Marriage Act a marriage may not be performed between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Government Sabotage

VERMILION, Alta. Nov. 12 (CP)—Hon. W. A. Fallow, Alberta Minister of Public Works, has charged that the Dominion Government is "Sabotaging Alberta's Tar Sands along the Athabaska River." He warned that "if there is no alternative, Alberta will go into the oil business in the interest of the people."

Welsh Members Angry At Churchill

LONDON, Nov. 12 (CP Cable) — Wording of a letter to Prime Minister Churchill, asking reconsideration of his refusal last week to receive a Welsh delegation urging creation of a Secretary of State for Wales, precipitated a dispute yesterday at a private meeting of Welsh members of parliament climaxed by Clement Davies quitting the meeting.

The Welsh people long had contended that the principality has the same right to a Secretary of State and a "Welsh office" as Scotland which possesses both.

Davies, independent-minded Liberal member for Montgomery, was understood to have urged that the Prime Minister be asked to reconsider. The letter expressed disappointment at the refusal and asked Mr. Churchill to meet members at the earliest moment.

Rejecting a request for the meeting last week, the Prime Minister replied: "There can be no question at the present time of taking such a step which is highly controversial and in no way connected with the war. It no doubt is a very fit and proper matter for discussion in the transitional period or when peace is restored. There would therefore be no advantage in my receiving the deputation."

Insult To Nation.

The Press Association's political correspondent said Davies called the Prime Minister's refusal "an insult not only to the party but to Wales as a nation." Other members, however, preferred the letter under discussion. Then Davies left the meeting.

David Lloyd George, dean of the House of Commons and perhaps the most famous Welsh member, did not attend the meeting, but the Press Association correspondent said he learned Lloyd George agreed with the terms of the letter.

The 36 members of all political faiths constituting the Welsh parliamentary party said Mr. Churchill's refusal to meet the deputation "must surely be the first time in history that a completely united party in the Commons, in presenting a unanimous request, has been refused a hearing by the Prime Minister."

Warns Farm Prices Must Be Raised

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP).—Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator predicted Thursday that because of rise in wartime costs higher prices may be needed for some farm crops in the United States.

In announcing the 1944 farm goals, which call for an all-time record agricultural production, the administrator did not name the crops and said that prices of most farm products are high enough to encourage maximum production.

Indicative of the farmers' intention to meet the heavy food and feed demands, a record acreage goal of 380,000,000 acres was established after state meetings with farms representatives, said Jones. This is an increase of 16,000,000 acres over 1943. Marketing and acreage restrictions will be removed on all crops except tobacco.

Continuation and possible increases of subsidy payments for support prices would be required under the program he outlined. Subsidy payments have cost the Government an estimated $350,000,000 this year.

Cow Makes Record

BRANTFORD, Ont., Nov. 12 — (CP).—A Canadian record for lifetime production of milk over all breeds, regardless of times milked daily, has been established by Colony Fleta Heilo, head office of the Holstein-Friesian Association announced here Wednesday.

The cow, from Colony Farm at Essondale, B.C., has produced on official record-of-performance test of 216,142 pounds of milk, containing 7,208 pounds of butterfat, in eight lactations.

Army Uses Dog

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP).—Eight army dogs, trained to attack all but their masters, are patrolling lonely areas of La Guardia Field, working a nine-hour night tour of duty. Accompanied by sentries, the dogs walk past near military planes and portions of the airport remote from ramps and buildings, according to the air transport command. Dobermans and shepherds predominate among the canine guards.

C.P. President Proves Popular

By J. E. HOLDSWORTH
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 12 — (CP Cable.)—Canadian newspaper delegates to Australia, guests at luncheon to-day of the Sydney Journalists' Club, expressed surprise that Sydney newsmen had such a palatial club.

A. R. Ford, editor of the London, Ont., Free Press and president of The Canadian Press, responding to the toast to the visitors said he found that newspapermen talk the same language throughout the world.

During their wait at San Francisco, he said, they had the pleasure of being made honorary members of the San Francisco Press Club. Here, as there, he found newspapermen 'are just fellows together."

Saying that while in San Francisco they had agreed that B. T. Richardson of the Winnipeg Free Press would do the chief talking there, Mr. Ford said: "Richardson and Pare (Lorenzo Pare of L'Action Catholique, Quebec, the third member of the party) regard themselves more as better pick-and-shovel newspaper workers than I am because I am an editor. But I dispute that view."

Liked Speech.

Mr. Richardson gave the Sydney Club a number of good yarns about the press in Canada and caused laughter when, using an "Australian adjective" he said that Kipling's description of Canada as "Our Lady of the Snows" was a "bloody lie."

He brought more laughter when he said that when the present Canadian High Commission to Australia, Hon. T. C. Davis, was in the Ottawa Parliament he was known to the press gallery as "Machine-Gun Tommy" owing to his method of delivery.

Mr. Richardson told how Mr. Pare had been dubbed the "shy boy of the party" and said he and Pare met several Australian press representatives at the Quebec conference.

In a more serious vein he said that an interchange of visits of Dominion newspapermen would do much to improve mutual understanding and hoped some members present would one day have a chance of visiting Canada and enjoying Canadian hospitality.

Neighbours, Friends Give Farewell Party

FRASERVILLE, Nov. 12 (ENS).—About 150 friends and neighbors met at Fraserville Hall Tuesday to honor Mr. and Mrs. B. Cunningham, who are leaving to live in Peterborough.

Mr. James Roddy acted as the chairman for a program which consisted of readings by Misses Jean Fairburn of Springville and Jean Holden and short speeches by Reeve Melville Johnston and Mr. Bruce Johnston. Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham heard an address expressing the regret of the community, read by Edward Hogg and the presentation of a studio couch was made by Mr. S. Todd. Lunch was served, followed by dancing.

Nazi Troopers Scour Rome

By GUNNARD D. KUMLIEN
Rome Correspondent of the Stockholm Tidningen
(Copyright, 1943, The Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 12 — The battle of Rome has been going on for weeks, but while the Germans need troops badly on the southern Italian front as well as in Russia they have been using soldiers to hunt down Jews in Rome.

With Allied air superiority growing stronger daialy and all the Germans who can carry arms needed on the frontlines, the question being asked when I left Rome recently was: "How can the Germans afford to use soldiers to herd Jews together and carry them off?"

Such questions began circulating in Rome when the persecution of Jews gained impetus in Northern Italy, where the Germans made intense efforts to remove the Jewish population.

A few days after the Germans occupied Rome, the president of the Mosaic congregation was advised by the German commandant that the Jews would have to pay over a large sum in gold.

The ransom was paid, and most Roman Jews thought they had bought peace. Those who had gone into hiding arrived and returned to their homes.

One morning the raids against the Jews began. They were conducted by small groups of German soldiers and S.S. men. Men, women and children were loaded in cars and hauled away to an unknown destination.

STORAGE BATTERIES ARE ESSENTIAL WAR TOOLS

Today our most important job is supplying batteries for the Navy . . . the Army . . . the Air Force . . . the auxiliary forces and war industries. Without a dependable source of power, which in many instances only a storage battery can supply, the mechanized giants of our armed services would be useless—dead! Storage batteries are a vital part of "combined operations."

You can help make the available supply of civilian batteries go further by having your Exide Dealer, who is a battery expert, check your battery every 14 days with his scientific Exide Sure-Start equipment. He can help you get the most from your battery—make it last longer.

When you must buy a new battery make sure it's an Exide. In war as in peace where life is at stake—where battery power dare not fail, there you will find an Exide—the dependable battery.

Watson Hopes To Maul Gotch

Whipper Billy Watson, British Empire Wrestling Champion, and Giant-Killer De Luxe of the wrestling world, comes to town again next Tuesday night. After his super display here a couple of weeks ago, Watson is being brought in to give one Jan Gotch a taste of what the Polish grappler has been handing out to others. Gotch has succeeded in a surprisingly short time in establishing himself here as a first-class villain and one that the fans would dearly like to see thrashed. Hence the presence of the Whipper next Tuesday. On the other hand what an upset it would be if the burly, reckless Gotch managed to turn the tables on Watson and beat Billy to the draw. Better wrestlers than Jan Gotch haven't been able to do that little trick, but it must be admitted that Gotch is a cantankerous opponent for any wrestler to handle. Possessed of a bad temper to begin with the Pitiless Poles has developed a combination head-hold and jaw punch that has put many a wrestler on the injured list recently.

Another new face will be seen in the semi-final bout when Jack Reeder of Indiana wrestles Jack Claybourne. Gentleman Jack is so anxious to re-instate himself here that he accepted the semi spot against Reeder. Which is all to the advantage of the fans who are always glad to see the Bounding Black in action here.

Rough-house Dick Hogan will also be back, this time against another new man in the person of Pierre De Glane, the experienced French matman.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Everything is set for the opening of the Ladies' Basketball League at the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium tonight and the league officers expect a record opening night crowd to see the initial doubleheader and get the loop away to a flying start. The general feeling seems to be that the girls' cage loop is in for a successful season, with well-balanced clubs and plenty of competition all the way. There has been considerable shifting of players since last season which means that most of the combinations competing for league honors will be new and that is adding materially to the interest. Tonight's doings will afford somewhat of a line on the playing strength of four of the teams with Y Cadets clashing with the powerful Payne's Transports in the opening affair at 8 o'clock and the C.G.E. team and the revived St. John's cagers clashing in the second game of the night. All the teams have been practicing hard and they should be in good shape for the opening test. The result is likely to be two lively and well-played tilts that will make a fitting opener for what is counted upon to prove a most successful season.

The basketball lid comes off, too, in the Y.M.C.A. House League tomorrow night when four of the eight teams in the loop will show their stuff in the opening doubleheader. Like other sports, perhaps more than any other sport basketball has been hard hit by the war. Scores of the players who used to star in the House League and in the City loop are wearing their country's uniform at the present time and their absence will be felt. But the younger boys are keeping the game alive, with a sprinkling of the older players to supply a nucleus for the various teams. There are two teams from the Military Training Centre in addition to the six Y.M.C.A. squads and the military teams will also show some new faces with many of last year's players gone. The opening doubleheader tomorrow night calls for Frigates captained by Steve Csumrik to meet the Destroyers led by Harry Currie in the 7:15 fixture and the Corvettes piloted by Jim Ferguson to clash with Joe Stewart's Algerines at 8:15 o'clock.

Should Be A Crowd

The announcement that the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School team is returning to the football scene has been warmly welcomed among local rugby fans who had long learned to look to the students for bright and colorful football and who missed the gridiron performance of the squad last season when the school decided to stay out of the interscholastic race. The Collegiate team, 1943 edition, will make its debut tomorrow afternoon at Riverside Park with a strong Lindsay Collegiate squad as opposition and this first interscholastic battle in two years will draw a real crowd. The visitors are coming with quite a reputation and it will be interesting to see how the young, light and inexperienced Collegiate team performs in its first test against an outside squad. Reports from Confederation Square say the Collegiate youngsters have been showing good form in practice and they should give the invaders plenty of trouble in tomorrow's battle. The kickoff is billed for 2 o'clock sharp. There will be plenty of student rooters and this column will be surprised if there is not a big turnout of other fans to welcome P.C.V.S. back to the game.

The arrangements have been completed for the Peterborough men's swimming championships to be staged in the Y.M.C.A. pool a week from Saturday. The entry forms have been issued and it is expected that large fields will compete in the various events. There are three senior contests, all 100 yards affairs, for free style, breast stroke and back stroke swimmers. In the junior division there will be 40 yards breast stroke, 40 yards free style and 40 yards back stroke with an extra 100 yards breast stroke race. In the two breast stroke contests Billy Lech, Peterborough's new star in this type of swimming will endeavor to beat the two existing Canadian records. The tenth event on the program will be a diving competition from the one metre springboard. This will be an open competition and the contestants may demonstrate any five dives they choose. The meet is under the direction of Swimming Director Gord Minty. It is expected there will be some outside entries and arrangements are being made to have the visitors billeted over Saturday night. Crests will be presented to the first, second and third swimmers in each event.

No Setup For Whipper

It is generally recognized that the battle between the popular British Empire champion, Whipper Billy Watson and the equally unpopular Polish rowdy Jan Gotch will make next Tuesday night's Tunney wrestling show at the Brock St. Arena one of the best of the season. Watson is always a drawing card for the Toronto champion has a world of style, moves like a lightweight and has an intimate knowledge of the science of wrestling with the result that it is always a treat for fans to watch him perform especially when he has real opposition. That he will have plenty of that seems certain. Local followers of the game have little use for Gotch but they have to admit that in his local appearances the Polish battler has shown himself to be something more than a back-alley fighter. He is rough and crude when he cuts loose like he did at the expense of Flanagan but on the other hand he has given plenty of evidence that he knows what it is all about when it comes to wrestling. He is a more versatile and faster-moving grappler than John Katan and has shown enough to indicate that the Whipper will have no setup here Tuesday night. In addition Gotch is supremely confident that he can slow the champion down and eventually take him apart and he looks upon the match here as a chance to put himself up into permanent top line billing. The star bout will be supported by two other good contests and will be about tops for the season so far as quality goes.

Bill Walshe, Kingston sports scribe gives a brighter picture of the hockey situation in the Penitentiary City in the following paragraph: "Kingston will continue in the O.H.A. senior series and will open the season Friday in St. Catharines and play St. Catharines here Saturday night. That is the latest word from army and hockey headquarters. Official decision issued from M.D. 3 Headquarters is that senior hockey may continue if it does not interfere with the training and duties of soldiers while new regulations were issued from the National Defence Department at Ottawa yesterday that modify the previous order to dispatch all hockey playing soldiers overseas. Toronto Army Daggers, Halifax Army and Montreal all dropped out of senior hockey yesterday and for a while it seemed that Cornwall and Kingston would also have to withdraw. Last night Cornwall announced that the soldiers could continue in hockey and a revised schedule was arranged for the Quebec Senior League. Kingston soldiers were also notified that they could play and plans were resumed to open the season in St. Catharines Friday. Kingston will start the season with the same team that played in exhibition games but there will likely be many changes in the line-up before the club is properly reorganized with many soldier players coming here for training. Kingston has both basic and advanced training, which means many top hockey stars from all parts of Canada will be here for long terms."

By The Canadian Press

Annis Stukus of Toronto Balmy Beach ended the Ontario Rugby football esason in top place in the individual scoring, final statistics compiled by The Canadian Press showed to-day. His skill as a placement kicker gave the big quarterback 64 points in the 10 games he played this year, all but 15 being scored through placements.

Joe Krol, backfield ace of the Hamilton Flying Wildcats, had 48 points this season to trail Stukus by 16. Walter Gibb, Hamilton's placement-kicking snapback, was third with 35, and Sgt. Charlie Prince, Hurricanes quarterback, was fourth with 29.

An Armistice Day crowd of 31,238 at Rockingham Park, Salem, N. H., shattered the track's mutual record with total wagering of $1,335,287 during a double-header program of 14 races which was staged as a war charity benefit.

After losing seven players to the military training centres, Ottawa Commandos last night produced team reinforcements in Bill Beveridge, former N.H.L. goalie; Cpl. Jack Roberts of the R.C.M.P., and a left-winger, Joe Ladouceur of Montreal. Ottawa opens the re-organized season Saturday night against Lachine R.C.A.F.

Navy Hockey

Toronto Navy, in the Senior O. H. A., will play three exhibition games during a tour in the United States that will take them to Baltimore, December 15 for two engagements with the U. S. Coast Guard and to Madison Square Garden, New York, December 19 to play Rovers of the U.S. Eastern League.

Fritzie Zivic, 31, married and three children, has been called by the Pittsburgh draft board for examination Sunday and, accordingly, his 10-round bout to-night in Madison Square Garden against Jake Lamotta may be the last for the duration. In 13 years as a pro fighter, Zivic has had 177 bouts.

According to Phil K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, Jimmy Wilson has been retained in 1944 as manager of the team, a position he has held since 1940. He has not been offered a contract, Wrigley stated last night, but Wilson is considered a fixture.

● Grafton's long reputation for honest and fair dealing has always attracted the same treatment from those with whom they dealt. Many a merchant of those days would not have dared take two rough sailors into a dark store, and open the safe containing the day's receipts. Grafton's Manager knew that customers appreciate the extra service that is never "too much trouble". And all Grafton employees know it, and offer the same service, today.

Twelve o'clock on a Saturday night many years ago. Grafton's store was closed for the day, but when two rough-looking sailors just off the boats wanted to make some purchases, it was not too late for the tired manager to open up for them. He sold them complete shore outfits, too. This was one of the favorite reminiscences of a former Grafton employee.

Beaches Expect Full Team For Saturday

By ALAN HARVEY
Caandian Press Staff Writer.

If Toronto Beaches oust Hamilton Flying Wildcats in Saturday's sudden-death Ontario Rugby Football Union final in Hamilton, Dr. Reginald Perkins of Hamilton may want to set fire to his shingle.

This week, the good doctor dispensed professional services to two Toronto visitors. He should studied Toronto visitors. He should have studied their calling cards, for they were Frankie Stukus and Stu Scott—two persuasive reasons why Beaches earned the right to meet Wildcats in a game that will decide Ontario's representative against one of three Quebec teams in the Eastern final at Toronto on November 20.

Stukus took treatment for a knee injury which kept him on the limp two weeks. On his return, the plunging half announced he'll be a sure starter Saturday. Scott's diagnosis isn't complete, but Beaches are confident the star who romped for two touchdowns in Beaches' final scheduled game will be in the lineup against Wildcats.

Beaches also will be strengthened by return of fleet Ed Jakubowski, confined to the bench by a knee injury for all but a few brief moments this season. Wildcats, twice triumphant over Beaches in the regular campaign, will be at full strength except for Snapback Bill O'Breza and Outside Red Hickey, both listed as doubtful starters.

The winner at Hamilton advances against Lachine R.C.A.F., Verdun Grads or Montreal Navy, who unravel their own personal argument in Montreal Saturday. The Eastern Canada champions clash in Toronto on November 27 against Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers, who earned a shot at the East-West classic last night by defeating Regina.

Big 4 Again.

Meanwhile, business is booming on other Ontario fronts. The 29-year-old Interprovincial Union, given a "for the duration" burial in 1941 when the stop-gap Eastern Rugby Football Union was created to enable Beaches to enter after the withdrawal of Hamilton Tigers announced through T.H.C. Alison that the famed "Big Four" will operate next fall in Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton and Montreal. Alison, president of Toronto Argonauts, said the union has held annual meetings regularly and has a full slate of officers ready for 1944.

To show how definite things are, Alison said FO. Lew Hayman, former Argo coach, will be in Toronto shortly for a conference, while Alison is going to Montreal next week—with football in his mind.

After dropping a hint that Argos will show the fans "some new trimmings for football' next season, Alison said.

"I think everyone is fed up with night football games, expensive six-team leagues, and heavy schedules. I think, too, this year's clubs will have their fill of pooled gates."

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Nov. 12—(CP)—Disbanding of army hockey teams in Montreal and Toronto under the army's new "soldier first" policy, is likely to prove a boon to a few basic training centres. For example Turk Broda has been moved to Petawawa, Ont. The Ottawa Commandos have lost Floyd Perras and Edgar and Remi Laprade to Camp Borden, Ont. It's likely that such Toronto players as Syl Apps, Gordon Drillon, Billy Taylor, Hank Goldup and Buck Jones will be moved to training centres shortly and that Montreal will contribute a few former major leaguers like Charlie Phillips, Red Goupille, Johnny Mahaffy, Kilby MacDonald, and Fred Thurier.

Say It Ain't So:

Jack Park of the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder expresses the opinion the army's stiffened hockey policy followed criticism by Toronto and Montreal writers. Jack adds: "Those who led the attack are drum-beaters for professional hockey. Service hockey presents quite a threat to the N.H.L. at the gate...Any knock at service hockey is a boost for the pros."

Dough No Object:

Chicago Black Hawks insist they need Art Wiebe more than does the bakery business now keeping him in Vermilion, Alta. President Bill Tobin of Hawks probably wired Wiebe in this vein: "Sugar rationing won't let you ice your cakes but we knead you to ice a hockey team."

Financial Fuss:

Tommy Moore of the Hamilton Spectator says he in informed that inclusion of Ottawa Combines in the Ontario Rugby Football Union cost more than $10,000 in extra transportation and that Combines failed to show that much in returns. Tommy's information is that, with all expenses paid, each team in the group will be lucky to collect more than $2,500. Well, we always say anyone is lucky to collect more than $2,500.

Scalp:

Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson: "Arthur Ross, Jr., son of the Boston Bruin pilot, is a chip off the old block. Unofficial but very reliable sources of information say that the younger Ross, a flyer in the R.C.A.F. bagged a Messerschmidt, two locomotives and a couple of barges on the same day with accurately placed bombs.

Editor To Settle Player Disputes

TORONTO, Nov. 12 — (CP). — Lloyd Douglas, Canadian Commissioner of the National Baseball Congress, announced today that J. P. Fitzgerald, sports editor of the Toronto Evening Telegram has been appointed Canadian High Commissioner of the Congress to adjudicate all players disputes and protests of sandlot baseball in Canada.

Fitzgerald, who has written on baseball for more than 40 years, also acted as High Commissioner last season.

Douglas, announcing plans for a Dominion-wide organization with commissioners in all provinces, said Sydney Sheriff of New Glasgow, N.S., has been appointed the Maritimes commissioner for the 1944 season, which will end with a sandlot world series between Canadian and United States champions.

Appointment of Fitzgerald and Sheriff has been ratified by Ray Dumont, president of the United States National Baseball Congress in Wichita, Kas.

Sheriff will supervise a championship play-off, winner of which will automatically qualify for the Dominion championship tournament which will open in Toronto next August 5 under the direction of Mr. Douglas.

Nine provincial touraments are being arranged in Canada.

Winnipeg Wins Title From Regina

REGINA, Nov. 12—(CP)—Pouncing on a fumbled ball to break a gruelling football game in the fourth quarter, Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers defeated Regina All-Service Rough-Western Canada football championship for the seventh year.

Bombers, defeated in the National final a year ago by Toronto R.C.A.F. Hurricanes, will to to Toronto again to battle either Hamilton Flying Wildcats, Balmy Beach or the Quebec champions for the 1943 Canadian championship.

The Winnipeg Airmen won the opener of the two-game play-off in Winnipeg 1-0 last Saturday to take the series 12-0.

They increased their series advantage to two points in the second quarter by rouging LAC. Harry Johnston of Roughriders.

Quite A Feat

Then Johnston fumbled, stunning 3,000 spectators, and gave Bombers the opportunity to roll into a commanding lead after five minutes of play in the fourth quarter. McCance and AC2 Garney Smith scored touchdowns.

At the five-minute mark of the last frame Johnston took AC2 Brian Quinn's Winnipeg kick on his own 17-yard line. He failed to hang onto the pigskin and AC1 Chick Chikowski recovered for the Winnipeg side.

McCance, leading Western Canadian Armed Services Senior League scorer, took command. He made a first down on three plays, went the remaining three yards on the next plunge for a touchdown. His attempted convert was wide.

Midway in the quarter, with play at midfield, Quinn faded for a long pass to Smith. The Bomber backfielder took the pass on Regina's 30-yard line, outran two tacklers and crossed the Regina goal line standing up.

Roughriders protested the touchdown, claiming Winnipeg blockers were guilty of holding on the play. Referee Cliff Roseborough, however, ruled the touchdown good. Smith also missed his attempted convert.

Winnipeg's first point of the game came following a 38-yard punt by Quinn that landed on Regina's 30-yard line and bounced over the goal-line.

Regina—Flying wing, Charlton; halves, Turner, Johnston, Mathers; quarterback, Kinney; snap, King; insides, Hammond, Williams; middles, Griffing, Garuik; outsides, Hoce, Pyne.

Winnipeg—Flying wing, McCance; halves, Capraru, Quinn, Smith; quarterback, Greenberg; snap, Hore; insides, Shields, Lear; middles, Lucid, Ludwig; outsides, Durno, Chikowski.

Regina subs—Bean, Rawluk, Radu, Mark.

Winnipeg subs—Lake, Border, McFayden.

Referee—Cliff Roseborough, Winnipeg. Judge of play—Bus Haugh, Regina. Head linesman—Clare Warner, Regina.

Toronto Ties Wings 2-2; Boston Loses

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The master hand of experience still is weaving National Hockey League headlines.

Entering the second week of a season in which youth was to have supplanted craft, four aged artisans—Bill Cowley, Mush March, Lorne Carr and Clint Smith—fired telling shots last night as Toronto Maple Leafs deadlocked Detroit Red Wings 2-2 before 9,478 home fans, while Chicago gained a 6-4 verdict over Boston Bruins.

Behind the four veterans, whose average age is 32, stands a cumulative record of 51 years in professional competition.

The 33-year-old Carr took the most lurid role, flicking a puck past Jimmy Franks in the last 18 seconds of play to give Toronto its second tie against Detroit and a one-point mortgage on first place ahead of Montreal Canadiens. Leafs and Wings played to a 5-5 draw in Detroit a week ago.

Strong At Start.

Wings, now in third place, a point behind Canadiens, appeared in a fair way to maintain their undefeated record as they opened with a 2-0 first-period lead in their first start away from home, but Don Webster, who signed a Leaf contract only this week, trimmed the lead to 2-1 in the middle period and Carr supplied the tying counter. Mud Bruneteau (his eighth of the season) and Adam Brown scored for Wings.

At Chicago, 8,423 fans watched Hawks nurse a first-period lead through two wild frames as Chicago recorded its second victory in five starts to move into fourth place, exchanging status with Boston who dropped to fifth.

Smith, obtained from New York Rangers in a pre-season deal, scored two Chicago goals, while March, starting his 15th season with Hawks, tallied once and had one assist. Cowley cashed twice for Boston. Other Boston goals went to Don Gallinger and Norm Calladine, while Bill Thoms, George Allen and Earl Seibert also counted for Chicago.

Hawks led 5-2 entering the third period when Bruins staged a mild flurry, Cowley netting Art Jackson's pass at 2.24, and Gallinger making it 5-4 three minutes later on a play with Calladine and Dit Clapper. Smith clinched things 48 seconds from the finish by converting Billy Mosienko's pass.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(AP)—Mexican sport fans are getting so enthusiastic over baeball that Mexico City newspapers are spending a lot of money to get box scores on Cuban Winter League games, in which a few Mexicans are playing. . . . Come to think of it, while they're talking about bringing California cities into the big leagues after the war, why not Mexico City too?

Ruined Bruins

During the Boston Bruins-Detroit Red Wings hockey game last weekend, Boss Art Ross of the Bruins was summoned to the telephone by a newspaperman, who told him that his son, Art, Jr., had shot up two German barges in France. . . . Replied Ross: "I'm glad somebody in the family is doing well, because we're taking a pasting here right now."

Today's Guest Star

Billy Kelly, Buffalo Courier-Express: "The idea that a man is able to play baseball or football but can't pass his draft board physical has been the subject of considerable scoffing. But records show that even in normal times many ballplayers have many ills. Bellyaches are so common in baseball that it is almost an occupational shortcoming. In fact, bellyaches on the bench are the chief cause of headaches among managers and in the front office."

Holstein Cow Brings $5,100 At Sale

OAKVILLE, Nov. 12—In the first of a series of all-Canadian-bred cattle auction sales, aimed at distributing the best breeding stock available across Canada and the United States, the Holsteins Thursday had their day when consignors from the Maritimes and the West parted with 69 pedigreed cows and bulls for a total of $71,610, an average of $1,037 an animal. Over 2,000 buyers packed H. S. Wilson's arena, midway between Toronto and Hamilton.

Milking well over 70 pounds a day, Meadowood Abbekerk Rag Apple took the auction record when this fine 3-year-old was knocked down for $5,100 to Glenn L. Bancroft, Flint, Mich. She was consigned by J. E. Chandler, Meadowood Farm, Hudson Heights, Que. Her new American owner operates some 2,600 acres near Flint, has over 400 head of black and whites, raises bulls as foundation sires, sells 500 gallons of milk a day to Flint's war industries and public schools.

Pays $2,000 for Bull

The highest price for a bull was paid over by H. J. McFarlane Picton, who purchased Hays' Great Journey for $2,000. Consigned by Hays & Co., Calgary, the 8-months-old calf is a maternal brother to Hays' Inka Alamonda, champion bull calf at the last Canadian National Exhibition showings in 1940. Several representatives of the best Holstein herds in Canada sold for over $2,000, most of these going to American buyers. Miss Sarah van Hoosen-Jones, Rochester, paid $2,400 for Hays' Princess Palestine. Ray McLaughlin, Oshawa, sold Elmcroft Francy Triune to H. L. Guilbert, Vercheres, Que., for $2,000. J. E. Chandler's consignment of six animals all brought over $2,000 each.

One of the most fortunate sellers was Hon. J. Walter Jones, Premier of Prince Edward Island, who brought a consignment of three cows and two bulls from Charlottetown. Canadian butterfat producing champion in her class, Abegweit Lorna Regina, a fine 4-year-old Holstein, was listed in the catalogue as "expected to calve shortly after the sale." The calf, however, was born on the train, and the cattle fanciers applauded as fond mother and son were lead into the ring. She lowed affectionately as the young bull helped himself to a liquid luncheon. Abegweit Lorna Regina, who has produced 17,770 pounds of milk, sold for $2,000. Her calf went for $400.

RARE VINTAGE IN THE MAKING—A British soldier of the Allied Eighth Army is shown helping two Italian girls tread grapes for wine production. Those calloused feet, which evidently pounded many a long trail in pursuit of the fleeing Nazis, should help turn out a very special vintage.

Cattle, Lambs Show Increase

TORONTO, Nov. 12 — (CP). — Cattle gained 25 cents cwt. and lambs 50 cents, in trade on the livestock market here this week. Other price changes were confined to a slight weakness in hogs.

Stocks of good beef had dwindled in the coolers and demand was keen for any grade from medium upward. Prices on most grades of cattle were higher despite a liberal run. A few hundred boners and plan stockers were unsold. Weighty steers sold at $10.50 to $12.50 with a half dozen choice at $12.75 Butcher steers and heifers were $10 to $11.25 with a few at $11.50. Butcher cows sold at $7 to $8.50 with canners downward to $5. Bulls were $7 to $9. Fed yearlings sold at $12 to $13.50. Stockers ranged from $8 to $10.75 with stock calves up to $12. Good milkers and springers were steady at $130 to $160 each.

Veal calves sold at $15 to $15.50 for choice with common downward to $10. Grassers were $7.50 to $8 cwt

Lambs were active on what was probably the last sizeable run of the year. Good ewes and wethers closed at $12.50 to $12.75. Bucks were $1 cwt. discount and culls sold at $9 to $10.

Sheep were steady at from $4 for culls up to $7.50 cwt. for the good light cows.

Hogs were easier at $16.75 dressed for the basic grade with the sows at $13 dressed. Some Western sows were unsold.

ruin of a railway causeway attacked there recently.

The Mediterranean Air Force also bombed targets near Annecy in the French Alps.

These attacks followed a pair of blows the previous 24 hours at Modane, at the French end of the Mount Cenis railway tunnel from Italy by the R.A.F., and at Bolzano on the Italian end of the rail line through the Brenner Pass to Austria, by Mediterranean-based American bombers.

Britain - based Mosquitoes also made a three-ply attack on Berlin, Hanover and the Rhur, in one of their biggest operations, the Air Ministry said. Airfield and railway targets in France and the Low Countries were attacked by intruder patrols and mines were laid in enemy waters.

In the night's operations seven bombers and a fighter were lost.

Publisher Dies Owned 3 Papers

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 12 (CP). — George James Shipley, publisher of three weekly newspapers for many years, died Wednesday at the home of his son, Charles, here after a three years' illness. He was in his 87th year.

Born in Elora, Ont., he published the Ailsa Craig Banner for a number of years, the paper at Ayton, Ontario, and the Tavistock Gazette, before coming to London in 1916. He was employed by the Lawson and Jones Printing Company for 13 years, retiring in 1929.

Surviving are four sons: George of Toronto, Clifford of St. Thomas, Charles of London; and Austin of Chicago.

The funeral will be held here on Saturday.

Veterans Protest Foreign Flags

NAIGARA FALLS, N.Y., Nov. 12 (AP).—Protests from veterans' organizations resulted yesterday in elimination of a display of German and Japanese flags at an Armistice Day service arranged for the First Congregational Church by the Inter-Church Committee of the Niagara Falls Religious Fellowship.

"It was agreed that use of the flags should be abandoned because they might be likely to give offence to residents of the community," Rev. Robert B. Day, president of the Religious Fellowship, said. The Fellowship is an organization of Protestant ministers in Niagara Falls.

Leaders Fear Another Coal Crisis

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(AP).—A majority of the War Labor Board believes another coal crisis in the United States is possible and, in effect, pleaded poverty of authority today to deal with it.

Industry members of the board addressed themselves directly to Congress in a statement urging immediate consideration of amendments to the War Labor Board Disputes Act "to require responsibility of unions and to provide additional protection for workers, employers and the public against those who misuse the power presently permitted."

The three public members of the board said possibility of new labor troubles "...must of necessity bring into the forefront of consideration and discussion the whole question of the responsibility of unions for anti-social acts and of the capacity of government as at present constituted to prevent such acts."

W.L.B. spokesmen said this was an expression of the board's feeling that it may need additional powers if another crisis arises.

"Legislative sanctions more thorough-going than now exist," the opinion added, "may be required unless organized labor itself demonstrates from now on its determination to...comply with the orderly processes of government which have been set up to cope with war-time conditions."

The opinion was signed by Chairman William H. Davis, Vice-Chairman George W. Taylor and Dr. Frank P. Graham. The fourth public member, Wayne L. Morse, dissented. The industry statement was signed by George Mead, Reuben Robertson, James Tanham and Walter Margetts.

Arrest Soldier Peddling Gifts

TORONTO, Nov. 12 — (CP). — A soldier who spent three years overseas in the present war was arrested by Toronto police early to-day after complaints from North Toronto that a man in uniform was attempting to sell Christmas gifts addressed to men in the armed forces overseas.

After questioning the suspect, police recovered a stolen mail truck containing four bags of mail and numerous parcels. Some of the parcels had been opened and articles sold, they said, adding that now all the missing goods were accounted for.

The truck was stolen last night from Bay and Charles streets in Central Toronto.

BANCROFT
Man Struck By Car After Leaving Bus

BANCROFT, Nov. 12 (ENS). — Frank Labarge of Maynooth is in the Bancroft Hospital suffering from cuts on the head and injuries in the leg received then he was knocked down by a car driven by Fred Evans of Clairmont

Mr. Labarge arrived home around 7 o'clock on Wednesday evening, and had just stepped off the bus when he walked directly into the path of the oncoming car. He was unconscious when he was picked up and taken to Bancroft, where he as attended by Dr. O. W. Anderson.

Because of his deafness, it is believed he failed to hear the approaching machine, and the driver had no opportunity to avoid hitting him.

after hearing a long charge by Chief Justice Sir Oscar Bedford Daly.

Crowds gathered outside. De Marigny smoked cigarets chain fashion at the police station. Nancy, who from the beginning had stuck to her faith in her husband's innocence and testified for him as the final witness, fidgetted in a nearby office while friends tried to calm her.

Then at 7.10 p.m. jurors gave the sign that they were ready with a verdict.

The Chief Justice returned to the bench. De Marigny ducked once more into the prisoner's dock where he had remained throughout the trial except for his appearance on the witness stand.

Her face white, Nancy sat in a chair near the door.

At 7.15 p.m. the jury filed back into the room. Nearly five minutes passed before the courtroom could be quieted for Foreman James Sands to announce the verdict.

"Not guilty, 9 to 3," said Sands. It was 7.20 p.m.

De Marigny made straight for his wife and they embraced. No one was permitted to leave the courtroom until, arms around each other, Nancy and her husband had gone outside.

The Chief Justice said he only could pass the recommendation along to authorities. Lawyers privately commented that there is no legal basis for deportation.

Heads Bankers

MONTREAL, Nov. 12 — (CP).—S. M. Wedd, Toronto, was elected president of the Canadian Bankers Association at its annual meeting Thursday. Mr. Wedd succeeds Charles St. Pierre, Montreal.

Vice-Presidents elected were Robert Rae, Toronto; S. G. Dobson Toronto; B. C. Gardner, Montreal and H. D. Burns, Toronto.

eral days, and possibly a week, to mount a big artillery and infantry attack for an opposed river crossing, one of the most difficult operations in war.

The weather is getting worse too with snow falling in the mountains and progress is going to be slow. When the north side of the Sangro is won, however, the Germans probably will be forced to withdraw to or beyond the Chieti-Rome highway, for it would be practically impossible for the enemy to make a firm stand between the Sangro and the highway.

Holding 5th Army

Enemy pressure on the front at the moment is concentrated on the 5th Army, pressing towards Cassino, on the main inland highway leading directly to Rome, about 85 miles by road.

The Germans have from seven to 10 divisions along the whole of the front, and probably as many as five are opposing the 5th Army. However, a number of these divisions are greatly reduced in strength and some of those which fought at Salerno and in delaying actions to the northwards are likely to be withdrawn for a rest.

The German army is fighting with practically no air support and they have to rely on a defensive pattern of machine-guns, mortars and artillery. Tanks are no great factor in the area where the armies now are linked in battle.

On the Allies side day and night bombing by air forces from Italian, Sicilian, Sardinian and Corsican airfields is beginning to make an impressive dent in the German supply lines.

Now bombers are ranging methodically over Northern Italy. Battered Naples is being used as a supply fort for the 15th Army group and this reduces the load and the hauls from Taranto in the southeast.

Peterborough druggists helped put the Pharmaceutical Association over the top in their War Savings Stamp drive with a country-wide total of $650,813, when the objective was $300,000. This drive was held in September.

HOME ON LEAVE

Leading Seaman Cecil Courneya, R.C.N.V.R., is spending 30 days leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Courneya, 63 Olive avenue. Seaman Courneya was on the same ship as Coder Ralph Freure, whose mother received word recently of his untimely death.

GOES TO REFORMATORY

Convicted of an indecent assault upon a 14-year-old boy, Fred Hamilton, 32, Mark street, was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley K.C., in police court Thursday afternoon to four months definite and two months indeterminate in the Ontario Reformatory. The case was tried in camera.

TRIBUTE IS PAID

A tribute was paid to the memory of J. Percy Bond at the annual banquet of the Ladies' Softball League at the Kawartha Club Thursday night when a minute's silence was observed. The sportsman who passed on a few days ago was the donor of a trophy that was long emblematic of the senior championship of the league until it was won outright a year ago by the Westclox team.

Canada Must Develop Along Lines Worthy Of Sacrifices Of Her Sons

That Legionnaires must stand together and see to it that Canada develops along lines worthy of the sacrifices her fighting sons have made and are making was the exhortation of Brigadier-General Alex Ross, C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., to members of Canadian Legion Branch No 52, gathered in the Legion Hall Thursday night in remembrance of the Armistice signed a quarter of a century ago. "We can only consider ourselves demobilized when we have made for ourselves and our children the opportunities we never had in the years following the First World War," he said.

Brigadier General Ross, himself a company commander in the front lines in France in the last war, addressed a large crowd of veterans which filled the hall to capacity, and brought back to mind many of the experiences and sentiments shared by Canadian troops who fought and lived on the battlefields and in the trenches of Flanders and Northern France 25 years ago.

Not all the responsibility for making Canada a land of greater opportunity for returning servicemen rested with government, General Ross made clear. To have employment available for everybody, to teach skills to those who had gone off to war straight from school, required as well the cooperation of the men themselves and of the general public.

"Returning from the last war," General Ross went on, "we knew nothing about problems of reconstruction; we thought nothing about them; and we have suffered from it since. We lost any and every conception of our postwar duty, we disintegrated and let our unity as soldiers melt away. Today we are remobilized for one distinct purpose—to pass on to our sons and daughters the teachings of our own experience. It would be an unfortunate thing if we could not accomplish this much."

Legion an Inspiration

Major James Hamilton, in a brief message of welcome on behalf of the city, said that the Canadian Legion was an inspiration to all to make Canada "the great and glorious country we all want it to be." He felt that the Legion could do much towards building a feeling of friendship among all the Allied nations, a friendship that would be needed in the days of peace.

Mayor Heads For Hunting Grounds After Very Busy Week In City

Mayor Hamilton was deputing his duties this morning to Alderman Glover for a few days at Ketchecum Lake which were planned for the fore part of this week but were postponed from day to day by city business.

Before telephoning to Alderman Glover, Mayor Hamilton called Alderman Cotton, but the dean of the council was away hunting.

Incidentally, the mayoral assignment sheet for Thursday kept him on the move from morning to night. That one day's program began about nine o'clock with a drive into Smith township, accompanying several engineers from the Federal Department of Transport who came to Peterborough in response to the council's request to the department for engineering assistance in estimating the cost of an airport and field on a Smith property upon which the council has already expended considerable attention.

Remembrance Day Job

Mayor Hamilton arrived back in the city in time for the Remembrance Day ceremony at Confederatino Square. He was then luncheon guest of Judge Smoke who was entertaining Brigadier-General Alex Ross at his home, guest speaker at the morning and evening events arranged by the Canadian Legion.

His Worship began the afternoon with a second meeting with the Department engineers, and then conferred with representatives of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, including their president N. Hamblin, in regard to their proposed delegation to Ottawa to consult the Department of Munitions and Supply regarding pending lay-off at Genelco Limited of 150 emlpoyees.

A return call to the city hall, and then Mayor Hamilton had nothing to do until the evening dinner with which the Legion completed its commemoration of Remembrance Day.

Airport Shadow

Mayor Hamilton was reluctant to discuss both the airport talks and also the details of his civic work day, and for two reasons, the one because discussion would be premature, the other because it might sound too personal.

Aldermen Dutton, Glover and Sands sat in on the afternoon meeting with the departmental engineers.

"We have to wait until their report is prepared for the Minister, and we get a copy of it," Mayor Hamilton said.

He confirmed a rumor which had come to reportorial hearing that a rough estimate of the cost of airport up the Chemong Road was around $900,000. When that sum of close to seven figures was mentioned to one of the aldermen he shook his heard and remarked that probably the council would have to strike the airfield off the Peterborough list of projects for its "five year plan."

Union Problem

Mayor Hamilton also mentioned the conversation he had with Mr. Hamblin of the Electrical Workers and Machinists, and said he was in favor of having the council represented in the delegation which is expected to go to Ottawa as soon as an appointment is obtained.

"If there is anything the city council can do in behalf of 150 of its citizens, I feel sure all the members would wish to do so," His Worship said. "That is my feeling, but if the appointment comes along over the week-end I'll not be here. I really feel I am entitled to a few days in the woods, and I shall be leaving it in good hands of Alderman Glover."

Bear Gets Stewed

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Nov. 12—(AP). — Game Warden Bruce Neal, answering a complaint that a bear had broken into a dugout where some beer was cashed, found the animal frolicking in a tree. On the ground was the evidence — several dozen broken beer bottles. The animal, Neal said, evidently was "gloriously drunk." The bear missed the hangover. Neal shot it.

Tons Of Poultry Await Market

Activities along the agricultural front are moving into narrower limits as farmers mop up with plowing and turnip harvesting and generally batten down the premises for the winter.

Prince Edward county reported that up to Monday they were still picking tomatoes for the basket trade in Ottawa and Montreal. Demand for apples is the keenest in years, and also at ceiling prices. Frontenac is nolding more heifers for winter feeding than usual.

"With the shortage of labor young cattle are more easily tended than milking stock. Hog production is definitely on the decline. Hog producers claim prices are too low in comparison with the cost of food. Egg production is increasing, but the market is strong."

Little Pigs Unpopular

"Liquidation of sows is continuing in Grey, and little pigs "are not wanted". This is all due to the feed situation, and the high price being asked for western grains. Turnips are the feature cash crop in Wellington district this year with prices 50 to 75 cents a bushel.

Lambton county mentions a shortage of milk and an active demand for good milk cows Sarnia dairies have to go far afield to secure their milk supply.

This is the poultry outlook in Lambton: "There are many hundreds of tons of poultry (hens and chickens) on our farms waiting for a market. The five poultry processing plants, serving the farms of the county, are unable to handle the poultry offering. The huge quantities offered and the lack of storage space in the larger market centres are given as reasons for reduced outlet. Farmers are anxious to market the birds. Mostly all farmers have to purchase western grain to feed their poultry. Detroit and Michigan markets are the natural outlet, but an embargo closes that."

Papal Broadcast

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP). — The Berlin radio quoted Swiss Catholic sources last night as saying that Pope Pius XII "will broadcast an important address next week." The date and subject were not announced in the broadcast, recorded by CBS.

Savings Clubs Pass $200 For War Victims

In their own way, the Stamp out Hitler Clubs organized by Bob Everett of the Empress Hotel staff, have been doing a good job to assist the war effort, with the dual purpose of assisting in the sale of war savings stamps, and giving a boost to the victims of air raids over Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund.

Both objectives may be termed life-savers, for the more help the active forces receive in equipment the more protection afforded them, and this is given through the funds thus made available, while the help that goes to those whose homes have been destroyed, undoubtedly has a beneficial effect on their future existence.

By steady weekly work, these various clubs have now given $204.50 to this fund, counting the $8 recorded to-day, and this means that they have also bought a total of $816 in war savings stamps.

In this latest contribution the Canada Packers, and Kiwanis Clubs take a very dominant part, with Nurse T. Yelland, and Messrs C. Gardner, M. McFee and V. Grady being winners in the former, and Stan Longhurst, Charles Saunders and Dick Raine being winners in the latter, while Mrs. Choate was the winner in the Selkirk's Men's Shop Club to complete the report on this occasion.

Orange Ladies Donate $5.

The members of L. O. B. A. No. 650, of which Mrs. M Wood is the W. M., have today made a donation of $5. to the Christmas Cheer Fund, and what is perhaps more significant in their desire to be of help, is the fact that they are starting the sale of tickets for a draw on two prizes consisting of a Cushion and a Goose donated for that purpose as a first and second prize, which will be brought to a close with the draw being made on December 8, in order to add a second contribution.

Two penny boxes are listed today, both collections being made Thursday by the secretary of the fund from the boxes at the Empress Hotel and the Silver Moon Grill, which between them reach almost $10, to make a total return from the boxes stand at $1,926.66 to date.

Last Reminder

This Friday night, the draw for seven prizes donated and sponsored by Victor Caban, Senior, will be made at the Canadian Legion Hall by G. Gimblett, president of the Branch 52, and all tickets still at large should be taken there in order to participate for any prizes offered.

Then, on Saturday, the stall on the market will be supplied and operated by the members of the Honor Bound class at George Street United Church Sunday School, under the supervision of Mrs. E. S. Kingdon, their teacher, this being particularly for the Christmas Cheer fund.

Wood Cutting Jobs Popular With Farmers

Interest of Peterborough district farmers in wood cutting has been revived since autumn set in by the stimulus of such prices that haven't been heard at roadside piling places since the Kaiser went into the same business.

"As soon as they put the plow away for the winter some of them are taking to the woods, attracted by the present prices," said Arthur Thompson, "and according to what we hear there is likely to be a lot of wood cut this winter. May be lots of it next Spring. This time last winter you hardly got anybody interested."

Sgt. George Hall RCAF Now Reported Dead

Sgt. George Hall, R.C.A.F., who was reported missing March 15, is now officially presumed dead, according to word received by his wife who lives at 12 Crescent Avenue.

Before enlisting in 1941, Sergt. Hall was employed at the De Laval and the C.G.E. and had been instructor for the Examiner Carrier Boys' Harmonica Band, which won the championship at the Canadian National Exhibition. He took a pilot's course, but on his last raid was listed as a bomb-aimer.

Up to the time he was missing, his wife, now discharged, was serving in the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F., and there survive in addition, three children, and his father John Hall.

24 Inches Of Snow

PORT BURWELL, Ont., Nov. 12 — (CP). — Emergency snow plow crews from the Department of Highways yesterday fought snow-blocked roads after the worst blizzard in the history of Port Burwell blanketed the district with 18 to 24 inches of snow, trapping several motorists and forcing them to sleep in their automobiles.

New Car Designs Take 18 Months

Motorists cannot expect to find cars of new design on the market until at least 18 months after the end of the war, and they will be lucky if they can even get cars built on present lines in six or eight months after the automotive industries return to peacetime production, it was stated Thursday by William S. Cowell, manager of Equipment Sales and Engineering Canadian Raybestos Company.

In speaking to a meeting of the Kinsmen Club at the Empress Hotel, Mr. Cowell said it was certain new models would not be reaching the market as soon as most people expected. "From drawing board to purchaser's hands it will take a good year and a half for any cars of new design," he said.

Mr. Cowell also predicted that for some time after the return to peace the same types of cars produced before the motor companies all-out conversion to war production were going to cost substantially more than they did when first brought out. This would be because of the higher costs for labor and raw materials.

Weight Reduced

He said it was probable that the weight of new models would gradually be reduced by greater use of plastic and lower-grade aluminum; that gallonage per mile would be increased through the advent of high octane fuel for general use; and that the automatic clutch was likely to become universal in all cars.

Shortly after the war began, Mr. Cowell said, representatives of the automotive industries of Canada were called upon to assist in designing brakes for Army vehicles. Their work had been so well done that no changes had been found necessary since that time, and reports from abroad indicated that maintenance work on Canadian vehicles had always been at a minimum. American experts in engineering had been unanimous in affirming that the Dominion had done a marvellous job in the auto done a marvellous job in the automotive industry, the speaker added.

Mr. Cowell was introduced by Stuart Munro, and the vote of thanks was moved by W. E. Fanning.

Court Dismisses Potato Charge Against Strano

A charge against B. R. Strano of wholesaling potatoes to Latimer's Grocery Store at a price higher than the ceiling price was dismissed by Magistrate E. A. Gee in the Police Court this morning.

Five other similar charges against Strano and six against his wife were adjourned.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., who prosecuted the case, intimated that he would recommend to the enforcing officers of the War Time Prices and Trade Board that an appeal should be entered.

Law Rescinded.

At this morning's session it was shown that the section fixing the wholesale price of new potatoes brought into the picture by defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair had been rescinded in June.

However, Magistrate Gee found that a later section in regard to re-sale by a wholesaler brought the price at which Strano had sold the potatoes within the ceiling.

Strano testified to-day that he had made the trip to Toronto to get the potatoes expecting to get 40 or 50 bags, but had only been able to procure ten. He had to wait for hours at the refrigerator car to get them, then truck them to Peterborough and deliver them to retailers here. He had bought the potatoes at $3.01 a bag and sold them at $3.91. Everybody was clamoring for potatoes at that time, he said.

Recruiting Officer Enlists 2 Air Cadets

Already the Air Cadet Squadron in Peterborough is making its contribution to the personnel of the RCAF as two of the nine recruits who were enlisted as air crew this week are Air Cadets Hugh Johnstone Brightman, 213 Rutherford Avenue, and William Allan Barrie, 423 Mark Street.

The other enlistments are Edard Vincent Freeman, R.R. No. 5, Peterborough; Keith Stewart Summers, Baptiste; Douglas Albert Metherel, 268 Reid Street; Roger Hamilton McQuade, 56 Third Avenue; Arthur Henry Barnes, Wallace Mitchell Tullis, and Raymond Joseph Garvey, all of Peterborough.

City Mails 3,000 Cards To Service Personnel

Although more than 3,000 City of Peterborough Christmas cards left in the mails more than a week ago en route to Peterborough men and women on Active Service abroad and at home there are still a few hundred more of these attractive cards available at the City Hall.

If the parents or relatives of any Peterborough man or woman on Active Service would like personally to assure themselves that their boy or girl will receive one of these cards, they may call at the City Clerk's office and receive one for personal mailing.

Kingston Plan Costs $4,000,000

Kingston has begun the promotion of a $4,000,000 post-war development plan. The City Council, Chamber of Commerce, Service Clubs and Canadian Legion are cooperating in a publicity campaign to bring immediately before public attention a group of projects which are regarded as desirable for the future of Kingston and also as fitting into post-war work schemes.

Items mentioned are:—waterfront and harbor development $1,000,000; sewage disposal plant $1,500,000; civic sports forum $250,000; new railway station and terminal $500,000, and a number of smaller projects.

Alderman James de St. Remy, head of the City Council Post-War Planning subcommittee, inserted in the Whig-Standard recently a full page advertisement, paid for by himself, inviting public discussion and interest.

"Let us see today with the eyes of tomorrow" was the keynote of the appeal.

Social Credit Plan Frowns On Force

WINNIPEG, Nov. 12 (CP)—"Social Credit has no intention of using force or upsetting the constitution when it comes to power," said John Blackmore, parliamentary leader of the Social Credit party, Thursday in an interview here.

He was commenting on a speech of Harold Winch, C.C.F. leader in British Columbia at Calgary Nov. 9 in which Mr. Winch was reported to have said that the power of the police and military would be used to force those opposed to socialism to obey the law.

Mr. Blackmore said Social Credit did not plan to socialize industry and did not intend to take over the banks.

Delay Sow Shipments

TORONTO, Nov. 12 — (CP). — V. S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, said yesterday the Federation joins with the Canadian Meat Board and the Federal Department of Agriculture in requesting farmers to withhold their sows from the market until the present increase in volume has been handled.

Game Wardens Lay Charges Against Hunters

The question of just where the eastern boundary of the Peterborough Game Preserve lies entered largely into a case heard before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning and eventually resulted in a long adjournment.

Pte. Max Post, Oak Lake, and recently back from overseas, was charged with carryng a loaded firearm in the game preserve and pleaded not guilty.

Similar charges were made against Fred Post, Isaac Post and Bruce Post and against A. Selkirk of Peterborough, all of whom entered pleas of not guilty.

Game and Fishery Overseers Norman Sitwell of Toronto and Stanley Windsor of Peterborough were responsible for the charges.

Lack Proper Map

They testified this morning that they had seen Pte. Max Post, along with four other men on the shore of the west bay of Oak Lake Thursday morning, carrying a loaded rifle. They declared that Post was three-quarters of a mile west of the eastern boundary.

W. J. Arthur Fair, who defended Post, asked if the officers had a certified map of the game preserve, showing the boundaries and objected to the map produced which he said was merely a road map.

Pte. Post testified that there was another slashed road half a mile west of where he had been found with three game preserve signs and that he had always understood that that was the eastern boundary of the park.

The cases were adjourned at this stage to permit of a proper map and a copy of the order-in-council setting forth the boundaries being obtained.

Cars Badly Damaged In Night Collision

Two cars were badly damaged and one driver received a cut on the head as the result of a collision at McDonnel and Reid streets Thursday night.

Reginald Dunham, 420 Donegal street, was the driver who was injured. He was travelling east on McDonnel street and at the Reid street intersection his automobile and another machine driven south on Reid street by Gerald Armstrong, 195 Reid street, met in collision.

The damage to Dunham's car included a broken wheel, a bent front axle, a broken door and two tires damaged, the total estimated at $100, while Armstrong's automobile was damaged to the extent of $65, radiator, headlights and fenders suffering.

Conscript Reds

CAIRO, Nov. 12.—(AP).—Advices yesterday from the Partisan Headquarters of Gen. Josip Broz (Drug Tito) said the Germans are conscripting Russian prisoners of war for active service in the Balkans and explained the presence of these troops by calling them Japanese volunteers.

Hogs Congest Plants

WINNIPEG, Nov. 12—(CP)—Winnipeg packing plants faced with the greatest congestion of hogs in their history yesterday received an order from L. W. Pearsall of Ottawa, managing secretary of the meat board, to give priority to the slaughter of bacon hogs.

A TALL BONNET STORY — This bonnet with its high pouch crown and soft brim cut squarish over the brow, is of soft, light gray felt. Flame color velvét band, big buckle of antique hammered silver.

The bonnet and the cloche get together in many of the new season's hats, some very dressy for the best afternoon through dinner occasions, others softly dramatic for wear with smartly tailored clothes. The hat pictured here today is of the latter persuasion, and it will look lovely with suits or wool frocks.

The engagement of Germaine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dion, to Henry W. De LePlante, son of Mrs. O. M. De LaPlante, and the late Mr. De LaPlante, has been announced. The marriage will take place late in November.

Teresa Catherine Torpey Is Wed To Warren Mackey

The wedding of Teresa Catherine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Torpey, to Warren Thomas Mackey, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Mackey, was solemnized recently in Immaculate Conception Church. Very Rev. Dean F. J. O'Sullivan officiated, performing the ceremony and saying the nuptial mass before an altar decorated with ferns and chrysanthemums. During the ceremony and the signing of the register vocal selections, including "Ave Maria" and "On This Day," were sung by Mrs. D. Campanaro, accompanied by Mrs. J. A. MacDonald, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy white embroidered crepe, simply fashioned on princess lines, with a slight train, and full-length sleeves extending to a point over each wrist. Her fingertip veil of French net was caught with a Dutch cap of the same material as her gown, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums. Her only jewelry was a dainty pearl-studied gold pendant.

Miss Patricia Mackey, sister of the groom, was the bride's only attendant. Her floor-length frock of pink chiffon was accented at the waistline with rows of smocking, and she wore a Dutch hat of pink taffeta. Her cascade bouquet was of shaded pink chrysanthemums. Mr. Jack Doherty was best man, and the ushers were Don Anderson and Frank Butler.

At the reception, held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother received, wearing a dress of powder blue crepe and a corsage of Bettertime roses. The groom's mother, who also received, was dressed in navy blue crepe and wore a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

For travelling the bride wore a suit of baby blue wool crepe, a pink feather hat, brown coat and accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

Good Attendance At Chapter Tea

A beautifully decorated table graced the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. Thursday afternoon, when the 57th Regiment Chapter I.O.D.E. gave its annual Remembrance Day tea. The table, spread with a lace cloth, was centred with an artistic arrangement of fruit, which was flanked by four red candles in ingeniously decorated holders.

Mrs. A. Turner, Regent of the Chapter, and Mrs. G. H. Cutmore, 1st vice-president, received the guests, who were served tea, and dainty sandwiches and cakes. Tea was poured by Mrs. R. E. Clarke, Mrs. W. G. Hall, Mrs W. E. Conway, and Miss M. W Rogers

Mrs. E. Graham was in charge of the tea table, and the tea assistants were Mrs. T. H. Floyd, Mrs. D. J. Eldred, Mrs. D. A. Loomis, Mrs. G.R. Melton, Mrs P. D. Brown, Mrs. A. G. Stock, Mrs R. G. Cotrell, and Mrs. M. J. Swanston.

The members of the Chapter have been selling tickets on a painting donated by Miss Gertrude Cox. The draw was held at the tea, and Mrs. W Addyman, Lansdowne Street, was the winer of the lovely still-life

Double Shower

A double shower was held at the home of Miss Helen Friendship on Thursday evening, and Mrs. Clinton Crowe, nee Lucia Morrad, and Mrs. Royal Clark, nee Connie Panzarella, were guests of honor. Miss Isabel Graham entertained at the piano, and a lunch was served by the hostess. Those present were: Mrs. R. Killen, Mrs. M. Miles, Mrs. G. Patterson, Mrs. C. Friendship, the two guests of honor, and Misses Florence Reid, Margaret Vincent, Jean O'Donnell, Dimple Dunn, Marguerite Avery, Viva Harris, Thelma Revoy, Winnie Lynn, Blanche Murphy, Iva Graham, Gladys Carew, Agatha Ireland, Margaret Hodson Leona Wilson, and Helen Friendship.

Forum Discusses Planning

Central Smith Radio Forum started this week with fourteen members present. The meeting had the radio topic, "Why Plan?" after which the members discussed the subject. They suggested ensuring a good living for every farmer; coordination, and the disposing of surplus and the producing of A1 products to hold the markets. The members also appointed new officers. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bulmer are leaders, Mrs. Roland Scott is secretary, and Mrs. Lorne Reynolds is the social convener. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore, and the radio discussion topic will be, "Prices and Planning." At the close of the meeting a lunch was served by the ladies.

Mark Street Baby Band

The mothers of the Mark Street Baby Band met at the home of Mrs. G. M. Hill, Wallace street, opening with a thought from Winston Currie, "I know my Redeemer liveth, and because He lives, I too shall live." Three poems of Mr. Currie's were also read by Mrs. G. Hopcroft, Mrs. Hill, and Mrs. H. J. Hunter Allen. Plans were made for a crokinole party to be held at Mrs. Hopcroft's home, and Mrs. K. Ferguson and Mrs. Allen were appointed a nominating committee, to bring in a new slate of officers at the December meeting this meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Allen, 112 Hunter street. The meeting closed with refreshments served by the hostess.

DEFEATING THE WEATHER—Warm enough, water repellent enough, to keep any child warm and dry in sloppy, chilly weather, this cotton coat, wool lined, is a handy possession for schooldays.

Many a school lad is not preparing to meet Jack Frost along with the higher education as the season advances. For him, it's a rare day indeed when the rain falls or the thermometer falls below 60 degrees. But when the weather man kicks up a show of temper in any real estate man's paradise, it is a mean time, and a garment not too heavy or warm, to break the wind and shed the storm, is essential to a youngster. This kasha lined, cotton poplin coat which is treated to be water repellent fills the bill. Moreover, ordinary soil and non-greasy spots can be sponged off its surface neatly with a soapy cloth. Colors are tan and teal; button or zipper fastening.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

For Saturday, November 13

THE MUTUAL and lunar aspects of the highly vibrating planets in our chain give impetus to the finer and most advanced experiences and ventures of life, on this day. This probably to the suppression of aims and objectives of a more material or realistic nature. Perhaps this is in connection with honors or preferment bestowed. Business in relation to such may have a surprising turn. But over all glamor, and personality, secrets, intrigues dominate the scene.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of much pleasurable attainment, in which the ideals, aspirations and most refined and advanced qualities hold sway over the sordid, realistic and commonplace. It seems a happy time for dedication to the pursuit of pleasure in its loftier expressions, with personality, romance, glamor or spiritual forces overshadowing affairs even proving a determining factor in a surprising turn in a business venture. Withal there is a presage of the fortunes being solidified by such idealistic methods.

A child born on this day, while possessing much creative talents, with originality and independence, yet may be highly idealistic, aspirational, intuitive and prophetic, with its pleasures and ambitions on a very high plane.

Gilmour News

The many friends of Dr. MacLean, pastor of Gilmour Church, are sorry to hear that he is ill in Nicholls Hospital.

Misses Jean and Doorthy Mann of Toronto spent the week-end at their home and their mother returned with them for a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scott entertained a number of their friends and neighbors at their home on Tuesday evening in honor of Sgt. Clare Telford. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and music under the leadership of Mrs. Lorne Reynolds and Mrs. Clayton Telford. At midnight lunch was served by the hostess.

Mrs. M. Short of Oakwood spent a couple of weeks at the home of T. McMullen.

Papers Reveal Japanese Are Liars

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP).—Details of another "so sorry, excuse, please" incident which strained Japanese-American relations five months before the United States entered the war were disclosed yesterday by the Department of State.

Diplomatic documents make the double-dealing Nipponese appear so anxious to avoid war in the summer of 1941 that they promised to stop bombing Chungking if the United States would only cool off and not take action when an American gunboat was attacked, but the bombing did not stop.

It began on a clear day July 30, 1941, when 25 heavy Japanese bombers dropped bombs near the American Embassy and the U.S.S. Tutuila, moored in the Yangtze River at Chungking.

American embassy officials in Chungking agreed that it was a deliberate attack.

Ambassador Kichi Saburo Nomura promised that the Japanese would "discontinue" bombing the "city area" of Chungking if the United States Government would not tell anyone that such a promise had been made. Welles said the incident was regarded as closed.

However, the Japanese Navy on Aug 8, 10, and 12 subjected Chungking to "unusually heavy and prolonged air raids," destroying at least one American residence.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull called in Ambassador Nomura and asked how come.

The Japanese Ambassador said the promise of the Japanese Government had been merely to cease bombing the city area "temporarily" and not indefintely.

The documents do not state whether he said he was sorry this time.

Legless Student Is Called To Bar

HALIFAX, Nov. 12 — (CP). — Frederick B. Roger, 31, son of an Ottawa druggist, was admitted to the Bar of Nova Scotia on Wednesday to climax a career of study from which the loss of the use of both legs never deterred him.

Stricken with infantile paralysis early in life, Roger first obtained a Bachelor of Arts degree from Queen's University, through a correspondence course, and last May received his Law degree from Dalhousie University here, after attending lectures for three years on his collapsible wheel chair.

He was driven daily to his lectures by his mother, Mrs. B. C. Roger, who stayed here with him during the three years. He wrote his final graduation exams in bed, however, because he broke a leg just before the exams.

Since May he has been articled to a Halifax law firm.

Seated in his wheel chair, Roger was admitted to the Bar before Mr. Justice R. H. Graham on the motion of H. P. MacKeen, K.C., president of the Nova Scotia Barristers' Association.

COLDS FIGHT MISERY where you feel it—rub throat, chest and back with time-tested VICKS VAPORUB

Mrs. W. E. Ball Hostess To Millbrook W.M.S.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 12 (ENS).—Group E of the W. M. S. of St. Andrew's Church had charge of the program for the November meeting, held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. E. Ball, with the president, Mrs. A. L. Sisco, taking the chair for the opening business period, during which announcement was made that the fall thankoffering has over-topped that of any previous year and now amounts to $72.00, with envelopes still to come in.

Mrs. Sisco also announced $15 from the sale of quilts, with one more to be sold, and another one to be quilted. Mrs. F. J. Smith gave the Christian stewardship message, and Mrs. John Rowland that on temperance: "A Waiter in a Beer Parlor Tells his Experience." Miss Ethel Hatherly and Mrs. Weston Fallis took the worship service and a solo by Mrs. H. W. Johnston preceded the chapter in the study book, covered by Mrs. Edmund Ball.

The W. M. S. Watchword closed the meeting, after the offering had been received, and a social hour was enjoyed before final dispersal.

Victory Recipes Approved By Experimental Kitchens

By LAURA C. PEPPER
Chief, Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture

Good cooking is both a science and an art. Some types of cooking are almost pure science and directions must be meticulously followed to ensure success.

Canning, bread making and cake making belong to the scientific type of cooking. Here, success depends upon obtaining certain physical and chemical reactions by blending ingredients in definite proportions and handling and cooking according to fixed methods and exact temperatures.

Soup making, salad making and the concoction of attractive and delicious dishes from a rather depressing looking collection of leftovers call for a certain amount of science but a greater amount of art. Here, imagination counts for much and the woman—or man—with a real flair for cooking experiments, adding a little of this and a dash of that, turns out a dish 'fit for a king.'

A good stock is the basis of many tasty and wholesome soups and with the return of waste-consciousness, the stock pot is coming into its own again. Into the stock pot go bones from meat or fowl—cooked or raw, trimmings of meat, outside leaves of cabbage and lettuce, water from cooked vegetables, celery tops, etc., and out of it comes flavorsome, economical soups, stock that adds distinction to sauces and gravies, and bones still of value to the salvage department.

Brown Stock

- 2 lbs. beef (soup bones, shank, neck or ribs)
- 1 tablespoon fat
- 2 quarts cold water
- 1 large onion
- 1 carrot
- 1 thin slice turnip
- 2 stalks celery or celery leaves
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 3 whole cloves
- 1 bay leaf
- ¼ teaspoon thyme, savory or sweet marjoram.

Brown meat lightly in fat. Add cold water, cover and simmer for 1½ hours. Add vegetables and seasonings and cook 1 hour longer. Strain through cheesecloth, cool and remove fat before using. To clear stock for consomme;—after fat has been removed crush 4 egg shells in 2 tablespoons water and add to stock. Bring to boiling point, stirring constantly and boil 5 minutes. Remove from heat, let stand 20 minutes and strain through cheesecloth. Stock will keep for some time in the refrigerator if vegetables are strained out.

Italian Gumbo

- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 1-3 cup flour
- 1 quart brown stock
- 1 pint tomato juice
- Salt, pepper, cayenne
- 2 tablespoons grated horseradish
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- ½ cup macaroni rings

Cook onion in fat 5 minutes. Add flour, stock and tomato juice and simmer 15 minutes. Season highly with salt, pepper and cayenne. Just before serving add horseradish, vinegar and macaroni, previously cooked and cut in rings. Makes about 1½ quarts.

Vegetable Soup

- 2 small slices salt pork or 2 tablespoons fat
- 1 small onion
- 2 tablespoons browned flour
- 2 cups finely shredded cabbage
- 1 cup finely diced potato
- ¼ cup finely diced turnip
- 1 cup tomato juice or canned tomatoes
- 1 cup finely diced carrot
- ¼ cup pot barley
- 2 quarts hot water
- Salt and pepper to taste

Cut salt pork in cubes and cook slowly to extract the fat. Add finely chopped onion and brown lightly. Sprinkle with the browned flour. Add prepared vegetables, barley, water and seasonings. Cover and cook slowly for 1 to 1½ hours. Makes about 2½ quarts. Meat or vegetable stock may be used instead of water.

Onion Soup

- 6 medium onions
- 2 tablespoons mild-flavored fat
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2-3 cups milk
- 1 quart bouillon or stock
- 6 slices toast
- ½ cup grated cheese

Cook sliced onions in water to cover for ½ hour. Rub through a sieve. Melt fat, blend in flour and gradually add milk. Stir until mixture thickens. Add sieved onions and bouillon, blending well. simmer 20 minutes. Place 1 slice of toast in each soup plate, pour soup over the top and sprinkle with grated cheese. Makes about 1 quart.

THE MANUFACTURE OF

is being INCREASED and EXTENDED

To meet the increased demands for all lines of children's underwear, plans were developed last summer with the manufacturers for stepping up production to the maximum and continuing it through the winter months. In normal times production is discontinued in the Fall, and most retailers receive the bulk of their supplies before winter sets in.

To facilitate the increased production, arrangements were made for appropriate supplies of yarns and other raw materials. Production quotas were worked out with manufacturers to make full use of the looms and equipment that can turn out these goods in Canada.

The extended production schedule will bring a continuing supply of new goods to retail stores during the winter.

Military needs as well as increased civilian requirements have put enormous strains on Canada's knit goods industry. The public is asked to co-operate by spreading its buying of children's underwear over the season.

Production of Children's Underwear in Canada:

1935-1939	Average Annual Production......	7,884,000	garments
1941	Year's Production..............	9,540,000	"
1942	" "	8,993,700	"
1943	Estimated Year's Production......	10,032,000	"

Pittsburgh Ties Providence Reds

By The Canadian Press

Roger Bessette made his debut in professional hockey as a Pittsburg goalie last night. The 23-year-old Montrealer, did a fine job of blanking Providence Reds during the first 23 minutes of play until Stan Kemp beat him with a pass from Windy Sherwood to tie the score at 1-1.

Lloyd Russell had scored for Hornets at 4:15 in the first period.

Bessette got the chance to mind Pittsburg's net when the regular goalie, Harvey Teno, went home to Windsor, Ont. And he certainly made an impression that may give him the job.

All six A.H.L. teams play two games this week-end. Hershey Bears remain the only undefeated team in the league.

Last Night's Stars

By The Canadian Press

Clint Smith, Chicago, who scored two goals and one assist as Black Hawks defeated Boston Bruins, 6-4.

Bill Cowley, Boston, who scored half the Bruins' goals at Chicago when Black Hawks trimmed them 6-4.

Lorne Carr, Toronto, who came through with a goal 18 seconds before the end of the game in which Toronto Maple Leafs tied Detroit Red Wings 2-2.

Jimmy Franks, Detroit, who played a brilliant game in the nets. He handled 35 shots and only allowed two past him, as Detroit Red Wings battled with Toronto Maple Leafs for a 2-2 tie.

Softball Loop Gives $100 For Corvette

Presentation of cheques for $100 each to the British War Victims' Fund and the H.M.C.S. Corvette Peterborough Fund featured the annual banquet of the Ladies' Softball League at the Kawartha Club Thursday night at which the champion Westclox and Brintons teams were honored.

The $200 donated to the two funds represented the proceeds of a draw promoted by the league, the players of the six league teams selling the tickets so successfully that this substantial amount was available.

The banquet was a most enjoyable windup to one of the most successful seasons in the history of the league. All the clubs were represented by practically their entire roster of players and other guests brought the attendance up to around the 100 mark.

W. C. Bennett, president of the League was a very efficient chairman and the program that followed the well-served meal was run off in good style.

In his introductory remarks President Bennett congratulated the league teams on their showing and thanked the officers of the league for their support. The season had been the most successful in the record of the loop from a financial standpoint, he said. In the absence on a hunting trip of Ald. Robert S. Cotton, the Cotton Cup, emblematic of the senior championship of the league was presented to the Westclox team by F. D. Craig. The Cotton trophy has been donated to the league by Ald. Cotton to replace the Bond Cup which was won outright by the Westclockers last season.

Isobel Bullock, captain of the Westclox team accepted the trophy and expressed the thanks of the champions in a neat speech.

C. P. Brown of the Western Clock Company, presented the Knox Cup, emblematic of the intermediate championship to the Brinton team, who have won the trophy two years in succession and Regina Killen, captain of the Brintons neatly voiced the thanks of her teammates as she accepted the trophy.

War Victims Remembered

In presenting the cheque for $100 to F. G. Mann of the British War Victims' Fund, President Bennett said that during the past summer they had been in the happy position of taking part in sport and bringing many hours of enjoyment to thousands of people who attended their games."

"However, during the season", said the chairman "we have never lost sight of those less fortunate, the people in the Motherland who during all these years of conflict have so nobly carried on the traditions of the British race."

In expressing fervent thanks for the donation, F. G. Mann pointed out that one of the great needs in Britain at the present time was fitting British children who had been victims of the blitz with artificial arms and legs. These had to be replaced as the children grew, the manager of the fund announced. The donation from the Softball League was doubly appreciated coming at this time when an objective of 1500 pounds was sought to provide Christmas cheer for British children and he hoped that their own Christmas would be all the happier because of the assistance they had given the victims of German bombs.

Gladys Mortimer, secretary of the League presented a cheque for $100 to George A. Macdonald of the corvette fund committee.

Mr. Macdonald in expressing thanks, stressed the fact that Peterborough had an obligation to see that the corvette named after this city was provided with the necessary comforts and he was sure that the players and officers of the league would be glad to have had a part in such a worthy cause. They were carrying the team work and spirit of cooperation that they had learned in their sport into a higher realm of service, he said.

Character Building Sport

The guest speaker, Rev. E. W. Rowland of Mark Street United Church, introduced by Ab. Delahaye gave an inspirational address upon the character building side of sport. He stressed the fact that nothing worthwhile could be accomplished unless it were founded on honesty, integrity, fair-play and faith and he reminded his hearers that out of their games could be developed character traits such as the country and the Empire needed now and would need during the period of reconstruction.

Ald. Adam Sands, speaking for the city council; David Leether, representing the Men's City League and the O.A.S.A. and J. E. Girven of Genelco, all spoke briefly, congratulating the winners upon the success and the losers on the manner in which they conducted themselves.

Cheques were presented to President W. C. Bennett, Mrs. Bennett, Ab Delahaye and Gladys Mortimer, league secretary as evidence of the league's appreciation of the services rendered by them during the season.

The draw for the three prizes wound up the first part of the program. The gentleman's top coat or suit was won by M. Dunford, 253 Mark Street. J. McNamara, 268 Hunter street won the $10 War Savings Certificate and the $5 certificate went to W. H. Easterby, 212 Princess street. These prize-winners may obtain their prizes from President Bennett, 237 Princess street.

A feature of the evening was the presentation by Dave Leether to the members of the intermediate champion Brinton team of white sport jackets. Mr. Leether made the presentation on behalf of the Brinton Company and the jackets were received for the players by Regina Killen, captain of the winning team.

The program wound up with a most enjoyable dance with music supplied by Marshall's orchestra.

City Council Selling Hardwood To Citizens

The wood committee of the City Council is selling hardwood in four-foot lengths at $13 a cord, Alderman Glover, chairman, told the Examiner to-day. This release of stock on hand follows appeals from some citizens whose fuel supply had run out, and from some others who suggested economy in coal while the weather was comparatively mild.

"We have already sold one hundred cords of this hardwood," Alderman Glover said, "and there is still some available that is suitable for burning now."

Good Grooming by Short-Cut Way

Well-Turned-Out Girl Gets Job

"Where does SHE get the time to look so glamorous?" unsuccessful job-seekers grumble. "I don't stand a chance."

Yet, in all likelihood, the beautifully groomed girl doesn't "get the time." No one does today.

But if you know short-cut methods, in about 35 minutes a day you cannot only care for grooming essentials—like bathing—but can care for the little extras that make all the difference.

For instance, you brush your hair of course, but dust WILL collect, giving a dingy look. To keep your hair clean and shining between shampoos, just rub OFF the dust with a towel—every few brush strokes.

Then, if you apply face cream with both hands instead of one, you can cream face and neck in the time it may take now to cream just the face.

With the well-groomed girl, you know, a lovely complexion doesn't stop at the chin line!

To schedule your time for grooming, see our new 32-page booklet. It tells quick, efficient ways to care for skin, hair, nails, hands and feet. Also suggests time-saving grooming routines for business girls, home women.

For your copy of THE QUICK WAY TO SMART GROOMING send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T SET 'EM UP FIRST

IF YOU are ultimately due to let the opponents have the lead, while playing a No Trump contract, don't operate in such a manner that they are sure to have one or more other tricks established by them. Holding back a stopper in the suit where those tricks would otherwise be set up may prove to be worth another trick or two to your own side.

North: ♠Q 6 4 2 ♥Q ♦7 6 5 ♣A K 8 7 3

1♦	Pass	2♣	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT

Dummy's Q took the lead of the heart 10. South, seeing nine readily-runnable tricks, cashed the club Q and J and decided to put extra tricks up to the single proposition of hoping the spades were evenly divided, so he could cash a thirteener. He scored the A and then the K. Realizing now that this would not work, it was too late to change plans. He went to the dummy with the spade Q, scored three more clubs and had his contract safely in hand, with nine tricks.

Then he led toward his diamond holding. East, who had blanked his A in order to keep his last two spades and a heart, rattled off a trick in diamonds, his two in spades, and led to West's heart A for the final trick, holding South to exactly his bid.

How easy it would have been to pick up a couple of extra tricks. Upon winning with the heart Q, he should have led at once toward his diamonds. If East used his A then, his side could have got only one more trick, with the heart A. If he ducked, South then should have won with the K and led his heart K. West, winning, probably would have returned a heart to the J. Whether that or a diamond, the defenders could not then have taken more than a spade at the end in one case or the diamond A in the other.

LAKEFIELD

Red Cross Notes Summer Work

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 12 (ENS). — The Red Cross executive held its November meeting in the Red Cross work room this week, Mrs. J. W. Ridpath presiding.

Mrs. George Graham reported that knitted articles for the "capture parcels" were nearly completed. Mrs. S. A. Grylls stated that more Blood donors are urgently needed. Mrs. Grylls and Mrs. H. D. Wilford were asked to canvass the village in an effort to get more.

The Missionary and Service Club reported shipping 1,500 of the 4-inch gauze compresses to headquarters.

The Nursing Class will hold a practice period this week, as their lectures have been completed. Mrs. S. Trude, convener of the class, invited the executive to hold the next meeting in the nursing class room.

To Hold Draw

W. J. Charlton donated a ton of coal, and tickets will be sold by the executive members and a draw will be held at the nursing class card party in December. The Legion Auxiliary donated a wool blanket and tickets will be sold on this later.

Mrs. W. Gillman reported on the sewing. Articles received during the summer included 10 quilts, 1 afghan, 8 pair of pyjamas, 8 women's gowns, 2 pillows, 4 baby bonnets, 3 pair baby mitts, 3 pair bootees, 1 sweater and 1 dress. There was also a donation of $5. Articles shipped in September included: 9 quilts, 30 boys' shirts, 40 ladies' gowns, 1 carton of fur. The Red Cross had twelve entries in the Lakefield Fair and won the first prize of $5.

During October 12 quilts, 1 afghan, 9 toys, 10 feather pillows and 135 lbs. of fat were shipped. Knitted articles received included 7 ribbed helmets, 2 turtle neck sweaters, 1 scarf, 65 pairs of socks.

A nominating committee was appointed as follows: Mrs. J. M. Simpson convener, Mrs. George Charlton, Mrs. William Armstrong, Mrs. W. B. Walker, Mrs. George Kelly and Mrs. Evie Dunford.

Committee Probes Exodus From Farms

TORONTO, Nov. 12 — (CP). — A survey of Ontario's rural educational facilities and rural youth organizations to see how far they meet present-day needs was recommended today in a report of the special committee on youth organization and rural education of the Ontario Agricultural Inquiry Commission meeting at Queen's Park.

The committee expressed concern over the drift from natural causes of people born on a farm into other activities, which unless checked or modified by a satisfactory system of education and rural youth organization, "inevitably lowers the intellectual capacity and opportunities for compensating the training of those who remain on the farm."

Concern was also expressed on whether the educational system provided the greatest facilities for the most intelligent selection of those who remain from those who leave the farm, and whether the system was adequate for proper training to meet the needs of those who remain.

Canada Supplies Two Billions

OTTAWA, Nov. 12 — (CP). — A total of $2,000,000,000 in mutual aid supplies has been made available by Canada to the United Kingdom and other United Nation countries within the past two years.

Canada has not so far accepted any lease-lend assistance from the United States, but has paid cash for all purchases there. This was confirmed by President Roosevelt at Washington today.

On the same basis, the Dominion has received cash for supplies delivered to the United States.

Considerable quantities of lend-lease supplies from the United States, however, have come to Canada on British account, such as supplies Britain is required to furnish Canada under the joint air training agreement, and parts and materials entering into manufacture of equipment in Canada for Britain.

During the fiscal year 1942-43 parliament voted $1,000,000,000 in the "Gift to Britain" Bill. This was placed to the credit of the British Government in Canada to enable it to pay in Canadian dollars for supplies purchased in this country. There was no actual transfer of money out of the country.

For the present fiscal year — 1943-44 — the arrangement was changed and parliament passed a $1,000,000,000 "Mutual Aid" Bill. The purpose was the same but the credits are available to any of the United Nations and so far Russia and China have taken advantage of the measure, as well as Britain.

U.S. Army Casualties Total 8,556 In Italy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP).—War Secretary Henry Stimson reported today that United States Army casualties in Italy since the landings at Salerno, Sept. 9 total 8,556, with 1,295 killed, 4,764 wounded and 2,497 missing.

Losses of British forces in Italy during the same period have been somewhat greater Stimson said at a press conference, but exact British figures were not available.

W.M.S. Rally Report Heard At Meeting

BRIDGENORTH, Nov. 12 — (ENS). — The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of Bridgenorth United Church was held at the home of Miss L. Udy. Mrs. W. J. Robinson presided and the theme was "The Bible, the Foundation Stone of the New Order." Mrs Wallace Nicholls read the Scripture and Mrs. C. Telford and Mrs. W. Nicholls gave a piano duet. Miss Udy read "A Soldier's Prayer" and "Missions Help to Cement Peace."

The rally held in Lakefield was described by Mrs. K. Blewett, and Mrs. Johnson gave the first section of the study book. The treasurer reported $8.00 was needed to meet the allocation. The hostess served lunch after the meeting.

NAZIS MAKE NEW ATTACKS ON LEROS

Stubborn Nazi Resistance And Bad Weather Stall Allies Across Italy

8th Army Patrols Along Sangro River Stab At Winter Line
5th Unit Takes Filignano And Pozzili

By EDWARD KENNEDY—Associated Press Correspondent

ALGIERS, Nov. 13—(AP).—A British 8th Army patrol has crossed the Sangro River along the eastern end of the Nazi winter line in Italy and American 5th Army troops in sharp fighting have captured two more towns north of Venafro, it was announced today at Allied headquarters.

On Mount Camino, overlooking Mignano from the southwest, Allied forces battled back to seize again high grounds they had occupied Wednesday but lost in German counter-attacks Thursday. This thrust added new positions beyond Wednesday's advance.

Midnano, on the inland highway leading through Cassino to Rome, is one of the most stubbornly-defended German positions and the enemy has clung tenaciously to the heights commanding it on the east and west.

Fighting Is Bitter.

There was bitter fighting under extremely difficult conditions at several points as the Allies probed the strongly-held German line, but the front as a whole saw little change during the last 24 hours, Allied headquarters announced.

The towns captured by American troops of Lt.-Gen. Mark Clark's 5th Army were Filignano, four miles north of Venafro, and Pozzili, two miles north of Venafro, both in the hills overlooking the upper Volturno valley.

The Germans were putting up the most stubborn resistance on the 5th Army front in the Venafro and Mignano regions, where any deep Allied wedge there would seriously impair other points of their line.

In one clash, Americans seized a hill, killing 30 Nazis and wounding 30 more. The retreating Germans ran into one of their own minefields, suffering further casualties. American losses were one killed and three wounded.

Near the Tyrrhenian, German patrols were active crossing the Garigliano river in some cases.

An 8th Army patrol cut over the Sangro river at an unspecified point on the eastern end of the front and wiped out a German machine-gun nest.

In Slush and Snow

About 15 miles inland from the Adriatic, men of Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's 8th Army fought for positions between Casalanguida, held by the Allies, and Atessa, in German hands. The British troops occupied important high ground, and repulsed a German counter-attack.

Small advances were reported in the Rionero area up the road through the mountains north of Isernia, in Central Italy.

(A Berlin broadcast said a British general named Staverly and a British staff officer were captured in a thrust against Allied troops west of Isernia.)

With the Germans dug into well-concealed positions, the main job at present falls to infantrymen who must scale the heights, creep up to and wipe out the Nazis with bayonet or grenades. They are fighting in mud and snow, and carrying supplies in country too rough even for mules.

The Sangro River valley forms the eastern end of the German "winter line" across Italy, a line the Nazis had determined to hold for at least another eight weeks.

It runs southwest up the Sangro Valley, across the high Apennine backbone of Italy and then through Mignano and along the Garigliano River valley to the Ty-

Victory Loan Now Totals $1,363,901,600

OTTAWA, Nov. 13—(CP)—The National War Finance Committee announced today—one week from the close of the $1,200,000,000 Fifth Victory Loan campaign—that total cash subscriptions now are $1,363,901,600, from 2,790,556 subscribers.

The "most pleasing" feature is that payroll and general canvass amounted to $586,677,050, some $61,000,000 over the objective of $525,000,000 set for these combined divisions which include the armed forces, said the committee. Subscriptions from the special names canvass amounted to $777,224,550.

In addition to these cash subscriptions, 24,478 conversion subscriptions have been received for a total of $186,374,800.

Sunday a 8:45 p.m. E.D.T. Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Finance Minister Ilsley and Graham Towers, general chairman of the National War Finance committee, will discuss results of the Loan in a broadcast over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Latest reports from the army, with returns still coming in, was $17,446,200 from 174,592 investors, for 174 per cent of the overall objective of $10,000,000, Lt.-Col. G. H. Rainville, national army loan chair-

Coal Miners Not All Back

CALGARY, Nov. 13 — (CP). — Most of the 8,500 miners in British Columbia and Alberta who went on strike 13 days ago were back on the jobs today but men remained out in the Edmonton and Bellevue, Alta., fields.

Five hundred men were out at Bellevue, while several thousand stayed away from work in Edmonton district. At Cumberland, B. C., last night some 700 miners voted to return to their jobs, thus ending in the province the walkout called by the United Mine Workers of America over a wage dispute.

The Cumberland miners voted 161 to 60 to return to work and will go back to the pits at midnight Sunday. The Cumberland vote followed similar action by 550 miners at Nanaimo who decided to report to the mines Monday.

Nanaimo and Cumberland miners had been the only workers still on strike in British Columbia following U.M.W.A. acceptance of the federal Department of Labor proposals and a union return-to-work order issued early this week.

Canadian Army Gains 65,000 In Nine Months

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 —(CP)— The Canadian army has increased its strength by close to 65,000 since the start of the year and appears in sight of a previously-announced goal of 100,000 additional personnel for the 1943-44 fiscal year, despite recent declines in monthly recruiting figures.

Figures made available today for the first time show intake both as general service volunteers and on compulsory call-up for home defence dropping month by month from January to September, the last month for which recruiting returns have been compiled.

Here are the monthly totals for 1943 to date:

	Volunteers	Call-up
January	10,848	6,140
February	8,247	4,494
March	7,003	3,692
April	5,909	3,325
May	5,672	2,943
June	4,581	2,567
July	4,488	2,570

Report Situation Critical As British, Italians Battle To Repel Invaders

Nazis Enlarge Bridgeheads At 4 Points On Dodecanese Isle
Kos And Symi Already Recaptured By Huns

CAIRO, Nov. 13—(AP).—German forces attacking British and Italian troops on Leros Island in the Aegean Sea have succeeded in reinforcing their beach heads and are attempting to consolidate them despite heavy casualties, a Middle East communique announced today.

Long-range R.A.F. fighters and bombers sped to the support of the beleaguered British garrison. Fighter planes strafed the German beachheads in long sweeps over the island, and bombers blasted away at near-by island bases from which Germany could rush reinforcements.

The Maritza airfield on the German-held island of Rhodes was hit heavily, Antimacchia airfield on nearby Kos Island was raided twice during the night, and an enemy convoy was attacked in daylight yesterday near Antikythera Island, which lies about midway between Crete and the Greek mainland. At least two vessels were hit, the British announcement said.

Shipping and the harbor of Suda Bay on Crete were blasted twice by the R.A.F. yesterday.

Advices to Allied headquarters here said there was no question that the situation on Leros was critical.

(The BBC broadcast an announcement that fighting was still under way with the main Nazi drive moving on Leros, main town on the island.

(The Berlin radio claimed early today the island had fallen, and said that British gains made during the Aegean campaign begun shortly after Italy's capitulation had been reduced to the islands of Samos, Nicaria and Castelrosso. There had been no previous announcement from either the Allies or the Germans that Nicaria, 12 miles west of Samos, was in British hands.)

The Dodecanese islands of Kos and Smyi previously had been retaken by the Nazis, leaving the Greek island of Samos and the Dodecanese island of Castelrosso still firmly in Allied hands.

Cairo officials would make no predictions on the outcome of the fighting for Leros.

De Gaulle Names Catroux To Ease Lebanon Tension

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP)—British readiness to take control of Lebanon unless the French end disorders and solve the crisis in that small Eastern Mediterranean country, was indicated in high quarters today.

Confronted with the threat of British intervention in their quarrel with the Lebanese Nationalists, French authorities denied "serious disorders" had occurred, attributing reports of violence to "enemy propaganda."

British officials declined to say whether Britain might employ armed forces, but correspondents were told they could not exaggerate the importance the British Government attaches to maintaining order in the Middle East.

British Responsible

It was emphasized Lebanon is part of a strategic area for which British troops are responsible.

The British Minister in Algiers, Harold MacMillan, is understood to have stressed the military considerations in delivering Britain's protest against the French action in which French forces were reported to have clashed with groups protesting the arrest of the high Lebanese officials.

Gen. Georges Catroux, Commissioner of State of the French National Committee, who has been given full powers to attempt a settlement of the crisis, was reported to have conferred with committee members in Algiers this morning before proceeding to Beirut on his assignment.

Cairo dispatches said Catroux would call on Nahas Pasha, the Egyptian premier, on his way to Beirut and was expected to bring Gen. Charles de Gaulle's reply to the premier's protest over abrupt French action in Lebanon where the population is more than half Arab.

The French - controlled Beirut radio, in reference to the situation however declared, "in Syria and Lebanon situation is quiet. Reports put out by enemy propaganda sources yesterday that serious disturbances occurred in different Lebanese towns and devoid of all foundation."

A few demonstrators — mostly women and children "in the pay of professional agitators" — were dispersed, the radio declared.

Lebanon, under French mandate along with Syria since after the First Great War, was promised her independence in 1941 when British and Fighting French forces moved in to expel the Vichy French who were accused of bowing to German plots to occupy the country.

The arrest of the high officials at Beirut by the French apparently developed from Lebanese impatience to implement the pledge of independence.

Catroux, who negotiated an agreement in March extending fuller measures of self government to Lebanon, will leave Algiers immediately to "take on the spot all measures necessitated by the situation," said the committee, headed by Gen. Charles de Gaulle in Algiers last night.

A. D. McKenzie Leader Of Ontario Tories

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—Succeeding Cecil Frost, president of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association for the past five years, Alex D. McKenzie, K.C., who directed the party's organizational work during the past election campaign, was chosen yesterday at the first party convention nere in some years as president of the Ontario association. The choice was made unanimous after Ashton Douglas of London had declined to contest the office.

About 700 delegates attended and during the afternoon session most members of the Provincial Cabinet attended. One of the surprises of the convention was the resignation of Col. B. O. Hooper as secretary of the association.

Resigning the presidency, Mr. Frost reviewed its history from his appointment five years ago and declared that the Progressive Conservative Party is now on the march. It had, he said, three objectives: to win the war, the peace and provide employment for all Canadians. The party he said was committed to four principles: freedom security, opportunity and the British partnership. The C.C.F., he pointed out, put the emphasis on security only at the expense of all these. The C.C.F. stood, he said, for regimentation and force.

Wide View Taken.

Progressive Conservatives are on the march, but unless their increasing strength is devoted to something more than party their efforts will avail them nothing, Premier George Drew told the association.

At the general meeting of the association, the Premier, said that Ontario will do its utmost after the war to aid those who had served in the fighting forces.

Addressing the luncheon, Premier Drew said his Government has a job to do, and the most effective contribution to the Province's welfare he and his colleagues could make would be to do the job they were elected to do.

"We are not a minority Government," he said, referring to the fact that the combined Opposition parties hold more seats than the Government in the Legislature. "We were chosen in the proper constitutional manner. We formed a Government convinced that the members of the Legislature are

Crimea Evacuation Fails When Transports Sunk; Gomel Stronghold Flanked

Fast-Moving Cossacks Approach Zhitomir
Capture Korostyshev
May Drive Wedge Between 2 Hun Armies

By HENRY CASSIDY—Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Nov. 13—(AP).—Red Army troops, driving directly westward down the Kiev-Zhitomir highway, have passed Korostyshev, the last important town before the strategic Leningrad-Odessa railway. Gen. Nikolai Vatutin, conqueror of Kiev, took Korostyshev yesterday after covering his flanks by investing Radomysl to the north and Kornin to the south, in a steady but cautious advance.

The first Ukrainian army is now less than 15 miles from Zhitomir, a Russian communique said, and Cossack advance guards, after bypassing Korostyshev, are reported operating in the immediate vicinity of that vital rail junction city.

Traffic between the hard pressed German forces north and south of Zhitomir appeared likely to be cut soon, if it has not already been interrupted. Meanwhile the main forces of the First Army were reported massing for a direct assault on the rail centre, front dispatches indicated, after a day's advance which netted them 100 towns, an unspecified number of prisoners and great quantities of war supplies.

Steady progress by Red Army spearheads, toward Korosten, another rail junction on the Leningrad - Odessa line northwest of Kiev, also was reported in the Red Army communique. South of Rechitsa, where Soviet troops were driving into the Pripet Marshes to flank the German held stronghold of Gomel, 1,000 Nazis were killed and many prisoners taken, the communique said. Here again the retreating Germans gave up large stores of war gear.

1,500 Nazis Die

In a smashing drive against beleaguered Germans northeast of Kerch on the Crimean peninsula, Red Army forces destroyed a flotilla of transports endeavoring to evacuate Nazi troops. There were no survivors, dispatches said while in land fighting another 1,500 Germans were slain.

Germans and Rumanians, entrenched in the hills around Kerch were reported blasting the Russian landing operations with heavy gunfire, but aided by a low-hanging fog. Red Army troops were gradually establishing strong shore positions under cover of the Soviet artillery and air force bombers.

(The BBC, broadcasting a report from its Moscow correspondent, which was recorded by CBS, said the Germans already have lost the battle of the Kerch bridgeheads.)

West of Kiev, the Russians were less than 75 miles from the Polish border. Other forces of Vatutin's First Army were pushing southwest toward Berdichev, on the rail line to Warsaw.

Jap Propaganda Bewilders Navy Secretary

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP) — The greatest non-existent naval victories in history are being reported by the Japanese now and the extremity of their lies has the American high command frankly puzzled.

There is more than a little speculation, however, that morale on the Japanese home front, for reasons unknown in Washington, may be in bad need of bolstering. If this is true, it would be the first significant indication that the population of fanatical Japan, like that of Germany, is susceptible to pressure.

There is a well-established conviction here that the Japanese people actually know little or nothing of the terrific defeats their forces have taken since the battle of the Coral Sea

Remote Island Formidable Base

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP) — A little speck in the vast Pacific is the most formidable barrier to the Allies' eventual thrust at the heart of Japan.

This shield is the sea fortress known as Truk, a naval base believed to be as nearly impregnable as any in the world and so located that any attempt to assault Japan on her holdings on the East China coast must be highly dangerous as long as it flies the flag of the Rising Sun.

Truk's effectiveness as a shield for Japan's East Asiatic sphere probably will be tested shortly by the mighty new forces the United States has concentrated in the Pacific. There is little doubt that the present Allied drives converging on Rabaul, on New Britain, are preliminaries to a smash at Truk.

Truk actually is not one island but a tight group of more than 200 little volcanic formations in the Carolines Archipelago, one of the Equatorial Pacific Island chains Japan obtained under mandate after the First Great War.

The Islands are surrounded by a circular reef of coral which forms a lagoon roughly 40 miles in diameter and within is a fine anchorage big enough to accommodate the entire Japanese Navy.

The strategic importance of the group rests largely in their remoteness from any base for an Allied attack. They are 3,200 miles west of Pearl Harbor as well as 2,100 miles south of Tokyo itself, and approximately the same distance from Manila.

Flying Officer E. Adams And Flt. Lt. C. A. Wilson Awarded D.F.C.'s

OTTAWA, Nov. 13—(CP)—In one of its biggest list of decorations for Canadian airmen, the R.C.A.F. announced last night the award of one bar to the Distinguished Flying Cross, 28 Distinguished Flying Crosses and four Distinguished Flying Medals to R.C.A.F. men overseas.

In addition, the list included six awards to R.C.A.F. men for gallant and prompt action which prevented loss of life when two loaded bombers caught fire and exploded on an airfield in Britain recently.

The list of D.F.C. and D.F.M. winners with home towns of next-of-kin included:

Bar to D.F.C.

Flt. Lt. D. W. Henry, D.F.C., Mrs. Adeline Henry (mother) Kincardine, Ont.

D.F.C.

Sqdn. Ldr. C. B. Hess, Iroquois, Ont.

Flt. Lt. E. H. Mulligan (no available address).

FO. E. Adams, Omemee, Ont.

Flt. Lt. C. A. Wilson, Lindsay, Ont.

Flt. Lt. M. A. Cybulski, Renfrew, Ont.

Sqdn. Ldr., C. C. Moran, Trenton, Ont.

Flt Sgt. J. F. Merchant, Sturgeon Falls, Ont.

Henry, who won a bar to the D.F.C., and 20 recipients of the D.F.C. and two winners of the D.F.M. were commended in a single citation, which said they have "completed in various capacities many successful operations against the enemy in which they have displayed high skill, fortitude and devotion to duty.

Citations Included:

Sqdn. Ldr. Moran (Trenton, Ont.) —"This officer has undertaken very many sorties at night and has attacked enemy air fields with much success. During his operations he has also shot down two enemy aircraft. In the latter of these combats, which occurred recently, Sqdn. Ldr. Moran pressed home his attack from close range, delivering a burst of fire which caused the enemy aircraft to explode in the air. His own aircraft was damaged by the force of the explosion, but he flew to within a few miles of the English coast before he was forced to abandon the aircraft, when one of its engines caught fire. His efforts were typical of the tenacity and courage which has always been a feature of his work."

Flt. Lt. Wilson (Lindsay, Ont.)—"This captain of aircraft commenced his operational career during the battle of the Ruhr, and on his first two sorties in spite of damage to his aircraft, from anti-aircraft fire, he achieved excellent results. In August, 1943, when detailed to attack Nuremburg, the rear turret of his aircraft became unserviceable soon after crossing the enemy coast. Nevertheless, he pressed on with his attack, and successfully bombed the target. Throughout he has proved himself to be a most conscientious, determined and courageous captain."

Must Develop Sub-Arctic

Keep Abreast Of Soviet Exploitation

TORONTO, Nov. 13 — (CP). — It is imperative that development of this continent be planned along continental lines instead of by national action alone if the challenge of world progress is to be met, Dr. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, famed Artic explorer, said in an address here last night.

Speaking to a gathering of delegates here to attend the first Canadian-Soviet Friendship Congress, he advocated extensive development of the north "to keep apace of Soviet exploitation of the areas comparable to Northern Canada."

He praised Soviet advances in the last 24 years and especially Russia's development of her northern parts, and said that the Red Army's secret weapon was the realization that total racial equality existed in their nation. Because of that the people of the Soviet Union, who speak 150 different languages, "are able to fight as one man in this war." Persons of all nationalities were treated alike in Russia.

"It is the one country where people are really free . . . race consciousness has practically disappeared."

He urged strengthening of good will and understanding between this country — Canada and the United States — and Russia.

Big 3 Can Boss The World

Calloboration Essential To Future Peace

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

It's becoming more apparent daily that the immediate future of the world depends chiefly on collaboration among the Big Three—Britain, America and Russia.

The essence of this fact was emphasized by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in his report to the House of Commons on the tri-partite conference at Moscow.

This is so because, to put it bluntly, these three powers represent an all-round strength which is capable of enforcing their united wills. Their geographical positions and their resources make this certain. This may change in the course of time, but that's the way it is now.

The aims of the trio, as indicated by word and deed, are to re-establish peace and help build a free and prosperous world. Their purpose is to draw all countries into this effort on the basis of share-and-share alike.

Thus the main concern of the world at large now is that the Big Three have indeed reached the stage of mutual trust and co-operation and that nothing happens to disturb this unity.

Only 6 Jap Medium Bombers Out Of Fleet Of 70 Survive Duel With Carrier

Toll Of Jap Ships For The Month Includes 2 Cruisers, 5 Destroyers ... 23 Other Battle Craft Damaged

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 13—(AP).—American aircraft carriers have won their first big long-range duel of the war with Japan's mighty naval and air fortress of Rabaul.

They beat that New Britain stronghold to the punch on Thursday, sending in the bulk of more than 200 planes which sank a Japanese cruiser and two destroyers, damaged a cruiser and 11 destroyers and shot down 24 enemy interceptors.

Rabaul dispatched 70 revenge-bent medium bombers and torpedo bombers in four attacks aimed at sinking one of the carriers. Sixty-four were shot into the sea during an hour and 20 minutes of flaming action without accomplishing their mission.

Seventeen Allied planes were lost in defending the carrier and in the Rabaul raid, which raised the toll of enemy warships this month to two cruisers and five destroyers sunk, 10 cruisers and 13 destroyers damaged and a cruiser probably damaged.

Allied headquarters said that minor damages were sustained by some of the ships in the Allied carrier force. There were casualties among the crews.

The massed warships, asserting American naval supremacy in Solomon Islands waters not so long ago Japanese-controlled, delivered their third slap at Rabaul's naval power since marines invaded Bougainville Nov. 1.

Hinting at big air battles to come, an Allied spokesman said the absence of any appreciable action in other theatres made it possible for Japan to keep feeding hundreds of planes of all types daily into Rabaul and Wewak, New Guinea, by way of their conquered island stepping stones.

Veterans Honor Five Of Fallen

HAVELOCK, Nov. 13 — (ENS). —Not for some years has such a large number gathered at the Memorial Gates for a Remembrance Day service as did this week to pay their fourth wartime tribute.

A parade of the school pupils and teachers was headed by the Air Cadet Squadron No. 149. Reeve E. W. Seeney, chairman, paid a tribute to those who had paid the supreme sacrifice. The following socities were represented and placed memorial wreaths at the gates: Province of Ontario, placed by Mrs. Avery; War Veterans, by Harold Matheson; Village Council, by A. Sanderson; United Church by Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson; Women's Institute, by Mrs. C. Price; Home and School, by Miss N. Watson; Eastern Star, by Mrs. George Hubbell; Dorcas Rebekahs, Mrs. J. Diaper; Masonic Order, by Everett Chiles and the Schools by Principal Jones.

Special tribute was paid to the five local men who fell in the present conflict, when five small white wooden crosses, each bearing a name plate of the departed soldier was placed in front of the flags by Veterans. They were F.O. Keith Pollock, Sgt. Foster Keene, Pte. J. Johnston, Pte. Tice Post, Pte. Charles Haggerty.

Cobourg Fishermen Stranded For Hours

COBOURG, Nov. 13 — (ENS)—John Lavis and Bill Taylor, local fishermen, were stranded near Gull Light, west of Cobourg, from nine o'clock Friday morning until late in the afternoon. They were fishing off Gull Light when the battery went dead and would not start the engine. They anchored the boat and sent in their helper, Jim Lamble in the punt for a battery. By the time a battery was secured the water was very rough and the battery, which was floated out to the stricken craft on a box to which was attached a line from the boat to the shore 20 yards away, apparently tipped on the way out as it would not turn over the engine when it was connected up.

Some time later the anchor dragged loose and the fishing craft drifted close enough to shore for the men to reach shore. The tug from the sandsucker O'Connor Dick at Cobourg came out in the afternoon to pick up the helpless fishing boat but due to the shallow water and rocks at Gull Light, and the fact that the men were in no danger, the tugboat skipper abandoned his rescue efforts. No one suffered any ill effects from the experience. The boat was retrieved.

15 Farmers Assist In Plowing Farm

BONARLAW, Nov. 13 — (ENS)—Fifteen farmers, along with horses and plows gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McFaul, who have taken up residence on the Brad Spry farm, on Thursday. Mr. McFaul had a lot of plowing to do, so the old spirit of the Spry Settlement was evident again and at 4:30 every furrow was turned.

To show their appreciation, the large farm home was opened wide. A large number spent the night in dancing, music being supplied by James Bronson.

A delicious lunch of cake and sandwiches was served by the hostess.

Indian Pupils Honor Minister

ALDERVILLE, Nov. 13 (ENS) — Remembrance Day was fittingly observed in Alderville community. From eleven to twelve a service was held in the church with Rev. M. E. Mercer of Camborne as guest speaker and Mr H. Lander, lay clergyman conducting the service.

Mr. Mercer spoke of the sacrifices made during the Great War and spoke of the hope of all righteous mankind, that when victory is won universal peace will be established.

Following the service wreaths were laid at the foot of the war memorial by Alfred Simpson, Mrs. Minnie Beaver, Mrs. Moses Smoke, jr., and Henry Comego.

In the afternoon Mr. Lander and Mercer visited the school, and addressed the pupils on the meaning of Remembrance Day and patriotism. Patriotic songs were sung by the pupils, led by their teacher, John Loukes.

The children presented Mr. Mercer with an Indian name and a headdress of feathers, beautifully embroidered with beads.

County Fair Nets Seymour Institute $135

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 13. — (ENS).—A report on the "County Fair," sponsored by the branch in October proved to be one of the main items discussed at the November meeting of Seymour East Women's Institute on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Carmen Gunning, the secretary, gave the report and revealed they would clear approximately $135.00. It was Grandmothers' Day at the Institute, the day which is set aside annually to pay tribute to the older members of the community, and a hearty welcome to these guests was extended by the president, Mrs. Jessie Locke. Mrs. James Shillinglaw, one of the grandmothers, was the program convener of the day and she conducted a contest while other numbers included a reading in tribute to the grandmothers by Mrs. George Craighead; a piano solo by Mrs Fred Hay; piano duet by Misses Dorothy Eagleson and Elsie Rannie.

in May, 1942.

This raises the question posed by Frank Knox, United States Navy Secretary, at his press conference yesterday: What could have generated the psychological factors within Japan which have prompted the Tokyo admirals to go the limit in untruthful propaganda?

Knox said that in the past few days the Japanese have claimed the sinking of several Allied capital ships and in at least one instance reported the destruction of Admiral William F. Halsey's entire South Pacific Fleet.

The truth is, he went on, there has not even been a sea battle since the night engagement of Nov. 2 in which an American cruiser-destroyer task force sank one enemy cruiser, damaged another; sank two destroyers and damaged four; and suffered relatively minor damage itself.

Premier Seeks Reduction In Hydro Rates

TORONTO, Nov. 13. — Major changes in Hydro policy will be announced to-day or Monday by Premier George A. Drew, and it is reliably reported that power rates for domestic consumers will be lowered as a result of a complete readjustment of the existing scale.

The Premier, addressing the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association at the Royal York last night, said he would make public either to-day or Monday "a sweeping program that will meet with the approval of the people of Ontario," in connection with Hydro.

In the 22-point platform issued by the party during the recent election campaign, the Progressive Conservative Party pledged itself to lower rates, rural power extension, and the removal of Hydro from politics.

Removal of the service charge in rural areas, long criticised by the farm and other rural groups, will be announced by the Premier, it is understood. If the Government and the Ontario Hydro Commission has carried out its pre-election pledge to the hilt in regard to power, then the Premier's statement will tell of a decision to extend power services to farms on a basis most favorable to the farmers themselves.

The Premier told the association last night that "we have fully carried out our undertaking regarding hydro." He also said that six experts, all accountants, had been busily engaged ever since the Government came into office in working out the details of the proposed changes.

Pupils Are Guests At Pot Luck Dinner

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 13 (ENS) —The annual meeting at which pupils from Petherick's School become their guests for a pot luck dinner, was held by the ladies of Zion W.A. on Thursday. Nearly forty ladies worked throughout the entire day with the result that seven quilts were completed, and with two others turned in by Miss Susie Wright and Mrs. Donald Kerr the group established a record. However, the president, Mrs. A. Petherick, felt this was the season when efforts of farm women should be doubled for this type of work and she called another meeting for November 18, which will also take the form of a quilting. When they meet again this month the group will also pack a bale for Russian Relief, and members were asked to bring their contributions. In addition to the quilts made during the day eleven boxes were made ready for overseas shipment to boys from the district.

Sixty sat down to the dinner served in the Orange Hall at noon and this number included a dozen pupils and the teacher, Miss Doris Reid, as well as a number of youngsters who accompanied their mothers to the meeting. The collection taken at the close of the afternoon amounted to nearly $10. Next month the Association will hold its annual meeting on December 8 and they will be guests of Mrs. John Simpson.

Village Home Saved By Bucket Brigade

ROSENEATH, Nov. 13— (ENS). — Fire broke out in the second storey of the frame dwelling of Fred George, Roseneath village, on Friday. Mrs. George discovered the fire when she found the upstairs full of smoke. A bucket brigade succeeded in bringing the fire under control in about one hour.

It is thought the fire started when bedding in close contact with a hot stove pipe caught fire.

Damage was confined to burned bedding, and damage also from smoke and water.

Security Plan Revised In Great Britain

LONDON, Nov. 13 (CP).—Herbert Morrison, Home Secretary, indicated last night the British Government will accept in greatly modified form the Beveridge plan proposing social security for everyone from birth to death.

Disclosing in a speech at Bolton that a Government White Paper on the much-debated scheme outlined by Sir William Beveridge will be issued in the near future, Morrison said it "will not be whole-hog acceptance" as it stands. But he added it "will be a scheme owing much to the inspiration of the Beveridge plan" and calculated to comfort and reassure the country.

"Ministers and civil servants have been spending a great deal of time disentangling knots and solving puzzles, many of which the Beveridge report did not tackle at all," he asserted, "while on others its suggested solutions were found on close examination to be unworkable or undesirable."

Recalling that Prime Minister Churchill had defined the needs of post-war Britain would be jobs, food and homes, Morrison declared: "We are going to make the great experiment of achieving full employment in a non-totalitarian community and to do this will mean bringing in many new ideas and practices and stopping many old ones."

"Social security alone is not enough," he said, adding that it should occupy no more than a comparatively small part of the over-all pictures of post-war Britain.

"It is much less important in the long run than ensuring that the community can earn the best possible living for itself. Some communities have found the solution by disregarding the real value of work and concentrating on giving the idle something, no matter what, to do.

"But we want a better full employment policy than that. We want a policy that will enable every man not only to earn but to work efficiently and earn well. Nothing less is the real solution to the economic plans of this or any country."

It was the first announcement that the Government's own "Beveridge plan" was nearing completion, as well as the first indication of the general lines it will follow.

Sea-Sickness Cure To Aid Troops

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 (CP) — Tiny pink capsules containing a newly-discovered cure for sea and air sickness soon are to be issued to ships for general use at sea, with the prospect they may play a big part in the opening of a "second front" in Europe.

The new cure, effective for 75 per cent of persons normally susceptible to swaying motions on sea a[illegible] in the air, was announced last nig[illegible] as a development of the Royal Canadian Navy, one of the major medical discoveries of the war.

(A dispatch last night from Boston said two physicians at the Chelsea Naval hospital there have revealed their discovery of the cause of sea, air, car and training sickness. They are in the process of developing a remedy.)

A hint of its usefulness in the opening of a second front came in the Navy's official announcement, which said its "greatest" service may be in protecting invasion troops carried by the Navy and who must be ready for intense fighting before they set foot on land.

In addition to its use at sea, the cure has been found to be equally effective in the treatment of air-sickness, which would render it of service to air-borne troops.

Directing the work were Dr. Surgeon Capt. C. N. Best, co-discoverer of Insulin with the late Sir Frederick Banting, and Dr. Wilder Penfield of the Montreal Neurological Institute.

Cigaret Famine Looms In U.S.A.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(AP).— A growing scarcity of popular brand cigarets and low-priced cigars—attributed to labor shortages, early Christmas buying and heavy overseas shipments—was reported to-day in many cities throughout the United States.

Especially scarce were inexpensive cigars. The Cigar Institute of America said the normal reserves of cigars for Christmas sales were being sold to meet heavy demands, and added prospects were slim for obtaining extra supplies for the Yuletide.

There is widespread voluntary rationing of both cigars and cigarets, an Associated Press survey showed. Many cities reported extreme scarcity of one or two popular brands of cigarets, but none reported a general scarcity of advertised brands.

Little shortage of pipe tobacco was reported anywhere, and if the shortage of cigarets and cigars becomes more acute, as many tobacco men predict, a general resurrection of pipes is expected.

Wholesalers all over the United States reported manufacturers of popular brands of cigarets had limited future consignments to 20 or 30 per cent. less than those of July and August, the smallest business months of the year.

Christ's Followers Warned To Respect Sanctity of Home

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Nov. 14 is Exodus 20:14; Matthew 5: 27-30; Mark 10:2-12, the Golden Text being Matt 5:8, "Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.")

◇ ◇ ◇

THE SANCTITY of the home is the subject of today's lesson, and it is based on the commandment, "Thou shalt not commit adultery."

Jesus said, in His sermon on the mount, "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God." The pure in heart—how many human beings do you suppose there are on earth who are truly and always pure in their inmost hearts?

To Jesus the thought was as bad as the deed. To hate your brother without cause was to be a murderer; to look with lust was to be an adulterer. Thoughts come unbidden, but the bad thought can be cast out of one's mind, for Jesus said, speaking figuratively, "If thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out." Not literally, of course. Physically maiming of one's self does not help. To make the eye the obedient servant of the mind and spirit is to pluck out the bad eye and cast it forth.

If Thy Hand Offend

"And if thy right hand offend thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee: or it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell." The same rule applies to the hand as to the eye. To control its movements; to make it a good, obedient servant to all right commands, to be a help in your growth in spiritual life instead of a hindrance, is to keep the body whole—not maimed in the sight of God.

On this subject of the sanctity of the home, the Pharisees questioned Jesus, always hoping that they would get him to admit something that they could construe as treasonable to the state or blasphemous. "Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife?"

What says Moses, the law giver? Jesus asked. "Moses suffered to write a bill of divorcement, and to put her away," they answered.

"For the hardness of your heart he wrote you this precept," was Jesus quick answer. The Pharisees themselves were divided on this question of divorce, one group wishing to make divorce easy; the other holding that only for notorious unchastity could a woman be divorced. Moses did not command, but only permitted divorce, Jesus brought out, presupposing the existence of it, and seeking to regulate it.

Jesus then quotes from Genesis, "from the beginning of creation God made them male and female. For this cause a man shall leave his father and mother, and cleave unto his wife; And they twain shall be one flesh: so then they are no more twain, but one flesh.

What God Hath Joined

"What therefore God hath joined together, let no man put asunder."

Later, when with His disciples in the house, they asked Him the same question, and His answer was: "Whosoever shall put away his wife, and marry another, committeth adultery against her. And if a woman shall put away her husband, and be married to another, she committeth adultery."

How can two people stand up before a company and solemnly promise to be loyal, loving, to leave all others and cleave only to each other, and then disregard their sacred vows? Not only once, but maybe twice, three times, or more, in one lifetime?

When a man or woman is faithless to the marriage vows there is a suggested lack of the basic elements of real character—responsibility loyalty, integrity. A solemn promise means nothing to such a one; selfishness and lust take the place of love, self-abnegation and faithfulness. Better to pluck out the eye, cut off the hand than live in the hell that follows.

New Order of Christianity

By REV. E. R. JAMES.

Godliness is profitable for all things.—I. Tim. 4, 8.

"I am a Roman citizen" was the proud boast of St. Paul. As an educated man he knew that Rome stood for law, order and the practical things of this world. He knew its strength and its weakness. Writing to Roman Christians he desired to impress upon them that Christianity fulfills the best of Roman ideals and enters into every phase of life. So he sums up Christian teaching in these words: "Godliness is profitable for all things."

From childhood we have been taught that the salvation of the soul is of the utmost importance. "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" This is the startling question for every thoughtful man. But this has led to the forgetfulness of the social side of Christianity.

Harnack, a famous German theologian, writing before the First Great War, published a remarkable book entitled, "The Expansion of Christianity in the Primitive Days." How similar those days were to ours. That world was very morbid, full of quacks, astrologers, teachers of mystery religions offering salvation to those who were able to pay highly. No word was so popular than that of salvation—above all "The Saviour of the world." Naturally such men made their appeal to the rich and cultured, offering what they called "hidden knowledge" for a large price.

Origen, a Church Father of that age, points out that Plato and the other wise men of Greece confined their teaching to the better classes. They despised the common people. On the other hand the disciples of Jesus Christ made their appeal, generally speaking, to the masses—the man in the street.

Let us not forget that Christianity had a message for the rich as well as for the poor. Salvation was offered to every man and woman without money and without price. The disciples taught that God had entered into this world in the Person of Jesus Christ, Who is the express Image of God. "He that hath seen Me has seen the Father' is Our Lord's own claim. In these terrible days it is good for us to meditate upon the three fundamental truths of Christianity.

1—LIFE WAS WORTH LIVING. The Church of that age attracted men because of its teaching of brotherhood and fellowship. Within the Church class distinctions disappeared. Do not forget the visual teaching of the Holy Communion. The "Eating of the one loaf and the drinking of the one cup" was a visible sign of the breaking down of the class barriers.

Above all that fellowship was practical. Harnack says that during the second and third centuries the Christian Church in Rome administered more than fifty thousand dollars a year in alms, helps to travellers, salaries to clergy and the care of the sick, wounded and in the visitations of the prisoners in the horrible dungeons.

But the important thought for this age is that the Church of that day avoided pauperising the people. Origen says: "If any brother has a trade let him follow it and earn his bread. If he has no trade exercise your discretion to enable him to live as a Christian and NOT in idleness. If he will not work he is trafficking in Christ. Beware of such a man." What a heart-searching expression, "Trafficking in Christ." How many join the Church for that purpose?

2—THE SPIRITUAL VALUE OF THE SOUL. This is the dominant thought in the preaching of Christ. "What shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" At the same time it does not mean social equality. There will always be the brother of high and the brother of low degree. But it means that every living soul had a right to live and to make the best of his talents by the help of the Divine Spirit of Christ. In that early Christianity the rich were made poorer voluntarily and the poor richer. This meant the development of a strong, virile middle class, neither very rich nor very poor, which is the very backbone of a true civilization. It teaches the exercise of a mutual help and fellowship. Do not forget that the term "Brother" is only used in the New Testament to mean men and women who had been baptized in the Triune Name of God the Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

3—A BROTHERHOOD OF LIVING FELLOWSHIP. The Spirit of Christ brought them into vital union with one another. When a traveller entered a city he looked for the Church. When he proved his qualifications he was given the right hand of brotherhood and fellowship. A modern surgeon applies a little patch of skin to a terrible burn. These patches grow and spread and a new skin is developed. Will you apply your little patch of healing Christianity in your little corner in these terrible days?

A NEW COMMANDMENT I GIVE UNTO YOU THAT YE LOVE ONE ANOTHER.

The Sanctity of the Home — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Exodus 20:14; Matt. 5:27-30; Mark 10:2-12.

The Pharisees came to Jesus and asked Him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife? tempting Him.

"What did Moses command you?" asked Jesus; and they answered that Moses allowed a man to divorce his wife.

"From the beginning of the creation God made them male and female . . . and they twain shall be one flesh.

A man shall leave his father and mother, and cleave to his wife.

The Retirement of Chief Newhall

Many citizens of Peterborough, we feel, agree with us that the time has come for the Police Commission and the City Council to consider the matter of retirement and a pension for Chief Newhall. For many years the Chief has served the city of Peterborough to the best of his ability, and it is fitting that provision should be made for him after his withdrawal from active life. Police work is arduous and often dangerous, and its monetary reward is not great; a pension is in order.

The character of police work has altered considerably during the past quarter of a century, and the city of Peterborough has altered too. A certain intimacy of administration in police affairs which may once have been desirable is no longer considered so, and it is now customary to delegate duty and responsibility to subordinates in the police force, expecting them to do their jobs with a minimum of supervision and interference. The city has grown, and its police problems have increased, and they cannot be successfully dealt with by a method which relies too greatly on the judgement of one man.

Further discussion of this matter is unnecessary here, where our only purpose is to suggest that consideration be given to the matter of the Chief's retirement, and the provision of an adequate pension for him. Men who have been in the service of the city for many years are entitled to such consideration, and it should not be delayed too long.

Buns And Black Eyes

Josef Stalin seems to be a jolly fellow, in a rather grim way. The Russians have always relished a grisly joke, and the Revolution has not changed their essential nature. In his speech on Saturday Premier Stalin put the war situation, as it concerns the Axis, in the simplest words, and made a little joke about it. This is a translation of what he said:

"In entering the war the partners in the Hitlerite bloc counted on a quick victory. Beforehand they had allotted who would get the buns and pies and who would get the bumps and blackeyes. They naturally meant the bumps and blackeyes for their adversaries and the buns and pies for themselves.

"But now it is obvious Germany and her flunkies will get no buns or pies but will have to share the bumps and blackeyes."

Political oratory rarely is couched in terms of buns and black eyes; only Stalin, and Mr. Churchill in his less formal speeches draw their illustrations from the pastrycook's shop or the prize ring. If the two great statesmen can make simplicity popular, the world will owe another debt to them, for political oratory at present is, as a usual thing, woefully fraught with words.

On Respecting Teachers

In the current issue of Saturday Night Mr. J. W. Brunt has an article in which he asks that greater respect be shown to schoolteachers. On this last day of Education Week it may be interesting to look into this matter.

It is rather foolish to ask that respect be paid to any profession without exceptions. Physicians, clergymen and editors receive respect when they merit it, and not otherwise; they expect their achievements as individuals, and not their professions, to win respect for them. It is our impression that schoolteachers as individuals also receive the respect which they deserve, although there are ignorant and backward communities where the teacher is looked upon as an expensive luxury. The suggestion that teachers should be provided with incomes which would ensure them the respect of the materially-minded seem to us to be ill-considered; the rewards of teaching are usually moderate, and although some of the salaries paid in Ontario are disgraceful and should be increased, the teachers in large communities have little to complain about in this direction.

If teachers do not receive the respect which Mr. Brunt thinks is their due, they may lay much of the blame on our educational system. Our teachers are public servants, and as such they are expected to display an intellectual conservatism which really active minds find intolerable. They may not teach or do anything with which a taxpayer may successfully find fault. Our democratic and state-controlled system of education has many advantages, but it has also disadvantages, and this intellectual neutralizing of the teachers is one of the worst.

Private schools do not suffer in this way, for no one is obliged to send a child to them who does not approve of the school and its staff. The late Dr. A. W. Mackenzie of the Grove School at Lakefield, and the late Dr. W. L. Grant of Upper Canada College were able to collect about them teachers of unusual ability who would not have fitted into the Nice Nelly atmosphere of our public schools at all; and yet these men of powerful opinion and unorthodox methods were able to give something to their pupils which the public schools cannot, for they were free from unreasonable and petty restriction and criticism. Many a harrassed schoolteacher, plagued by unenlightened parents or intractable pupils, must long for the freedom of the private school, where the dissatisfied parent removed his child, and not the teacher, and where the intractable pupil was thrown out until he chose to accept discipline.

In these days when there is so much talk of public ownership of this, that and the other, it may be well for us to look at our school system, and see what public ownership has done there. It has done much that is good, certainly, but it has also weakened the teacher's position, closed the profession to those who cannot endure the goldfish life of the public servant, and inhibited rigorous education of the older sort. If teachers are not respected, public ownership of the educational system has done as much as any thing to put them at a disadvantage, and put a premium on safe mediocrity.

Death of Dr. Fricker

Of all the arts, music has fared best in Canada. True, we have never produced a native composer of unusual ability, but the standard of musical performance achieved by some of our great musical organizations is very high. The greatest of Canadian musical group is undoubtedly the Mendelssohn Choir of Toronto, and much of its reputation was gained during the time when it was conducted by Dr. Herbert A. Fricker, who died on Nov. 11. The Choir was founded by the great Dr. A. S. Vogt, and was raised by him to a pitch of perfection which it has never subsequently equalled, but it had its special triumphs under Dr. Fricker.

He laid down his baton a few months ago, after a performance of Bach's Mass in B Minor, and relinquished the great choir to Sir Ernest Macmillan. It was fitting that the Bach work should have been the last thing in which he led that fine instrument, for Dr. Fricker's special contribution to the musical life of Canada lay in his ability to rehearse and present finished and scholarly performances of great works which had not previously been heard in this Dominion. Not only the Bach Mass, but the Solemn Mass of Beethoven, Berlioz' Grand Requiem, the Brahms Choral Waltzes, and William Walton's complex modern work Belshazzar's Feast were first heard here because of Dr. Fricker's determination to make Toronto a musical capital of note.

His influence was not confined to Toronto. As a choirmaster, trained in the traditions of Canterbury Cathedral, he set an example of fine choral services at Metropolitan Church, giving churches all over Canada a mark to shoot at. Much of the improvement in church music in Ontario since the last war may be attributed directly to his influence. He also set a high standard in English diction in choral singing, for on that subject he was a martinet, allowing no slovenliness or ugliness to go unrebuked.

The Mendelssohn Choir is in good hands, and will continue to do fine work. But Sir Ernest Macmillan takes over an organization already brought to a high point of perfection by the two great leaders, Vogt and Fricker. The Choir, we feel, is a possession of the Province, and not of Toronto alone, and regret at the death of its former conductor will be widespread.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An astronomer says that the moon sways gently in its orbit. Probably only when it is full.

A girl in western Canada is reported to keep a porcupine as a pet. Probably her mother was one of those girls who protected herself with a hatpin.

Longitude and latitude are important factors in the world struggle. And in considering the postwar world, says the Ottawa Citizen, we must not forget the importance of platitude.

In New Brunswick a moose chased a hunter up a tree and stabbed him with an antler. Something should be done to protect innocent hunters against these savage beasts.

About Keeping A Diary

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY, Oct. 24: I decided today that this column sticks too rigidly to book-reviews and expository articles, and is in imminent danger of becoming ponderous; would it not be a good idea to keep a diary in it? After all, Mrs. Roosevelt has countless readers for "My Day"; but then, she travels about so much, and meets so many interesting people, whereas I never stir from my office and rarely speak to anyone. Still, one of the best diaries ever written was called "The Diary of A Nobody"; if one nobody can write a diary, another nobody can attempt it. It seems to me that most of the diaries I have read have been written with a possible reader in mind; only Pepys wanted to be completely secret, and was consequently indiscreet in his revelations; indiscretions make the best reading of all. But Mrs. Roosevelt and I are never indiscreet—at least, if we are, we have no intention of telling several thousand people about it; let them commit their own indiscretions, if they want something to gossip about.

⋄ ⋄ ⋄

MONDAY, Oct. 25: A traveller for a publishing company came to see me today, and told me that the taxes on books entering Canada account, in all, for 51 per cent of the selling-price. Canada is probably one of the most Philistine countries on the earth; we take positive pains to make the acquirement of learning and culture difficult for our people. We pay our native artists and writers so badly that they have to go elsewhere to make a living, and then we wonder why we have no Canadian art worth bothering about. However its trade may swell, Canada will be remembered by posterity merely as a suburb of the Arctic Circle, unless it develops a culture of its own; nations are remembered for their cultures, not their cash-registers. Charlotte Whitton's book, "The Dawn of An Ampler Life" came this morning; not a word in it about an ampler intellectual life, which is the real need here: Full Bellies and Empty Heads—is that the Canadian ideal?

⋄ ⋄ ⋄

TUESDAY, Oct. 26: In her autobiography, "The Little Locksmith" Katherine Butler Hathaway says: "Certain places are fond of certain people, and I am sure that place was fond of me.'" How many people feel that, I wonder? Certainly I feel most uncomfortable in many environments, not because there is anything intrinsically uncomfortable about them, but because they have an uncongenial 'feel'.... The papers these days are full of murders and crimes of passion. What queer fish these murderers are! An old chap in Toronto has bashed in a girl's head with a hammer, because she wanted to change her landlord; neither of them, from their pictures, would seem to be a passionate creature. She wears pince-nez, and anything more destructive of passion than pince-nez it would be hard to imagine. But wait—Himmler wears pince-nez, and who could be more brutal than he? Henceforth I shall look upon all wearers of pince-nez with new eyes; they are all potential murderers, every one of them!

⋄ ⋄ ⋄

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 27: Heard the Victory Loan Show on the radio tonight. I should like those shows better if Private Lorne Greene did not bully me so aggressively with that big voice of his. I have bought my Bonds, and if I had not I should refuse to do it on principle after hearing the Show; I am a man, not a mouse, and no radio hireling is going to tell me what to do with my money. The Victory Loan people should learn that it is possible to goad people too far.

⋄ ⋄ ⋄

THURSDAY, Oct. 28: This afternoon it was my fortune to hear a military band playing at very close quarters—a loud but cheerful noise. Most of the horn players, I noticed, kept their big wool gloves on. Does a horn require no delicacy of touch, then? This evening to the movies to see "The Constant Nymph," an excellent piece of sentiment, and very moving. Charles Boyer has the best toupee in Hollywood.

⋄ ⋄ ⋄

FRIDAY, Oct. 29: Made the long train journey to Toronto to see Walter Hampden in "The Patriots." A round trip of 180 miles to see a play is a real tribute to the legitimate stage. On the train a man opposite me talked anti-Semitism in a loud voice for two hours; he kept saying that Jews are dirty. Probably many of them are, but so are lots of Christians. The play was a disappointment, being a rambling, dull piece about Thomas Jefferson, containing gross libels on Alexander Hamilton. Hampden had hard work to hold it together, particularly as he was the only man in the play who wore his clothes with style; the others all seemed to feel that they were in fancy dress which did not fit them. Julie Haydon's talent was quite wasted in a trifling part. And yet the play ran for a year in New York! There must be a lot of very simple people in New York.

⋄ ⋄ ⋄

SATURDAY, Oct. 30: The children were celebrating Hallowe'en tonight, though it is not until tomorrow. I was visited by several evil spirits whom I bought off with apples and popcorn. If Old Horney himself were to knock at doors tonight, would anybody give him an apple, I wonder? No damage was done to property in my neighbourhood, which was a good thing. Since the outdoor privy went out of fashion Hallowe'en has taken a turn toward respectability. They used to be carted all over town, and the signs of doctors and dressmakers hung on their doors. Simple fun, but inconvenient.

Hitler and the Vatican

The London Daily Express says that Adolf Hitler himself gave the order to bomb the Vatican. The Express' proof of its assertion isn't overly specific, but no one can believe Hitler incapable of such an order. Hitler has been the sworn enemy of both Catholicism and Protestantism, and if anybody be in any doubt about what he thinks of Catholicism in particular, they may have their doubt resolved by a study of Mein Kampf. Actually, Nazism, as revealed by the preachments of its leaders—Rosenberg, for example—is pagan in its essence; would uproot and exterminate Christianity.—Ottawa Journal.

Lesson of the Loan

After its magnificent response in the Fifth Victory Loan, no one should worry about civilian Canada. The hearts of the people are sound, their will to victory is as firm as ever. They are standing loyally behind their fighting men and their government leaders. They are pledging all that they have for the preservation of freedom and a better world to come. Their hopes must never be disappointed.—Hamilton Spectator.

THE THRILL THAT COMES ONCE

Is Aerial Warfare Brutal?

(By MAJOR ALEXANDER P. DE SEVERSKY)

EYE-WITNESS accounts of the destruction wrought in German industrial and communications centres by British-American bombardment are coming through across the barriers of German censorship. To the average person they seem to confirm the idea that aerial warfare is a peculiarly brutal type of war-making. Is that assumption justified?

All war is horrible, but I believe it can be demonstrated that air power, as a method of strategic warfare, is a lot more humane, more economical in life, than traditional surface warfare.

To begin with, the more primitive a weapon the more cruel it is likely to be. A sword when used to slash a human body is far more painful and brutal than a clean bullet that kills instantly. By the same token a military strategy that knocks out the enemy nation by a direct blow at its industrial heart is less savage than the strategy which requires systematic extermination of its armed forces—and, incidentally, your own armed forces—in the process of reaching its heart.

Modern air power does not seek to destroy the people of a nation, but merely to knock the weapons out of the hands of its leaders—to disarm the nation by crippling its industrial set-up, its fuel, its transportation and other strategic objectives. Certainly that invovles also many human casualties. But the loss of life is minor compared to what is involved in the clash of great armies and navies on the surface.

In the past, to attain victory, we normally had to cut paths through the living flesh of massed armies, with enormous loss of life to attacker and defender alike. Furthermore, approaching closer and closer to the citadel of the enemy's strength, the territory traversed was devastated by both belligerents, leaving trails of rubble and ruin.

Only the advent of air power, in our own generation, has made it possible to strike at the main target directly, over the heads of armies and navies, and without putting the intervening territory to fire and sword. Air power is able to seek out specific objectives and demolish them in order to loosen the enemy's grip on occupied areas. If the purpose is to retrieve those areas for their rightful owners, they can be handed back virtually intact and not as heaps of ruins.

Of course, the present war has as yet provided few examples of pure air strategy. In the main, all belligerents have used aviation as an auxiliary to surface forces—as a sort of supporting artillery. The havoc wrought by such tactical bombardment therefore intensified the devastation over and above the normal destruction involved in surface struggles. But genuine air warfare, the kind that calls for a decision through the destruction of war-making facilities of the enemy nation itself and depends on surface forces only as a follow-up to occupy the surrendered objectives, would obviously involve a minimum loss in life for both attackers and defenders alike.

In Italy, where we are now fighting an orthodox surface war, the contested regions are being relentlessly devastated, and heavy casualties are being suffered by both sides. When the Germans are driven out, the nation will be returned to the Italian people in a sorry state. In liberating Italy we are also wounding it to the quick.

The same sort of wounds will have to be inflicted on the land and the people of every country wrested from Hitler's or the Mikado's grip by means of invasion and surface struggle against opposing armies. But if aerial bombardment of Germany's or Japan's heart and vitals, its industrial set-up in the home land, succeeds in achieving victory, the countries conquered by the Axis will thereby be liberated without becoming bloody battlefields.

In the future, as aviation asserts its dominant role, war-making will become increasingly a contest in destroying weapons at their point of origin, rather than a contest in mutual slaughter. The industrial potentials, and not armed human beings, will be the primary targets.

Strategic bombing today is still in its experimental stage, which accounts for the large number of civilian casualties. As precision in picking out and erasing specific targets grow, the toll in lives will decline. Quite aside from humanitarian considerations, it is militarily advantageous to avoid outright killing of people in enemy countries. After all, corpses can't revolt, but millions of living people whose everyday existence is shattered as a result of systematic bombardment contribute to the general chaos, undermining morale and hastening the collapse of resistance.

Air power, the firearms of the twentieth century, aims at a decision by piercing the vital organs of an enemy nation, instead of butchering millions of bodies on both sides. Its investment of lives, both at the delivering and receiving ends, is negligible by comparison and hence air power is infinitely less brutal.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

DEAR MISS DIX: Why do not the corporations that employ married women try to hire the wives of their men workers and put them in the same plants and on the same shifts as their husbands? My wife and I are both war workers and have one child. She works in a plant three miles from our home, while I have but six blocks to go to my work. She works a swing shift and I work only on one shift, and this makes it necessary for someone to look after our child sometimes sixteen hours a day. I cannot help thinking how much easier it would be for both of us if she worked in the same plant as I do and on the same shift.

This would eliminate distrust as to what the other spouse is doing, and make the problem of maintaining a decent home existence possible. The situation in plants is growing worse daily and something should be done about it.

DEFENSE WORKER.

WAR WORK DEFEATS NATURAL LAW

ANSWER: The trouble with dealing with the problem is that when you take wives and mothers out of what we used to call their sacred sphere and put them to work on jobs outside of their homes, you run up against one of immutable laws of Nature that cannot be changed. And that is that no person can be in two places at the same time, no matter how much their services are needed in both places.

No doubt it might do much to assuage the jealousy, and thereby ease the friction between husband and wives, if they worked the same hours, in the same shop, at the same machine, and could keep an eye on each other and see that the Mrs. wasn't making eyes at her good-looking boss, and know that Mr. was coming straight home from work instead of sneaking around to the tavern with his pretty blond helper.

So far, so good, but that wouldn't settle the home proposition for either one of them, for no house is a home without a woman in it who gives to it the best of her intelligence and energy and loving thought and care. And no woman can do that who has been working at a tension for hours at a precision machine, with every nerve and fibre in her stretched to the breaking point.

She is spent in mind and body. Irritable. Ready to fight or cry. Craving some relaxation, some excitement, something to take her thoughts off of the treadmill to which she must go back after a few hours of sodden sleep.

Nor can a woman, staggering under the crushing burden that domesticity and war work put upon her, possibly make a comfortable and cheery and soothing home in which her husband can rest after his strenuous labours and go back refreshed to his task.

So it is no wonder that both the husbands and wives who are war workers, who have more money than they ever had before to spend and less home comforts; who see each other at their worst, when they are gray with fatigue and so overstrained that every word is the fighting word, and when they crave some stimulus to take them out of themselves, fall easy victims to the human he and she wolves who are on the prowl seeking whom they might devour.

Nor would putting husbands and wives to work in the same factories and giving them the same shifts solve the problem of the children who are left motherless when their mothers go to work outside of the home. You can't rear children to be decent men and women on a six hour schedule. It takes all of a mother's time, and then some. That is the job she qualified for and for which God is going to hold her responsible and, if she fails in it, she can't alibi her crime by calling it patriotism.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man 60 years old, active, in the best of health, have a good home and no children. Since my wife died three years ago I have lived alone, doing my own cooking and housework.

Lately, at church, I have met a middle-aged widow. She has a small income and lives in a rented room. She seems easy to get along with, is of the domestic type and likes to putter around the kitchen and garden. She is miserable cooped up in a rented room and she suggests that she come and keep house for me. She thinks we would have companionship and live a happier life.

So far as I am concerned romance and marriage are out. I made that clear to her and she is satisfied. The arrangement looks good except for the question of propriety. What are your views?

WIDOWER.

HAZARDOUS TO WIPE AWAY WIDOW'S TEARS

ANSWER: I think you must be about 6 years old instead of 60 if you don't see that the widow has designs upon you, and that before you know it you will be walking up the church aisle with her. Some day you will find her weeping and she will sob out "that the world is so un-un-unkind to say the hor-horrid things about her living with you without being mar-married when everybody knows how noble and good you are, and that she can't help it if she has fallen in love with you." And by the time you have comforted her she will have landed you in a second marriage. Wiping away a widow's tears is the most hazardous occupation in which a man ever engages.

But suppose the widow has marked you for her own? Maybe it is a dispensation of Providence in your behalf without your knowing it. Certainly if she is all you say she is, domestic and amiable and good company, she will brighten up your home and make you more comfortable than you are now.

Don't forget that in these times good cooks are hard to get, and about the only way you can be certain of keeping one is to marry her.

A Bible Message

Little children, yet a little while I am with you. Ye shall seek me: and as I said unto the Jews, Whither I go, ye cannot come; so now I say to you.... Simon Peter said unto him, Lord whither goest thou? Jesus answered him, Whither I go, thou canst not follow me now; but thou shalt follow me afterwards.... And whither I go ye know, and the way ye know.

Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way?

Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me. (John 13: 33, 36; 14: 4-6.)

⋄ ⋄ ⋄

And I looked, and, lo, a Lamb stood on the mount Sion, and with him an hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father's name written in their foreheads. And I heard a voice from heaven, as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of a great thunder: and I heard the voice of harpers harping with their harps: and they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the four beasts, and the elders: and no man could learn that song but the hundred and forty and four thousand, which were redeemed from the earth.... And in their mouth was found no guile: for they are without fault before the throne of God. (Rev. 14: 1-3. 5.)

Municipal Politics

It will be with great regret that many Canadians will regard the news that, in the forthcoming municipal elections in Hamilton, the local C.C.F. organization is to put up a complete slate of candidates.

Hitherto, Canadian municipal business has been almost universally regarded as a local affair, to be carried on by local men, with strict regard to local needs. The old system, in spite of faults, has worked harmoniously, and where it has been least satisfactory, the trend has been towards oversight by a city manager.

The new trend is an old one and, it is feared, a bad one. Its results remain to be seen.—Halifax Chronicle.

COBOURG

Supreme Court Investigates Rink Collapse

COBOURG, Nov. 13 — (ENS).— Three cases are on the docket for Supreme Court of Ontario, non-jury sessions, which commence in the Court House, Cobourg, on Monday, November 15, with Mr. Justice Chevrier presiding.

Arising out of the sudden collapse of the roof of the Campbellford curling rink on February 8, is a damage action brought by Thomas E. Hall, of Oshawa, against the Campbellford Cloth Company, Ltd., of Campbellford. Hall, who is represented by Parkinson, Gardiner & Willis of Toronto, claims $2,050 damages to make repairs, as well as the costs of the action. Fennell, Porter & Davis of Toronto, are solicitors for the Campbellford Cloth Company.

The plaintiff in his statement of claim asserts he leased the defendant company the premises in Campbellford known as the curling rink, with Hall retaining the part of the building known as the office and waiting room. On February 8, 1943, the roof and walls of the premises collapsed, and the plaintiff, Hall, claims he gave the defendant company written notice to reconstruct the walls and roof.

Act of God

The Campbellford Cloth Company claims in defence that the collapse of the building was due to structural weaknesses in the premises, or to an Act of God, and that the company could not be held wholly responsible in any event as the roof partly covered materials belonging to the Town of Campbellford.

First action is one for divorce with Nellie Fox, Cobourg, being plaintiff and Basil Fox, formerly of Cobourg, now of Toronto, et al, being defendant. Parsons & Page of Toronto are solicitors for the plaintiff.

Third action on the docket is also a divorce case, with James Percy Francis, formerly of Cobourg now with the Canadian Army, being plaintiff, and Edna Louisa Francis of Cobourg, et al, being defendant. R. W. D. Affleck is acting for Francis.

Japanese Plane Downed At Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Nov. 13 — (AP). — Enemy planes approached Ceylon early to-day and one was shot down by anti-aircraft defences. No bombs were dropped.

Dispatches from Madras, India, on the mainland north of Ceylon, said an alert was sounded there during the night also, but that no bombs were dropped.

Rounding out a picture of widespread Japanese activity, a New Delhi communique said that a forward Allied air field, presumably near the Burma border, also was attacked yesterday by enemy bombers.

Some civilian casualties resulted but damage was slight, the communique said.

Milk For Britain

The "Shell-out" on Hallowe'en night for Milk for Britain amounted to $788, it was announced today, and of this amount one firm in the city bought $100 worth of tickets for that evening. Results of this "shell-out" night now put the total of the fund past the $14,000 mark. A donation of $50 has also been received by the fund's treasurer, J. A. Macdonald, from the St. Anthony's Society of the Sacred Heart Church.

Previously acknowledged	$13,544.29
"Shell-out" Night proceeds	788.00
St. Anthony's Society	50.00
Total to date	$14,375.29

RESEARCH CONQUERS SEASICKNESS—The bane of seagoing men since the first canoe was launched, seasickness, can be cured in three out of four susceptible persons by means of a secret capsule discovered and now manufactured by the Royal Canadian Navy. Intensive research has been carried on in the Montreal Neurological Institute under Dr. Wilder Penfield, and by the Royal Canadian Navy Medical research unit under Surgeon-Captain C. H. Best, R.C.N.V.R., which did experimental work at the Banting Institute, and field trials at sea. The new discovery has vitally important applications in the transport of invasion and airborne troops as well as naval personnel. LEFT ABOVE, as part of the experiment, a Canadian sailor swings on a platform. The container comes in handy when he begins to show symptoms of seasickness in about half an hour's rocking. RIGHT ABOVE is Surgeon-Lieut.-Commander E. A. Sellers, R.C.N.V.R., of Winnipeg, Man., who was in immediate charge of research at the Banting Institute. He is shown checking the capsule-making with one of the research assistants.

Eight Donors Awarded Silver Pins During Week At Red Cross Clinic

The staff of the Red Cross Blood Donors Clinic was proud to note this week that they had presented eight silver pins to donors signifying that they had given six donations at the Clinic. It was announced that Canadian plasma has been used on the Italian battlefront and the Red Cross is urging that more donors sign up to keep up the plasma supplies.

Lloyd Parnall Describes Bombing Trips To Kiwanis

Using such phrases as "I had occasion to go to Krefeld one night," "lying on the floor waiting to aim the bombs I was fascinated by the beauty of the flak," and "I haven't done my share," Flight Lieutenant Lloyd Parnall, veteran of more than thirty bombing raids over Germany, told members of the Kiwanis Club on Firday episodes in the lives of Canadian airmen flying from air stations overseas.

In charge of the navigation section of his squadron before returning home on leave, Flt. Lt. Parnall gave a picture of the activities and preparations of crew members of a squadron on an average day before going out on a night operation. He spoke of the details of briefing, of the various complications involved in the take off and getting a large number of planes airborne, of the trips and the targets over Germany which he knows about from his first-hand experience.

Weather, Flt. Lt. Parnall asserted, as still the most important factor in the life of an airman, and the most feared of all possibilities was the danger of icing. He said that in period of favourable weather conditions, the same man would often go out on "ops" for six out of eight nights and during this time there would be much hard work and little sleep or rest. Again, the weather might be bad for a week or more together and then idleness would be enforced upon a squadron. "Weather," he said, "is one problem we cannot expect to solve."

No Straight Line

Flt. Lt. Parnall revealed that the airships never travel a straight course to their target, but make "doglegs" and use all manner of deception to fool Jerry as to the ultimate target. In returning they must also fly a devious route, because German ground defences and night fighters would be prepared to give them a hot reception along the line of the obvious route. Thus it often happened, he said, that planes flying a 1,000 mile course would be forced to cover as many as 1,600 miles.

He was quite emphatic in stating that anti-aircraft, night-fighter and searchlight defences over Germany were plenty tough. With night-fighters the important thing was to see the enemy; as long as flyers could do that, they had a good chance of escape. But the Germans could be counted on to revise their tactics constantly, to use any sort of deception that might enable them to get fighters within range of the big bombers unseen.

Terrible Damage

He had encouraging words to say about the destruction of German industrial resources. He had seen proof of towns that had been literally wiped off the map, and in his own experience had passed over targets where the smoke from fires had risen to 20,000 feet. He had seen cities burning from 100 miles away two days after the targets had been bombed.

Though unable to be specific because of security regulations, Flt. Lt. Parnall showed tremendous enthusiasm over the equipment now standard in the heavy bombers, and said it was so marvellous that on operational trips the navigator could always tell within a mile exactly where he was. Since his return to Canada, he added, still further improved devices had become a part of the bombers equipment.

Airmen were unanimous in their praise of the methods that had saved many of their comrades' lives after being forced down at sea, Flt. Lt. Parnall told his audience. "Air-sea rescues are the thing," he said, revealing that the aftermath of one heavy raid saw more than 100 crewmen saved from the ocean when their planes had been forced down.

The speaker of the day was introduced by Ted Pridham and Milf. Hardill moved the vote of thanks.

NOTHING DAUNTS THE ALLIES—When the Germans destroyed a bridge across a river near Caserta, Italy, they failed to delay the Allied advance to any appreciable extent. Shown here is a jeep with British soldiers in mid-stream, pictured passing the blown-out bridge.

Allow Public To Purchase More Vegetables

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 (CP). — The Prices Board announced today that sale of canned vegetables to the public will be resumed Nov. 15 under the system of "controlled distribution" announced last month by the Board and now in effect.

The 1943 pack was held off the market while consumers could get supplies of fresh vegetables. The Board said the pack was below normal, and accordingly its distribution to the public had been narrowed down to an eight-month period rather than the full year.

Consumer buying of canned vegetables varies sharply between households as well as throughout Canada, the Board said, and "consumer rationing on a basis of equality for all would not meet the needs of the situation."

The Board said priority needs of the armed forces, hospitals and similar institutions will be met under the plan, and that distribution to these users began Nov. 8. Although canned pureed vegetables for infant feeding are not included in the plan, retailers should ensure they are sold only for that purpose.

Under the plan, stocks of canned vegetables in the hands of packers and wholesalers were frozen last summer and it was then announced these stocks would move to retail outlets as the supply of fresh vegetables was absorbed.

The plan is based on past experience of the trade, and makes allowance for population shifts and other variables.

NOW IN ARMY—Major Eric Knight's daughter, Private Betty Knight, tries to locate her late father's best seller ("This Above All"), in the library at the third WAC training centre, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. Her stepmother, Lieut. Jere Knight, is stationed at W.A.C. headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Warren Stevens On RCAF Staff

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 (CP) — Air Force Headquarters announced last night appointment of Warren Stevens, for the past 11 years director of athletics and physical education at the University of Toronto, to the R.C.A.F. directorate of medical services with rank of flight lieutenant.

The announcement said Stevens' knowledge of training will be "largely utilized in organizing the physical rehabilitation of personnel in convalescent and active treatment hospitals."

He will also act as a liaison officer between the medical service and those in charge of the R.C.A.F. "duty fitness" physical program, which has replaced the old "physical jerks" system.

The announcement said the medical service will draw on his wealth of experience in "formulating plans for even further advancement" for the duty fitness program, and his duties, while separate from the physical training and drill section, will provide "the means of co-operation between the two aspects of physical fitness."

Appointment of Stevens, who also is Associated Professor in the university's School of Physical and Health Education, brings together two of Canada's outstanding sports personalities. Flt. Lt. Lew Hayman, former coach of Toronto Argonauts Football Club, was appointed some time ago to direct the Fitness Duty program.

It Won't Matter

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 13 (CP).— Well-meaning Londoners who have sacrificed their own skimp tea ration in order to send a part of it overseas learned today from Post Office officials that inclusion of tea in parcels requires an export licence.

SEVERE RESTRICTION

The quantity of paper available in Britain is about one-fifth the pre-war supply. Newspapers are cut accordingly.

CUPID'S DART — Eduardo Chavez, New York night-club bandleader, is shown with his bride, the former Dell Carroll, after they were wed. The couple figured prominently in the news, a few months ago, when Miss Carroll stabbed and seriously wounded Chavez, following a lovers' quarrel.

Retain Rationing Lehman's Plea

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 13 — (AP). — The apparent determination to make post-war reconstruction the joint responsibility of the 44 countries of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration was underscored last night by Herbert Lehman, newly elected Director-General.

The former New York Governor in a speech accepting the U.N.R.R.A. post twice emphasized the phrase, "Helping people to help themselves."

Lehman declared: "Nations, no less than individuals, desire to live in self-respect. They wish to become self-reliant members of the world communty. To ths end they seek opportunity to work, produce and trade. They turn to us with no idea of long continuing relief."

He implied that nations with surpluses would be asked by the U.N.R.R.A. to continue rationing after the war, saying that a critical shortage of supplies will exist immediately after the armistice and that one of the chief objectives of the administration must be to see that the limited supplies are evenly distributed.

Sow Slaughter Suspended At Packing Plant

The killing of sows will be suspended for two or three weeks at Canada Packers until "regular" classes of finished hogs are liquidated.

This order applies to all packing plants in Ontario, Quebec and the prairie provinces. It was issued Wednesday by the Federal Department of Agriculture.

Hog marketings this week have been so high that notwithstanding record slaughter the volume moving through the packing plants is above their practical limitations of handling.

This is a quotation from the official announcement: "Two regular hogs can be processed with about the same amount of labour as required for one sow; and as additional weight does not lower the eventual value of sows temporarily held from slaughter, this offers a practical solution to relieving the present congested condition."

Greatest Deliveries

Deliveries of hogs in Canada, especially in the west, are now the greatest on record. Most packing plants have been provided with sufficient labor to operate at capacity and last week established a slaughtering record of approximately 192,000 hogs—about 15,000 more than any previous weekly record."

For those reasons producers are asked to hold back delivery of hogs until the present peak is passed.

This experience and advice applies to the Peterborough plant of Canada Packers. G. S. Matthews, manager, said today that it would probably be three weeks before sows will be accepted.

Transports Crew Swamps Y Cadets 64-8

With Herb. Payne's new entry the Transports swamping an unseasoned Y Cadet squad 64 to 8 and St. John's nosing out the Generals 16-15 in the closest kind of a battle, the Ladies' City Basketball League at the Y.W.C.A. got away to a good start Friday night, with a big crowd on hand to watch the opening fixtures in the long campaign.

The free-wheeling Transports, packing a lot of basketball experience and scoring punch, had far too much on the ball for the young Cadet team. Sparked by Ruth Hewitt, who signalized her return to the game after a year's absence by running up 18 points, the new entry racked up a big score in easy fashion. In the first half the winners were tossing them in from all over the floor for a total of 30 points, while the only reply from the Cadets was a successful free throw by B. Cooke, leaving them down 30 to 1 at the half.

The Y girls, however, stuck to their guns and had the satisfaction in the second half of picking up seven scoring points while the Transports added 34 to their total. Jessie Morrow was the big gun in the winners' attack in the second half, running in five baskets in a row before she was hurt in a fall and had to retire.

Ruth Hewitt was top scorer with nine field baskets for a total of 18 points. Jessie Morrow contributed 10 and Beryl Dobbin, I. Crary and Jean Castle each came through with eight points.

The only Cadet players to get baskets from the field were Betty Lou Braund, Mary Barrett and Betty Stewart, each scoring two points.

The teams:

Payne's Transports (64) — Beryl Dobbin 10, Janet Collins, Jean Castle 8, Helen Miller 4, J. Fleming, Dot Bestard 4, Betty Flynn 2, Jessie Morrow 10, Ruth Hewitt 18, I. Crary 8.

Y Cadets (8)—B. Weir, D. Saunders 1, N. Sotheran, P. Martyn, B. Cooke 1, N. Stanton, M. Spicer, M. Beggs, Betty Lou Braund 2, Leonore Edwards, Mary Barrett 2, Betty Stewart 2.

Referee—Howie Macdonald.
Umpire—Mary McPherson.

It was a different story in the other game which was a battle all the way before St. John's finally won by a point. It was a close-checking affair with both teams off in their marksmanship and the result is seen in the low score.

Generals took an early lead after the first few minutes had passed without a score. They opened out a 5 to 2 margin, but the St. John's girls fought their way into the van before the first half ended and were 10 to 8 in front at the rest. They increased their advantage to 16 to 10 in the third quarter and were still 16 to 12 in front at the end of the quarter. The Generals staged a fighting finish, holding the church team off the score sheet in the fourth quarter while they picked up three points themselves, but they could not get the equalizer, in spite of several close calls in the last minute.

The break in the game came when one of the Generals pulled a wrong-way Corrigan play and scored against her own team.

Teresa Heslip led the winners' attack with eight points and Eva Clarke had four. Mary McPherson, although closely watched by the Saints, led for the losers with 7 points.

The teams:

St. John's (16)—Doreen Groombridge, Eileen Hewitt 2, M. Vosburgh, M. Dyer, Theresa Heslip 8, Eva Clarke 4, Edith Harte-Maxwell, Peggy Lawless, Essie Wright.

C.G.E. (15)—Isobel Bullock 1, Monica Lawless, Mary McPherson 7, D. Allen, F. Merrett 4, J. Hickey 3, Shirley Mortimer, J. Moore, J. Wray, J. Rahmel.

Referee—Hymie Smith. Umpire—Beryl Dobbin.

The initial games in the Y.M.C.A. House Basketball League will be staged tonight when the Frigates will clash with the Destroyers in the first game at 7.15 o'clock and the Algerines and Corvettes will supply the contention in the 8.15 o'clock fixture. The double-header should furnish a line on the quality of basketball that will be dished up in the loop this season. There will be a lot of new faces, with many younger players making the jump up to the senior ranks filling in the gaps left by the many cage players who are now in the armed services. In the opening game the Frigates will be captained by Steve Csumrik, and he has Bill Edger, Clare Calvin, Jim Collins, Jack Franks, Reg Seabrook, Frank Blackburn, Carl Bedford, Joe Santamero and Earl Sage in his lineup while the Destroyers will have Harry Currie, captain, Bill Shadgett, J. Fallon, G. Seabrook, B. Loftus, A. Northcott, F. Alcock, B. Higgins, R. Osborne and S. Lambert. In the second half of the twin bill Joe Stewart will lead the following Algerine squad into action, R. Davis, Ray Kidd, Wm. Jones, V. Griffin, G. Bouch, A. Stewart, W. Thompson and A. Turner while their opponents will be the Corvettes headed by Jim Ferguson and including Warren Smith, E. Nicholls, J. McNaught, Wm. Brown, Jim Shields, Bill Lech, J. Rush and G. Howard.

Opening games in the Ladies' Basketball League last night at the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium created the impression that Herb Payne's Transports look like the team to beat this season for top honors. The new entry has gathered together most of the scoring aces of last season with the addition of Ruth Hewitt who did not play last winter. She came back last night with 18 points to top the scorers and with Beryl Dobbin, Jessie Morrow, Dot Bestard, Jean Castle, I. Crary and other good marksmen all on the one squad the opposition teams will have a lively season holding them under control. St. John's, who did not operate a team last season celebrated their return to the cage wars by nosing out the Generals 16 to 15. The church team battled hard all the way and their drive won for them. An innovation was the use of girl umpires. Mary McPherson officiated in the first game and Beryl Dobbin held a whistle in the second battle and both of them gave satisfaction.

It's A Real Card

Promoter Frank Tunney has certainly surpassed himself in building up a crowd-pleasing card for next Tuesday night's show at the Brock St. Arena. Not satisfied with featuring the British champion Whipper Billy Watson in the main bout Tunney has lined up two other grapplers who often occupy top spot billing and matched them against a pair of new wrestlers, thus adding considerable spice to a program that didn't really need it with such an attraction as a clash between the Whipper and Jan Gotch. Gentleman Jack Clayborne, disappointed in his last few starts here is billed in the semi-final and he is stacked up against a formidable opponent in Jack Reader, an Indiana mat star, who comes here with a fine reputation and may take the Bounding Black for another ride. Then in the opening bout Rowdy Dick Hogan, always a one-man riot is back and he battles the French wrestler Pierre De Glane. The Frenchman has had a lot of experience but at that he had better watch his step or the Housepainter will belt him into submission and lay him like a Brinton rug before he has a chance to say "Ou La La." These two introductory bouts will be a fitting leadup to the main attraction.

The crowd are looking forward to seeing Watson cut loose at the expense of Gotch in the big bout of the night. They know that the British Empire champion has been plenty peeved about the attack Gotch made two weeks ago on the Whip's chum, Irish Pat Flanagan and they are expecting him to start in early and keep the pressure on the Pole all the way. They were hoping the same thing of Jack Clayborne in this week's show but Gotch proved too tough for the Black Comet. He says he's going to be too tough, also, for Watson but the fans don't think so and this column lines up with the majority. We feel that Watson has got what it takes to hand Gotch a real trimming and that he will probably do it. At the same time we have seen enough of the Pole to realize that he is no soft picking even for the Empire champion. He is not only rough and ruthless in his methods but he mixes in a lot of wrestling science with his skulduggery and that makes him a formidable adversary. He has been calling Watson a Fancy Dan performer and it remains to be seen whether that kind of ribbing will get him anywhere or not. Our own feeling is that it will probably get him a rough passage at the hands of the Whipper. Extra seats are being provided and the Arena management expects the biggest crowd of the season for next Tuesday's three-ring circus.

A Fitting Windup

The presentation of cheques for $100 each to the British War Victims' Fund and to the local corvette fund was a fitting windup to a most successful season for the Ladies' Softball League and the officers of the organization as well as the managers and players who co-operated by making the presentation possible are to be congratulated upon this very fine gesture. The league has not been satisfied with providing a means by which scores of girls could enjoy a season of healthful recreation and hundreds of citizens many hours of entertainment. It remembered two funds that are in every sense worthy of support and came through handsomely. President Bill Bennett, Secretary Gladys Mortimer, Ab Delahaye and the others who helped have done a fine job and deserve thanks. And that brings up the thought that sporting organizations in the city this past summer have materially assisted various war funds. The Men's Softball League raised substantial sums for the War Victims' Fund and the Milk for Britain Fund. The Cricket Club sponsored a most successful soccer game to raise a large contribution to the War Victims' Fund and the Lawn Bowling Club also came through with a neat effort.

Says Ken Colling in the Belleville sport sheet: "Out in Peterborough it's a foregone conclusion there will be a new modern and up-to-date artificial ice arena constructed in the Liftlock City at the conclusion of the war, if not before. Once Peterborough has modern hockey facilities they'll return to Senior "A" hockey wars, but quickly. Kingston has been in the senior series for the past three seasons and will doubtless remain in the higher bracket after the war. Actually in the Limestone City the hockey heads are far from satisfied with the facilities afforded their puck enterprises at the Jock Harty Arena despite the fact it is equipped with artificial ice. Upon being awarded the official site of Hockey's Hall of Fame Kingston hopes to have a new artificial ice arena before the boys return from overseas. This all adds up to the fact that Peterborough, Kingston and Oshawa will all be included in the Senior "A" hockey series after the war, but how about Belleville? Without artificial ice facilities the matter of senior hockey in Belleville is just out of the question. Naturally the post-war period will find some highclass pucksters at the Trenton Airport and no doubt the "Flyers" will return to the O.H.A. wars stronger than they did in 1937-'38. Naturally they'll want to play senior hockey, but where?"

Run In Snowstorm

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—No less than 192 of the total student enrolment of 315 at Ridley College yesterday braved snowy conditions to compete in the 51st annual cross-country race over a course of approximately three miles. The senior division was won by Don McFarlane of London.

EASY DOES IT—Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame's new quarterback, shows you how he slings that ball. Lujack, No. 32, indicated by arrow, gets the ball from the centre, fakes it to one of his backs and then charges back to pass. End John Yonaker, No. 82, has dashed goalward and Lujack heaves it to him. This action took place in the Army game, won by Notre Dame.

Lady Bowler Hits 317 Single

Ruth Ellis of the Y's Menettes did some neat trundling in the Y.M.C.A. Ladies' Bowling League this week, leading the loop with a high three of 703 and a high single of 317.

Other good performances were Kay Calladine's 650 for three and 249 single. R. Brindle had a three-game total of 634 and M. Timm a 269 single.

Performs Rare Feat

Official credit has been accorded Staff Sgt. Gene Jantzen, physical instructor at the Lincoln, Neb., base of the U.S. Army Air Force for a feat at Denver when he performed 5,200 sit-ups in four hours, 50 minutes. Officers declared last night that two dozen sit-ups are considered plenty for the average man.

Kingston Army Defeats St. Catharines

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 13—Playing their first schedule game in senior O.H.A., and notified by military authorities that the return engagement at Kingston Saturday night would be the last as a present unit, Kingston Frontenac Army spoiled the season's opener at Garden City Arena last night for St. Catharines Saints and over 3,000 fans by a 5-2 victory.

Coach Red Hamill of the Chicago Black Hawks, playing right wing for the soldier squad, set a hot pace for the Kingstonians, scoring two of the first-period counters and setting up the third, while Herb Mortimer in the Army nets recorded a shutout.

In the second it was Hamill again who gave Ronnelson the pass that made it 4-0.

The next Kingston goal fell to Hub Macey of New York Rangers, with Steve Latoski as setter-upper, while Defenseman Pete Backor was on the bench serving a penalty. With the tally standing 5-0 against Saints and Kingston full value for the goals, Saints snapped into their work and replied with a brace of registers.

Red Goble, lightest man on the ice, bagged the first and set up Jud McAtee for the second, which was hotly protested by Coach Hamill.

Hamill provided about 90 per cent of the color of the Army team, as he violently protested every penalty imposed by the referee, and his gestures were forcible. His carrot-topped teammate, Red Tilson of Oshawa Generals, was the other colorful performer, as he and Hamill formed the bulwark every time Kingston got a penalty, and did a superlative chore of fore and back checking, with the result that Saints were unable to capitalize on any penalty advantages.

Rugged Campaigners

Hamill showed a sound, consistent team of big, rugged players, that used its weight and professional tactics to great advantage, bodying, bumping and shoving the lighter Saints around plenty. Kingston had about everything that a stylist team should possess, on speed in abundance, fast breaking forwards, sturdy blocking and a tight knit defense that Saints were unable to penetrate for over four minutes of the first period.

Nels Stewart's blue jerseyed homesters were vastly below form in the first period, and young Ted Grosskurth in the blue rigging could have sued his defense for the support accorded.

The visitors played as if they had a grudge on the whole world, as they stated before the game that tonight's and tomorrow's engagements would be their only two appearances as a unit this season. The teams is to be transferred over the week-end to other advanced training centres, and they staged a contest that had abandon written all over it. What sterling work Hamill and Tilson did not perform was tossed in by Rhys Thompson on defense and Chuck Corrigan on the wing, both of whom carried all the roughing needed.

Kingston Frontenac Army—Goal, Herb Mortimer; defense, Bill Mortimer, Booth; centre, Latoski; wings, Macey, Hamill; subs, Thompson, Nicholson, Tilson, Nelson, Tisdall, Corrigan.

St. Catharines Saints — Goal, Grosskurth; defense, Backor, Delmonte; centre, Reynolds; wings, Bellinger, Mundrick; subs, Boston, McAtee, Mason, Goble, Adamson; sub goalie, Sargent.

Referee—Bert Hedges, Toronto; linesmen, Jack Boyd, Frank Elliott, St. Catharines.

Here she is in her informal pre-season debut for the cameraman.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The football feud developed in a new sector last night with a report from Ottawa that rival grid interests, representing the Big Four and the O.R.F.U., had applied to the Civic Board of Contral for playing dates at Lansdowne Park next season. It was stated the Combines would remain in the O.R.F.U. in 1944 but the officers of the Ottawa Football club, headed by President J. R. Welch, told the civic fathers the original Rough Riders wanted the playing facilities as well.

The Rough Riders, of the Interprovincial Football Union, gained many yards on the play when the Board of Control ruled they could have the choice of playing dates, the Combines to take the remaining Saturdays. This decision was reached when President Welch pointed out the Ottawa club dated back to 1876 while the Combines were barely a year old. The controllers decided to give preference on the basis of seniority.

Army Ball Stars

Army Times of Washington, D.C., weekly newspaper of the U.S. Servicemen, yesterday published an army all-star baseball team made up of ex-major leaguers now in khaki. Among those missing from the list were Joe DiMaggio, former Yankee outfielder, and Red Ruffing, former star hurler of the world's champions.

Charles Bidwill, owner of the Chicago professional football team, yesterday was ordered seized and brought before the Cook County grand jury by Chief Justice Benjamin P. Epstein of the Criminal Court. The jurist issued an attachmen for the widely-known sportsman after he failed to appear before the jurors, who are investigating gambling.

London Army baseball team, three-time winners during 1943, were honored at a gala dinner last night in the Forest City when civic and military officials extolled wartime sport and praised the players. Trophies were presented for Inter County, the Canadian Sandlot Congress and Ontario baseball championships.

Aces Lose

The Quebec Senior Hockey League opened last night at Cornwall with an impressive 6-2 victory by Cornwall Army over Quebec Aces. Jimmy Conacher and Jerry Brown paced the Factory town attack with two goals apiece while Jack Shewchuk was also outstanding for the "Cookies."

Nelson Named As Boss For Big Bout

Referee Irish Tommy Nelson will officiate in the big match between British Empire Champion Whipper Billy Watson and Jan Gotch at the Brock Arena Tuesday night. And a good thing too. Nelson is a most capable official and his presence as third man will be approved by most of the fans here.

Gotch has already announced his plans of demanding a match with World Champion Wild Bill Longson, as soon as he has beaten the Whipper. Such confidence does the Polish wild man exude, that he has signed an open contract for Promoter Frank Tunney to stage the bout where and when he likes. In fact as far as Gotch is concerned the spectacular Watson is just another wrestler and one whom he, Gotch, will demolish in jig time.

Those who saw the starry Watson in action here against Katan will probably take a far different view. Watson is one of the current greats of the mat world on this continent at least. He is fast, scientific and strong, but more than that he has a flair for doing the impossible when injured. On several occasions Whipper Watson has finished a match with broken ribs or torn cartilage, and finished on top too. The Toronto boy has had his ribs broken seven different times, his shoulder broken twice and today he has very little use of his left eye. But in the matches in which he received those injuries, he never gave up, even under great pain, and Mr. Gotch will certainly have to be something of a Superman if he is to live up to his current boasting.

The new man, Jack Reeder of Indiana, gets off to a tough start here, having been called to tackle Gentleman Jack Clayborne, who will be in there fighting his way back to main bout billing. Pierre DeGlane, the Frenchman, has been brought in for Dick Hogan in the third bout.

QUIZ ON TIRES

Q. Can I Buy a New Tire?
A. Perhaps—perhaps not—but sixty seconds after you come into our shop we can tell you precisely what you can or cannot do in accordance with the regulations.
Q. Will You Tell me my Tire Rating?
A. We will gladly do that, and regardless of what your rating may allow, we will show you the very best way to keep rolling on rubber for the longest possible time.
Q. If I carry war workers, do I get Privileges?
A. You certainly do—so don't pass up any of them. We'll tell you exactly what you are entitled to and how you can get them.
Q. If I can't buy a new Tire, how about Retreading?
A. Yes you are eligible for a retreading on your tires—Come in and see us before the tire is too far gone.
Q. If I can't get new Tires or Retreading what CAN I do?
A. You can do yourself and your present tires the handsome favour of discussing with us an intelligent program of keeping your tires "going" to the very last ounce of vitality in them. Make it a point to do that today.
Q. How about Bootlegging?
A. In all earnestness we urge you to stay away from such dealings. The law carries drastic penalties for any person who buys, sells, borrows, pools or gives away any new, used or retreaded tire or any new or used tube or retreading service except through an authorized dealer and by means of an authorized permit.

Toronto H.M.C.S. York Beats Fliers To Open Senior Hockey; Big Second Period Nets 7 Goals

TORONTO, Nov. 13 — (CP) — Sweeping into an 8-0 lead in the first two periods, Toronto H.M.C.S. York defeated Toronto R.C.A.F. 8-3 last night in an Ontario Hockey Association senior group opener.

Without the scoring aid of a single former National League player, Navy scored the only goal of the first period and added seven in the second while holding the Airmen scoreless. The Air Force finally came to life in the last period, holding Navy scoreless while firing three pucks past Red Gilbert in the Navy nets.

Scotty Mair and Joe Klukay shared scoring honors as the sailors spoiled the debut of Johnny Mowers in the Air Force goal with a blistering offensive. Mair and Klukay scored two goals apiece while singletons went to Hugh Barlow, Sandy Milne, George Gee and Livingston.

Billy Wilson, last year with Navy and now remustering for aircrew, tallied two Air Force goals on passes from Norm Tustin, who tallied the other R.C.A.F. goal unassisted.

Lineups:

R.C.A.F.—Goal, Mowers; defence, Dickens, Heron; centre, Burns; wings, Gronsdal, Tustin; subs Wilson, Collings, Williamson, Fitzgerald, Buell.

Navy — Goal, Gilbert; defence, Milne, Garret; centre, Mann; wings, Mair, Gee; subs-Stafford, Ogsten, Barlow, Klukay, Livingston, Thompson, Benson, Fortin, Brennan.

Summary:

First Period

1—Navy—Mair (Milne) 19:55

Penalties—Gronsdal, Buell, Garrett.

Second Period

2—Navy, Klukay (Garrett) .. 3:15
3—Navy, Klukay 7:46

Today's Games Will Fade Out 3 Rugby Teams

(By The Canadian Press)

Three eastern Canada teams will be eliminated from contention for the Grey Cup and Canadian Football championship today following games in Montreal and Hamilton, Ont.

Two teams will drop into the discard at Montreal, where the Quebec Rugby Union closes its schedule with games which will determine whether Lachine R.C.A.F., Verdun Grads or Montreal Navy advance to the eastern final in Toronto Nov. 20. All three teams have a chance to finish first or tie for first, in which event the club with the best scoring average will qualify for the eastern final.

At Hamilton, either Toronto Balmy Beach or Hamilton Flying Wildcats will emerge ascendant in Ontario following a sudden-death Ontario Rugby football union final, with the winner meeting the Quebec champion.

The winner at Hamilton probably will carry public support to sweep over the Quebec Union representatives and into the national final against Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers at Toronto Nov. 27.

NEW YORK, Nov 13 — (AP).— Remember the Ivy League?...... Since it never really existed, the old circuit hasn't been hard to forget this football season, but all of a sudden it comes up with a pair of the best games in the East this week-end....They are Dartmouth vs. Connell and Yale vs. Princeton.

Observation post:

Ever since Chicago U. dropped out of big ten football competition, there have been reports that Pitt was pulling strings in hopes of replacing the Maroons....Well, Pitt now has lost 10 straight games to Western Conference foes, so what more proof do they want than the Panthers deserve the Chicago berth?

Shorts and shells:

Argentine sports fans contributed 250 gallons worth of gas coupons to enable Bike Rider Renigio Saavedra to try to ride 1,080 kilometres from Mendoza to Buenos Aires in 20 hours. The gas was needed for a pace-setting car......Sign on the back-stretch at Belmont Park: "Drive Slow—Consider the Horses." ....That must refer to the ones running in the Jamaica Victory Meeting.

Modern language:

When Detroit's Johnny Sherf got two good chances to score against the Montreal Canadiens the other night, only to be blocked by Goalie Bert Gardiner, he protested: "I thought I had him beaten, but he made his move at the right fraction and blocked the puck. That man must be equipped with radar."

La Motta Trims Fritzie Zivic

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—(AP)—For five rounds last night, Fritzie Zivic was on the way to giving old pop time and young Jake La Motta a sound whipping, but Jake had too much youth and weight for the stretch drive and came on to win a 10-round decision over the veteran Pittsburgher in Madison Square Garden. La Motta weighed 161, Zivic 149½.

For half the bruising brawl, the aging crowd pleaser with the flat nose—a 17-to-5 underdog Friday—piled up points and gaxe the Bronx youngsters a solid going-over with hard, sharp jabs and short right crosses for the entertainment of a partisan Garden gathering of 11,330. Then, La Motta's 11½-pound weight edge and the 13 years of fist-fighting in Fritzie's legs began to tell.

Young Jake swarmed all over him in the last five heats, swinging wildly but landing more than he missed, and at the end he had a clear but close margin. But the crowd gave Fritz the cheers and the applause when he left the ring, loser in this "rubber" match between the two.

The Asociated Press score card gave La Motta six rounds and Zivic four. One of Fritz's was the ninth, which was taken away from the Bronx middleweight mauler for hitting low. The officials were split over the verdict, with Referee Eddie Josephs and Judge Marty Monroe voting for La Motta and Judge Jack Goodman casting his ballot for Fritzie, seven rounds to three.

TORONTO, Nov. 13—(CP)—Frank Demarco, Toronto Balmy Beach outside wing and one of the "finds" of the 1943 football season, is a brother of the Boston Bruins hockey player. The Demarcos hale from North Bay, Ont. Frank is a teacher at St. Michael's College here . . . another Beach "find" is Bouncy Little Chad Bark, fresh from high school football but now a private in the Canadian army stationed at Camp Borden, Ont. Bark is the most talked of rookie in the Ontario Union . . . Beaches apparently made another discovery against Navy Wednesday night when they uncovered Gib Heron, a trooper from Camp Borden. Heron comes from Jamaica but had three years of United States football and was fast enough to win half a dozen track events at Camp Borden this year.

Tsk! Tsk!

Alf (Vancouver Sun) Cottrell writes: "Alfie (Red) Carr and Jackie Mann, two lads who had extreme difficulty finding their way around in British Columbia amateur company last winter, have been demoted to Toronto Leafs and N.Y. Rangers respectively."

Since withdrawal of Toronto Army from the O.H.A. senior series, a group of Toronto sportsmen is considering taking the army franchise and carrying on with civilians and whatever Army players are available . . . Freddy Edwards of the Fort William Times-Journal bewails the bad angel that keeps sports writers in other cities labelling Fort William hockey players as Port Arthur products. Gaye Stewart was one such last year. Now, apparently, a Regina writer has termed Eric Sandberg, R.C.A.F., a speedster from Port Arthur. Sandberg was a team-mate of Gus Bodnar and Bud Poile on Fort William Hurricane Rangers.

Canadiens-Wings Play On Week-end

(By The Canadian Press)

The only undefeated teams in the National Hockey League clash tonight and tomorrow in highlight contests of a week-end program which sends every team except Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins into action twice.

The teams with no demerits — Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings—open at Montreal Saturday and resume hostilities at the Olympia Sunday. Other Saturday games involve Chicago Black Hawks at Toronto and Boston at New York Rangers.

Rangers, still seeking their first victory of the season after five starts, play in Chicago Sunday.

Either Canadiens or Detroit could vault into first place in the standings with a double victory. Canadiens trail the league-leading Leafs by one point and hold the same margin over Wings. Chicago, two points behind Wings in fourth place, shade Boston by one point.

Court Orders News Service For All Papers

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 — (AP)— The Government asked the United States District Court to-day perpetually to enjoin and restrain the Associated Press from observing by-laws which "permit newspapers desiring AP service to be denied such service because they offer competition to existing AP members."

A proposed form of judgment in the Government's civil anti-trust suit against the AP also would restrain the news-gathering co-operate from withholding its services from non-AP newspapers, from carrying out its exclusive news contract with The Canadian Press and from observing by-laws regarding exclusiveness of local spontaneous news furnished by its members. Of these, however, the AP could apply for modification if it amended its by-laws regarding admission of members.

John Henry Lewin, Special Assistant to the Attorney-General, filed the proposed judgment and 146 findings of fact. The Government was directed to submit its proposals when a special court ruled October 6 in a 2-to-1 decision that the AP had the right to pass upon admission of applicants, but that the bylays "in their present form" violated the anti-trust laws.

The court had directed that the by-laws be changed to prevent a member in the same publishing field (morning, evening or Sunday) in the same city as a competing applicant from imposing any conditions for admission.

Appeal Likely.

The court left to the AP the adoption of "substitutes which will restrict admission" but indicated that if "admission to AP were properly liberalized" the by-laws providing for the exclusiveness of local news, the confining of AP dispatches to its own members, and the contract between AP and The Canadian Press would be within the law.

The AP now has 30 days to file counter-proposals to the Government's proposed findings of fact and judgment. The final form will then be decided by the court, after which appeal may be taken to the Supreme Court.

As directed by the court, the Government agreed in its proposed judgment to dismissal of its complaint that the purchase by A P of wide world photos from the New York Times violated the anti-trust laws.

The AP by-laws provide for admission of a newspaper to membership by the affirmative vote of a majority of the members. The Government sought in the suit, filed August 28, 1942, to compel the AP to admit any newspaper willing to pay its proportionate share of the cost of gathering news.

LAKEFIELD

Librarian Finds More Reading

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 13—(ENS)— The Library Board met in the council chamber this week and held a "chilly" session in the unheated council chambers because of a faulty furnace.

Mrs. W. Gillman presided. Miss Grace Yonge, librarian, presented a list of books to be purchased for the board's consideration and it was decided to have Miss Yonge revise the list and present it again at the next meeting.

In her report Miss Yonge stated that there had been 22 new members join the library in October. There were thirteen renewals, and $1.55 in fines collected. The library was open fourteen times during the month with a total circulation of 782 books (an increase over September of 346) classed as follows: Adult fiction, 179; adult non fiction, 88; juvenile fiction, 417; juevenile non-fiction, 98.

Board members present were Mrs. Gillman, Mrs. J. Ridpath, Mrs. W. W. Leonard, Mrs. Reg. Doubt, Mrs. Everett Sloan and librarian Miss Grace Young.

BRITISH PRODUCTION UP

Over the whole field of British war production, output in 1942 exceeded that of 1941 by 50 percent.

SITUATION IN ITALY—Allied troops pointed three spearheads at Rome from less than 80 miles away after capturing the last stronghold of the shattered "Little Rommel" line. The British 8th Army pushed through at Vasto (A), the German Adriatic anchor, while Gen. Clark's Fifth Army captured Venafro (B), west of Isernia. In the west, British patrols crossed the Garrigliano River (C).

Special Devices Aid Fliers Adrift At Sea

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP).— Life promises soon to be much more interesting for fliers down on the ocean in rubber boats. They will have equipment designed to attract aid, to go places and to keep themselves alive.

This new equipment is the job of the emergency rescue equipment section, under the Office of Co-Ordinator of Research and Development of the United States Navy. It is a new echelon, set up by the joint chiefs of staff.

One aid is a small mirror. There is a half-inch-across cut in the middle, which is both a window and a sighting device, like the cross-hairs of a bomb sight.

The boatman holds the mirror with its back a few inches from one eye and, through the cross, sight a plane. He can see a plane up to 10 miles away on a clear sunny day.

The purpose is to flash reflected sunlight into the eyes of the distant aviator. The difficulty is not in making a visible flash; the trick is to get the little patch of reflection directly on the plane. The sighting cross makes this feasible.

The navy is experimenting with a sail for a rubber boat. It is red silk, rayon or nylon, and is flourescent so that it glows with a light of its own in any kind of daylight.

The best new friend of the castaway is a little device by which he can make seawater sweet and drinkable. It is a soft, semi-transparent plastic bag, about half the diameter of a man's riding boot and not as long. The castaway half fills it with seawater. He drops in a compressed chemical compound, as big as a small cake of soap. This he kneads in the water for 20 minutes, by the squeezing of the bag. In 20 minutes he has a pint of good drinking water.

The castaway has another chemical which stains the sea a flourescent yellow for 20 feet around. He can carry little floating lights.

The rubber boatman also has a canvas vest, not much bigger than a brassier, but fitting lower down. In it is a row of pockets, holding fishing lines and tackle of various types. In one pocket is bait The bait is dehydrated pork.

3 Regiments Named In Italy

ALGIERS, Nov. 13 (CP). — Allied Headquarters to-day formally named three Canadian units of the 1st Division, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, the Royal Canadian Regiment, and the Carleton and York Regiment, as being in Italy.

While it was previously known from Italian dispatches that all three of these units have been in action, the formal naming of them by Allied Headquarters is regarded as an honour and reward for their share in the Divisions heavy fighting up the backbone of Italy.

Two units had previously been named by Headquarters, the 48th Highlanders of Canada and the Three Rivers Tank Regiment.

The H.P.E.'s are from Ontario, the R.C.R.'s are a permanent force unit from Eastern Canada and the Carleton and Yorks are from New Brunswick. All three fought with distinction in Sicily.

Peter Westbye Passes Away In 66th Year

Peter P Westbye, for years the general manager of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company passed away this morning after a very brief illness. Mr. Westbye was born in Hedrum, Norway, 65 years ago last January 31, and was a mechanical and hydraulic engineer by profession.

Early in the century he came to America and after five years in Dayton, Ohio, one year in Philadelphia, and six months in New York he came to Peterborough in 1910, and has been a resident of this city ever since. However, for the past two years he has been in Hamilton with the Hamilton Bridge Company, being engaged in very important war work. About six weeks ago Mr. Westbye returned home on a holiday and to take a short rest. His recovery was not as rapid as expected, and while for several weeks he appeared to improve his condition during the past ten days took on a more serious nature.

For years Mr. Westbye was a member of the Peterborough Board of Trade and served on the executive for one year. He also took a keen interest in the Y.M.C.A. and was on that board for a number of years. In fraternal circles Mr. Westbye was a member of Royal Arthur Lodge and Scottish Rite. He was a member of Rotary Club and a member of Trinity United Church.

Receiving his schooling in Norway, Mr. Westbye was a graduate of the Persgrun Technical School, where he received his mechanical engineer's degree and to complete his training he took post-graduate courses at Dresden and Mittiwida. He took a prominent part in the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, and was for a period a member of the executive.

Although of a rather quiet disposition, Mr. Westbye was a man of sterling qualities. He was greatly loved by all those who intimately knew him and highly respected by those of less intimate acquaintance.

He leaves to mourn his loss his sorrowing wife Olga Maria Orrman, one son AC2 Eric O. Westbye of the R.C.A.F., and three daughters, Mrs. W. B Gordon (Mary), Olga and Margaret.

The funeral will be held from the Comstock Funeral Home, 305 Water Street, on Monday, November 15, at 2:30 p.m., with the Rev. Dr. George S. Easton in charge. Interment will be made in Little Lake Cemetery.

RETURNED TO ENGLAND—Mrs. R. Edwards, 415 London Street, has received a cable from her son, Pte. Alex. Edwards, of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, announcing his arrival overseas for the second time. He returned to Canada some months ago for a special course.

Blackwood Up On New Charge

Finding that Constable Allan Edmison was not engaged in the execution of his duty at the time of the assault Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning found Robert Blackwood, 18, not guilty of assaulting the police constable in the execution of his duty.

In his judgment His Worship said that while Constable Edmison was on special duty that night and was acting as a police officer, he had come to the conclusion that the officer at the time the assault was committed was not engaged in the execution of his duty.

"He did not find the accused committing any offence," said Magistrate Langley. "It was not alleged that he held a warrant and it has not been shown that there was reasonable cause for believing that the accused had committed an offence for which he could be arrested without a warrant."

His Worship added that the case was dismissed not because the assault had not been proven but because the officer, in the opinion of the court was not in the execution of his duty at the time of the assault.

At the conclusion of the judgment Blackwood was immediately charged with assaulting Allan Edmison, occasioning actual bodily harm and on that charge elected trial by jury.

The preliminary inquiry was adjourned until next week.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for Blackwood and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

Softball League Gives $100 To War Victims

One of the most successful seasons that the Peterborough Softball League ever had, was climaxed with their annual banquet and presentation of awards, which took place at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club on Thursday night, when a record number of members and guests were present for the occasion.

This success was probably all the more accentuated by the members in true sportsman style setting to work since the active season closed to do something to give a helping hand to those whom the misfortunes of war had afflicted in Britain, through the Peterborough and District British War Victims fund, besides giving assistance to the project of outfitting H. M. C. S. Peterborough, which when completed will take its place to actively assist in bringing the war to a successful conclusion.

For this purpose they sold tickets for a draw on three prizes, consisting of a ladies' or gents' topcoat or suit, a $10 War Savings Certificate and a $5 War Savings Certificate and by putting the same enthusiasm into this task as they did into their summer sports events, they realized the splendid total of $200.00 which was equally divided between the two funds mentioned, which enables this fund to report its share of $100 in today's receipts.

Coming at this time, this contribution is doubly welcomed to take its share in the special donations being raised to send to London for Christmas, and on their part, the members of the League could hardly find a more fitting way to wind up such a successful season, than by extending a helping hand to others less favourably situated than themselthem and their leaders in the perves, which reflects great credit on sons of W. C. Bennett, their president Gladys Mortimer, the secretary and Ab Delahaye.

The draw for the prizes which took place after the presentations had been made, resulted in the 1st prize going to Mic Dunford of 253 Mark street with ticket No. 941, the second prize to J. McNamara of 268 Hunter street with ticket No. 817 and the third prize to W. H. Easterly of 212 Prince street, with ticket No. 1157.

Penny Box Totals

One of the best assists to the fund has come from the penny boxes numbering about forty, which make their silent appeal in various places of business in the city and district. Today a collection from the box at the Whiddon Service Station on the Port Hope Highway is recorded, which gives a total credit of $1,928.71 for this one activity on behalf of the people who have suffered through air raids over Britain.

Recently a citizen who had gone by train to Toronto, had an opportunity to return by automobile so he has given the refund on the ticket to the fund, and this is also listed today.

Previously acknowledged	$64,613.12
The Peterborough Softball League, per W. C. Bennett president, and the secretary, Gladys Mortimer	100.00
Penny box at Whiddon's Service Station	2.05
Refund on ticket	2.10

Ten Volleys Of Pistol Packin' Mamma Song Drives Musical Customer Into Frenzy

George Dormer was relating at the Sugar Bowl Friday night a really excruciating experience in a local restaurant one day this week. There's a juke box in this beanery, and one of the customers rolled fifty cents through it for ten "renditions" of the new Mamma song. Having invested some of his change in sandwich or something, Mr. Dormer was stitched into the session that nearly drove him frantic, or more expressively "nuts."

Some persons are inclined to be a bit narrow in their music tastes, and why they should be enamored of the latest product of tin pan alley that is patently compounded of "Ain't goin' to rain" and an old folk tune with some bars about "Hear dem bells ..they are rolling out the glory, etc. " and various other familiar and slightly shopworn numbers, was more than Mr. Dormer could comprehend even in the midst of the experience.

Ten times the juke box gave out the "pistol packing" opus of objurgation or something, and why all the restaurant folks didn't get up and decamp in protest and also in loose change . but that was just a Dormer afterthought. The Sugar Bowl "prop" took a tight hold on his patience after the third presentation, and finally switched his response to curiosity as to how long the marathoning was going to continue. Pistols wouldn't have been lethal enough for Mr. Dormer. What he was wishing for was one of the big guns of his Battery, just once.

Deer Hunters Turn Apsley Road Into Site For War Manoeuvres

Hunters of the older generation who thought nothing of bumping all day over jolting roads to get to the deer country and staying there for at least two weeks, are scornful of the present fly-by-night trend.

Provincial Constable Lloyd McClure estimated one morning at the opening of the present season that hunters were stationed every few hundred yards along the Apsley Road. It seemed in their regularity of spacing that they had been assigned to defence positions in war manoeuvres.

You hop and skip up the highway, knock off a deer, and rush back again before dinner. That seems to be the goal toward which the deer hunting schedule is drifting.

Mrs. M. Kilbourn of Apsley, who have moved to Peterborough, was driving down the road the other day. She saw two cars parked on opposite sides of the highway near a bend, and just beyond it were two peace-loving deer that evidently hadn't heard any gunning that morning. To a prompting of fun she drove back around the turn in the road and left a note "two around the bend." Perce Lancaster of Havelock used to hold up as an ideal of natural attraction just the woodland scene of the deer grazing by the roadside—and rather trustfully, too.

Now that this dream has come true, Mr. Lancaster should know that probably never before has there been such a host of hunters loose in the northland. Hit and run hunters who are content to take an hour or two out of a day for a sport that was once a classic when men could light on a limb for a week or two are a new fraternity never contemplated by Mr. Lancaster.

At one camp accommodating twenty-five men and operated on the board and lodging basis for two weeks, the owner received more than forty applications from deer hunters before the opening of the season. That was twice as many as he had ever apply before. He could have filled the spacious lodge two or three times.

Frank Convery Now Retired

Frank E. Convery, who was on the Production staff of the Canadian General Electric Company here for a number of years, has retired as manager of the Zeller's Store in St. Catharines. Mr. and Mrs. Convery lived formerly on Engleburn avenue, and were well known to many residents of this city. They are at present living at "Tudor House," at Port Dalhousie, Ont.

The staff of the St. Catharines store gave a farewell dinner for Mr. Convery at the Welland Hotel in St. Catharines this week. Among the out-of-town guests were Robert T. Hartt, vice-president, and William C. Tugman, merchandise manager, both of Montreal, and S. A. Belmont, manager of London; H. S. Fraser, manager of Brantford; J. S. Mather, manager of Quebec; G. C. Britt, manager of Hamilton; J. G. Balfour, manager of Kitchener, and G. V. Lewis, assistant manager of Hamilton.

Mr. Hartt expressed his appreciation for the invaluable contribution which Mr. Convery had rendered Zeller's Limited during his long years of service, and voiced the hope that although he would not be intimately connected with the company's operations in the future, that he would take a keen interest in its activities.

Janie Canucks Meet

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 13.—(ENS).—Battlementing and mitered corners were the subjects discussed by the Janie Canucks of Seymour East at their meeting Friday afternoon. The gathering was held at Miss Dorothy Eagleson's and 13 girls responded to the roll call, after which the leaders, Mrs. George Airhart and Miss Elsie Rannie, demonstrated battelmenting—making a pattern from another material and applying it as a decoration; and mitering. Miss Rannie also gave suggestions on the selection of material suitable for bedspreads and offered some hints on colour. The members were given until the next meeting to decide on the bedroom accessory they will make as an individual project.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

David Clark, mail carrier, was moaning for "the days when—" this morning as he ruefully surveyed the cancellation machine in the Post Office where one of the new "Sympathetic" rubber bands had snapped into pieces. "This new material just can't take it," he said sadly, "however we dug up one of our pre-war old bands and it's doing a better job than the new one." There are three of these 2-inch bands on rollers through which the letters speed when their stamps are cancelled, and judging from the exasperated remarks, this is not the first time, the bands have been acting up.—J.S.

ON THE RIGHT FOOT

M. J. Maher of the Examiner circulation staff who as attendance officer for the Separate School board had issued some considerable time ago a working permit to a lad of 16, reported this morning an incident which verified his first impressions of the boy.

"I was in a service station and a boy came in and laid a ten dollar bill on the counter saying that he had received in change that amount in excess of what was due him.

I thought I recognized him, and I asked him if I hadn't issued him a working permit, recalling the incident; and the boy said he remembered it, too. I told him frankly I was glad to see that he was starting out on the right foot in life."—T.

Friday Night Club Told About Electronics

A record crowd of 42 Friday Night Clubbers journeyed into the future world of electronics with D. McCrady, who is on the general engineering staff of the C.G.E.

Mr. McCrady, although for obvious reasons unable to discuss the use of electronics in the present conflict, painted a fascinating word picture of the endless possibilities of electronics in the realm of industry and home.

The speaker told how thousands of men and women in the armed services were being trained in the science of electronics, and would demand practical applications of the knowledge they acquired in the post war world. Many slides were viewed by the group of young men, and the full import of the value of this new field was graphically depicted by the numerous uses of electronics in modern industrial establishments.

Mr. McCrady was introduced by Jim McBride, and the vote of thanks was moved by Harry Vass. Bill Davy won the draw for the door prize and Jim Shields entertained on the piano.

Cash Register Rifled

COBOURG, Nov. 13—(ENS)—Between $35 and $40 were stolen some time early Friday morning . when someone entered Mayor Jack Burnet's grocery store and rifled the cash register. Entry was affected by breaking a small high window and entering the store from the rear, after the constable had made his rounds. Chief W. J. Carey is investigating.

Poles Starving, Jews Get Even Less

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Nov. 13 — (AP)—The council which will direct United Nations relief and rehabilitation started work on its main plans today after having listened to speeches on the needs of nations overrun by Hitler's war machine.

"The Germans," Jan Kwapinski, Poland's representative, told the U.N.R.R.A. delegates, "have set out to destroy our educated classes. My people have only 800 calories a day, and the Polish Jews 400. Only 30 per cent of our Jewish population survives. Epidemics are spreading which may menace the entire continent. Some 8,600,000 Poles are displaced from their homes."

Kwapinski said "only the fullest measure of relief" could meet his country's needs. but predicted that if Poland gets seeds and farm equipment she "will shortly not only meet her own needs but supply the needs of others."

Yugoslavia's delegate, Constantin Fotitch, said his country had lost seven per cent of its people, killed by war weapons or dead from starvation and disease, and that 400,000 of the country's children were wandering homeless.

He said epidemics were spreading, hospitals could not perform operations for lack of instruments and iodine, and lack of soap had caused skin diseases to break out.

Raoul Richard, Belgian delegate, said his country, having been invaded twice in a generation, suffered cruelly and its population was growing weaker. He said Belgium could pay for supplies.

Today the conference met as four separate committees to consider various phases of its work ahead.

Driver Pays 2 Fines

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 13. — (ENS)—As the result of an accident a week ago when a herd of cows was struck while being driven along the road, James Remington of Percy township appeared in police court before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., yesterday afternoon. Remington faced two charges laid by Provincial Constable C. G. Hayes—having no brakes, and careless driving. He was found guilty of both and paid $10 and costs on each count.

BISCUITS FOR ITALIAN BAMBINO—Friendliness toward the people of Italy has won Allied troops their confidence and support. Canadian soldier, Cpl. Ralph Catherall, of Vancouver, here passed out biscuits to an Italian baby girl in Volturara. The child's mother looks on with approval.

Set December 4 As Mail Deadline

Although there are still a few weeks to go before the Christmas spirit becomes manifest, Postmaster Charles Lacheur declared today that Postal authorities are asking people to get Christmas mail away at an earlier date.

"The overseas early mailing proved to be particularly successful, with an increase for the Dominion of over 1,000,000 pounds. Mail will be even heavier at Christmas than a year ago and if it is to be handled at all, it must be sent much earlier. Parcels going to the United States should be mailed the last week in November and at the latest, the first week in December. Cards going across the border should be sent the first week in December."

Announcement for local mailing will be made in a few weeks. Because of the tremendous increase in the volume of letters, the mailings must be spread over a longer period this year.

Obituary

MRS. LYDIA ENGLISH

Mrs. Lydia English, 309 Margaret avenue, who came to Peterborough as a young girl, passed away at her home today in her 82nd year, after a year's illness. Born in Toronto, she was the daughter of the late William Lilley and Margaret Campbell, and during her residence in this city she has been a member of Trinity church.

She leaves to mourn her passing one son, W. C. English of Peterborough. Her husband, Samuel English, predeceased her seventeen years ago.

The funeral will be held Monday from her residence at 10.30 a.m. with Dr. G. S. Easton officiating. Interment will be in Little Lake cemetery.

HIDDEN CHARM—Fine fashions, those which are selected with an eye to many seasons of wear, usually are simple and do not derive from current fads or promotions. Invariably their distinctive accents and detail are obvious only after a more-than-cursory examination of the frock, coat or suit. And so it is with Maria Krum's beautiful suit of hand-woven Shetland in light blue. The fitted jacket, with self buttons down the front, has interesting pockets at the hips and breast. The skirt is simply gored.

Home and School Council Presents Musicale at Y.W.

A varied program of vocal and instrumental selections as presented at the musicale sponsored by the Home and School Council on Friday evening in the Recreation Room of the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. E. Chambers, president of the Council, welcomed the audience, and then introduced the chairman for the night's entertainment, D. V. Canning, a member of the Board of Education. Mr. Canning told his audience that the musicale was the first attempt of the Council to raise money in this way, and explained that the program was designed to be cultural as well as entertaining. He then announced the entertainers, and they in turn announced their on presentations.

A mixed vocal quartette from St. George's Church, consisting of Mrs. Pilling, Mrs. Cooper, Mr. H. Farr, and Mr. J. Brandon, opened the program. Their selections were "Now the Day is Over," which was sung with feeling and sincerity, and the ever-lovely Brahms "Lullaby." The voices were appropriately hushed for the singing of this famous lullaby, but nevertheless lost none of their sweetness. Mr. N. Hurle was the accompanist.

Miss Mignon Mayneord, well-known whistling soloist, gave four numbers. Accompanied by Mrs. M. Hubbel, Miss Mayneord whistled the "Blue Danube Waltz," 'Cherry Ripe," a dainty little melody, "Cheerie Beerie Bin," and "At Dawning."

Two piano duets were played by Gloria Wilson and Ethelwyn Gibson These young artists played a forceful arrangement of "Ave Maria" and the "Marche Militaire."

Fourth on the program as Miss Helen Parkinson, a soprano soloist, who has a lovely sweet voice. Accompanied by Miss Elsie Chambers she sang three delightful songs, "The Valley of Laughter," "Come, Sweet Morning," and "The Enchanted Glade."

Mr. B. Holloway, a 'cellist, played two selections. The first was Haydn's Concerto in D major, for 'cello. The low resonant tones of the 'cello were ideal to bring out the tones of a lovely main theme, which kept recurring throughout the Concerto. The second selection was a Renddito, originally composed for the violin, but arranged for 'cello. It had a gay little melody, which was tempered now and then with a few bars in a more melancholy vein. N. Hurle was at the piano.

H. Farr, who has a fine bass voice, was accompanied by Mr. Hurle when he sang two selections, "Song of Songs" and a gay sailor's tune, "A Chip Off the Old Block."

A ladies vocal trio, consisting of Mrs. R. C. Searles, Mrs. H. McLaren, and Miss Margaret Smart, was the concluding presentation for the first part of the program. They sang the lovely and melodious "Heap o' Livin'" and blended their sweet voices in the gay song 'When Love is Kind.' The ever-lovely Bless This House" was their third offering. Miss Elsie Chambers was at the piano.

Following the intermission F. C. Searles, accompanied by Mrs. Searles, played three violin solos, "Minuet" by Mozart, "Thais" by Massenet, and "Minuet in G" by Beethoven.

Mrs. W. G. McLaren, an elocutionist, gave an amusing Irish number entitled "Mary Ann's Mother Steps Out." As an encore she presented a moving poem called "The Fool."

Grieg's beautiful "To Spring" was a piano solo by Miss Elsie Chambers, and her second selection was called "Playera." Miss Chambers played this lively, gypsy-like melody with a light, accurate touch, thus accentuating the gaiety of the music.

Sheldon Richardson, accompanied by Mrs. S. J. Richardson, played an excellent cornet solo of a theme with variations. These variations were intricate, and extremely difficult to play. As an encore, Mr. Richardson chose Brahms' "Lullaby," and this melody showed again his true sweet tone.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Chambers extended thanks to those who had taken part in the entertainment.

FOR TOWN AND COUNTRY—This Somali leopard, which opinion concedes is the finest type, here makes a long coat with comfortable swing, a notched military collar, wide sleeves. A cap with upturned visor matches the coat. This is a smart, luxurious and long wearing fur.

The spotted leopard is getting around into more and more exclusive circles. Originally a sports number and rather expensive for such limited country wear, fur designers have changed at least the spots where it is accepted socially. Wonderful with city black winter wool, with the tobacco and evergreen shades, with hand-knit suits and frocks, leopard doubles between town and country now.

Knox Church W.A.

The Women's Association of Knox United Church held its November meeting in the church parlors on Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. R. Laing presiding for the opening devotions and the business discussions. A two minutes silence was observed in honor of the dead of the First World War, and the National Anthem was sung.

A report from the nomination committee was read by Mrs. J. Allen, and Mrs. Laing requested a meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, November 17, and the group will organize for the coming year. The association also decided to serve dinner to the minister of the Peterborough Presbytery on December 2.

"Faith" was the theme for meditation, chosen by the group in charge, and Mrs. E. Mesley, in her reading, gave example of great leaders in the past who had faith and vision. Mrs. D. Gourlay read the scripture, Mrs. R. Goodfellow led in prayer, and Mrs. G. H. Spicer sang a beautiful solo, "Prayer Perfect."

LIFFORD LINE

St. Mary's Guild Election of Officers

LIFFORD LINE, Nov. 13.—(ENS.)—The Ladies' Guild of St. Mary's church, Manvers, held its annual meeting with large attendances. Mrs. Vance, who has been president and leader for many years, expressed her appreciation for the co-operation extended her and asked to be relieved for the present time.

Mrs. Lloyd Staples, the retiring secretary, was appointed to act as president for the coming year.

Mrs. Nelson Attwool was appointed secretary and Mrs. W. L. Hannah was re-appointed treasurer. Mrs. Leslie Long hold the position of vice-president of the Guild.

The next meeting will be in January, it was decided. Visitors included Rev. Mason, rector of the parish, Mrs. Mason, Miss A. Sison and Mrs. Hopwood from Bethany. Mrs. Mason invited the ladies to the Bethany rectory for the January meeting.

Y.W.C.A. Club Doings

On Tuesday the Vagabond Club spent the evening bowling returning to the "Y" for their business meeting and supper.

Square dances were the "thing" at the '38 Club meeting on Wednesday. After the business meeting presided over by the president, Leona McMillan, various members of the club "called" squares and folk dances. Plans were made for members of the club to participate in the Week of Prayer Vesper on Nov. 17. The Russian program has been postponed until the next meeting on November 24. Lunch was served by Winnifred Metcalfe, social convener, and her committee.

On Thursday the Junior Supper Club held their regular war work meeting with 56 members present. The members are making oilcloth toys for foreign children. During the week of prayer and world fellowship next week, Miss Green will speak to the club on Egypt and Palestine. The vesper on Thursday evening will be in charge of Miss Eileen Sellon, Marley Jobbitt, Mary Jane Wharry.

The Gym Swim Club held a "learn to dance" party for servicemen in the recreation room on Thursday evening. This proved to be a happy and successful evening for men anxious to "learn how." An executive meeting was held at the home of Ina Robinson, vice-president, on Friday evening to make plans for future meetings. Mrs. Berkoff will speak to the club next Thursday on "Denmark" as part of the world fellowship program.

The Friday Supper Club held their regular meeting with a large membership present. Supper was prepared by Jean Johnston and her committee. The president, Jean Ferguson presided. The program for next week's week of prayer and world fellowship program was announced. Mrs. Rostocky will speak to the club on "The Ukraine." The Misses Zaharuk will give an exhibition of Ukrainian dances and Elinor Shirley will play Chopin waltzes. The Vesper will be taken by Jean Ferguson, Jean McTavish, Helen Weddell and Gwynne Reed. The constitution was read and amendments will be voted upon on November 25.

The week of prayer and world fellowship, November 14 to 20, is claiming the interest and attention of all clubs. On Sunday the girls' council will serve tea at the fireside at which Mrs. W. G. Coates of the National Y.W.C.A. staff will be the guest speaker. On Monday the residence girls will be in charge of the vesper program with Olive Beatty leading the devotional with Helen Parkinson and Elsie Chambers taking part in the musical program. The gym department will be in charge of the Tuesday Vesper with Betty Detcher introducing the guest speaker, Miss Zerada Slack, secretary for Health Education on the national staff. The devotional on Wednesday will be led by Margaret Edmison assisted by members of the '38 Club. Mary Taylor will be in charge of the music. The Junior Supper Club are arranging the Vesper for Thursday and Eleanor Taylor of the So-Serv Club will be pianist. On Friday the Vesper will be part of the Friday Supper Club program and will be led by Jean Ferguson and members of the club. Elinor Shirley will be pianist. Contributions to the world fellowship fund will be used by the World's "Y" to carry on its work in other countries particularly in those suffering from war activities.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, November 14

SUNDAY'S horoscope advises a day of quiet, solitude and attention to the sabbatical spirit of the day, since there are hints of disappointments and frustrations in usual activities and also the way seems beset with dangers, loss and threat to the physical wellbeing. In a quiet way romance, friendship or pleasure may be sought. With correspondence or possessions be vigilant and careful.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is have a fairly good promise of holding their own in business, credit or financial transactions, with friends and influential personages helpful, but in active attack of important projects be alert to deceit, loss, open as well as secret enmity. Also the physical safety should be safeguarded against accident, depressions or colds. Keep balanced in danger.

A child born on this day may be inclined to enterprise and constructive efforts, yet it may be impetuous, willful and wayward as well as prone to moods and fits of depression and frustration. Possibly to a below par physical energy.

For Monday, November 15

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is not an entirely encouraging or propitious one. While there may be a minor development in an unexpected turn or surprising occurrence, perhaps in relation to public or community affairs, yet generally there is danger of mistakes, bad judgment, dubious strategies and intrigues, affecting both business and intimate personal associations. Be alert to underhand and sinister attacks, with fraud, loss and subtlety, reaction on health and credit. Use tact, policy and prudence in menacing positions, not strife.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which to exercise tact, diplomacy, good nature and prudence in circumstances pointing to loss, fraud, duplicity and betrayal, affecting the harmony and happiness of home and business. Subtle dangers threaten, with reactions on health, credit and reputation. With these cleverly and calmly controlled, there may be a surprising business turn with public or community token of recognition.

A child born on this day, while having some original talent and ambitions yet may be undermined in both business and personal relations by fraud, treachery and subtle enmity.

Italian Chief Branded War Criminal

ALGIERS, Nov. 13 (AP).— Gen. Mario Roatta, chief of staff of the Italian army, whom the Yugoslavs have charged with being a war criminal, has been removed from his post, it was announced officially today.

The Yugoslav government charged that Gen. Roatta was responsible for a reign of terror during the Italian occupation of Yugoslavia, and asked the Allies to have Marshal Badoglio dismiss him.

The charges against Roatta may be the first presented before the United Nations commission to be set up in London, where a decision likely will be reached whether he will be sent to Yugoslavia for trial under the terms of the Moscow conference.

(In announcing the Allied request for Roatta's removal Wednesday, Minister of State Richard K. Law also told the House of Commons in London that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower still had under consideration the case of Gen. Vittorio Ambrosio, another of Badoglio's chief of staff whom the Yugoslavs have charged with war crimes.)

Roatta's removal was the first tangible evidence that the Allied command was requiring Badoglio to rid his army of former Fascist commanders accused of infamous conduct.

Partisan Force Is On Offensive

LONDON, Nov. 13 (CP)—Partisan forces of Gen. Broz (Ttio) are smashing at the Germans in successful offensives in Macedonia, Dalmatia, Montenegro, Hercegovina and Eastern Bosnia, today's war bulletin said.

The communique said only in Slovenia are the Partisans in the defensive, while in Serbia heavy fighting is reported in progress against Germans and units of Serb Chetniks.

Near Uzice in Western Serbia 60 Bulgarians were reported killed in fighting with occupation troops.

The Germans in radio broadcasts asserted they had thrown additional motorized formations into the northwest Balkans, and that "large-scale operations" had smashed guerilla resistance in the Majevica mountains. The town of Graznica has been captured and "extremely heavy losses" have been inflicted on the Partisan forces, the Germans claimed.

The Yugoslav communique said the Partisan forces were holding their own in the Majevica mountain fighting north of Tuzla in Eastern Bosnia and have routed a German column near the town of Zaral and destroyed a bridge over the Drina river near the town of Jracac in Western Bosnia.

Striking at German transport on the Sava river, the Yugoslavs said they sank one motorship and damaged another, repulsing a force of 1,000 Ustachis and six tanks dispatched to save the ships and their cargoes.

118 Persons Killed In October Raids

LONDON, Nov. 13 — (CP). — The Ministry of Home Security today announced that 118 persons were killed or are missing, believed killed, as the result of enemy air raids on the United Kingdom in October. In addition 283 were injured sufficiently to require hospital treatment.

The figures reflected the increased German activity against Britain over September when casualties were five killed, 11 hurt, the lowest figure since May, 1940.

Death Rate Higher

TORONTO, Nov. 13 (CP)— Pedestrian deaths in traffic accidents are up 9.4 per cent for the first eight months of this year as compared with 1942 figures, the motor vehicles branch, Ontario Department of Highways, reported yesterday. The toll is 151 as against 138.

Lame English Boy Sounds "Taps" In Italy Observing Armistice 20 Miles Behind Lines

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 8TH ARMY IN ITALY, Nov. 13 (AP). — A lame English boy in yellow silk shirt and bell-bottom trousers hobbled to the front of a drafty stage yesterday in "Maple Leaf City" as 1,600 soldiers in battle dress stood rigidly at attention.

It was 11 a.m.—The anniversary of the signing of the armistice.

Raising a silver trumpet to his lips, the boy blew sweetly and clearly "The Last Post" in tribute to the fallen.

Some 20 miles away there was no armistice. On the 8th Army fronts, mule trains slogged up wet trails to forward patrols probing the enemy's craggy line along the muddy Sangro river. Occasionally guns cracked sharply and steel whined over the gorges of the Apennines.

But 1,000 lucky fighting men trucked into "Maple Leaf City" for a few hours' leave and a brief imitation of peacetime gaiety in an alien town.

There were strapping westerners from the Canadian wheat country, London Cockneys, Scots, turbaned Indians. There was a smattering of virtually every nationality in the 8th Army.

70 Radio Stations Get Network

TORONTO, Nov. 13 (CP).— Dr. Augustin Frigon, acting general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, in a statement made public here yesterday gave details of the alignment of Canadian radio stations into two new networks—the TransCanada network, composed largely of stations now in the present national network; and the Dominion network, comprising some of the present national stations plus a number without regular network affilation.

Officials said the new Dominion network will begin operation Jan. 1, 1944, broadcasting between 8 p. m. and 11 p. m., E. D. T. and linking stations from Sherbrooke, Que., to Victoria. Key Dominion station will be the present CBY, Toronto, which beginning next Monday, Nov. 15, will be designated CJBC.

CJBC will continue to operate on 1010 kilocycle frequency, but its power will be increased from 1,000 to 5,000 watts as soon as necessary equipment can be installed. It will originate many of the Dominion network programs and will continue to carry others from the United States blue network.

CBC offficials say the new alignment of stations will make network affiliation available to 70 of Canada's 89 stations. The remaining 19 are in areas which will be served by stations of both new networks or are at points where wire line service is not available.

Butter Booty

CHICAGO, Nov. 13—(AP). — William H. Jonas, president of the Zion Board of Education, looked out of a window of his home and saw his dog Spot frozen on a point. He investigated and said he found Spot pointing at a hole in the ground. A pound of butter was buried there.

A.R.P. Organization Gets New Title

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 — (CP). — Brig.-Gen. Alex Ross, director of Civil A.R.P., today announced that to clarify its purpose the name of his branch has been changed by order-in-council to "Office of Civil Defence."

He said that in view of the various services established by the office of Civil A.R.P., its designation gave too limited an idea of its activities, and to that extent tended to weaken it. The change of name will give the public a "better understanding" of civil defence," Gen. Ross said, and bring the organization into line with Great Britain and the United States where this service is known as such.

"Futhermore, there has been considerable variation in the designation of the various provincial civil defence bodies throughout Canada, and it is hoped that this change will result in a uniform designation of the organization in the provinces in which it has been established, thereby preventing confusion and misunderstanding."

Lieut. John W. Winant Prisoner In Germany

CONCORD, N.H., Nov. 13 (AP). —Lieut. John G. Winant, Junior, is a prisoner of war in Germany, it was announced today at the home of Ambassador and Mrs. John G. Wanant.

The announcement said that a telegram was received from the War Department yesterday stating that the son of the United States ambassador to Britain is held in a prison camp. Lieut. Winant was reported missing some time after a raid on Germany.

Dog, Not A Man

CHICAGO, Nov. 13—(AP). — Sleepless because she feared there was a body in a large wooden box she had seen two men bury in a lot, Mrs. Delia Morrissey phoned the police. After much digging detectives uncovered the box which contained the dog. The pet had merely been given a respectful burial.

Farmers Want More For Hogs

TORONTO, Nov. 13 — (CP). — Members of the Ontario Agricultural Commission meeting here today agreed that with a reduced bacon export to Britain next year Ottawa should announce what is expected from Ontario hog producers so the feed situation can be adjusted.

W. V. Watson, Assistant Director of Live-Stock, Ontario Department of Agriculture, said there has been no information from Ottawa as to whether greater or less hog production is wanted. He was replying to R. J. Scott of Belgrave, who questioned whether the Commission should petition Ottawa on the feed situation before December.

Mr. Watson said there has been a drop in the quality of hogs in Ontario and in Elgin and Kent Counties hog production varies considerably, in one year production may be 200,000 and another year half that number.

"Ontario farmers need more for their hogs as they are getting too little," said W. A. Dryden of Brooklin. Mr. Watson agreed the price of hogs in relation to that of cattle was too low.

Questioned why feed costs are high, Mr. Watson said in one instance a feed dealer who was charging higher prices than others told him he had charged the greater price because he was carrying all the bad debts of the community.

Smith W.C.T.U. Visits Lakefield Home

GILMOUR, Nov. 13 — (ENS).— The Smith W.C.T.U. was welcomed by Mrs W. W. Yale at her home in Lakefield on Wednesday night with a splendid attendance. The president, Mrs. J. G. Mann, opened the meeting and Mrs. Elmer Milburn took the Bible reading and explanation. Mrs. Yale gave a very interesting address on the recent convention held in Kitchener. Mrs. Clayton Telford favored the ladies with two solos in her usual manner. Mrs. Tanner of Lakefield welcomed the W.C.T.U. on behalf of the Lakefield ladies and thanked all who took part. Mrs. Walter Heard gave a reading. Lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed by all present.

Youngsters Fire Bugs

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Nov. 13 — (CP). — Police said last night four juveniles ranging from four to eight years of age, one of them a girl, have admitted starting five fires in the rear of Front Street business houses here. One fire caused $5,000 damage to a furniture store.

STAIRWAY TO HEAVEN — Flying cheek-to-cheek in tight formation, these Kingfisher scout planes of the U.S. navy demonstrate the acme of precision in aerial manoeuvres as if all were actuated by one set of controls. That is formation flying.

Goldring Claims Salaries Are Scandalous

TORONTO, Nov. 13 — In an address which stressed the importance of education in the post-war reconstruction period, Dr. C. C. Goldring, Toronto superintendent of schools, warned yesterday that the interests of education cannot be safeguarded by the "scandalous" salaries paid teachers in Canada.

Twenty-five per cent of Canadian teachers receive annual salaries less than $537—the sum required to keep a man in jail for a year in Ontario —Dr. Goldring told the Lions Club. The average salary of Ontario teachers on a 52-week basis is $20.29 a week Dr. Goldring pointed out.

"The desirable type of men and women to educate our children cannot be attracted by salaries of $537 a year," he said.

In stressing that education held the greatest opportunities for reconstruction after the war, Dr. Goldring warned against the "grave danger of developing a mass mind," fed by a barrage of propaganda from a score of sources.

The role of the school must be that of teaching youngsters to think independently and critically, he said.

Out of the war have been born new trends in education in which health, citizenship, discipline and self control play a leading part, Dr. Goldring declared.

The importance of scholarships based upon need, coupled with brain power, to "salvage the brain power of our country," was stressed by Dr. Goldring.

LAKEFIELD

Major A. Dixon Reveres Dead

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 13.—(ENS).— A special service was held in Memorial Hall on Remembrance Day, in the morning. The Last Post was sounded at eleven o'clock and two minutes' silence observed, followed by Reveille. Mr. Ellis Simpson, president of the Lakefield Branch of the Canadian Legion, was chairman and Rev. George Kelly, of Lakefield United church, led in prayer. Major Alfred Dixon, of the Salvation Army, Peterborough, was guest speaker and gave a patriotic address. The service closed with prayer by Rev. W. B. Walker of Lakefield Baptist church.

A fairly large crowd attended and High school students marched in a body to the hall. Immediately after the service wreaths were placed on the Cenotaph in honour of the men who had fallen in the First Great War.

ON THE PROWL FOR NAZI SNIPERS —British soldiers cautiously advance through a street of Nicolleto, Italy, on the hunt for Nazi snipers. The Eighth Army, operating in the Adriatic area, has swept across the Trigno River on a 20-mile stretch, taking nine towns.

Ford Designing Passenger Plane

DETROIT, Nov. 13 — (AP). — Henry Ford said to-day that if present plans work out big multiple-engine cargo-passenger planes will be manufactured at the Willow Run plant after the war.

"The government has given us first option on Willow Run for post-war use and we plan to take up the option," Ford said.

He added that while war work had precluded extensive experimental work some research looking to development of the plane had been carried on with small models and engines.

The design, he said, "isn't complete, but we are trying to develop a plane which will not need such tremendously long runways for take-off and landing, a plane which can be operated at a fraction of the cost now necessary for flying big planes, and one which will be as positively safe as it is is possible to make it."

Ford associates said that the manufacturer and Charles A. Lindbergh, who has been attached to the company's official staff for more than a year, have been in frequent consultation regarding the projected cargo-passenger plane. Lindbergh also has been experimenting with high altitude engines.

MARMORA

School Children March On Remembrance Day

MARMORA, Nov. 13 — (ENS)— All schools of Marmora village were represented in the parade to the Memorial Hall on Remembrance Day. The parade was in charge of Thomas E. Pritchard, president of Marmora Branch No. 237, Canadian Legion.

At the Memorial Hall announcements and prayers were taken by Rev. A. B. Caldwell. Rev. Dr. W. P. Fletcher read the Scripture and Rev. H J. Farrell delivered an address. Wreaths were placed beneath the honour rolls, that of the province by Reeve W. R. Linn and that of the I.O.D.E. by Mrs. Jack Reynolds. Last Post and Reveille were sounded by G. Brooks, and the two minutes' silence observed.

Order Allows Draftees On Section Work

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 — (CP). — Employment of call-up troops of lower medical categories on railway "development and maintenance" is authorized under an order-in-council made public today.

The order provides that Home Defence troops of medical grading lower than "Pulhems 2222222" may be required to perform such work and that all orders given them in connection with its performance shall be lawful orders given by a superior officer.

Thus they remain under military law and discipline.

The order also provides that they remain entitled to pension in case of sickness or injury suffered while performing railway work.

The order authorizes the Ministers of Defence and Labor to make financial arrangements relating to railway employment of troops, including charges to be made for their serivces. In the preamble it is stated the men so employed will remain on army pay and allowances and at the end of such services, if the amount of charges made for the work exceeds the pay and allowances due to any member of the forces, the excess amount will be paid to him.

It is understood arrangements now are being made for the application of the order in some localities but a spokesman said it is not believed it will be applied generally across Canada.

Marines Divert Japs' Attention

GUADALCANAL, Nov. 5 (Delayed) (AP)—Several hundred seaborne marine paratroops fooled Japanese forces on Choiseul Island in the Northern Solomons for more than a week into thinking they were an invasion force of 20,000.

They harried the Japanese, pitched the enemy stronghold on nearby Shortland Island into a constant state of uneasiness, razed one town and kept the enemy preoccupied while other Allied forces landed on Bougainville Island to the north.

The marines slipped into Choiseul on the morning of Oct. 27 and left the night of Nov. 3-4, three days after the landing on Bougainville had been accomplished.

PRODUCTION ACCELERATED

By March, 1943, in British war industries 1,500 tons of bombs were filled in the same number of man-hours it took in 1942 to fill 1,000 bombs.

Here's the Way to Buy NEW, USED OR RETREADED TIRES Under Wartime Regulations

To save time, first go to your nearest Firestone Dealer who has complete official tire information. He will advise you if you are eligible and what class you are in. Then he will help you fill out the Application for a Ration Permit, furnish the dealer's Inspection Report, and do everything he can to assist you.

While new, used and retreaded tires are restricted to essential buyers, no permit is necessary for tire repairs or retreading. If you know of a minor bruise or cut, have it repaired immediately. If your tires are smooth, make arrangements now to have them retreaded. Better still, have the Firestone Dealer give your tires a complete expert inspection, and put their care in his hands.

Firestone Dealers are tire conservation specialists. For 25 years they have been trained to help car owners get the most mileage from their tires with the greatest safety at the lowest cost. This inexpensive service, plus common-sense driving on your part, will help you get unbelievably big mileage from your tires.

How to Get the Most Mileage from Your Present Tires

Proper care and common-sense driving can DOUBLE the life of tires over the care-free pre-war days. Observe these rules:

START Slowly.
AVOID Bad Roads.
STOP Scuffing Curbs.
DRIVE Slowly—35M.P.H.
TURN Corners and curves slowly.
STOP Gradually.
GUARD Inflation.
CHANGE Tires from one wheel to another in rotation frequently.
REPAIR Small cuts and bruises AT ONCE.
BEWARE Of damaged rims, misalignment, faulty brakes and always match up dual truck tires.

Tire Saving Aids

Use these inexpensive aids to add miles to your tires.

Easily applied with a paint brush, Firestone Tire Preservative dries instantly, keeps rubber tough and lively and seals up the pores. Tires should be treated every three months.

Firestone Tire Cut Filler is a tough plastic rubber compound to fill up small cracks and cuts. Always keep a tube handy.

IN MEMORIAM

McLEOD — In loving memory of my dear son, John, who went to be with Jesus, on November 14, 1940.

Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Where John is ever waiting,
'Til we all gather there.

— Ever remembered by mother, sisters and brother.

COX — In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Robert Cox, who passed away three years ago, November 13, 1940.

O how oft she comes before us,
Her dear face so sweet and true;
Resting now in peace with Jesus,
Loving hearts still long for you.

—Fondly remembered by her daughters Alfreida and Patricia.

CARD OF THANKS

OBITUARIES

HENRY FREDENBURG.

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 13.—(ENS).—Henry Fredenburg, lifelong resident of this district, passed away at his home here this week. He was in his 89th year.

Mr. Fredenburg had resided in the village for 17 years and prior to that had lived in Peterborough. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Fredenburg and was born in Trenton. His wife, Ann Clarke, died 32 years ago.

Two sons and three daughters survive. They are John and Mrs Fred Kiff, of Peterborough, Fred of Owen Sound, Mrs. Richard Simpson, and Mrs. A. E. Tucker of Toronto; also three brothers, Tobias of Peterborough, William of Toronto and Eliza of Michigan, and 13 grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren.

The funeral was held in Peterborough Friday by Rev. W. S. Crone of Bethany Tabernacle. Interment was made in Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. MARY ELLEN DIAMOND

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Diamond, who died recently, was held from Bennett's Funeral Home in Campbellford with service conducted by Rev. Maxwell of the Campbellford United Church. Interment was in the family plot.

Mrs. Diamond, 80, was born in Seymour township, daughter of the late William Ivey and Jane Free, who were pioneer settlers in the locality, having helped clear the farm on which they and their children lived. Mrs. Diamond was one of 10 children, of whom only one brother, John Ivey of Campbellford, survives. There are a number of nephews and nieces.

The floral tributes were a token of the esteem in which the late Mrs. Diamond was held, and a number of out-of-town friends were present. These included some of her old childhood neighbours, Mr. Sullivan and son of Campbellford, Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Peerce of Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Puffer, Stoney Lake; James and Emma Ivey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles English of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rowan and sons Mervin and Ivan, and Mrs. Annie Grandy of Springville.

Pall bearers were nephews by marriage and included Harold Barnum, Russel Puffer, Harold Rowan, Samuel Diamond, Harold Diamond, Harold Smith, and William Brady.

WILLIAM CROWE

ALDERVILLE, Nov. 13 (ENS) — The death occurred on Thursday in Cobourg General Hospital of William Crowe of Alderville, aged ninety years.

Mr. Crowe was born in Belleville on September 23, 1853, the son of Willam Crowe and his wife, Mary Phalen Crowe. His mother emigrated from Ireland in 1809. His father was of English descent.

The deceased came to live at Alderville during his youth, here he married Isabella Marsden. There were three children, Florence, Wallace and Earnest. The two former died at an early age and Earnest died about one year ago. After Mr. Crowe's wife's death over sixty years ago, he went to Western Canada, and for about thirty-nine years worked in an around Winnipeg at his trade as carpenter. In 1927 he returned to Alderville. Until the past year Mr. Crowe enjoyed good health. About six weeks ago he was removed to hospital.

Close surviving relatives are his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Earnest Crowe of Alderville, a grand-daughter, Mrs. Clarence Franklin of Port Hope and four great-grand-children.

Mr. Crowe was a member of the United church and a man of sterling character. Many will miss the once familiar figure, seen so often passing in and out of Roseneath.

The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon at two-thirty, in Alderville United church. Interment in Alderville cemetery.

JAMES MASSIE

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 13 (ENS) —School pupils of this town observed a holiday here on Friday afternoon in tribute to the late James Massie, who for nearly 37 years had been employed by the Board of Education as caretaker, first in the Public and later at the High School. Mr. Massie went into retirement only two years ago at the age of 79.

Many beautiful floral tributes as well as other expressions of sympathy from a multitude of friends clearly showed the high esteem in which he had been held. The funeral service, held from his late residence on Booth street, was largely attended, not only by many friends throughout the community but also by members of the I.O.O.F., in which he had been a member for over fifty years. Lodge members attended the funeral in a body and on completion of the burial service conductedby Rev. J. O. Ralston the ritual of the lodge was observed both at the house and later during the graveside service. Both the pall bearers and flower bearers were lodge members. They were: Pallbearers, J. F. McGregor, W. D. Wood, Joseph Poulton, Sr., Harold Petherick, T. J. Craighead, P. R. Sherwin; Flower bearers, Jack Dooher, Charles Nicholas, Ernest Haig, Earl Craighead, Harry Bennett, Joseph Poulton, Jr., C. Newman, Charles Bedford.

GEORGE W. DUNCAN

Word was received here yesterday of the death of George W. Duncan manager of fruit department of the National Grocers, Parry Sound; after a short illness. He was 63 years of age. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, Mary Duncan of North Bay and one son, George W. Duncan, Jr., of Halifax, N.S.

Mr. Duncan was formerly manager of the fruit department of the National Grocers Co., in Peterborough.

The funeral takes place from Trull Funeral Home, 1111 Danforth Ave., Toronto to St. John's cemetery, Norway.

Council Asks For Highway

MILLBROOK, Nov. 13 — (ENS). —Cavan Council met in regular session on Wednesday, Reeve W. W. Brown presiding and all members present. Included in the communications was a letter from the Ontario Treasury Department with a cheque for $1,528.29, being the one mill subsidy for 1943.

From C. A. Poynton, district municipal engineer, re post-war planning for the counties and the township; also from C. A. Poynton re by-law for the need of more money for the season's work.

From the clerk of the Township of Smith asking Council to pass the following resolution, which was moved by Councillors Armstrong and Smith, "That the Township of Cavan requests the Department of Highways to assume as a provincial highway the boundary road lying between the Township of Smith and the Township of Emily in the north; and the Township of North Monaghan and the Township of Cavan in the south, the same to be a connecting link between Provincial Highways Nos. 7 and 8.."

The Clerk of the Peace acknowledged the list of jurors for 1944.

From H. F. Doig stating that the road allowance on Concession 14 would be cleaned up, and from Fred Brown asking the usual grant for the Junior Farmers.

Motions Passed.

Armstrong-Cathcart: That the Junior Young Farmers be given the usual grant of $15.00.

Armstrong-Earle: That Council make grant of $20.00 as its share toward necessary repairs to the Presbyterian community sheds.

Deputy-Reeve J. Smith-Councillor Cathcart; Whereas it has been drawn to the attention of Council that the Canadian Pacific Railway is contemplating discontinuing all passenger service to and from Kendry Station, therefore this Council goes on record as being strongly opposed to this action on the part of the railway, and that the clerk be instructed to send a copy of this resolution to the superintendent.

Deputy-Reeve Smith introduced a by-law to appoint the time and place of the nomination meeting, and to appoint deputy returning officers, poll clerks, and polling places. The by-law received the usual readings.

Cause Unknown

BOSTON, Nov. 13.— (CP).—The cause of the Cocoanut Grove night club fire that took 492 lives a year ago this month was recorded officially as "unknown." Said the Massachusetts fire marshal: "After exhaustive study, I am unable to find precisely and exactly the immediate cause of the fire."

Rating 'Fainted' At Inspection

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 13 (CP).— A Royal Canadian Navy rating "fainted" at inspection at an East Coast Training Centre the other day—and saved two captains, seven commanders and a lieutenant-commander from discovering they had been fooled by one of their ratings.

Rounds were cancelled one rainy Sunday morning and the rating returned to his barracks block and disrobed—just in time to learn inspection was on after all. He slipped on pants and sweater and clothed the breach of discipline in a slicker.

He stood at attention in the drill hall until the touring gold-braid ordered slickers open for inspection. Then, as the officers approached, he "fainted." As he was carried to an ambulance, the officers told him: "take it easy, son."

The story was told in a letter home by the rating's "buddy."

Speak Good English—Develop Your Language!

BE POPULAR

It's easy to be poised and to win friends, if you aren't "tongue-tied"—if you can talk naturally on a variety of subjects. But if words fail you, if you stumble over them, you're apt to be left out of many a pleasant conversation.

A little studying and a more careful watching of the words used is all that is necessary. Have a polished vocabulary with very little trouble. The results you will obtain will amaze you.

It's so easy to make such little corrections and acquire a delightful speech and you can easily boost your fame as a conversationalist by learning clever ways to say things,—"blustery weather," "radiant sunshine," "rippling waters."

Make your speech a definite social asset—don't let your friends and your husband be ashamed of you. Our 32-page booklet explains words often misused, gives English and pronunciation errors with the right forms. Advises on slang to avoid, tells how to enlarge your vocabulary. A guide to charming speech.

For your copy of HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR VOCABULARY send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

All-Day Quilting Held By Young's Point WA

YOUNG'S POINT, Nov. 13 — (ENS). — Mrs. Willis McIlmoyl entertained eight members and one visitor of the Women's Association of the United Church at her home for an all-day quilting and pot-luck dinner on Wednesday. Mrs. Roy Kidd presided for a short business meeting. Plans were made to have a touch-and-take table at the December meeting, the articles to be, as nearly as possible, a small Christmas gift. Mrs. James Reid extended an invitation for the Association to meet at her home in December.

Pat Young and Miss Irene Young are spending this week at their cottage at the head of the lakes.

W.M.S. Preparing To Elect Officers

COTTESLOE, Nov. 13 — (ENS) —The theme, "The Bible, the Foundation of the New Order," was followed by the W.M.S. at this week's meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Toms, when 13 women were present.

Mrs. John Gallagher was in charge and with three members gave the responsive reading. The Scripture readings were taken by Mesdames Clysdale, Matthews, McMillen and Barr. Mrs. Forsyth gave a report of the sectional rally. A nominating committee was appointed to bring in a report at the annual meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. George Barr, in December. Mrs. Toms served lunch.

"The Authority on Authorities"

IMPROBABILITIES CAN AID

COMMANDERS who never took their troops into anything except actions in which the odds favored them would hardly be worthy of the traditions of the American Army and Navy. Sometimes it is necessary to face heavy odds, as the only available means of accomplishing an important task. So it is with the sound declarer, who finds no possible way of making his game or slam contract except one in which the chances are against him, such as trying for the even break of six missing cards of a suit.

North: ♠ A Q 4; ♥ K 9 6; ♦ A 7; ♣ A Q 8 7 5

West: ♠ K 9 5; ♥ Q J 8 4; ♦ 5 3 2; ♣ J 4 2

East: ♠ J 8 7 6 3 2; ♥ 10 3; ♦ K Q J; ♣ 10 9

South: ♠ 10; ♥ A 7 5 2; ♦ 10 9 8 6 4; ♣ K 6 3

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

3 ♣	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
5 NT	Pass	6 ♣

South was afraid to tell the truth about one king in answer to the Blackwood bid of 5-No Trumps which asked about them. His reason was that he had bid a topless suit on his first turn and on the second one a fairly anemic heart suit solely because his partner had shown great strength by forcing with his club jump. A third reason was that his heart bid had been partly due to the fact that his hand was pretty good in support of the rebid clubs, in view of the spade singleton, but it was very moth-eaten as No Trump material. He feared that showing his one king with a response of 6-Diamonds to the 5-No Trumps would have caused the side to get into either 6-No Trumps or 7-Clubs, neither of which would appeal to him.

It proved that he showed sound timidity, as the 6-Clubs got made only because an improbability worked out, whereas either of the other impending contracts would have been hopeless. North won the K with the A when a spade was led to his tenace. Twelve tricks appeared impossible unless the diamonds were split 3-3. So he scored the diamond A, led to the Q, took the returned heart with the A, ruffed a diamond, dropped trumps in three rounds which ended in the dummy, then used the two set-up diamonds for discards of his losing heart and losing spade. An improbability had saved the day.

Post War Plan Survey Begun By C.G.E.

Members of a special planning committee of the Canadian General Electric Company, which has set out upon a survey of the prospects and problems of switching back to industrial employments in the needs and opportunities of returning peace, held several sessions Friday at the Peterborough works.

While this committee has begun to cast an appraising eye upon the days of transition which will follow the victory, to which the Allied nations have dedicated all their resources, it is not permitting itself, as it undertakes its highly responsible assignment, to be distracted from the least detail of the vital job of helping to crush the Germans and the Japs.

Just as the average citizen wonders between times about the circumstances in which the swords of this war will be beaten into plowshares, the Special Planning Committee of the Canadian General Electric Company not only finds itself in the conjecturing position of that citizen but is also preparing to ge able to do something about it.

"And we have no crystal ball to gaze into," said W. E. Ross, manager of the Apparatus Sales Department of the Toronto works, in a conversation with the Examiner reporter at the Empress Hotel last night.

Members of Committee.

The main Planning Committee is composed of key men in the manufacturing, engineering and commercial branches of the company Its members are: Ian F. McRae, works manager, and Gordon R. Langley, works engineer, of the Peterborough plant; K. J. Corkery, manager of the Toronto plants; C. E. Sisson, managing engineer of the Davenport works, Toronto, and Forrest, managing engineer of the Forrest, managig engineer of the Ward Street works, Toronto; J. S. Keenan, manager of the Supply Department, Toronto; W. E. Ross, manager of the Apparatus Sales Department, who spent fourteen years with the company in Peterborough, and W. A. Irwin, secretary of the committee.

With the exception of Mr. Irwin, these members are all engaged in the full time activities of the various phases of the company's production of war materials. So far, they have lined up an organization of which they are the hub, the co-ordinating centre, delegating in turn details of investigation to Product Committees that have been appointed throughout all the company's plants.

These thirty-four sub-committees are being asked in a broad sense for information and suggestions as to how the company can get back into the industrial strides of peace as smoothly and swiftly as possible. Answers will be sought in the months ahead, and this exploration of possibilities calls for practical answers to such easily phrased questions as these: What can we manufacture and sell when we get back to a peace time footing? What plant facilities have we for that kind of production? What other equipment are we likely to need? How many employees will we require to carry on with such work?

These are some of the questions which indicate the scope and the purpose of the inquiry which is intended to be only incidental to the present progress with the primary concern of providing materials for winning the war. Reports from the various product committees throughout the C.G.E. establishment will be forwarded to the central committee which will proceed to sift and weigh them, in brief to go ahead with the job of future planning. Each of the sub-committees is composed of representatives of the manufacturing, commercial, and engineering branches.

"Our committee believes that we must assume this initiative ourselves," Mr. Ross said. "We believe that if other concerns engaged in industry and production would survey their own fields they would be preparing in a practical way to help our country readjust itself to conditions of peace."

Mr. Ross remarked that, as a former resident of Peterborough he was specially interested in the local plant and its continuing position of importance in the C.G.E. household.

Future Is Still Obscure.

"We are only approaching our work in this present stage The future is still obscure, but whatever we are able to accomplish it is worth remembering that half the total number of C.G.E. employees are residents of this city. I am sure they will all feel the way we do, that we may be able when peace comes again to keep the reputation of our company in the role of leader in the electrical industry."

The French delegation in Cairo said that the Lebanese government had decided to put a fait accompli before the committee "under the influence of elements who are not interested in Lebanon's independence and who are more anxious to push France out of those regions."

From Cairo also came an eyewitness account of street disorders in Beirut, capital of Lebanon, where feelings were said to be running higher by the hour over the arrest of the Lebanese leaders.

more interested in the welfare of the people rather than in petty party politics in these critical times.

"I am confident our legislation will win the support of the majority of the Legislature members."

Claims Pledges Carried Out

The Premier said he disputes claims that none of the party's 22 pre-election platform points has been carried out. An agriculture conference had been called almost as soon as the Government took power, and to that conference there were invited representatives of all political colors. From the conference had emerged a committee which was working on the Province's agricultural problems.

"I am convinced there is to be the most sweeping and progressive developments in Ontario agriculture in many years," he said.

Concerning labor problems, Premier Drew said his Government believes in uniform regulations throughout the Dominion. It would have been folly for the Provincial Government to have instituted a labor inquiry when it was known the Dominion Government was planning along the same lines, with any Federal findings overriding anything that could have been suggested by the Province.

Speaker Warns Education Commercialized

The trouble with education today is that people have became so materialistic and the world so commercialized that the true purpose of stirring a student's soul and imagination has been trampled down in the rush to get something in a hurry to fit him for a job, A. E. O'Neill, principal of the Oshawa Collegiate, told the Women Teachers Guild Friday night.

Declaring that the world has reached a stage which is a race between education and calamity, Mr. O'Neill said that education almost unaided can destroy, and he pointed out that it was much easier to wreck a structure than to build it up, block by block. He said education was one of the important supports of world civilization and it is in danger at the present time.

In describing his subject "Who's Wrong with Education," the speaker pointed out that a great number of people sit back complacently and with sublime optimism declare that progress is inevitable, which does not happen to be the case. They advance various arguments about the glories of the past. Bible quotations from the prophets, and clippings about the speed of the horse and buggy age to substantiate their theories, Mr. O'Neill asserted, and continued saying that the pages of history were filled with graveyards of empires which fell not in the face of adversity, but because of prosperity.

Want Easy Way

"The materials things of life today have become an obession with us. We want to get through life the easy way. Women want glamor and men want personality. The trouble began in the Victorian age and writers like Matthew Arnold were dissatisfied with the turn of events which the Industrial Revolution ushered in. Machines were to take over the jobs leaving men free to spend more time on the spiritual things. We have neither the quiet nor the time.

"Then, commercialism, advertising and applied science advanced and manufacturers sold us the idea we couldn't manage without things. Yet we have never been busier and we spend our lives at earning money to purchase the material things we enjoy, but we never have the time to enjoy them. The materialistic will never satisfy the soul of man, and those who have criticized the great Indian, Chinese and Mohammedan civilizations, where the spiritual has a much greater importance, might do well to study it."

The business of earning a living being of primary importance, Mr. O'Neill explained that courses were being streamlined more and more, and while he declared that he was not belittling the necessity of being a wage earner, he emphasized that people earn a living in order to live. How to live is still the most important question, the speaker said.

Exam Results Unimportant

Pupils today need a broad liberal education, they need to know the science of good and evil, the philosophy of life and culture subjects to enhance vision, he stated. Schools must hold the ideal of first rate, for if their souls are neglected, their heritage is thrown away. The teachers are not alone at fault for they are battling other forces. Many boards are interested only in examination results, and the inspectors critize teachers for talking too much in class. But the teacher is good who can so stimulate a student that he will carry on the subject out of school, he continued.

"What has happened to the subjects today? Sports at one time were among the fine arts and the Greeks placed them on a par with music and painting. They were not useful but provided joy. Now they are so commercialized that sport has become exhibitionism. In Science many good teachers are interested only in exam marks never touching the imagination, and mathematics instructors are so busy teaching things for use that pupils never attain the imaginative stage. Who's wrong? The lot of us. We will not straighten out until we make more out of history, literature, philosphy and religion. We get experts for mathematics and science, but anyone will do for the cultural subjects."

Wrong System

Touching upon religion, the principal declared that it could not be streamlined into two periods a week. He stated that he felt that the school was not the place for devotional exercises because the atmosphere was lacking and the many faiths represented did not enter into the spirit of oneness outside of the churches.

The guest artist for the evening was Miss Pauline O'Donnell, from the Normal School who played MacDonald's "Praeludium" and, Chopin's "Raindrop Prelude." She exhibited a fine touch and a depth of interpretation. The speaker was introduced by Miss Helen McGregor and the vote of thanks was made by Miss L. Park. Miss Fern Rahmel, president of the Women Teachers Guild, welcomed Mr. O'Neill and paid tribute to the organizers of the Guild who began the society thirty years ago.

Wealthy Contractor Gets 27,000 Proposals From Women Who Want Wealthy Husband

KINGSVILLE, Ont., Nov. 13 — (CP)—Harry F. McLean, wealthy Canadian contractor who recently was unmasked as the Mr. X who went about the country scattering largess in the form of $100 bills and healthy cheques, was in Kingsville today en route to Pelee Island on a hunting trip.

He spent last night at Leamington where he went after leaving a Detroit-bound train at Windsor. Customs officials said he did not have the necessary permits to cross the border but Mr. McLean said today he hadn't intended to go to Detroit and his destination had been Pelee Island all along.

"Why don't you leave me alone," he said to reporters. "I go along fine for years and now you boys are always bothering me."

Then, in jocular vein, he added: "I've had 27,000 letters, cards and wires from women who want to get married. I've had them from as far away as the Fiji islands."

When asked how long he would stay in this area he laughed: "I might be here the rest of my life."

PTE. REGINALD MOWRY

FO. KENNETH MOWRY

TWO BROTHERS OVERSEAS—Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mowry, 591 Gilmour Street, are serving in the Army and Air Force overseas. Pte. Reginald E. Mowry, 24, is with the R.C.O.C. and he took his basic training in Peterborough, then moved to Ottawa and Camp Borden. He has been in the Army for nearly three years and overseas for two. Pte. Mowry was formerly employed at the Lillico Garage. His brother, FO. L. Kenneth Mowry, R.C.A.F., is also overseas now. He trained as a wireless operator and was at Manning Depot, Calgary, Guelph and Mountain View. FO. Mowry got his sparks at Guelph on June 11, and his wings at Mountain View, July 31, and won his commission August 4. Prior to enlisting, he was a toolmaker in the C.G.E. The father served for three years in the last war. (Cripps' Studio Photo)

Canada Ready To Promote Post-War Flying

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 (CP)—When the war ends and the scramble for position in the International Commercial aviation picture begins, Canada will benefit from the scores of airfields built in haste for war use.

Primarily Canada's population is concentrated in a narrow strip just north of the International boundary. Most of the fields constructed for the British Commonwealth Air Training plan are in this strip. After the war presumably most of them at least, will be maintained as auxiliary fields for commercial use.

And if it comes to "Over-the-top" flights to the Old World via the North Pole—well, they're on the secret list and can't be located exactly while the war continues, but Canada has some northland airports that should prove mighty handy.

Big Stuff: When Navy Minister Macdonald said the Royal Canadian Navy expected to get a couple of cruisers from Britain within a year he meant that—and any talk of immediate acquisition isn't backed up by naval service headquarters. It takes time to train crews picked from small ships to man the big ones. The boys are overseas now taking training with the Royal Navy and the word is that when they're ready the ships will be forthcoming.

High Finance: An item from New York reporting a shortage of pennies set us checking here but the Bank of Canada says there's no such situation in Canada. The Mint has been working almost 24 hours a day to meet the need and now is piling up a reserve.

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—(CP).—The Ontario Public School Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association at its fourth annual meeting yesterday passed a resolution recommending that grants to elementary schools be divided between Public and Separate schools according to total assessment of the schools.

Winch Denies Story About Police

REGINA, Nov. 13 (CP)—Harold Winch, British Columbia C.C.F. leader, yesterday denied that a question relating to his party's policy regarding the use of police and military force under a C.C.F. regime had been asked and answered as reported in a report of a speech he delivered in Calgary Nov. 9.

The Calgary report stated Mr. Winch had been asked what would be the position of the police and military forces when the C.C.F. assumed power. He was quoted as replying: "Those who defied the government's will would be treated as criminal" with the power of the police and military used against those who failed to keep the law.

Mr. Winch said the reported question and answers were not asked and answered as the dispatch stated. The actual question asked, he said was "In the event of a C.C.F. Government taking power and big industry and high finance refusing to accept the change to Socialism, what would the C.C.F. do?"

His answer to that question he declared was "When a C.C.F. government comes into power it will be because the people have given it a mandate to institute a Socialist program.

"The C.C.F. will immediately proceed to enact legislation in accordance with its program. If big industry and high finance refuse to obey the laws, democratically placed on the statute books, then they will be in the same position as one who breaks the law today and they would have to be handled as lawbreakers by the police and military forces."

HALF MILLION REDS LAUNCH ATTACK

Bulgarian Capital Of Sofia Ripped By Bombs From Planes Based In East

Strong German Forces Across Italy Slow Allied Advance Pelting Rain Drenches 5th Army

By N. NORGAARD—Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Nov. 15—(AP).—American medium bombers ranged in force over Sofia yesterday, making the first air attack on the Bulgarian capital from this theatre in a blow designed to dislocate traffic over the whole Balkan rail system, while aground in Italy the battle lines remained almost unchanged.

Other bombers swept into France for their third crack at the important Antheor railway viaduct near Cannes the night before, and light bombers shot up the harbor of Civitavecchia on the west coast of Italy.

Escorted by fighters, the bombers dipped over Sofia's railway yards in two big formations, dropping tons of explosives on the target. Nine out of approximately 24 German intercepting fighters were shot down in a fierce battle.

Official reports described the bombing as "extremely accurate," with explosives smashing down squarely on locomotive repair shops, car assembly shops, a main line depot, and ripping up the tracks in the yards.

"This successful opening of the Balkan offensive has a far reaching consequence," an official announcement said.

Important Centre

"Through this immensely important rail centre German supplies are transported to Greece and down into the Islands of the Aegean and also to the Western Balkans. The Sofia railway yards link up with rail routes through Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria and congestion at Sofia would have the effect of dislocating traffic over the whole Balkan rail system."

In aal the day and night air operations, including fighter sweeps over the battle areas and attacks by fighter-bombers on railway targets, camps and motor transport yesterday in Northern Italy and Yugoslavia, the Allies listed one plane as lost.

Concerning the ground fighting across Italy, the daily communique said only that the 8th Army had carried out successful patrol actions while on the 5th front the enemy maintained a firm defence.

(The Budapest radio, quoting a Hungarian news agency report, first reported the Sofia bombing last night. The broadcast said "several waves" of enemy planes attacked about midday and that several persons were killed.)

It was disclosed Sunday that the Germans had sent fighter planes back to the Italian battlefields in the greatest force since the Salerno landings in September.

After weeks during which only occasional Nazi aircraft were encountered, an Allied Headquarters announcement yesterday said 60 had been counted during the day. Nine were shot down. One Allied plane was lost.

A dispatch from Associated Press war correspondent Don Whitehead said rain-soaked soldiers beat off several German counter-attacks yesterday in the 5th Army central sector and held hard-won heights north of Mignano.

"The indications are that the Germans' so-called winter line may be from 10 to 15 miles in depth in the mountains looking down on the road to Rome," Whitehead reported, "and the enemy is strengthening his positions as rapidly as possible."

NEW U-BOAT TERRITORY

LONDON—The Berlin radio asserted today that the field of German submarine operations, "so far confined mainly to the Atlantic and adjoining waters," soon will be greatly extended.

Rates Reduced To Users Of Rural Power

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP)—Premier Drew of Ontario said today that simplification of rural Hydro rates announced today by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission would save Ontario farmers more than $500,000.

The Premier issued his statement shortly after the Commission announced that all 120 Rural Power districts in Ontario would be combined and that rural rates would be standardized next Jan. 1.

As well as reviewing the new policy announced by the Commission, the Premier's statement said that the government would establish a Hydro-Electric advisory council with representation from municipal, labor, farm, industrial and mining groups.

"This council will meet regularly and by the balanced exchange of opinion will be a position to advise the government and the commission in regard to the needs of all consuming groups," he said.

Kill Service Charge

The Premier recalled that at the last session of the Legislature the Progressive Conservative party had urged that rural rates be adjusted. The 13th point in the party's 22-point election platform last summer also called for rural rates adjustment.

"I am convinced that the change in rates will greatly increase the use of electrical energy in the rural areas, will improve conditions on the farms and make a large contribution to the general economic welfare of the whole province," said the Premier. "I am informed that with this change we will now have the lowest general basic rural rates in the whole world provided under

Famine In India Is Improved

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

CALCUTTA, Nov. 15 —(AP)—The famine is still on in Bengal.

Hungry persons are on the streets, crying for food as they have been for the last two months, indicating crevices in the relief scheme.

But the great hordes of beggars which made the second city of the British Empire the first city of starvation have largely been dispersed.

Completing my fifth tour of the famine-stricken city I found the situation noticeably improved from what it had been on my previous trips, but it still is grisly enough. All reports coming in from the remote countrysides where relief has not yet penetrated indicate the situation in the rural sections still is bad.

Labor Transfer Order Affects Many

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—(CP).—Labor Minister Mitchell to-day announced issuance of the seventh compulsory employment transfer order which will make available for work after Dec. 1 "quite a number" of men now employed by insurance, credit, investment and trust companies, real estate, travel agencies, hotels and several other lines of work.

The order applies to male employees who have reached 16 years of age but have not yet reached their 41st birthday. After Dec. 1 they may not continue in any of the specified employments without special permission of National Selective Service.

Both married and single men are affected.

Following is the official list of employments covered by the seventh order:

1. The underwriting, selling, broking or administering of policies of insurance of any and every kind, including but not restricted to life, accident, sickness, automobile, marine and general insurance.

2. (a) Short-term credit companies including but not restricted to establishments engaged in sales financing, industrial credit, money lending and pawn-broking; (b) The managing or supervising of the investment of bonds, stocks and securities including establishments engaged in investment trust and investment advising; (c) Trust companies; mortgage companies; establishments engaged in investment and loan business, including bond houses, financial agencies, stock exchanges and grain exchanges.

Banks Exempt.

(Employees of chartered banks are not affected by the order.)

3. Real estate (finance and operation).

4. Travel agencies.

5. (a) Year-round hotels (employees of year-round hotels in the following occupations are excepted from the requirements of the order; skilled mechanical maintenance men, stationary engineers, chief chef, laundry washmen and extractor operators, engineer-firemen and hotel manager); (b) Seasonal hotels; rooming and board houses; auto courts and tourist camps; organization hotels and lodging houses.

6. The manufacturing of millinery, bedspreads, trimming and embroideries.

C.C.F. Leader Says Stock Markets Highway Robbery

By The Canadian Press

The question of just what Harold Winch, British Columbia C. C. F. leader, said at a meeting in Calgary last Tuesday on use by the party of police and military if it should come into power was still the subject of active debate to-day.

The Canadian Press story of Mr. Winch' Tuesday meeting, based on reports of its member papers, the Calgary Albertan, and the Calgary Herald, said:

"'When we become the government, we will institute Socialism immediately,' he said, and when asked about the position of the police and military forces, he replied the power of the police and military would be used to force those opposed to obey the law.

"In answer to another question, he said: 'Those who defied the government's will would be treated as criminals,' and 'if capitalism says "no," then we know the answer—so did Russia.'"

Friday in an interview at Regina, Mr. Winch said the reported questions and answers were not asked and answered in the manner the report stated.

Changes Story.

The actual question asked, he said, was "in event of a C.C.F. government taking power and big industry and high finance refusing to accept the change to Socialism, what would the C.C.F. do?"

He said his answer to that question was "when a C.C.F. government comes into power, it will be because the people have given it a mandate to institute a Socialism program.

"The C.C.F. will immediately proceed to enact legislation in accordance with its program. If big industry and high finance refuse to obey the laws, democratically placed on the statute books, then they will be in the same position as one who breaks the law today and would have to be handled as law-breakers by the police and military forces."

At a meeting in Brandon Friday night Stanley Knowles, C.C.F. member of parliament for Winnipeg North Centre, read telegrams from Mr. Winch to J. B. McKenzie, B.C. secretary of the party, and Dr. J. L. Johnson, C. C. F. candidate in Brandon. That to Mr. McKenzie outlined the question and answer over which the imbroglio has arisen.

Underhand Methods

That to Dr. Johnson said: "Press reports positive distortion. My answer to questions completely in line with answers by Coldwell to same question. Clarifying statement issued to Canadian Press (the Regina interview.)".

Saturday in Moose Jaw the Times-Herald quoted Mr Winch as charging "capitalist newspapers" with using underhand methods to misinterpret his words, and stating that: "Harold Winch is not retracting one word that he said in Calgary. I don't say I was misquoted; it's just the clever way capitalism puts things to make them sound different."

Canadian Pilot Downs Two Messerschmitts Without Firing A Shot In Unusual Battle

ALGIERS, Nov. 15—(AP)—A Canadian fighter pilot in one of the oddest feats of the war destroyed two enemy aircraft Saturday without firing a shot.

Flt. Sgt. T. W. Larlee of Aroostook, N.B., was on a Spitfire patrol when he saw a large formation of German fighters flying at great height. He singled out two Messerschmitt-109s and gave chase.

Both planes went into streaming dives and Larlee also made an all-out dive trying to catch them. To his astonishment, the plane he was concentrating on never pulled out of its dive.

"It was the queerest thing I ever had seen," Larlee said, "it went straight into the ground."

The other Me-109 veered from side to side but it also failed to pull out of its drive. It crashed within 280 yards of the wreck of the first German fighter. Larlee managed to pull his Spitfire up.

The stress of the dive damaged the Spitfire's undercarriage but Larlee managed a one-wheel landing and was unhurt. He said he though the Germans must have damaged their elevator controls in their frantic dives to escape.

Titanic Battle In Russia Growing Worse For Nazis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE—Associated Press War Analyst

Nazidom's great man, who claims to work his wonders by intuition, indeed seems to have had a flash of second-sight (or was it just horse-sense?) during his recent Munich beer-cellar speech when he told his people in about so many words that they were headed for mountains of grief.

The titanic battle on the Russian front has worsened suddenly for the Hitlerites. Two outstanding developments indicate that this greatest of all armed conflicts is in the midst of another far-reaching crisis. These events are:

1. The Red avalanche has engulfed Zhitomir, thereby slashing Hitler's 1,000-mile front virtually in two, and pointing a spearhead at the Polish border, some 60 miles away. It is one of the key victories of the war.

2. The Germans today announced that 500,000 Russian troops have broken through the Nazi defences in the Dnieper-bend trap which the Muscovites are trying to close about the Hitlerites in that region. This hasn't been confirmed by the Soviet.

The Berlin statement about a break-through at the trap would seem to be calculated to prepare the German public for another big withdrawal of their forces in that area. As a matter of fact it wouldn't be surprising if the retreat is well on its way.

If this is true, there is direct relation between the retirement in the extreme south and the dangerous extension of the Red wedge which has been driven into the Nazi line at Zhitomir to the north. A deep thrust through the front above the Dnieper bend would render the German position on the southern-flank untenable.

The mighty Russian war-machine is gathering momentum as the ground freezes. Thus far the Germans have averted a debacle by the soldierly withdrawal of their unwieldy line, and despite the critical developments there's no sign at the moment that they won't be able to continue falling back with some semblance of order.

EXTRA!

LONDON — Yugoslav Partisan headquarters announced today in a broadcast communique that German troops have launched a large-scale offensive in several directions on the Dalmatian coast in an attempt to occupy beaches and islands in the Adriatic Sea.

BERNE—Large-scale terrorizing of collaborationists in the Toulouse area of France where 34 have been killed by Partisans in the past 10 days was reported today in a Limoges dispatch to La Suisse in Geneva.

Germans Retake Half Leros Isle

CAIRO, Nov. 15 — (CP) —The British troops improved their positions in central and northern sectors of the Dodecanese island of Leros yesterday, inflicting substantial casualties on the Germans and capturing a number of prisoners, a Middle East communique announced today.

The fierce fighting for the island, important in the strategy of the Aegean because of its submarine base, was accompanied by continued aerial blows in which long-range fighter sweeps and bomber assaults were carried out over the German positions.

Explosions and fires were started at Gurna Bay, Alinda Bay and Cape Pantali, and a Heinkel-111 was destroyed.

Bombers also attacked German shipping in Suda Bay, Crete, while fighters patrolled Herakleion air field on the same island and attacked many military targets in an effort to blanket the German offensive.

Four - engined bomber formations raided Maritza airfield on Rhodes on a similar mission last night. Nine Allied planes were lost in the aerial phase of the operations.

The battle for Leros was still inconclusive, however, and official reports yesterday said the Germans had established numercial superiority and had straddled the island at its narrowest point, virtually dividing the British and the Italian forces in the north and south, although the Allies still held Leros, the chief town. The eight-mile-long island is only about a mile across at its waist. The Germans had gained their position by both sea and by airborne units, supported by dive-bombers.

Gripsholm Arrives

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 15 (AP)—The repatriation ship Gripsholm, bringing 1,500 citizens of the United States, Canada and South America home from Japanese internment camps, docked here this afternoon. The Swedish liner is en route from Mormugao, Portuguese India, to New York.

Soviets Smash Hun Defences Beyond Krivoi Rog; Now 60 Miles From Poland

Motorized Infantry Units Speed Defeat Prevent Harassed Germans From Setting Up New Defence Barriers

By HENRY C. CASSIDY—Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Nov. 15—(AP).—The Red Army, expanding its salient west of Kiev, was surging close today to the vital rail junction of Korosten, capture of which would give the Russians control of a 50-mile stretch of the Leningrad-Odessa railway system between Korosten and Zhitomir.

(A Berlin broadcast said today a big battle was raging in the Dnieper bend after the Russians, hurling nearly 500,000 men against the German defences, had broken through between Zaporozhe and the area north and northwest of Kirvoi Rog).

A Russian communique announced 50 towns were swept up in the continuing drive toward the old Polish border, now less than 60 miles away.

While troops of the right flank of Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin's First Ukrainian front pushed ahead after capturing Chepovichi, 15 miles southeast of Korosten, central units drove directly west past retaken Zhitomir. This force yesterday took Baranovka, 30 miles west of Zhitomir, exceeding the pace of more than 10 miles a day which has been made between Kiev and Zhitomir.

Vaututin's striking force is composed of tanks, cavalry and motorized infantry capable of pressing closely on the heels of the retreating Germans.

Close-locked fighting which has marked all the combat in the Crimea continued in the Kerch Peninsula. Northwest of Kerch, the Germans launched 11 counter attacks with infantry, tanks and self-propelled guns, but all were repulsed. The communique said the Russians captured two strongly fortified points near Kerch.

In the sector above Kiev, the Red Army maintained constant pressure south of Rechitsa, shoving the Germans back toward the Pripet Marshes and broadening their bridgehead west of the Dnieper.

It is believed the Russians are likely to fasten a flank against the Pripet Marshes and swing southwest, driving the Germans toward the Bug River and Rumania.

Huns Admit Losses.

LONDON, Nov. 15 — (CP). — The German high command asserted to-day that Russian Cossacks and tanks, in a sweeping drive west of Gomel, had driven to Rechitsa, about 30 miles to the south-west of the railroad linking Gomel with Poland, but had been beaten back in attempts to capture the town itself.

Rechitsa's seizure would sever one of the two remaining rail lines over which the Nazi defenders of the old fortress of Gomel might fall back to escape the encircling Soviet movement.

The advance along the northern edges of the Pripet Marshes also threatened to split off the northern German armies from the forces of the central front.

Another Berlin broadcast acknowledged the German evacuation of Zhitomir. Moscow said the Russians were 30 miles west of Zhitomir.

Bags Switched

ROCKFORD, Ill., Nov. 15—(CP)—When Mrs. Darius Conklin arrived here from Chicago she found a shotgun and shells in the black travelling bag she carried. Her bag, which a hunter presumably took by mistake in a Chicago railroad depot, contained pyjamas, a dress, pair of shoes, and her wedding licence.

Munro Reports No Invasion Until New Year

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 15 — (CP Cable) —The Allied second-front force is taking shape in the United Kingdom but it appears probable that British, Canadian and American troops here will spend this Christmas in Britain and not in the mud of France and the Low Countries. There has been talk in London papers and rumors about England that an invasion might be launched for the year-end but this can be pretty well brushed aside.

The whole operation will be linked with the Russian effort and progress of Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's 15th army group in Italy and it probably will be some months before assault craft touch down on Europe's beaches.

Probably Gen. Sir Bernard Paget will lead an army group which will be one of the major field formations likely to be thrown against northwest Europe.

As commander-in-chief of home forces, Gen. Paget built up the British army in the United Kingdom and has been closely associated during the past year with the planning for the eventual invasion of the continent from England.

Lebanon Battle Appears Likely

By JOHN F. CHESTER
Associated Press Staff Writer.

CAIRO, Nov. 15—(AP).—The situation in Lebanon is "potentially grave" and a real clash between the natives and the French "might come at any time — no one knows when," Curtis Ryan, controller of the British Ministry of Information in the Middle East, said today on his return from Beirut.

He said casualties in the political controversy already had totalled 140, including 10 or 12 dead, and future armed struggles might occur in either Lebanon or Syria.

Richard G. Casey, British Minister of State in the Middle East, who returned from Beirut last night, explained Britain's position in the Lebanese dispute today to Gen. Georges Catroux, empowered by the French Committee of National Liberation to seek a settlement.

Casey, who conferred in Beirut yesterday with Sir Edward Spears, British Minister to Lebanon and Syria, urged Catroux to reach Beirut quickly. Catroux in 1941 promised Lebanon full independence.

Huns Threaten Reprisals

Promise More Raids Against England

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(CP).—The Germans in an obvious effort to impress Bulgarians, threatened dire reprisals upon Britain to-day for what was called a "naked and undisguised terror raid" on Sofia yesterday in which many persons were reported killed.

The Berlin radio declared "neither British nor Americans can claim they were retaliatng against Bulgaria, because the Bulgarians have never done anything which could in any way justify such action against the Bulgarian population. Germany will retaliate for raids on civilians of her south-eastern allies by air attacks on the British Isles."

Bulgaria has declared war on Britain and the United States but not on Soviet Russia. Her participation in the war has been limited to affording bases for Germany and to using her troops against Yugoslavia and Greece. Reports emanating from the Balkans said today the Germans have assumed complete military control of all of Bulgaria's Black Sea ports.

The Germans are known to have been in full control of the major ports of Varna and Burgas for more than a year. Seizure of the remainder was seen here as a possible indication the Nazis fear a Russian thrust across the Black Sea after the Red army cleans up the Crimea.

Canadians Advanced 500 Miles in Italy

Canadian Route Through Italy Previously Withheld, Described By Correspondent

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH CANADIANS IN ITALY, Nov 13 — (Delayed) — (CP Cable) — Canadian troops have advanced nearly 500 miles through Italy since the Carleton and York Regiment from New Brunswick led them ashore at Reggio Calabria more than two months ago.

It was still hot, dry summer when they swarmed from landing craft into the grey beach at dawn September 3 and found the Germans had gone leaving Italian coastal troops who were only too willing to surrender.

The Canadians had expected at least some opposition but the regiment commanded by a young lieutenant - colonel from Toronto made the most of the strange situation and in a matter for a few hours took objectives for which a day had been allotted.

The Carleton and Yorks marched through bomb-smashed and abandoned Reggio, pushed south to the Reggio airfield, first airdrome on the European mainland to fall into Allied hands. Meantime a brother battalion from the Maritimes (The West Nova Scotias) took without a fight a fort on a hill.

French-speaking soldiers (The Royal 22nd) and their fighting colonel from Montmagny, Que., came ashore behind the Maritimers and headed into the mountains on foot. They also found no opposition.

It took the Canadians awhile to became accustomed to the queer war. Italians tossed their hats in the air and cheered as Canadians took over their military positions which sprouted white flags.

German bridge and road demolitions placed much of the burden of the advance on the Royal Canadian Engineers commanded by an officer from Oakville, Ont. Forward speed came to depend largely on how quickly Sappers were able to repair roads and bridges.

The Italian surrender was announced Sept. 9 and from that day for reasons of security the Canadians temporarily disappeared in Italy as far as the public was concerned. Because the Germans were abandoning the toe of Italy without engaging the invading forces there was no reason to let them know where they would have to fight the Canadians when they decided to make some kind of a stand.

Until the fall of Motta, northwest of the Foggia airfields, was announced nearly two months after the landing, news dispatches about the Canadian forces did not reveal their whereabouts or identify Canadian units.

During that "blacked-out" period the Canadians in their light, tropical uniforms marched through dust up corkscrew roads hardly having to fire a shot. The invading 8th Army of which the Canadian 1st Division formed a part had the support of thousands of aircraft.

Central Canadian troops took the lead from the Maritime and Quebec soldiers soon after the initial landing, mounting mule tracks in a move

Bonus For Sub Spotters

Corvette Captain Puts Up $100

A BRITISH PORT, Nov. 15 (CP)—Lt.-Cmdr. Henry (Hank) Hill, 43, R.C.N.V.R., of Toronto and Kingston, Ont., is one of the most unique corvette captains at sea today.

He runs his ship, the corvette H.M.C.S. Calgary, like a business, has offered the first rating aboard to spot an enemy submarine a flat bonus of $100, cites outstanding bits of work on the mess deck notice board and invites new hands to his cabin for an informal chat.

Hill is past the age considered most adaptable to the rigorous life of the "roughest ships afloat." He gave up profitable business ventures in Kingston to go to sea in 1940, and one of his first assignments was to recruit 50 experienced yachtsmen to serve on loan to the Royal Navy.

He accepted it—on condition he was one of the 50—and later he was given command of a North Sea trawler in the Mediterranean, one of the hottest spots of the war. Of 11 ships in a flotilla 10 were sunk. Hill was the one who escaped.

He's commanded Calgary for almost two years, and considers himself the boss, his officers his "executives" and the crew his "employees." Hence the offer of $100 for a spotted submarine. It's just a little bonus to encourage the boys to keep on their toes.

Premier Plans To Announce Post-War Work Program Hints At Family Allowances

Take Inventory Of Public Projects In Sweeping Campaign To Create Jobs When War Is Finished

QUEBEC, Nov. 15—(CP).—A post-war program assuring work for everyone would be announced "within a few days" by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Justice Minister St. Laurent said here last night when he addressed a political rally. He hinted the program might contain family allowances and a big public works plan.

"What it was possible to do for destruction during the war," he said "will be equally possible for reconstruction and rehabilitation in time of peace."

He added the Federal Government — embarked on a program "certain to satisfy all reasonable citizens"— was now engaged, with Provincial Government assistance, in making an inventory of all urgent public projects, ready for launching at the end of the war.

He indicated the program would see Government agencies go to the aid of private enterprise in areas where there was an insufficiency of employment. Another hint as to the form of the program was seen in his remarks that a task for those who administer national funds might be allowances for the heads of large families, balancing their wages with unmarried men with no responsibilities.

He paid tribute to Government anti-inflation measures and said the post-war problems now must be faced.

Mr. St. Laurent criticized the C.C.F. Party program and the speeches by its members and declared the Liberal Party was ready to bring about any necessary reforms "without pillaging the constitution."

Nazis Anxious About Denmark

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 15—(AP).— The Swedish-Norwegian Press Bureau reported today that Norwegian patriots in the Trondheim district on the western coast of Norway had found German orders reminding Nazi officers of their duty to destroy all military records in the case of capitulation.

The documents advised troops how to act if their units were suddenly dissolved and they were forced to lay down their weapons, the News Bureau said.

At the same time, a dispatch from Copenhagen said it had been announced officially the Germans had proclaimed a "state of highest alarm" in Jutland, the northernmost portion of the Danish peninsula. No reasons were given.

The dispatch said martial law might follow, presumably as a result of spreading sabotage.

Canadians Advance to the Gambarie crossroads, high in the Aspromonte region some 15 miles inland. The Carleton and Yorks patrolled down the south coast road to Melito but found only evidence of a flown enemy.

Within 24 hours of the inital landing Western Canadian troops had come ashore and tanks, guns and supplies were being landed.

So many Italians gave themselves up that they became a major problem.

The Royal Canadian Regiment and the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment made difficult cross-country marches, supplied by mules and carrying parties while Engineers made roads useable to their transport coming behind.

Then the Westerners took the lead and their patrols went ahead unopposed. The Canadians were acclaimed in the villages of Sosoleto and Dilianuova in hills in the toe of Italy.

The first clash on the Canadian front occurred when Maritimers bumped into Italian parachutists. The engagement in the area of Santa Christina about 25 miles from the beachhead, cost the Italians 50 casualties.

While the advance continued in the direction of Cittanova, on a lateral road across the toe of Italy, the Canadians sent a powerful reconnaissance force up the southeast coastal road.

This "Jock Column" met no opposition until four miles beyond the seaside village of Monasterace when the Canadians tanks were fired upon suddenly by Italian artillery.

When the artillery commander surrendered he explained he had heard the radio announcement of Italy's surrender but had not received orders to stop fighting.

The column swept on up the coast and behind it the remainder of the Canadian force raced down from the mountains to Locri and raced up the firm coast highway behind the reconnaissance force.

The "Jock Column" entered the important town of Catanzaro Sept. 11 and found it abandoned by the Germans and still smoulderng from a heavy Allied bombing.

The Canadians concentrated in the Catanzaro area to catch their breath and while there Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery, commander of the 8th Army, visited headquarters to decorate a group of officers, non-commissioned officers and other ranks who had distinguished themselves in Sicily.

The Canadians rolled out on the road again Sept. 15, following the coast up past Cotrone and Cariati, on the Gulf of Taranto.

Ontario troops protecting the Canadian right flank headed toward Matera where the Canadians made a patrol contact with British troops who had carried out the landing at the Taranto naval base.

When the Canadians reached the outskirts of Potenza on Sept. 18 they found a small German paratroop rearguard apparently rushed to the town from the west when the Canadians appeared unexpectedly after a dash at top speed from Catanzaro.

By that time the critical stage of the Allied 5th Army's landing at Salerno, south of Naples, was past and the Allied bridgehead on the heel of Italy had been strengthened. The Allied invasion line right across Italy had started to take shape.

The Canadians entered Potenza after a 12-hour siege.

10 Days in Potenza Area.

Patrols felt out the area beyond the town while the main Canadian troops took a well-earned rest in neighboring hills. The Canadians remained in the Potenza area for 10 days, overhauling equipment.

Led by another strong reconnaissance column including the 48th Highlanders, the Canadians dashed northeast to Gravina to avoid mountainous country and turned northwest across the Foggia plain where they expected to find German armor ready to fight.

But they did not encounter opposition until they started into the mountains at Motta. Field artillery as well as tanks supported the Royal Canadian Regiment which carried out the attack on this little hill town and the Canadians met their first enemy artillery in any strength.

The R.C.R.'s took Motta while the Hastings and Prince Edward Battalion made a back-breaking cross-country march to Monte Miano dominating the high San Marco ridge. Meanwhile Western troops carried an advance on the left flank and patrols linked hands with United States patrols.

Volturara, overlooking the Catola valley, was captured and the R.C.R.'s mounted San Marco ridge under a heavy artillery barrage. The valley road which was heavily mined and under enemy artillery fire became the main axis of the Canadian advance.

First Taste of Italian Mud

Rain drenched the area and the Canadians got their first taste of Italian mud. The combination of bad weather, rough country and enemy shellfire slowed down the Canadian advance.

Mule trains operated by North American Arabs were employed to help with supply problems presented by the difficult, wet ground as the advance continued inch by inch. The Carleton and Yorks captured Gambatesa in a push with other Maritime troops, while a Pacific coast battalion (the Seaforth Highlanders) fought a fierce engagement with German tanks and self-propelled guns near the Decorata crossroads.

French Canadians (the Royal 22nd) moved into Ielsi and the Canadian advance toward Campobasso speeded up with the left flank swinging up towards the Vinchiaturo road junction.

Enemy shellfire grew heavier as the Canadians moved on.

The Apennine mountain town of Campobasso, taken Oct. 14, was the biggest plum of the campaign to fall into Canadian hands and climaxed two weeks of fighting in difficult elusive enemy who had every advantage of position.

Badoglio Plans To Quit When Rome Falls

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

Italian Headquarters in Italy, Nov. 15 (AP)—Premier Marshal Badoglio's pledge to resign as head of the Italian government when Rome falls was quickly followed today by strong indications that King Victor Emmanuel's abdication is only a matter of time.

Dr. Leopoldo Piccardi, who quit as minister of labor and commerce on the heels of Badoglio's statement yesterday, reflected the general attitude that the end is near for the monarch when he told friends he could not afford to be associated with the premier's proposed "technical cabinet" and, by inference, with the King.

By his statement that he would quit when the Allies reach Rome, Badoglio reversed previous declarations he would stay in office until the Germans are driven from the country.

Winch Won't

The Times-Herald continued: — "They can't get us on the level," said Mr. Winch referring to the newspapers, 'so they try leaving out a word here and there,' adding 'The C.C.F. is not going to do any pussyfooting.'

"Mr Winch asserted the British North America Act was outdated and in need of complete revision. 'Why should we have to go to a thousands of miles away, to see government in Great Britain, whether or not we can change our laws,' he asked.

Hits Bank System

"Answering a question regarding the chartered banks of Canada, Mr. Winch said 'we will nationalize the financial system of the Dominion.' He charged that stock and bond markets were 'capitalist highway robbery' and that the whole system would be revised. 'There will be no unearned money paid in the form of interest. Everyone will be paid in accordance with his or her contribution to the state and everyone will be given a decent standard of living under a C. C. F. Government' he declared.

"Mr. Winch warned that 'there are two wars to be won' 'at home and abroad' charging that 'we never had a real democracy in Canada' the speaker said 'we do not want to travel the road of Capitalism which is the road of dictatorship. If we are returning to private initiative, business as usual, then God help Canada.'

"He further stated that the C. C. F. was not prepared to endorse any plan to place more men on the farms when those already on the land could not earn 'a decent standard of living.'"

Meanwhile the Calgary Herald Saturday carried a story saying: "Quotations carried in the World's Story of Harold Winch's speech in the Memorial Hall last Tuesday evening are substantially correct, three members of the party who were present on the platform stated today.

Wants Revolution

"In view of Mr. Winch's denial a Herald reporter quoted the statements to them. All did not recall hearing all of the statements but each statement was heard by one or another of the persons interviewed. The direct quotations were:

" 'It's time we had a revolution'...

"(when) 'we become the Government we will institute socialism immediately.'....

" 'If capitalism says 'no' then we know the answer——so did Russia.'

"One person has some doubt as to whether Mr. Winch used the word 'Institute' in the second phrase, but he agreed that the word used had the same effect.

"Principal objection raised to the story was that more elaboration of Mr. Winch's statements should have been made. They intimated, however, that the speaker himself should have explained more fully some of his statements."

P. N. R. Morrison, president of the Local C. C. F. constituency association, who was chairman of the meeting, was quoted in the Herald as making the following statement:

"The Herald has given an entirely wrong impression of what Mr. Winch said. We do not blame the reporter, but the headline and indirect narrative are misleading.

"We of the C.C.F. are not particularly worried about the incident. The Herald is noted for its editorial distortion, for its opposition to all progressive change and for its support of reaction.

Both Stories.

"To have the Herald with the C.C.F. would be a calamity. It would prove we are wrong. To have the Herald against us proves the righteousness of our cause and means ultimate victory."

Extracts from the two Calgary papers on the Tuesday night questions and answers follow:

Albertan: "Asked if the transition from Capitalism to the Socialism of the C.C.F. could be accomplished by peaceful means, he replied that whether or not it was done peaceably did not depend upon the people who desired the change. When the C.C.F. came into power, he said, it would immediately start to establish Socialism, but if the powers that be opposed the will of the Socialist, Democratic C.C.F. government, that government would use the power of the police and the military to handle the opposition the same as any other criminals would be handled."

The Herald: "Asked about the position of the police and military forces in the event of moves for a change, Mr. Winch replied that when 'we become the government we will institute Socialism immediately,' and would use the power of the police and the military forces to force those opposed to obey the law.

"Those who defied the government's will would be treated as criminals, he declared, adding "if Capitalism says "no" then we know the answer—so did Russia.' "

Report By December 1

Men affected by this order are required to report by December 1 to the nearest Employment and Selective Service office. Any men living too far away from an employment office should apply in writing, Mr. Mitchell's statement said.

Youth reaching the age of sixteen after today will be covered by the order immediately upon reaching that age.

Mr. Mitchell said the high-priority industries are still urgently in need of men to fill up vacancies created by enlistments and "the high level of our war production."

"Consequently, Selective Service, has to continue to comb over male employees in all lines of employment where men can be spared, in order to fill essential vacancies," he said.

Arthur MacNamara, director of National Selective Service, said the procedures for handling men required to register under the compulsory employment orders are "pretty well developed" and local offices now are in a position to deal with the applicant in a "reasonably expeditious manner."

Giraud Submits Resignation

ALGIERS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Gen. Henri Giraud submitted his resignation as commander during the reshuffling of the French National Committee, but consented to remain on fulfillment of four conditions giving him a free hand in directing France's Military affairs, it was learned today.

Giraud was said to have given his resignation to Gen. Charles De Gaulle, now sole president of the French Provisional Government, but De Gaulle asked him to continue as chief of the armed forces.

Giraud returned Saturday night from an inspection of French mechanized units, and said he was confident the National Committee would comply with four of his conditions. Spokesmen for the De Gaullists also said unanimously that Giraud would continue as military commander, but some added the qualifying phrase "for the time being."

Many De Gaullists are determined to purge some army officers whom they say Giraud is protecting.

Rates Reduce

similar conditions.

The government was anxious to make electric power available for every farmer and "we are doing everything possible to arrange for the connection of new farms at present restricted wartime control."

The Commisson statement, issued earlier, said that simplification of the rural rate structure would be coupled with reductions in power costs for 129,000 of the 133,000 rural consumers in the province.

The Commission issued a statement saying that the 120 present rural power districts would be combined into one district with a uniform rate, effective next Jan. 1, and that the present service charge to primary producers would be completely eliminated while the service charge to other rural consumers would be reduced.

The uniform kilowatt-hour rate was announced as follows: Four cents per kilowatt hour for the first block of kilowatt hours; 1.6 cents per kilowatt hour for the second block of kilowatt hours, and .75 cents per kilowatt hour for all remaining monthly consumption.

Minimum Monthly Bill.

The announcement said that for the standard farm, 60 kilowatt hours would be charged at the four-cent rate, 180 kilowatt hours at the 1.6-cent rate, and all remaining monthly consumption at .75 cents. A minimum monthly bill of $2.25 gross would be adopted for the standard farm. "For larger farms, suitable blocks and minimum bills have been devised."

The rate structure for small non-farming rural consumers was defined in this way: Service charge of 55 cents a month; 40 kilowatt hours to be charged at four cents, 80 at 1.6 cents and the remaining monthly consumption at .75 cents. Minimum monthly bill was fixed at $1.50 gross with different kilowatt-hour blocks and minimum bills for larger consumers.

Prompt payment discount for all rural consumers was fixed at 10 per cent.

"The effect on the monthly bills of the farmer shows a substantial decrease to all except approximately three per cent. of all farmers served by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission," said the statement.

Non-farming, or hamlet, rural consumers "will receive a reduction in their bills with the exception of about 2.5 per cent. of this class of consumer receiving service."

Summer Cottage Service.

Changes in rate structure were also proposed for commercial lighting service and for service to summer cottages, the statement explaining that the change for cottagers would not reduce their bills but would provide a more convenient basis for billing both for the consumer and the Commission.

The statement included sample bills for standard farm and hamlet customers. The farm customers in a high-rate district using 100 kilowatt hours a month, now pays a monthly bill of $4.31 and in the low-rate districts $2.92, while under the new structure the bill would be $2.74.

A hamlet consumer using 60 kilowatt hours a month for lighting now pays $3.16 in high-rate district and $2.21 in the low-rate areas, while under the new rate the bill would be $2.23.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP) — A crusade for guarantees in future peace treaties of worldwide press freedom, on the premise that universal dissemination of the truth would make the chance of war remote, is proposed by Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, in a survey on "Journalism in Wartime" published yesterday.

Madang Given Thorough Bomb Pasting

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 15. —(AP).—Allied bombers, in a perfectly co-ordinated three-ply attack, dropped a record load of 223 tons of explosives on Alexishafen and Madang, ending for the time being an increasing threat to Allied positions on New Guinea.

The mission was to smash bases from which the Japanese had been strafing Australian troops and American aircraft in New Guinea's Markham and Ramu Valleys, and apparently supplying forward bases.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique to-day said great fires were started in fuel and supply areas, four enemy planes were destroyed on the ground, anti-aircraft positions silenced, three luggers and five barges destroyed in the harbor and the entire area given such a thorough blasting smoke rose in a thick blanket.

As to the land fighting on Bougainville, where U.S. marines secured a beachhead at Empress Augusta Bay Nov. 1, Admiral William F. Halsey, commander of the South Pacific forces, visited the farthest point of penetration on Friday and commented that "progress now is heartening."

Germans Hustling To Finish Defences

MADRID, Nov. 15.—(AP).— The Germans have closed the French-Spanish Mediterranean border to all but a few diplomatic travellers and are busily strengthening coastal defences against the threat of an Allied invasion, dispatches from Port Bou on the Spanish side of the border said to-day.

Labor gangs are working day and night on the fortifications, travellers said, and German engineering units are feverishly mining the beaches and mountain passes behind the coastline. The work was said to be going on particularly between Narbonne anl Cerbere, along a 50-mile stretch comprising the extreme southeast tip of France.

Arrow Pierces Heart Of Cow

COBOURG, Nov. 15 (ENS).—Provincial police have been informed of an unusual incident which occurred on the farm of Harold Harper, Haldimand township, when a cow was the victim of an arrow which was apparently shot from a powerful bow by a person unknown. Mr. Harper found the cow helpless with an arrow deeply imbedded near the heart. He called a butcher who put the animal out of its misery. The arrow, which had steel pyles, was over two feet long and apparently a tournament arrow. Provincial Constable Alex. MacLeod of Cobourg is investigating.

Damage Action.

Two divorce cases and a damage action were on the docket when the non-jury sittings of Supreme Court opened today with Mr. Justice Chevrier presiding.

Considerable interest is centred in the main case on the docket, an action for damages brought by Thomas E. Hall of Oshawa against the Campbellford Cloth Co., the claim being for $2,050 and costs. Plaintiff alleges that he leased the defendant the premises in Campbellford known as the curling rink, plaintiff retaining part of the building known as the office and waiting room. On February 8 of this year the roof fell in and plaintiff asserts that he notified the defendant to repair the walls and the roof. He alleges that the defendant moved out at the end of August this year without making the requested repairs.

The defendant in reply states that the collapse of the roof and walls was due to a structural weakness in the premises or to an act of God, disclaiming any liability in the matter. Weight of snow is said to have caused the roof to fall in.

Christen Corvette.

The corvette, H.M.C.S. "Cobourg," was christened at the shipyards on Saturday. Mayor Jack Burnet and Councillor Clara Delaney represented the town council. Members of the corvette committee from Cobourg also attended the ceremony.

Addresses Rotarians.

The Atlantic Charter clarifies the spiritual urge of the people of the democratic nations, Rev. Bert Howard, D.D., principal of Albert College, Belleville, told Cobourg Rotary Club Friday at their weekly luncheon at the British Hotel. It is destined to become one of the fundamentals of our future life, and puts into words what the people of the United Nations are fighting for, he said.

Dr. Howard was introduced by President R. Freeman and thanked by Past President R. N. McKenzie.

Guests were Rev. W. P. Woodger and Roy Rogers of Cobourg, Tom Ruston and Dr. Howard of Belleville and Henry Scott of Campbellford.

FENELLA

Institute Presents Bazaar At Meeting

FENELLA, Nov. 15 — (ENS). — The Fenella W. I. held its open meeting combined with a bazaar. In the absence of the secretary Mrs. W. I. Montgomery read the minutes and correspondence. The legislative grant was accepted and a quantity of material donated will be used for quilt making.

Mrs. Bruce Macklin offered her home for the December meeting and Mrs. C. Brisbin and Mrs. D. Adams are program leaders. It will feature a paper on historical research and an exchange of 25 cents Christmas gifts.

Number on the program were a solo by Miss Margaret Hall, a reading by Mrs. Madge, duet by Mrs. Sandercock, Mrs. C. Grigg of Roseneath, and the district president gave highlights from the area convention. A folk dance was given by 12 school poupils of No. 22 with their teacher Miss Audrey Linton at the piano.

FLEEING NAZIS FACE DOOM—Seeking escape in desperate flight over the Ukraine plain, following the Russian plunge through Kiev toward Rumania, a huge German force is running into a death trap, military sources report. The arrows on this map show how a "slaughter pen unrivalled since Stalingrad" is forming even as the Soviet forces rush on to the Rumanian border. The southern army and the victorious Kiev hordes can form a seemingly inescapable ring. White area indicates Russian advances. Zhitomir at UPPER LEFT fell Sunday.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Obituaries

WILLIAM SCULLY.

William Scully, 468 Elm street, who was ill only a few days, passed away suddenly on Sunday in his 43rd year. For many years he was employed in the Assembly Department of the C.G.E. and was the son of the late Patrick Scully and Ann Allen.

Surviving are his wife, formerly Helen Courneyea, and five children, Herbert, Marian, James, Betty and Yvonne, all of Peterborough, and three sisters, Mrs. James Conway, Mrs. Ann Rex and Mrs. William Phalen, also of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday, leaving the residence at 8.45 a.m. for St. Peter's Cathedral, where High Mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

MRS. DAVID JOHNSTON.

The funeral of the late Mrs. David Johnston, for many years a resident of Smith and North Monaghan townships, was held to-day at 3 p.m. from St. Andrew's United church with Dr. E. W. Young officiating. Interment was made in Little Lake cemetery.

The former Sarah Ann Lee, who was in her 89th year, was the daughter of the late Jane Bickerton and George Lee, who were descendants of the first people to settle in Smith township. After her marriage to David Johnston, she resided in North Monaghan at Crawford's Grove, and her home was always open to young people. Although she had been ailing for some time Mrs. Johnston maintained a lively interest in young people, the radio and reading.

Surviving is one daughter, Mrs. Gordon Deyell (Zetta) of Toronto. Her husband, three daughters, Myrtle, Vera and Edna, and one son, George, predeceased her.

I.O.D.E. Shipping 141 Parcels

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 15 — (ENS) — Overseas shipments of I.O.D.E. Christmas parcels is nearly completed for this year according to a report of the War Convener Mrs. H. T. Scott before members of the Bemersyde Chapter on Friday evening. Up to the present 141 parcels have been shipped to members of the armed forces from this town and there will probably be from 15 to 20 more to send. These packages were exclusive of another large number destined for shipment to those on active service but still in Canada. Appreciation was voiced to the Town Council for the announcement that they would again pay the cost of postage on these Christmas parcels and to the Catholic Women's League for a donation of $22.50 which is also marked for Christmas parcels. The members voted to make a $5.00 contribution to the Prisoners of War Fund and a similar amount to the British Children's Christmas Cheer fund. Another contribution for which members expressed thanks was the wreath given to them by the local branch of the Legion for placement on the Cenotaph during the memorial service a week ago. The Empire study feature of the evening was taken by Miss Aileen Parker and took the form of a talk outlining the significance of the component parts of the I.O.D.E. badge.

Shower Given Young Couple

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 15 (ENS) —Close to one hundred guests attended a post nuptial shower given in honour of Mrs. Hector MacMillan (nee Margaret Steele, of Norwood) at the Parish Hall here on Friday evening. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Ross Stephens and was the first opportunity Campbellford friends had of honoring the couple as LAC. Hector MacMillan had been posted to Calgary immediately following the marriage on July 7. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Archer provided music for dancing and in addition to this form of entertainment a number of the guests played cards. Following the midnight lunch Mr. Archer acted on behalf of the guests in presenting a number of lovely and useful gifts to the couple, and both the bride and groom responded with appropriate thanks.

There Are Several Churchills

Winston Churchill, like every other man, is not one person but several. He is the great leader, who rallied his country in its darkest hour; he is the master strategist; he is the master showman; he is the aristocrat; and he is the intransigent Tory, scornful of what has no interest for his party. It was in this last and least pleasing character that he refused to see a delegation from the Welsh members in the House of Commons, who were anxious to repeat their request for a Welsh Secretary and a Welsh Office to deal with Welsh affairs at Whitehall. "There can be no question at the present time of taking such a step which is highly controversial and in no way connected with the war. It is no doubt a very fit and proper matter for discussion in the transitional period or when peace is restored. There would therefore be no advantage in my receiving the deputation". It was in these cold words that Mr. Churchill couched his refusal. The 36 united Welsh members said that this "must surely be the first time in history that a completely united party in the Commons, in presenting a unanimous request, has been refused a hearing by the Prime Minister".

Since they were finally conquered by the English many hundreds of years ago the loyalty of the Welsh people to the British Crown has never been in question. They have given much to English life and culture, and they have borne a noble share in Britain's wars. In the First Great War, based on a comparison of populations, there were more troops from Wales in the various war theatres than from any other country contained in the British Empire. If the Welsh were a refractory or difficult people the Prime Minister would doubtless have made some effort to appease them and keep them sweet; but because their loyalty is unquestioned, Mr. Churchill feels perfectly safe in turning away their requests with the bluntest of refusals. He has found time for other matters which have had no connection with the war; he must know that the request for a Welsh Secretary has been put forward in times of peace and has been evaded by his predecessors; he must know that Scotland has had an administration of its own affairs at Whitehall for many years. He also knows that the Welsh members will not take a vindictive attitude toward him in the Commons because of his refusal. These are the things which give his refusal its offensive Tory tone.

The great Churchill, as we said before, is a composite of many men. It was the cynical politician who rebuffed the Welsh deputation. He knows that the support of the Principality may be had without bribes and concessions, and therefore he holds it cheap. Politicians have nothing to gain by pleasing their firm friends, and so they devote their precious hours to conciliating their enemies; it is the more profitable course.

A Dramatic Murder Trial

It takes a matter of unusual interest to rob the war and political events of front-page newspaper space in these days, but the trial of Alfred de Marigny on a charge of murdering his father-in-law has been of the greatest public interest since it opened on October 18. The attraction which this particular case has for readers undoubtedly lies in its resemblance to a trial in detective fiction. The setting, in the Bahamas, was unusual and romantic; the persons concerned were wealthy and prominent; the murder was of a spectacular nature; the accused man was invested with the attraction which many people find in foreign noblemen and in those who are the subject of scandalous gossip; the Special Prosecutor was a brilliant negro lawyer; the evidence was of an unusual nature. Dorothy Sayers or Ngaio Marsh could hardly have done better.

As the Ottawa Journal has already pointed out, some of the press dispatches from the scene of the trial must be taken with a pinch of salt. American newsmen are not accustomed to the pageantry of British justice, and they apparently found some of the court proceedings amazing; in other instances they clearly spiced their reports for home consumption. It was amusing that they should have laid such stress on the fact that Chief Justice Sir Oscar Bedford Daly took copious notes in longhand during the trial; this is a commonplace in Canadian and other British courts, but the reporters from the U.S. seemed to find it a matter of astonishment. Sir Oscar's much more remarkable feat—his brilliant five-and-a-half hour charge, in which he covered the case from beginning to end—did not attract half so much attention.

The jurors did not find the evidence against de Marigny strong enough to convince them of his guilt, and he must henceforth be considered a free and innocent man. The evidence of Police Captain J. O. Barker came in for some implied criticism by Sir Oscar in his summing-up, and although it is no part of a newspaper's duty to weigh evidence, it is certainly queer that a fingerprint may be "lifted" from the place where it is said to have been found, and presented in a court as evidence against an accused man. Impartial opinion must agree that de Marigny stood the ordeal of a long trial very well, and certainly gave the impression of an innocent man sure that his innocence would be proved.

"Murder, though it have no tongue, will speak with most miraculous organ" says Shakespeare, and we may be sure that some day the true story of the murder of Sir Harry Oakes will be revealed. Meanwhile, the chief suspect has had a scrupulous trial and has been acquitted. If there is any credit to be derived from the affair, we think that the legal system of the Bahamas is entitled to all of it.

"Use Your Head" Month

The 365 days of the year now seem to be split up into a welter of Education Weeks, Eat More Cheese Weeks, Salvage Months, Apple Days, all 'dedicated' (as the promoters love to say) to some cause or other. The latest to come to our attention is Walk and Keep Fit Month, which is being celebrated during the current November.

Walk and Keep Fit—for what? We hear a great deal about keeping fit from time to time, but nobody ever tells us what we should keep fit for. Walking, so far as we can see, will keep us fit for little but further walking. We are somewhat confused by this sudden enthusiasm for walking. Before wartime restrictions made it impossible to buy new cars walking was looked upon as a sign either of eccentricity or failure. Nobody walked if he could help it, and we doubt if the national health suffered greatly in consequence. We are suspicious of this walking business. We often walk in the country for pleasure, but if there is any fun to be had from padding the hard pavements of a town it has escaped us.

We are struck with the fact that many people are anxious that we should keep fit physically, but nobody seems to want us to keep fit mentally, which is quite as important, if not more so. We see plenty of people every day who have flabby muscles and sagged abdomens, but we meet a far greater number who have flabby brains and slumped intelligences. They need a mental workout. We are seriously thinking of launching a Use Your Head Month to draw attention to this situation.

A good suggestion for Use Your Head Month was made recently by Senator Lambert. He pointed to the great number of falsified statistics, misrepresentations of fact, stupidities and downright malicious lies which are in circulation, and which crop up in discussions of the postwar world, and other topics of current interest. In most communities, said the Senator, there is one man who recognizes each lie and folly as soon as he sees it. It is his duty to expose it, for the public good. If the public would take his suggestion seriously we could launch Use Your Head Month almost any time, and continue it indefinitely. Let's tone up those flabby minds! They let in harmful matter even more easily than a flabby body lets in disease.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Anti-Influenza Serum Derived From Horse", says a headline. Man's pal the palfrey.

The knee-length skirt, says a fashion writer, is an expression of one of the finest things in nature. Only if the right person is wearing it.

A Kingston man has been given three months for turning in a false alarm. Or, as a contemporary suggests, it might have been one of those artless Kingstonians trying to post a letter.

The Hamilton Spectator says that the dark, dingy cellar of an earlier day has vanished, being replaced by the bright, cleanly modern version. We should like to escort the man who said that into the awesome grotto where we keep our furnace, and set him to work shovelling some of our old-fashioned ashes.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

THE weather has given great help to getting the land in condition for winter. Where a crop of fall wheat has failed to come on and show a fair stand for winter, it would be best to plough it this fall, not too deep, but to cover all grass or wheat that did grow, and have the field in first-class condition for early spring seeding. I have seen a good many efforts made to patch up and make something out of a poor stand of wheat, and have usually found that a patched up crop was not a satisfactory one and one that never paid.

If the wheat looks hopeless now, this is the time to turn it under and so be able to get a fresh start on a clean piece of fall ploughing next spring, and seed a fresh crop early and it will make up for any waste of seed when the fall wheat was sown.

I remember some efforts to patch poor fall wheat with barley and also with goose wheat, but my every recollection of such are that better results would have been secured by taking the first loss and getting a field ploughed in the fall.

◇ ◇ ◇

FARMING the world over is coming under review these days as the war seems on its way to a victorious finish. A good deal of primitive farming has always been done in warmer climates than ours. Even in the United States as you go south through Georgia and Florida and find yourself in Tennessee where the negro, or poor white, farms with one mule you are bound to wonder why improvements don't move faster. People don't get up and rustle in many hot climates and are often content with very little.

A lieutenant with the Allied Army in Sicily has written an interesting account of farming on this island. He says Sicily is producing food in a peasant fashion. The humid hot climate results in a hot house growth. Every bush grows fruit—the land is mostly poor and has to be terraced to keep it from being all washed away by heavy winter rains. There are orchards of lemons, oranges, almonds, olives and locust beans. On some small fields wheat, tomatoes and field beans are grown.

All ploughing is done by wooden ploughs drawn by a single mule and the threshing is done by the mule tramping it out. Sheep and goats are kept in small numbers. With the use of irrigation and modern efforts this man believes largely increased supplies of food could be grown, but adds:—

"Yet who in the world seems more contented than the Sicilian peasant as he rides slowly along on his high mule cart, his face quiet and dark with the sun, climbing on a steep white road between his own mandoria trees?" He also wonders if the Sicilian has ever heard of an iron horse plough.

ONE of the things which the British farmer is troubling about now is the much delayed announcement of the British Farming policy for after war. It is now fifteen or sixteen months since the British Ministry of Agriculture promised an early announcement but there is no whisper made of it yet. Not only that but Mr. Hudson refuses to discuss it at all. British farmers are not letting down in their war effort but they are becoming apprehensive and are speaking out very forcibly about it. This, of course, is of great concern to us in Canada as Britain is our best market for much of the excess foodstuffs we produce in this country. The other Dominions are also keenly interested.

NOW as we arrived at the time when cattle go into winter quarters it is well to be ready to destroy any lice they may carry. An effective method for killing lice on cattle has often been sought but frequently doesn't prove as effective as expected. Lice have different varieties and often what is death to one, another seems to thrive on. I have recently learned of a specific mixture that is guaranteed to destroy them all and if it lives up to its advance notices it will be a blessing to many a cattle barn. This is a dry mixture made of two parts sodium flousilicate, one part phenothiazine and one part white flour. This mixture should be dusted on cattle, particularly down the spine, and brushed into the roots of the hair. If this does an effective job, it will silence many a cattleman's exclamation of:—

"Ha! Whare ye gaun, ye crowlin' ferlie!
Your impudence protects you sairly:
Oh for some rank mercurial rozet,
Or fell, red smeddum,
I'd gie you sic a hearty doze o't,
Wad dress your droddum!"

But I am afraid that in Burns' day they were not well up in destroying such vicious beasties. Cattle cannot thrive when pestered by lice and every effort should be made to rid stables of all such vermin and a careful watch should be kept for any further outbreak and have it dealt with promptly, it will pay.

BRITISH Friesland cattle have been in very strong demand in England lately. Cattle are not allowed ordinarily to be shipped from Holland, the home of the Friesians, to Britain, because of Foot and Mouth. In 1936 an exception was made, however, and under very strict quarantine regulations a special importation of Friesian cattle was admitted to England. British livestock breeders are always anxious to secure animals from the county of the origin of the breed. They always expect to get better bloodlines from herds in the country where the breed was built up. Any of these imported cattle from Holland commanded high prices when offered for sale.

A Money—Barter System

Money buys very little in Holland in these days of barter, according to a plaintive story in the German-controlled Amsterdam daily De Telegraaf.

The paper told the story of an Amsterdam girl who acquired a new dress in an Amsterdam shop where her aunt had unsuccessfully attempted to purchase one. The aunt "did not know the ropes," the paper said, adding that if she had offered the saleswoman a few sugar coupons—as her niece had done—she, too, might have had a new dress.

Some farmers in Zeeland province know all about this kind of barter, the paper continued. When they come to town to buy clothes, shoes, bags, wallpaper or other needed supplies, they take along with them several pounds of wheat and some food coupons which they hand over to the shopkeeper together with the money representing the official price of the article.

Zeeland fishermen, the paper added, ask eggs, butter and tobacco in return for their fish in lieu of money.—Netherlands Government Information Bureau, Montreal.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

THERE is nothing else in the world so completely devastating as the candor of a near relation. Our enemies may traduce us, our friends may remind us of our faults and weaknesses, but their strictures are as nothing compared to the criticisms of the members of our own families who know all of our vulnerable spots and where every shot will hit the bull's eye. Any sprig of vanity or even self-confidence that can survive hearing, daily and hourly, what one's nearest kin think of one's mental and physical equipment, must have in it the seeds of immortality that nothing can slay.

It isn't that Grandma and Grandpa and Mom and Pop and Bob and Sally are sadists who delight in torturing us. Nor is it because they hate us and take this method of wounding us. On the contrary, if some stranger were hurting us as badly as they are, they would rush to our defence. More than that, they clothe their cruelty with self-righteousness, and even while they are stabbing us to the heart they assure us that they are doing it for our own good.

This leaves unexplained one of the innumerable mysteries of life and that is, why people who love each other are less careful of each other's feelings than they are of those of a chance acquaintance; and why people who, through the force of circumstances, are compelled to live together for a number of years, drop all of the amenities that civilization has devised to soft-pad human intercourse.

It is only in family life, only to our own people that we do not try to sell ourselves. We listen with feigned interest while a bore repeats a joke that is his conversational stock in trade, but just let mother and father and sister and brother try it and we stop them with screams of pain. "For Heaven's sake, let that old gag rest! We've heard you tell it a thousand times!"

None of us feel called upon to tell other women that they are getting fat, or that their new hats look like a case of delirium tremens, or that they talk too much, but we do not hesitate to puncture the little pink balloons of our sisters and our cousins and our aunts by pricking them with these unpalatable home truths.

Once at a dinner party I saw a child sent from the table because he had spilled water on the cloth. Feeling himself disgraced, the little fellow climbed down from his chair in tears, and as he did so he turned to his mother and said: "Why didn't you say to me that it made no difference, as you did to Mr. A. when he knocked over his wine glass the other night?"

And I thought—why didn't you? Why don't we all use some diplomacy in dealing with our own? Why not keep some of our criticisms of our own unsaid? Why keep the spotlight turned perpetually on the defects of those with whom we live?

Maybe your wife isn't a Glamour Girl any more, but why twit her with having the middle-age spread? Maybe your husband's table manners leave much to be desired, but why ruin every meal by criticizing the way he eats? Maybe Johnny isn't any ball of fire, but why tell him how dumb he is a dozen times a day. Maybe Mamie is an ugly duckling, but why bemoan in her presence her lack of beauty?

Perhaps they don't realize it, but the staple of conversation in the average family is criticism. I have heard hundreds of wives say that they would fall dead with surprise if their husbands ever paid them a compliment, and what the average husband would do if his wife should ignore his shortcomings and loud pedal his charms and virtues would make headlines in the newspapers. He would probably have perished in convulsions.

While as for the children, about all the poor little tikes ever hear at home is the litany of their faults. Johnny is so stupid. Bobby is so careless. Jimmy is so awkward. Mary is all feet and legs and arms. Maud is boy-crazy. Ethel has telephonitis. And so on and so on.

When parents nag their children about their faults, they do it in the fatuous belief that it is the way to correct them, but it isn't. Criticism's only effect is to give the youngsters an inferiority complex and to drive them away from home. The world is full of failures who might have been successes if they hadn't had their faith in themselves killed in their childhood, and of lonely old people who don't realize that their sons and daughters left them to go to live among strangers who would not feel free to tell them of their faults.

What we forget is that our families are our publics, as they say in the movies, and we are more sensitive to their opinion to that of anyone else. We crave more their applause. If we remembered it, we would be kinder to our own.

Evora Has a Long, Misty Past

THE Portuguese are the embodiment of kindly courtesy — so much was already beginning to be manifest....

Our chance companions were as good as their word. They saw us safely into the other train and as safely out on the platform at Evora—which name I should perhaps mention here is stressed on its initial syllable. They did more, for they and the conductor between them found us an energetic small boy to serve as courier pro tem. He provided us a carriage and himself mounted with the driver to escort us to the town, which is, according to custom, nearly a mile from the modern upstart called a railroad, on a hill which had been chosen by prehistoric man as a splendidly inaccessible place in which to live.

The town lay in full view, its white walls glistening in the noonday sun, while out of the huddle of roofs towered two brownish-grey churches of manifest antiquity and promise. The horses proceeded at a smart trot up the slope, past the inevitable plaza devoted to Mars and into the maze of narrow streets, onward and ever upward, jolting over the typical Portuguese pavement of small blocks of stone set in patterns of black and white. The looming churches vanished from view, and for a space we clattered through narrow highways, around corners, and always upward. Eventually we were disgorged at the one tiny local inn, which calls itself, classically the Eborense.

I doubt that anyone can say when Evora first began to be. It was obviously a strategic point, and the earliest inhabitants of the region unquestionably turned it to account, Phoenician, Iberian, Visigoth and Moor occupied it at the variously appropriate epochs—and the Romans most importantly of all. The understanding eye can doubtless detect evidences enough of the stratification left in the form of fragmentary buildings by each occupant, but the inept visitor will discover little beyond the outstanding evidences of the Roman period and a choice bit here and there surviving in some modern wall from the unmistakable hand of the Arabic invaders....

All that, however, relates to a misty past of which tangible relics remain in the aqueduct, a fountain, and the little "Temple of Diana" on one side of the cathedral square.... What the modern visitor sees is mainly the Portuguese town recaptured from the Moors in 1165 by a pirate, or guerilla, warrior named Gerald, who appears to have obtained amnesty from the Portuguese king, Affonso Henriques, by presenting him with the town. From that day to this Evora has remained a southern outpost of the kingdom, of steadily dwindling importance as the more northerly cities of Lisbon and Porto grew in vigour.—From "A Wayfarer in Portugal," by Philip S. Marden. (Boston: Houghton Mifflin.)

Beyond the Mere Words

Back of all literature stretches an unmapped and immeasurable world of oral tradition. Before men began to write, they made songs and sang them, put together stories and told them. Imagination, memory, and a feeling of rhythm were early human developments, whereas writing, however it began, came later and was an invention of speech....

There is no way by which we can penetrate the shadowed region beyond history that we conjecture, nor is there much profit in speculation by students of literature about what was made, and how, by the earliest singers and story-tellers. We need merely to remember that before the word was written it was spoken, and that throughout the ages since writing was invented a very great part of what man has uttered for his pleasure and edification has been recorded by memory rather than by the pen....

In our day, when even the uneducated have the habit of reading, when most of us get our impressions rather more through the eye than through the ear, it is hard for us to comprehend that any product of the imagination, with a pattern in its warp and woof, can exist in an oral state only. We think of the written symbols of words instead of the words themselves, and half-consciously regard the printed representation of a poem as the thing itself... The drama is the only one of our literary categories which escapes to any extent from this bondage to the symbol; and we have all met persons who prefer to read plays rather than to see and hear them.—From "The Ballad of Tradition," by Gordon Hall Gerould. (New York: Oxford University Press.)

A Bible Message

Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil; learn to do well....

Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool. (Isa. 1: 16, 17, 18.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong. (I Cor. 16: 13.)

◇ ◇ ◇

This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind, having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart....

But ye have not so learned Christ; if so be that ye have heard him, and have been taught by him, as the truth is in Jesus: that ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness. (Eph. 4: 17, 18, 20-24.)

A Mighty Anniversary

"Ten days that shook the world" was the way John Reed described the Russian Revolution. November 7, marked the 26th anniversary of that mighty milestone in history, and on all the battlefields where they wrest valorous victories from the common enemy the soldiers of the Soviet Union kept it in proud memory.

It is not for us in the democratic lands to join in that celebration, nor to subscribe to the ideologies to which the Revolution gave birth. Yet what we can do fittingly and honestly is to send our greetings on this day to the sons of the Soviet, to salute their gallantry and their greatness against the common foe.

Their way of life may not be ours, their political concepts be unsuited to the genius of our race; but in their hearts there does burn that hatred of foreign tyranny and love of homeland which all of us admire. Long live that spirit and its victory!—Ottawa Citizen.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

DEAR MARY MOORE: I sent you my method for doing sauerkraut with pig's feet and you printed it so I am encouraged enough to send you my methods with salt codfish. It is one of the cheapest proteins you can buy now—since there is no waste whatever to it.

Codfish au Gratin
(Contributed by Bluenose)

Place one lb. soaked and flake salt cod, 2 tablespoons each onion, chopped celery, salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoon flour, 1 cup milk, ½ cup grated cheese. Place flaked cod on shallow baking dish which has been greased. Sprinkle with onion, celery, salt, and pepper. Add 2 tablespoons of water and lemon juice. Bake in very hot oven of 450 degrees Fahr. for 10 minutes. Melt butter, stir in flour and add milk gradually. Cook, stirring unti thickened. Add salt, pepper and cheese, reserving about 2 tablespoons for top. Heat until cheese is melted. Pour over fish, sprinkling remaining grated cheese over top and continue baking for 10 minutes.

Codfish Loaf (same mixture as codfish cakes
(Contributed by Bluenose)

Six medium sized freshly boiled mashed potatoes, 2 cups shredded soaked salt cod, 2 eggs, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup milk. Add codfish and eggs to potatoes, mix well and add pepper and milk. Beat until fluffy. Drop from spoon into deep, hot fat (375 degrees Fahr.) and fry until brown about ten minutes. Drain on unglazed paper. OR pack into greased loaf pan—I think the loaf is best of as all the fats required to fry them is quite an extravagance. If baked you need a moderate oven.

THANKS BLUENOSE — This is grand fare and we need more like you.

Bride Is Honored At Mann Home

"The Hawthorne's," lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan B. Mann, Smith township, was the scene of a very happy event when they were at home to a large number of friends and relatives in honor of Mr. Mann's niece, a recent bride, Mrs. Robert Neville. Mrs. Neville before her marriage was Miss Phyllis Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mann of Manitoba and was married in Fort William to Sgt. Robert Neville, R.C.A.F. of Sudbury.

During the evening Mr. Allan Mann in his usual capable manner was chairman for a delightful impromptu program of speeches, solos, readings and instrumentals. Miss Lilian McGregor and John Lewis favored the gathering with solos.

The bride received many lovely gifts and replied very fittingly thanking all for the gifts and also expressed appreciation of the many kindnesses tendered her during the past two years she has spent in Peterborough.

Regret was expressed that the groom was unable to be present having had to return to his duties.

Misses Jean and Dorothy Mann of the Toronto University were home for the occasion.

Lunch was served, bringing a very pleasant evening to a close.

St. George's W.A. Holds Bazaar

The Ladies' Afternoon Guild of St. George's Church held a most successful bazaar and sale of work last week in the church basement, with the president, Mrs. L. Warren, in charge, and Mrs. E. C. Moore received the guests during the afternoon. The different booths were prettily decorated and laden with goods, and were supervised as follows: Fancy-work, Mrs. Howarth, Mrs. W. Cook; club card, Mrs. W. Farr, Mrs. L. Moore, Mrs. Fred Dorrell; home-cooking and novelties, Mrs. W. Firth, Mrs. T. Parks, Mrs. D. Edwards; Women's Association calendars and Christmas cards, Mrs. J. Huxley.

The tea tables were lovely with their individual fancy cloths and each was decorated with a bouquet of yellow, mauve and pink mums. The tables and the tea room were in charge of the convener, Mrs. C. Cole, assisted by Mrs. J. McWilliams, Mrs. Robert Pilling, Mrs. J. Harrison, Mrs. J. Branson, Mrs. T. Aitken, Mrs. C. Crouter and Mrs. W. White.

Three draws were made in the early part of the evening. The first by Mrs. C. Crouter and was won by Mrs. W. Patch. The second, a sheet and pillow cases with crocheted edgings, made by Mrs. J. Huxley, was conducted by Mrs. Harloff, and was won by Mrs. D White. A third draw, for a War Savings Certificate, was won by Mrs. W. Stephenson, 69 Orpington road.

In the evening fourteen tables of cards were under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Firth, after which a lunch was served by Mrs. C. Cole, assisted by the following: Mrs. W. Warren, Mrs. W. Bannon, Mrs. C. Crouter, Mrs. C. Nixon, Mrs. Robert Pilling, Mrs. W. Farr and Mrs. T. Aitken.

After the card games, Rev. E. C. Moore thanked everyone for being present, and welcomed Petty Officer Jack and Mrs. Flynn. Jack, who is home on leave, was member of the Men's Bowling Club before joining the navy.

Spiritual Front Must Dominate

"The obligation of Christian people will be to support the spiritual side of life, because of the new world will depend on the spiritual front," said Rev. Dr. G. S. Easton, who was guest speaker at the November thankoffering meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Church, which was held in the guild room.

Rev. Easton was introduced by Mrs. A. Sollitt, and in his address, he discussed the many lines of endeavor which rest with the church at large if the standards of Christian life are to be maintained. He said that the new world that is going to be set up after this war will be different from the old, but that three institutions will remain, the home, the school and the church. He explained that a minimum of compulsion and a maximum of spiritual presuasion must be exercised in the development of these three important groups.

"There must be a supremacy of spiritual values over personal desires," he said, "and a spirit of real self-sacrifice will be necessary to achieve this result."

After the general business session, Mrs. Spencely, accompanied by Mr. M. B. Chenhall, sang a solo, "I Gave My Life."

Miss Lillian Espien voiced the appreciation of those present to Mrs. Spencely and Dr. Easton, and Rev. Dr. J. D. Smart closed the meeting with the benediction.

Choir Delights Soldier Group

The Peterborough Women's Service Corps was on duty at the Uptown Canteen on Sunday. Miss Flossie Mitchell, was in charge, and the following ladies were present throughout the day, and served sandwiches and coffee at the close of the evening's entertainment, Mrs. M. Pearson, Irene Battle, Mailo Payne, Lois McBride, Ruth Coate, Marjorie Waite, Helen Booth, Marie Youdell, Pearl Foster, Hilda Suddards, Bess Grant, Elaine Grant, Thelma Simmons, Mary Gregson, Doris Williamson, Hilda Houghton, Edna Millard.

The choir of Knox Church, under the direction of Mr. William Potter, entertained on Sunday evening. The first selection was "Sweeter as the Days Go By," and the second was "The Sweet Song of Old." Loretta McDougall sang "This Holy Hour," and "Prayer of Thanksgiving," and Marion Williamson sang "All Through the Night." Mr. H. Lewis drew amusing cartoons and Rev. H. J Mahoney told a story for the boys. The program included community singing led by Major Bamsey, who was M.C.

Speaker Tells Of Work Across Japan

An outline of the work done by World Fellowship groups in Japan, China and India, formed the greater part of the address given by Mrs. W. G. Coates, Secretary of the World Fellowship Committee of the National Council, Y.W.C.A. Mrs. Coates, who lives in Toronto, was here on the occasion of the beginning of the "Week of Prayer and World Fellowship" which is being observed by Y.W.C.A.'s all over the world.

The meeting opened with an "All Nations Hymn-Sing," and well-known hymns of all the countries in the World Fellowship group were sung. Mrs. Coates, the guest speaker who was introduced by Mrs. G. E. Easton, spent six years in Japan, and also taught in Formosa. She and her family lived inland in Japan for a while, and her children went to a Japanese kindergarten, because they were the only white family in the district.

Later they moved to Kobe, and here Mrs. Coates taught in a school for the children of missionaries and business men who lived in Kobe. In speaking of this school, Mrs. Coates said it was under the supervision of the Department of Education at Toronto, and that the children wrote senior matriculation examinations sent all the way out to Japan from Toronto.

In her talk, Mrs. Coates gave a little history of the World Fellowship organization. It was founded in 1898, she said, and 57 countries are now members of the Fellowship. Japan, China and India are the oldest members, she said, and told of the work done in China and India by the Y.W.C.A.'s. Refugees were the greatest problem she reported, and these organizations gave invaluable aid to homeless and stricken people.

Trinidad is the newest member of the group, having joined about three weeks ago, she explained, and reported that the opening was broadcast from Washington, on the program called "West Indies News Letter." Mrs. Coates told her audience that at the present there are two honor students one from Jamaica and one from Trinidad who are training in Canada as physical and health instructors, and that when they have completed their courses, they will return to their homes and take over positions in the Y.W.C.A.'s there. She explained that the Y.W.C.A. send out instructors to these new countries, to take charge of affairs and to lay the ground-work for the organization. Girls are sent to Canada to be trained, and they then return to assist the instructors, and eventually take over complete charge of their particularly "Y".

She said that the idea of World Fellowship is growing, and just lately Mrs. Coates revealed, a request has been received from Jerusalem for an instructor, and also from Newfoundland, where they want a group to organize entertainment for girls who are stationed there.

In conclusion, Mrs. Coates told her audience that she wanted every girl to realize that she was an important member of the Fellowship organization, and that she was part of a great world-wide movement toward better understanding and fellowship.

WEEKLY WARTIME FOOD HINTS

Martha Logan, Swift's famed Home Economist, whose weekly cooking column is a regular feature of this page. Look for these valuable hints every Monday

by Martha Logan

Cabbage is for Kings!

Full of Vitamin C, Cabbage has come into its own as a favourite food

First a word to the wise about cooking cabbage as a green vegetable. It will have better texture, colour and flavour (and more vitamins) if you cook it quickly in boiling water (seven minutes shredded, a little longer in sections).

But don't be content only to serve it like that . . . or as cole slaw though cole slaw is nutritionally valuable. But there are so many other good ways of enjoying cabbage. For instance:

CABBAGE ROLLS to Serve 4

½ lb. ground beef	2 tbsps. chopped onion
8 large cabbage leaves	2 tbsps. fat
1 cup cooked rice (or bread crumbs)	1 cup cooked tomatoes
1 egg, slightly beaten	¼ cup sliced onion
½ cup milk	½ bay leaf
	Salt and pepper to taste

Parboil cabbage leaves 5 minutes. Combine beef, rice, egg, milk, seasoning and 2 tbsps. onion. Place a spoonful of meat mixture in each leaf and fold to cover meat; fasten with toothpicks. Brown in fat in large pan. Add tomatoes, sliced onion and bay leaf; cover and simmer 45 minutes.

SPICY CABBAGE AND SAUSAGE CASSEROLE to serve 4

½ lb. sausage	1 cup canned tomatoes, or gravy
1 tsp. vinegar	6 soda crackers (crumbled)
1 tsp. paprika
2 cups shredded raw cabbage

Crumble sausages and panfry. Mix in vinegar, paprika and cracker crumbs. Place layer of cabbage in casserole, then layer of sausage mixture. Repeat. Add tomatoes or stock. Bake, covered, in moderate oven (350°) about 30 minutes.

Canadiens Win Twice Over Week-end

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Gold stars for distinguished deportment in week-end National Hockey League play belong today on the report cards of Montreal Canadiens in general and netminder Bill Durnan in particular.

With the 29-year-old Durnan collecting the first shutout of the 17-day-old season, Canadiens remained the only undefeated team in the league by fashioning a double killing against Detroit Red Wings, 4-1 on home ice Saturday and 2-0 at Detroit Sunday.

Montreal's feat was matched by Chicago, who walloped Leafs 4-1 at Toronto Saturday and outpointed New York Rangers 10-5 in Chicago Sunday in the season's highest scoring game Rangers, still pointless after seven starts, lost 6-2 to the fifth-place Boston Bruins at home Saturday. A total of 65,254 fans (average attendance 13,060) watched the five week-end contests.

Durnan Tops

More than any single factor, Durnan's agile goaltending paced Canadiens as they held Detroit's potent machine to one goal in 120 minutes of play. The shutout Sunday was the first against the world champions in 67 games since the 1942 league play-offs—and gave Durnan the amazing record of having allowed only eight pucks to enter his cage in six games.

Elmer Lach and Gerry Heffernan scored for Montreal in the rough game at Detroit, which saw 16 penalties bestowed. Heffernan and Lach also scored in Montreal, with the other two tallied by Ray Getliffe and Murph Chamberlain. Detroit's lone goal came from the stick of Don Grosso.

Chicago, completing a three-game climb from fifth to second place, rode to their smashing victory over Rangers on four-goal sprees in the last two periods, Cully Dahlstrom scoring three times. The other Chicago goals were evenly distributed between Bill Thoms, George Allan, Doug Bentley, Johnny Gottselig, Bill Mosienko, Mush March and Earl Seibert. Bill Gooden clicked twice for Rangers and singles went to Bryan Hextall, Dutch Hiller and Bill Warwick.

In Toronto Saturday Hawks clung to a defensive role most of the way, but fast-breaking sorties enabled them to achieve a 4-0 margin on goals by Clint Smith, Mosienko, Gottselig and Bentley before Lorne Carr found the range against Hec Highton in the Chicago nets at 11:25 of the third period.

Rangers waged stubborn battle for two periods against Boston Saturday, but third-period goals by Norm Calladine, Herb Cain and Art Jackson sealed victory for Bruins after they had taken a 3-2 lead on counters by Cowley, Flash Hollett and the younger Jackson. Hiller and Gooden scored for Rangers.

AUTO CHAMP — In 1930 Billy Arnold won the Indianapolis Memorial Day motor race and immediately catapulted to fame in the sports world. Here he is shown—now Maj. William H. Arnold—as engineering chief of one of the largest U.S. Army 8th Air Force service command repair stations in England.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

Notre Dame wound up its college football schedule Saturday with a rousing 25-6 triumph over the formidable Northwestern eleven to register eight straight victories by wide margins. The Irish will now face a non-college crew next Saturday at South Bend, Ind., in Iowa pre-flight, made up of air cadets, who have also rolled up an impressive unbeaten record in eight scheduled grid fixtures. On the following Saturday, Nov. 27, Notre Dame concludes its campaign with the Great Lakes eleven from the shores of Lake Michigan.

In Michigan's 27-0 win over Wisconsin, Elroy Mirsch, on the bench with injuries, pulled a fast one on Coach Fritz Crisler by slipping out on the field as a substitute to convert one of Michigan's touchdowns, thereby keeping a pledge he would score against the team for which he had starred last season. Then an incident occurred in Ohio State's 29-26 victory over Illinois actually some minutes after the crowd and players thought the game was over with the score tied, 26-all. A penalty was called on the final play of the 60 minutes and the teams had to be herded from the dressing rooms for a re-play in which an Ohio backfielder calmly kicked a field goal.

In the Sunday games of the U.S. pro football circuit, Detroit Lions lost another battle in succumbing to Washington 42-40. Chicago Bears trounced New York 56-7; Green Bay Packers blasted Chicago Cardinals 35-14, and Brooklyn scored 13-7 over Philadelphia-Pittsburgh Combines.

North-South Finale

The East vs. West grid classic at the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, New Year's Day, became the North vs. South finale as a result of a decision of the Pacific Coast conference Sunday at San Francisco when the University of Washington and the University of Southern California were invited to provide teams. An eastern college was not invited to take part because of travel conditions.

A member of the large R.C.A.F. contingent, announced last night as having arrived in the British Isles, was PO. Eddie Beriault of Montreal. In pre-war days, Beriault was prominent as a boxer and lost out in the final trials for selection on the Canadian Olympic team which competed in Berlin in 1936.

FO. Pamela Barton of the British Women's Auxiliary Air Force, was killed Saturday in a plane crash in Britain. Starting her golf career at 12 years of age, Miss Barton won the British and American Women's championships in both 1936 and 1939.

P.C.I. Defeats Lindsay In Exhibition

Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School football squad, coached by R. D. Brown, making their first appearance in two seasons, won a neat victory over Lindsay Collegiate in an exhibition game at Riverside Park Saturday afternoon, turning back the Scugog interscholastic outfit 17 to 6.

The Peterborough youngsters, light and young, gave a fine account of themselves in their initial contest against outside competition. In spite of a heavy field and a wet, slippery ball, they made few fumbles and ran off their plays smartly. In fact they came up with one of Peterborough Collegiate's pet touchdown specialities, a well-masked end run and a fake buck with all the smoothness and deftness of some of the best razzle-dazzle P.C.V.S. squads of the past.

Jack Sisson starred with some accurate forward passing and fine running and gave every sign of developing into a stellar back-fielder. Red Outram, playing middle wing was outstanding all the way, offensively and defensively. He hit the Lindsay line hard and ripped through for big gains. Seabrooke also played fine rugby on the line. Jack Matthews—that is a familiar name in Collegiate football circles—played centre half and did some effective kicking.

Lindsay had a little on the winners in weight and tried to cash in on it, depending largely upon a plunging game. In fact they tried too often, gambling five or six times on making their yards on the third down instead of kicking.

Batt who moved back to do the punting, Schell and Worsley on the half line and Trotter the little quarterback looked about the best of the visitors.

P.C.V.S. had an edge in the first period with the wind with them, although they only scored one point. Several times when within striking distance their attack bogged down but finally just before the period ended Matthews kicked to the dead line for a single.

There was no score in the second period. Lindsay had the benefit of the wind but made no use of it, relying on plunging and the result was most of the action during the session was between the two 25-yard line stripes.

Peterborough Collegiate took the upper hand in the third period, driving Lindsay back on the defensive. A long forward, Sisson to White, was ruled complete when the receiver was interfered with. Outram ripped through the left side of the Lindsay line to carry play to the Lindsay 25-yard line and from there Sisson tossed another forward to White who made a beautiful catch just outside the Lindsay goal line and romped over for a touchdown. The try was not converted.

After Lindsay had kicked off a long punt by Matthews drove play deep into Lindsay territory again. P.C.V.S. recovered on a fumble and started another march. They pulled off their end run from a fake buck play at this stage and it went for a big gain carrying play to the Lindsay 15-yard line. A forward pass over the goal line failed to find a target but on the next down the Peterborough youngsters came back with their fake play again and Sisson dashed around the left end of Lindsay's line for a touchdown.

Plunkett converted neatly with a goal from placement to make the score 12 to 0.

Lindsay got a break after this setback when a Collegiate play went sour and the visitors dropped on a lose ball. Schell unleashed a forward pass to Worsley for a good gain and then on plunges the invaders carried the ball to Peterborough's one-yard line as the third session ended.

When play was transferred to the other end of the field Lindsay had a first down with a yard to go. P.C.V.S. stopped the first plunge cold but Worsley slashed through on the second attempt for a major score and then converted the try to leave the count 12 to 6.

The Peterborough students came right back, however, carying the play into Lindsay territory. Then they used their fake buck play successfully for the third time, Sisson almost getting over. He was stopped outside the line however and Outram plunged through for a touchdown which was not converted, leavin the final count 17 to 6.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The exhibition given by Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School football squad in their exhibition game against Lindsay Collegiate at Riverside Park Saturday was a refreshing revelation of the fact that there is a lot of promising material at the Confederation Square knowledge factory and that the school should bounce back into the interscholastic series with a vengeance next season. They neatly and efficiently disposed of Lindsay 17 to 6 Saturday and were that much the better team on the day's play, in spite of conditions that did not favor their style. Unfortunately the Peterborough students, not having entered the Cossa series at the proper time, are not eligible for that competition this season. That is undoubtedly a good thing for the Lindsay Collegiate team which has a bye into the playoffs with the Lakeshore winners. The Peterborough team would have been grouped with the Scugog squad, were it in the race this season and on Saturday's showing would probably have tucked L.C.I. away. The majority of the boys who were in the lineup Saturday are counted on to be back in school next season and there should be no hesitation in entering them in the interscholastic race. On the stuff they showed here Saturday that is where they belong. Coach Dave Brown deserves congratulations upon the progress that has been made this season.

Hamilton Wildcats won the O.R.F.U. title Saturday by outscoring the Balmy Beach battlers 7 points to 2 and while there was a lot of luck about the major score that gave the Cats the triumph it would seem that the better team on the day's play emerged victorious. That fumble by Bark, allowing the Wildcats to dribble the loose ball over the goal line and fall on it for a touchdown was a lucky break but on their all-round playing throughout the Hamilton team had undoubtedly earned such a break. At that the Bammies came out of the affair with no glory lost. A few weeks ago they were rated as merely a good third-place team. They have surged forward to eliminate last year's champion R.C.A.F. Hurricanes and to give the Wildcats a real scare in the final game. They went down fighting too, for even after that fumble had wiped out their one-point lead and left them behind the eight-ball they finished like real battlers opening out the play with forward passes and giving the Hamilton supporters plenty to worry about in the final moments. And at that they had to go into the game without the services of Stu Scott, one of their best back-fielders and they lost Frank Stukus in the third period when he was needed most.

May Set A Record

The Brock Street Arena management is making arrangements for extra seats for tomorrow night's wrestling battle between Whipper Billy Watson the British Empire champion and the battling Jan Gotch and they are justified in planning for a big crowd. From the manner in which the fans are discussing tomorrow night's show, a new attendance record will probably be set. That is accounted for in the first place because The Whipper is a No. 1 favorite in Peterborough as he is all around the circuit. His work is so clean-cut that the fans like to watch him perform, no matter what opposition he is facing. But there is a second reason for unusual interest in this particular bout and that is the fact that everybody and his wife is going to the Arena tomorrow night in the hope of seeing Gotch trussed up like a Christmas turkey and then tossed out into the third row of seats. Compared to the Pole Katan and the rest of the Tunney badmen are popular here now. Gotch got the fans' goat several weeks ago by the deliberate attack he made on Pat Flanagan and his performance here last week against Clayborne did nothing to make him any better liked. He has a manner that irritates the crowd and local fans are looking forward to the match with Watson with a great deal of satisfaction, confident that the Whipper will hand out just what they think the Pole needs.

* * * * * *

So far as this column is concerned we are also expecting a lot of the other two bouts. Gentleman Jack Clayborne, dropped out of the top billing and eager to fight his way back there is tossed in against a newcomer in Jack Reeder an Indiana product who happens to have considerable reputation as a bad man. Everything seems to happen to the Black Comet who has been called upon to meet all the villains in the Tunney cast, and now is given the job of testing out another one of the tough babies. In the other bout Pierre De Glane a French grappler makes his Peterborough debut and he, too, is in for a lot of grief for he is matched with Dick Hogan, one of the hardest-boiled commandos of the Tunney entourage. De Glane, of course, is no novice at the mat game. He has been around a lot and he will probably have an answer for all the rough stuff the Housepainter dishes out. He had better have, for Hogan has only one style of wrestling. He believes in cutting everybody down to his size and he has had a lot of luck at it since he made his first appearance here. It all looms up like an exciting night, with probably a few surprises tossed in for good measure.

The Season Opens

Basketball has contributed more men to Canada's armed services than any other sport in Peterborough and that fact was in evidence on Saturday night when the opening double-header in the Y.M.C.A. House League competition for the Dominion Life Trophy was staged. Most of the members of previous winners of the trophy are in the navy, the army or the R.C.A.F. and as a result the opening double-header introduced more new players than has been the case in any season since the House League originated. Most of them are youngsters coming up from junior and intermediate ranks and making their first appearance in senior basketball. They should improve fast and some of them will be stars before long. Corvettes, for instance, uncovered one young player in E. Nicholls who looks like a natural scorer. He hit the hoops to the tune of 20 points and only the sharp-shooting Joe Stewart topped that effort. Stewart's team, the Algerines and Harry Currie's Destroyers were the Saturday winners, the former defeating the Corvettes while the Destroyers triumphed over the Frigates. The Military Training Centre No. 1 team will make its initial appearance Wednesday night, clashing with Pete McArthur's Fairmiles in a single game.

* * * * * *

The Flying Frenchmen are exactly that these days. Over the week-end Canadiens who are the only team in the N.H.L. to remain undefeated this season slapped down the Detroit Red Wings twice and are now three points out in front, with every intention, apparently of staying there. The Montrealers won at home Saturday night 4 to 1 and invaded Detroit Sunday to pin the Red Wings' ears back 2 to 0. Toronto Leafs who have managed to salvage only one point in their last three home games scarcely a pennant-winning clip, were beaten 4 to 1 by the Chicago Black Hawks who are now tied with them for second spot. There is nothing however in the lineup of the Leafs to suggest any reason why they shouldn't be soon down to a peg just in front of the winless New York Rangers.

Remember When-

By The Canadian Press

Ottawa Roughriders' 15-year hunt for an Interprovincial Big Four Football Union title ended 18 years ago when Riders defeated Hamilton Tigers 8-3 at the Capital. Ottawa went on to win the Canadian title that year defeating Winnipeg 24-1 in the final.

House League Basketball Gets Underway

The basketball season at the Y.M.C.A. got away to a good start Saturday night when a double-header was staged in the House League with Harry Currie's Destroyers nosing out Steve Csumrik's Frigates 20 to 16 in the first game and Joe Stewar't Algerines triumphing over Jim Ferguson's Corvettes 48 to 30 in the second fixture. The annual campaign for the Dominion Life trophy is thus under way.

The games were notable chiefly for the number of new players. Many of the members of last year's teams have gone and younger performers have moved up in their places. Some of them gave promise of developing fast and the competition should be keen.

The Destroyer-Frigate battle was a close-checking low-scoring affair with the winners triumphing because of their first period drive. They took the lead early and held it throughout, leading at the half by 14 to 8. After the rest the Csumrik crew found themselves and outscored the winners 8 to 6 in the second half, drawing to within one basket at one stage but the rally came a little too late. They could not overhaul that first period margin, although they made it close.

Currie set the pace for his team by scoring 14 points while Edger was high for the losers with three baskets.

The teams:

Destroyers (20): Currie 14, G. Seabrooke, Fallon 2, Northcutt, Shadgett 4, Alcock.

Frigates (16): Csumrik 1, Collins 2, Franks 3, Edger 6, R. Seabrooke 4, Blackburn, Santomero, Bedford.

Referee: Jack Dinsdale.

Joe Stewart sparked his Algerine team to a 48 to 30 win over the Corvettes. The captain of the winners was top scorer for the night rattling in twelve baskets for a total of 24 points, and Bill Jones came through with a handy 10 points to swell the margin.

The Corvettes came up with a find in E. Nicholls who gave Stewart a good run for scoring honors by racking up a total of 20 points, a nice performance for an initial appearance.

Algerines piled up a total of 30 to 16 in the first half but the Corvettes came back in the second half with a better performance holding the winners fairly evenly after the rest period.

The teams:

Algerines (48): J. Stewart 24, Davis 4, Jones 10, Kidd 4, Griffin 2, A. Stewart 4, Thompson.

Corvettes (30): Ferguson 6, Nicholls 20, McNaught, Brown, Shields, Rush, Howard, Smith 4.

Referee: Jack Dinsdale; umpire: S. Csumrik.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(AP).—Pigskin post-mortem: "It probably was the grand climax of an unusual season Saturday when Texas U. actually sent in the water boy—four-foot, 11-inch Billy Andrews—to kick a couple of extra points against Texas Christian University.

Some more of Saturday's strange happenings:

Lina and Army scored all-important points when their opponents' forward-pass attempts behind goal line were grounded in the end zone for safeties....One of these a season would be enough....Penn State had to recruit officials from the stands for its game with Temple when the men assigned were late in arriving....And Ohio State's player had to be called back from the dressing room to kick the field goal that gave them a 29-26 decision over Illinois....That incidentally, was the first field goal in big competition this season....What? No fifth down?

Jack Reeder Bad News For Clayborne

When Jack Reeder wrestles Jack Clayborne in the semi-final to the Watson-Gotch main bout tomorrow night at the Brock Arena, the fans will see the wrestler who became famous as the Masked Phantom all down through the South-west States last year. Reeder was so consistently rough and ruthless that the Athletic Commission of California barred him indefinitely. Since forsaking the mask Reeder has cut out some of his more obvious illegalities, but manages to make his opponents lives miserable with a variety of manoeuvres which are just on the edge of the rules. With Referee Tommy Nelson in charge of the bouts tomorrow night however it is expected that the ex-Phantom will be made to wrestle. And if he does it is certain that Gentleman Jack Clayborne can match him in that department.

With Whipper Billy Watson and Jan Gotch colliding in the main bout, the fans are due for a regular knock-em-down-drag-em-out affair. Gotch is apparently determined not to blow this important chance to move into the higher money-brackets of the mat sport. Billy Watson has been travelling at a marvellous clip of late and even the "mountain style" grappling of Gotch is not likely to stop him. But there'll be many a red-hot moment before it ends.

Pierre DeGlane, the Fighting Frenchman, will attempt the taming of Diabolical Dick Hogan in the completing bout.

Fumble Costly To Balmy Beach Drop 7-2 Verdict To Cats; Lachine Airforce Meets Hamilton

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The memory of one of football's most crushing disasters—a 63-0 verdict against Montreal Westmounts—cast its ominous shadow today as Lachine R.C.A.F. prepared to carry the Quebec Rugby Football Union banner into Grey Cup competition for the first time in six years.

While Hamilton's flying Wildcats gained ascendancy in Ontario by toppling Toronto Balmy Beach 7-2 Saturday in a gale-swept final at Hamilton's civic stadium, Lachine scuttled Montreal Navy 14-2 to qualify for the Eastern Canada final in Toronto next Saturday against Wildcats. Lachine's challenge marks the first time the Quebec Union has made threatening gestures toward the Grey Cup since Westmounts absorbed their humiliating defeat from Sarnia Imperials in 1937.

Cats Get Nod

Wildcats scarcely hope to record a score of 63-0 proportions against Lachine, but they will be overwhelmingly favored to defeat the Airmen and advance to the East-West final at Varsity Stadium Nov. 27 against Winnipeg R.C.A.F.

Beaches might have held Wildcats to a closer score Saturday except for a fourth-quarter fumble by Pte. Chad Bark, 140-pound backfielder. Bark's miscue on a windblown punt enabled Jimmy Fumio to dribble the loose ball downfield, where Sgt. Dick Groom snatched it for the touchdown.

Joe Krol kicked a single late in the game which, coupled with a second quarter single on Walter Gibb's kick, offset the two points Beaches gained on kicks by Sammy Sward and Annis Stukus.

At Montreal, touchdowns by Johnny Fripp and Bill Miles were the big blows as Lachine settled the Union's tangled leadership struggle. The result eliminated both Navy and Verdun Grads where a three-way tie might have been created had Lachine lost.

NORWEGIAN SPORTS FANS STRIKE AGAINST NAZI-PROMOTED COMPETITIONS—In spite of the many efforts of the Germans and Quislings to stop the Norwegian sports strike, the active sportsmen and fans have kept away from the stadiums. This picture was taken during a so-called big sport event at one of the main stadiums in Oslo and shows only too clearly the position of Norwegian sport today—only a few competitors and a handful of onlookers—at one of the greatest sports centres in the pre-war world.

Kingston Army Drubs St. Kitts

KINGSTON, Nov. 15—Kingston Frontenac Army took the lead in the O.H.A. senior standings with a 6-to-4 overtime victory over St. Catharines. It was the second win in two nights for the Kingston soldiers, who played their first and last league game as a unit before being disbanded by army moves on the week-end. Practically a complete new team will represent Kingston in future O.H.A. senior games, with about eight members of the present team leaving for other camps while about 15 qualified seniors are reported on their way to the Kingston area military establishments.

Kingston won Saturday night on courage. Leg weary from a trip to St. Catharines and a game in the previous 24 hours, the speedy Kingston team lacked a great deal of its dash, but revived when facing threatening defeat in overtime to wipe out a one-goal deficit in the extra play and jam in three for victory. It was a close checking game, with both teams tired, and action was added when Nels Stewart, coach of the Saints, was ordered from the bench for objecting to a decision.

Playing-coach Red Hamill led his soldiers to the win, starting plays for three overtime goals after scoring two goals earlier in the game. Hamill inspired his weary mates with his driving play, especially in the overtime after the Saints had taken the lead.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—(CP).— A year ago Frank McCool was the outstanding goalkeeper in the Alberta Service Senior Hockey League with Calgary Army. Stomach ulcers led to his discharge from the Army. A month ago McCool was the outstanding candidate for New York Rangers' goal job. Stomach ulcers forced him to refuse Lester Patrick's offer. Now McCool has taken a job as sports writer with the Calgary Albertan.

Round and About:

There's a decidedly western touch to the Ontario Hockey Association Junior "A" series this year. For instance, when Brantford Lions and St. Catharines teed off Saturday night, Lions presented five Saskatchewan boys while Saints had seven from Western Canada.... Manager Paul Parent of the Montreal R.C.A.F. Alouettes would like another defenceman like Jack Stewart. So would six N.H.L. managers.

Monday Menu:

Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson recalls that when Montreal Maroons and New York Rangers trained in Winnipeg for the 1936-37 N.H.L. season, Phil Watson made a dressing room door-to-door canvass, offering his services. Tommy Gorman turned Watson away. Lester Patrick signed the fiery Frenchman for his Rangers for $4,000. Phil rushed back to Gorman, waving the contract in front of the Maroons manager: "Patrick has just made sure of the Staney Cup! He has signed Watson!" Now Watson is playing for Gorman's Canadiens.

Incidentally:

Gnr. Harry Meynell, Brantford, Ont., jockey who rode on Ontario tracks for A. J. Halliwell, is in an army hospital at Shilo, Man., with a broken leg suffered during training....Of the 131 Canadian breds named for the 1945 running of Mrs. Orpen's Cup and Saucer in Toronto, 15 were entered by Jim Speers' Whittier Stock Farm of Winnipeg. Red Dutton, N. H. L. managing director, named a colt by Marcus Aurelius out of Lovesick.... Vancouver plans a big boxing tournament next month featuring outstanding fighters in United States' armed forces on the Pacific Coast and chosen teams from among B.C. servicemen and civilians.

Nelson Hart, London; chairman of annual committee, William F. Kelly.

Week-end Stars In The N.H.L.

(By The Canadian Press)

Bill Durnan, Canadiens' rookie goalie, who turned back 20 shots against Red Wings at Detroit last night to score the first shutout in the National Hockey League this season as Montreal scored two goals.

Hec Highton, youthful Black Hawks netminder who, despite a three-stitch face injury received in the second period when struck by a blue-line drive, stayed in the game to give one of the season's most polished performances, as Chicago beat Maple Leafs 4-1 at Toronto Saturday night.

Ken McAuley, young Ranger goalie, who kept Bruins from going above the ceiling by turning in a number of brilliant saves when they defeated New York 6-2 on home ice last night.

Cully Dahlstrom, Black Hawks, who scored three goals in the second and third periods last night as Chicago lashed New York Rangers 10-5 on home ice.

Caucus Refutes Drew Charges Ask For Action

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP) — The Ontario C.C.F. announced today that a caucus of C.C.F. members of the Ontario Legislature Saturday authorized a statement saying the Caucus "utterly repudiates" charges against the C.C.F. made by Premier Drew of Ontario in a Friday night address at an Ontario Progressive Conservative convention here.

The announcement said the caucus discussed reports of caucus committees, considered plans for any forthcoming session of the Legislature and discussed the 22-point platform on which Col. Drew was elected Premier in the Aug. 4 Provincial election. The C.C.F. announcement said none of the 22 points have been implemented.

The statement authorized following the caucus did not refer directly to Col. Drew's charges, which the statement described as a "tissue of misrepresentation and falsehood." But it denied that the C.C.F. is anti-British and clarified the party's stand in connection with use of police or military forces.

Same Rule As To-day.

"No C.C.F. government will ever take office unless it has received a democratic mandate by the votes of the Canadian people," said the statement. "If thereafter any individual or group attempts by force, or other unlawful method, to defy the wishes of the people and the constitution of Canada, they will be dealt with as lawbreakers.

"Certainly a C.C.F. Government will never use Mounted Police and armed force to suppress those who seek merely employment and freedom from expression as Col. Drews former Leader, Mr. Bennett (Viscount Bennett, former Prime Minister) did at Regina, or as Mr. Hepburn (former Ontario Premier Hepburn) did at Queen's Park without any protest from Col. Drew."

The C.C.F. had never advocated severing association with Britain or the British Commonwealth. It did propose "by democratic methods" to seek any amendments necessary to bring the British North America Act up to date and to implement necessary social and economic changes. The Act had been amended previously by Liberal and Conservative Governments and further amendments would be needed from time to time.

Speculation.

The C.C.F. had never proposed concentration camps or any other form of camps for "obstructors" of anyone else, the statement said, adding that "even Col. Drew cannot expect the C.C.F. to take responsibility for every magazine article describing what some individual imagines a C.C.F. government would do."

(In his address Col. Drew quoted the Canadian Forum, which he described as the C.C.F's monthly publication, as saying "obstructors" would be sent to "corrective institutions.")

The statement described as a "deliberate piece of misrepresentation" Col. Drew's reference to the C.C.F. as "National Socialistic." The Premier, said the statement, obvious was attempting to suggest that the C.C.F. was associated with or similar to Nazism.

"The fact is," the statement said, "that the C.C.F. was opposing Nazism at a time when Col. Drew was praising it.

"The people of Ontario may recall that in 1937, even while Hitler was fast developing his plans for world conquest, Col. Drew set himself up as an apologist for the Nazi system, and described Mussolini as a maker of miracles."

NEW CHIEF OF AIR STAFF—Air Vice Marshal Robert Leckie, C.B., D.S.O., D.F.C., has been named Chief of the Air Staff of the Royal Canadian Air Force, succeeding Air Marshal L. S. Breadner, C.B., D.S.O., who will go to England to command overseas operations of the R.C.A.F. Air Vice Marshal Leckie, who in 1920 helped in the formation of the R.C.A.F., later became Director of Training of the R.A.F. and was subsequently Air Officer Commanding the R.A.F. in the Mediterranean. Early in the war he came to Canada to assist in establishing the Commonwealth Air Training Plan. He subsequently transferred to the R.C.A.F. and became Air Member for Training in the Air Council, which post he held until his new appointment. (RCAF Photo)

Twice On Cabinet W. Finlayson Dies At Midland

MIDLAND, Nov. 15 — William Finlayson, former Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests, died at his home here Sunday after a brief illness. He was 67.

The late Mr. Finlayson served as Lands and Forests Minister under two Conservative Governments. Elevated to the Cabinet post in 1926 in the Ferguson Government, he held the position until the defeat of the Henry Government in 1934. At that time Mr. Finlayson lost his East Simcoe seat in the Legislature, but was re-elected in 1937. He resigned in 1939 to enable George Drew his leader, to enter the House as Conservative chieftain.

Mr. Finlayson was elected to the Legislature for the first time from Simcoe East in 1923. His rise in the Government ranks was rapid. During his first term he served as chairman of the public accounts committee, which was engaged in lengthy investigations, and the following term he headed the municipal committee.

His interest in the Department of Lands and Forests was well-known and appreciated by the Government heads and he was selected to head the department by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson in 1926. He continued in this portfolio during the Henry regime in the following years and until the defeat of that Government in 1934.

Development of the northern section of Ontario interested him keenly He travelled over most of the remote sections of the Province, touching often on Hudson Bay and James Bay.

Although not noted as a brilliant speaker, Mr Finlayson was known as a Government member who could state his policies directly and concisely. He was respected as a person who sought advice and as a "good listener."

He was born in Brantford, Dec. 12, 1875 son of Alexander F. Finlayson and Annie Tupper. He received his education at Wellesley Public School, Jarvis Collegiate and Osgoode Hall in Toronto, and was called to the bar in 1898. He was created a King's Counsel in 1920.

Entered Partnership

After graduating from law school Mr. Finlayson moved to Midland and entered into partnership with the late Senator Bennett. He married Ethel Sinclair in 1907, and in the same year was elected Mayor of Midland.

During the first Great War he saw three years' service in France, serving as captain with the 10th Brigade, Canadian Field Artillery. He was a member of the Masonic Order and of the Albany Club, Toronto Hunt Club and Midland Golf and Country Club.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by one son, R. W. Finlayson, Washington, D. C., and two daughter, Mrs. Aubrey Baillie and Mrs. John Eaton, both of Toronto. Funeral arrangements are not yet completed.

Lindsay Kiwanis Club Sponsors Air Cadets

LINDSAY, Nov. 15 (ENS)—Having decided to organize and sponsor a branch of the Air Cadets in Lindsay, the local Kiwanis Club has started a fund with which to secure equipment and also to locate suitable quarters for the new Squadron.

For the purpose of raising the necessary money the Kiwanis Club is bringing a radio show to the Lindsay Armoury Wednesday night, November 24, when Al. Savage, Jack Fuller, Wes McKnight, Patricia Bailey, Marjorie Daines, Clair Rouse and others will be present.

It is proposed to form the nucleus of the club on the afternoon of the 24th when the Toronto Air Cadet Precision Squadron will visit Lindsay, as well as the R.C.A.F. band at Trenton. As a special booster for the program the Club has arranged for a large array of prizes ever offered Lindsay, as attendance prizes, to the value of $400, including Victory Bonds, War Savings Certificates, $50 in silver and other gifts.

The committee of Kiwanians in charge includes: Publicity and tickets, F. W. Moynes, R. I. Moore; ticket distribution, G. C. Telford, E Roy Smith, B. L. McLean, Dr. Laidley, H. Packer; general committee, J. W. MacMillan, president, and the above committeemen.

Post-War Plans

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(CP).—George H. Dunbar, Ontario Provincial Secretary and Minister of Municipal Affairs, said last night that many Northern Ontario municipalities are preparing to establish funds with which to finance normal civic projects when the war is over, and that he was prepared to approve the granting of funds for future local undertakings.

Police Discover Starvation In Nurseries

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.— (CP).— With Quebec Health and Attorney-General's Departments continuing an investigation of Montreal district nurseries where Coroner Pierre Hebert reported six infants have become fatally ill recently, provincial police Saturday closed the Garderie (Nursery) Lemieux on Northeast Gouin Boulevard.

Six-months-old Paul Emile Lefebvrae died in hospital Saturday morning and the coroner said he was the sixth to have died in hospital after being removed from private nurseries. Disease and malnutrition—the same reason given for the other deaths—caused the Lefebvre child's death, hospital officials said.

Meanwhile, Coroner Hebert said that jury verdicts into the cause of four of the deaths will likely be delivered late this week.

Police closed the Lemieux Nursery and moved its eight charges to St. Justine Hospital late Saturday, five days after two infants—Jean Paul English and Micheline Legaalt—died after being treated at a hospital following removal from the nursery.

The Peterborough Examiner

VOL. LXXXVIII, No. 114 — MONDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1943 — PAGE NINE

Main Street Topics

SPECIAL VISITOR

Mrs. Frank McCarthy, 582 Aylmer street, told the Examiner today that when she looked out of the window this morning she saw a fat robin sitting on the lawn, so she fed it.

PASSES HIS EXAMINATIONS

Ordinary Telegraphist Chalmers "Chum" Gillespie, R.C.N.V.R., is spending two weeks furlough at his home here after passing his wireless examinations at H.M.C.S. Signal School at St. Hyacinthe, Que.

BIG JOB

Although it is not the biggest piece of machinery that the C.G.E. has shipped out, a shipment weighing 120 tons moved over the weekend, and it will be followed by another of the same weight in a few weeks. The difficulty at the factory is that the cranes are not built to handle such heavy machinery.

IT WAS REALLY COLD

Before too much complaining is done about the earliness of the apparent arrival of winter it might be wise to point out that ten years ago today the thermomenter dropped to one below zero and that ten years ago tomorrow it further nose dived to six below. Walter Peters' comment at the time that these were the lowest temperatures on record so early in November.

POSTED TO ROCKLIFFE

Sgt. Edna Borland of the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F. who has been with the Medical Inspection at Air Force Headquarters in Ottawa, has been posted to No. 7 Depot at Rockcliffe where she is in charge of the hospital clerical staff. Sgt. Borland is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Borland, George street.

HIT-AND-RUN

Harry J. Stuart, R.R. 3, Peterborough, informed the police Sunday that he had left his car parked on Romaine street and that some other driver had backed his automobile into the side of the standing machine, damaging the left front door and breaking the glass in the tail light. The other motorist drove off and so far has failed to report the accident to the police.

SHOOTS A BEAR

Herb Henry, 21, 274 Reid street, went deer hunting with Stan Curtis and another group of friends up at Gold Lake, but he made a rather different haul from what he expected. He sighted and shot a bear, which the experts have estimated weighs about 400 pounds, using buckshot. Mr. Henry is employed at the C.G.E. and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Henry.

ACT OWN PARTS

Capt. and Mrs. Gerner Sunde of Peterborough, who were recently decorated by the King of Norway, played their own parts in a radio skit on "We the People" Sunday night. This drama was the story of how the former Fern Blodgett met her husband and of their work together aboard his ship. Orson Welles also appeared on the same show.

BAD EFFECT

A number of school teachers have been remarking recently about the bad effect the wrestling matches are having on children of public school age who are being allowed to attend them. They have found that the boys are a lot rougher around the schools because they are busy demonstrating the new holds they have learned. This matter was also mentioned at the last Board of Education meeting.

CABAN DRAW WINNERS

At the draw made for the seven prizes donated by Victor Caban, Sr., on behalf of the Peterborough and District British War Victims at the Legion Hall on Friday night, the following were declared winners: 1st prize, M. F. Schaefer 98 London St., ticket No. 543; 2nd prize, E. Pruner, 478 Aylmer St., ticket No. 978; 3rd prize, Gnr. H. Beaumont, now in Italy, ticket No. 799; 4th prize, F. Burns, 69 Maple St., ticket No. 1853; 5th prize, E. Bingham, Bridgenorth, ticket No. 563; 6th prize, K. Beeles, of Brantford, ticket No. 718 and 7th prize, Mrs. J. Rody, 576 Harvey St., ticket No. 654. This draw realized over $170 towards the Christmas donations to be sent just prior to that time.

Brinton Carpet Pass $850 For War Victims

The Peterborough and District British War Victim's Fund will mark its third anniversary on December 5th, when work was commenced for the purpose of giving assistance to the victims of enemy attacks from the air.

Among all the supporters of the fund, the Brinton - Peterborough Carpet Co. Ltd. employees have taken an outstanding place, for they have through their collections on each pay day ever since that time, made no less than 64 donations, which is fairly close to one for every second week in that period.

At the outset, they had about 320 employees, which for some time has been reduced to almost half that number, but they keep right on at the job of extending a helping hand to those in need, apart from the other worthy causes they subscribe to, and their latest gift of $20.00 listed today, now gives them a total credit of $850.90 to this one cause alone.

This group is planning something extra so as to give the special donations for Christmas an extra boost, which will mark the fourth in succession to carry cheer to those afflicted at recurrance of this joyous festival commencing with the Christmas of 1940. Various employees of this firm have through this period had oversight of the collection of these gifts, the latest of these being Miss Mary Richardson.

Personal Gifts

At no time in the whole year is personal giving more prevalent than at Christmas, when friend remembers friend outside of the family circle and is glad to do it. Then again, hosts of people at this time of the year have found much pleasure in giving aid in years past to those whom misfortune has dealt hardly with, and whose outlook for something a little above the ordinary on the day itself would be barren but for their kindly thought.

It is this very thoughtfulness that proves the truth of the old adage "A friend in need is a friend indeed", and really makes of Christmas the blessed season that it has become, and this applies in particular force to those who give of their personal means to help see that the victims of bombing over Britain, particularly the children, have something extra through the greatest gift to mankind in the Birth of a Saviour on that great day.

Today there are four personal gifts noted in the receipts, all of them coming from persons who have given like manner on former occasions, two of whom in the persons of Wm. A. Taylor of Crawford's Grove, and the lady known as E.M.F. are represented for the second time in these special donations for Christmas this year, to be sent to Britain a few days before that time.

McMaster Alumni Elects Officers

The Peterborough McMaster Alumni Meet on Saturday.

The meeting took the form of a luncheon at the Empress Hotel and members from the surrounding district gathered to do honour to their Alma Mater. The president, C. S. Browne, M.A., principal of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School presided.

After the routine business, Professor A. E. Johns, M.A., Ph.D. Associate Professor of Mathematics, of the University, addressed the gathering. His topic was interesting and informative and the audience listened attentively. His subject was "Order is Heaven's First Law." He brought his hearers, in imagination, through the vast space of the universe, indicating here and there, what astronomers of the various ages were able to prove even with their primitive instruments. He showed conclusively by diagrams of the orderly behavior of the planets.

A. S. Zavitz, M.A., teacher of mathematics, fittingly thanked the speaker. Professor Watson Kirkconnell, M.A., Ph.D., head of the English department of the University was introduced to the gathering by Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, M.A., of Murray Street Baptist church. He delighted his listeners by reciting to them two of his western poems.

This was followed by the male quartette of which the Peterborough Alumni group is famous, singing two humorous selections. During the evening selections on the piano were played by Bob and Davis Graham, who were home from the University. After the program the following officers were elected for the ensuing years:

President, Rev. Malcolm McLean, M.A.; Vice-President, Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, M.A.; Secretary-Treasurer, C. Donald Munro, B.A.

FAMILY LIVES OFF LAND — The L'Heureux family at Lorretteville, Quebec, are shown here with the exception of one daughter who works in the city. Ages of the children range from two to twenty-two. Nearly all members of the huge family are able to make themselves useful on the land and around the house at the many farm chores.

Annexation Move Brings Opposition

Although nothing has been heard at the city hall of the progress of the several North Monaghan annexation proposals which have been discussed during the last few months, township reports indicate that the Claraday petition has stirred up some opposition among suburban residents who have begun a counter-movement to remain just as they are.

One of the reports intimates that even H. B. Rye may be heard from before the issue is settled. However, that is only gossip from across the Lansdowne street border.

Claraday residents who on their own initiative approached the city council for advice on the details of petitioning for incorporation with the city, apart from the proposed annexation of the western fringe, were said to have been receiving a great deal of support in their own area, but since then the movement is said to have aroused those who declare that they have no wish to join the city.

One of the strictures was to the effect that "we're not going to be dragged into the city by some of those who have electric ranges and all the rest that goes with them." At any rate, from an official source it was learned that a counter-petition is being circulated in that section, presumably for submission to the Ontario Municipal Board in the event of their holding a session in Peterborough to consider the proposals for annexation.

After Church Meetings Are Largely Attended

The "After Church" meeting being held in the Centre Theatre each Sunday evening at 8:30 p.m. are meeting with wonderful success. Every night has seen an increase in attendance and last night the theatre was packed with people standing and many unable to get in.

The gospel message "What is a Christian" by Flt. Lt. Jack Scott and the singing of Mrs. Marjorie Baster made a profound impression on those present. The committee responsible for these meetings is greatly encouraged by the support they have received from the citizns. The services are interdenominational. The meetings are planned to carry on through the winter.

Redirect Enthusiasm

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—(CP).—Air Minister Power said here yesterday that Canadians raised "hundreds of thousands of men and billions of dollars in recruiting campaigns and Victory Loan drives," and that surely "by the use of similar methods the same enthusiasm can be aroused and sustained for tasks of peace."

Youths Charged In RCMP Sweep

As an aftermath of a recent swoop by R.C.M.P. officers on city pool rooms a short time ago four young men faced charges before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

In the case of three of them who were charged with failing to produce their national registration cards when requested to do so Corp. Karl Lockwood of the Cobourg detachment of the R.C.M.P. explained that the accused were not delinquents under the military service regulatiouns.

The three who entered pleas of guilty and were fined $5 and $1.75 each were Herbert Joseph Fontaine, John R. Carter and Gordon L. Simmons.

Martin James Coughlin, who was represented by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., was charged under the National Selective Service Mobilization regulations with failing to notify the divisional registrar at Kingston of a change in his address, entered a plea of guilty.

Mr. Gordon stated that the boy's brother had notified the local post office to send accused's mail on to his new address, but that was not sufficient under the regulations. He said that the accused was on war work at Genelco.

Corp. Lockwood asked that after the case had been dealt with Coughlin should be turned over to the R.C.M.P. to be transferred to the army authorities.

At the request of Mr. Gordon sentence was deferred for a week and Coughlin was allowed out on cash bail of $100.

DeMarigny Plans To Re-wed Wife

By E. V. W. JONES
Associated Press Staff Writer

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 15.—(AP).—Shortly after it was learned that he has been invited to leave the Bahamas, Alfred de Marigny announced to-day that he and his wife, the former Nancy Oakes, would be re-married this afternoon.

The twice-divorced De Marigny said he had obtained permission for the ceremony from the Roman Catholic archbishop in charge of this diocese. He set the time as 2 p.m. and the place as the Francis Xavier church.

De Marigny was acquitted last week of the murder of his wife's millionaire father, Sir Harry Oakes.

The jury voted a unanimous recommendation that he be deported from the Bahamas.

The Governor-in-Council, at a special meeting Saturday, decided to invite De Marigny and his close friend, Marquis Georges de Visdelou, to leave the colony.

Nassau censorship prevented transmission of the information nntil this morning.

The Governor-in-Council is an executive group composed of the Governor of the Bahamas, the Duke of Windsor, Colonial officials and the Governor's advisers. The Duke himself is in the United States, and did not take part in the session.

It was learned that Mexico will be a haven for the two men if arrangements can be made. They plan to leave within the next two weeks.

De Visdelou said he was shocked by his inclusion in the order.

Nancy Oakes was depressed by the development. She said she hoped to go to New York for a surgical operation if arrangements can be made for de Marigny to accompany her.

De Marigny said he and Nancy will be wed again because "we were not married in a church before."

De Marigny declared he had offered "my military services here, in Canada and to the de Gaulle movement, but I was rejected because of my stomach trouble."

Former Trinity HeadmasterDies

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 15—(CP).—Word was received here today of the death at Market Overton, Rutlandshire, England, of Rev. Francis Creame Orchard, 70, headmaster of St. Alban's School here, from 1906 to 1913.

Born in London, England, he graduated from Emmanuel College, Cambridge, with honors in mathematics and classics, and was on the staff of Bromsgrove School, Worcestershire, before coming to Canada.

From 1913 to 1933, he was headmaster of Trinity College School in Port Hope, Ont. He was a chaplain in Florence, Italy, and one-time rector of the Cathedral at Belizle, British Honduras. He returned to England in 1941 to take up parochial work in Rutlandshire.

Besides his widow, the former Marion Leckie of Sudbury, Ont., he is survived by a son, Lt. Robert H. Orchard, of the Royal Canadian Engineers.

Times Lauds Loan

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (CP)—Success of Canada's Fifth Victory Loan prompted the New York Times to remark in an editorial yesterday that "we could study Canada's fiscal policy with profit. It's amazing record, indeed, is one of the fiscal miracles of the war," the newspaper added.

BRITISH ARE INSTRUCTED IN BAZOOKA PLAYING—Learning how to play a tune that the Nazis don't like, British soldiers in Italy are shown being instructed in the proper technique in handling a "bazooka," that Yankee rocket gun which makes a man equal a tank. An American sergeant is giving the lesson to the British soldiers.

Firemen Answered Six Fire Alarms

The firemen spent a busy weeken when they responded to six alarms for fires of minor concern in which Chief Gimblett estimated there was little damage.

Pipes in the home of T. Sargent, 488 Sherbrooke street, fell down Saturday night at 7.05; Sunday morning at 9.55 the first alarm came in from Mrs. A. Walker, 516 Park street north, when she had overheated pipes; at 10.05 there was a chimney fire at the home of J. Northey, 470 Elm street; 12.02 the department refused to answer a call to 216 Reid street, where water was leaking from an expansion tank to the furnace; a call for a house on fire from K. Freeburn, 374 Downie street, for which all the apparatus turned out, was found to be overheated pipes; a chimney fire was discovered at 10.19 p.m. at the residence of J. Bruce, 137 Rubidge street, and the last call was a false alarm from Box 36 at the corner of Weller and Walton streets.

No Hard Coal In Local Yards

Although the Canadian one-ton limit on coal deliveries has been lifted since the miners returned to work, J. E. Gregson of Peterborough Fuel and Transfer Company remarked today that the public would be well advised to accept any fuel they can get during this emergency.

"The miners' strike is over, and the necessity of the one-ton limit in this country is ended, and dealers are directed that if they have more than 15 days' supply of coal in stock they may deliver up to three tons to a customer.

The irony of that suggestion is that we have no hard coal," Mr. Gregson said.

When the strike began, the U.S. fuel controller clamped down on their exit ports, and that ban is still in effect. None of the dealers have been able to get deliveries as a result of that order, but we are expecting that it will be lifted any day now. Then it takes something like seven days for coal to reach Peterborough from the mines.

Those are the cimcumstances which we have to face, and for that reason I am telling my customers to do the best they can until deliveries begin arriving again. We have had some enquiries for coal, and because in those cases we had no anthracite the people would not take anything.

Every dealer would be glad to deliver hard coal if they had it in stock.

We had coke and a semi-anthracite we could send them, but they wouldn't take either. It sounded as if they wanted nothing but anthracite."

Whiskey Dividends

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—(AP)—The American Distilling Company in a move which it called "unusual and sensational" announced yesterday it would sell to stockholders its inventory of 245,000 barrels of whisky, fifth largest stock in the United States, thereby withdrawing from the commercial whisky industry for the duration. The company, largest independent in the business, estimated book value of the stock at $8,000,000.

BUT NOT SEEN

Contact lenses are worn by about 10,000 persons in the United States.

Sabotage

TORONTO, Nov. 15—(CP).—Two small fires which broke out within an hour early Saturday morning at Toronto Western Hospital are being investigated by the Ontario Fire Marshal's department. Both fires were said by the fire department to be of incendiary origin. On each occasion firemen quickly put down the flames, and negligible damage resulted.

U.S. Citizens Must Register

J. H. Vernor, general manager of the Western Clock Company, has been appoitned registrar of United States citizens residing in this district who are required to be enrolled for selective service before December 31, 1943.

This appointment has been announced by the U.S. Consul General. It applies to the ordinance that all male citizens of the U.S.A., not previously registered, born on or after December 31, 1898, and born on or before December 31, 1925, are required to register before the last day of the year.

All male citizens who attain 18 years of age subsequent to November 16, 1943, are required to register immediately afteir their 18th birthday.

U. S. Nationals, that is those who though not citizens of the U.S.A., owe permanent allegiance to the U.S.A., such as the Philippines, Alaska, Puerto Rico, etc., are not required to register.

Members of the armed forces, whether active or reserve, are not required to register.

All may register at the office of the Western Clock Company each week day between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. and up to noon on Saturdays. Failure to register as required subjects the person to fine or imprisonment.

Special Class Meets

WARSAW, Nov. 15 — (ENS).—At the first study session of the Leadership Training Class, sponsored by the Township S.S. area, an address was given by Rev. A. Campbell and Dr. D. Munroe. The course is "The Christian Home and the Community," and will be held every Wednesday evening in the basement of the United Church.

Canned Goods "Unfrozen" Not Delivered

Release of canned vegetables from the 'freezing' order that has been in effect for months has had no immediate reaction in some of the retail stores, according to some information received this morning.

"We haven't received supplies of the new tomatoes, green beans, pumpkins and other lines, but the people we get supplied from tell us they may let us have some by next Monday," said J. H. Jebson, of the E. F. Mason Stores. "We have been told that we may not get more than 5 p.c. of peas, while some other vegetables will range from 45 to 70 p.c., but the aggregate may not get over 25 p.c."

The order permits retail sales on the monthly basis of 10 p.c. of quota during the months from November to the end of next March, when the permitted volume of sales will be increased to 25 p.c. for April, May and June.

It is understood that the canning industry is asking the trade for reports of their sales during what is defined as a basic period from June 30, 1941, to July 1, 1942, and that quotas will be based on these facts. In the meantime retailers say they have had no definite statement as to quotas and, while that information is lacking, the schedule of 10 per cent. sales is temporarily meaningless.

Another facts affecting the retail business is that the government has requisitioned 25 p.c. of the pea pack and 50 p.c. of tomatoes.

As to retailing policy when stocks do arrive, and the 10 p.c. of quota is applied monthly, retailers say there is not much they can do until the new stock reaches their hands.

OBITUARY

The funeral will be held from the residence on Wednesday at 2 o'clock with Rev H. J. Mahoney and Rev. William MacDonald officating. Interment will be in Little Lake cemetery.

HOW TO GET A LOAN AT NEW REDUCED RATE

Household Finance cuts rate on all loans over $300—No endorsers needed—Convenient monthly instalments.

IF YOU need a loan of $350, $400 or $500, you should learn about Household's new reduced rate—2% per month on loan balances of $300 or less and 1% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $300. This new rate cuts the cost of every loan of more than $300. Our business has steadily grown as more and more families have learned about Household service. The increased business has cut our operating costs. Now we have reduced our rate so that customers may share in these savings.

What to do

You are welcome to apply for a loan of any amount from $20 to $500. Just tell us about your problem and choose a convenient payment plan. You need no endorsers or guarantors. We lend largely on character and earning ability. So if you have a steady job or other source of income, don't hesitate to come to Household. Loans are arranged privately and quickly—in 24 hours or even sooner if necessary. Monthly payments shown in the table include principal and interest. You pay nothing more. We have no hidden charges of any kind. The sooner you repay the less your loan costs.

Cash for most any purpose

You may borrow at Household to clean up old bills, pay your doctor or dentist, make repairs, help a relative—for almost any purpose. If you have a money problem, phone, write or visit Household Finance.

IN MEMORIAM

HOUGHTON— In proud memory, Arthur Houghton, C 5622, Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment Signal Corps, who passed away in Christie Street Hospital November 15, 1942, from injury received during manoeuvres, Overseas.

He suffered patiently and long.
His hope was bright, his faith was strong.
The peace of Jesus filled his breast,
And in His arms he sank to rest.
Also our younger son "Teddy" who passed away suddenly, aged four years, May, 1934.
As we loved them, so we miss them.
—Mum, Dad and family.

HOUGHTON — Corporal Arthur Houghton, He served his Country.

In loving memory of Artie, who passed away one year ago today, November 15, 1942.
Long days, long nights you bore your pain,
Waiting for cure, but all in vain,
God saw you suffering, and hills were hard to climb,
So He closed your weary eyes and whispered peace be thine.
— Lovingly remembered by Grandma, Aunt Gerite and Connie, Pontiac, Mich.

NORTHEY— In loving memory of John Garnet Northey, who passed away, November 19, 1940.
Just as when one layeth
His wornout robes away,
And taketh new ones sayeth—
These will I wear today.
So putteth by the spirit,
Lightly its garb of flesh,
And riseth to inherit,
God's robe of righteousness.
—Mother.

Hershey Bears Pulled Off Top

By The Canadian Press

Cleveland Barons came through a tough week-end to stand at the top of the American Hockey League after winning one game and tieing another, to bring their total up to 12 points.

The two lowest teams in the league —Buffalo Bisons and Providence Reds—bounced Hershey Bears off the throne and forced them into their first draw and defeat, of the season.

On Saturday night Barons laced Providence Reds 9-3. Their scoring barrage was led by Lou Trudel, Mike Shabaga and Les Cunningham each who made two counters. At the end of the second they banged home four goals in as many minutes.

Last night they tied Buffalo Bisons 3-all. Reds' Les Cunningham and Bob Dill each scored in the first period to even the score. In the second round Providence took a two-goal lead only to be tolled in the third by Barons' Morey Rimstad and Dede Klein, who evened the score.

After that smashing defeat Reds made an almost sensational comeback on home ice last night by defeating the hitherto undefeated Hershey Bears, 5-2.

Almost within the first four minutes of play Billy Hudson and George Pearson scored for Hershey while Hec Pozzo was in the penalty box.

On Saturday night Bears made their first bow of the season by having to share a game with Eddie Shore's Buffalo Bisons.

Gauthier, Mauzon and Moe tallied in the second to add three goals for Hershey and tie the score, 4-all.

Also on Saturday night Pittsburg and Indianapolis battled to a 2-2 tie at Indianapolis. Roger Bessette of Montreal played his second game of the season in Hornets' net, and stopped desperate efforts by the Caps to get back in the lead after Wendell Jamieson had tied the count at 13:03 in the final period.

Last night both these teams squared off again, only to make their third consecutive tie, with a 3-all score. It was the Caps' fifth draw in eight games this season.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, November 16

Matters of minor consequence may engage the attention on this day, according to the prevalent configurations. Routine affairs may be active in connection with contracts, agreements, writings or with agencies, publicity or promotional enterprises. In these, however, it will be necessary to keep alert and act with precaution since there are omens of fraud, errors, misrepresentation or other forms of treachery. With care and initiative, matters may move satisfactorily.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of routine affairs, with necessary activities in connection with literary, legal, publicity or advertising interests to the fore. The situation may call for vigilance and precaution since there are omens of trickery, misconstruction of contracts, trouble about signatures of other complications involving legal advice. There will be slight financial or other loss.

A child born on this day may be normally energetic and active, with literary or business talents, although it may become involved in some sort of litigation because of misunderstandings.

Grove Edges Old Boys 7-5

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 15.—Once a year there comes back to the Grove an aggregation of Old Boys of the school, and for them, as well as for the Lakefield team, the highlight of the week-end is the annual football game between the two teams.

The Old Boys brought back with them a very awe-inspiring lineup: it sounded, in fact, like a who's who of Grove footballers for the past ten years. The star of the team, quarterback "Beefy" Carr-Harris is the Grove's contribution to O.R.F.U. football. The burly sailor is playing with the Navy team at Toronto. Others to show up for the O.B.'s were Lt. John Frewer, R.C.N.V.R., O.S. John Agnew, R.C.N.V.R. LAC. Peter Perry, R.C.A.F.; Frank Maclaughlin, Jimmy Crozier, Bill McBrien, Bill Langmuir, Mike Boyer, of Toronto; Hugh Mackenzie of London; and Edgar Moore of Peterborough.

The Old Boys showed their stuff in the first quarter, when they counted a touchdown. They had plunged well down the field, and Carr-Harris took the ball over the line from about five yards out to count the first and only score for the Old Boys. The convert, an attempted placement, was blocked. Lakefield was ruled offside on the play, and the Old Boys took another crack at the point, but again it was blocked.

There was no further scoring until the next quarter, when Harris manoeuvred his team into a position from which a placement could be attempted. Harris kicked the field goal to count three points for the Grove team. Despite bitter cold and fair amounts of snow scattered on the field, both sides passed frequently. The Grove team completed many of their passes, due to the fine receiving of Langmuir and Hyde's accurate passing.

In the third quarter, the Grove team scored again, a single point, Patton went back to try a drop-kick on the Old Boys' forty yard line, the kick went too low, but it had the distance, and the ball went into touch. Taking advantage of the wind, the Old Boys were kicking frequently, Carr-Harris getting them away for fifty-five yards or more. The Grove team was not handicapped by these punts, however, as Harris in fullback position was running them back beautifully.

Going into the last quarter, and trailing by a point, the Grove team fought hard, and after a nice catch by Langmuir on a pass from Hyde, they were again in a position to score a placement. Harris tried from thirty yards out, and the kick was good, putting the Grove ahead, 7-5.

Outstanding for the Old Boys were Carr-Harris, Frewer, Moore and Maclaughlin. Frewer, playing his first football in nine years was very steady at full-back. Carr-Harris, passing and kicking as well as being the mainstay of the team defensively, played as was expected of him. Moore, the Grove team's coach, showed the boys how it should be done, and Maclaughlin was a continual threat on the line.

Stars for the School were Harris, Langmuir and Patton. It should be mentioned that most of the Grove team watched the game from the sidelines, as many of them were unable to play because of injuries.

Lakefield lineup: Snap, Mackenzie; wings, Langmuir, O'Leary; insides, Shanly, Gibaut; middles, Crang, Lyman; halves, Patton, Hyde, Gordon; quarter, Harris.

Senator Sure Baseball Rates Priority

By PAT O'BRIEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—(AP)—Processional baseball is "absolutely essential" to civilian and military morale, Senator Lucas (D.-Ill.) said today in pointing out the sport is making valuable contributions to the war effort while using an "infinitesimal" part of the nation's manpower.

"My sincere hope is that nothing will be done by any agency of the government which will in any way disturb the continuation of this great American institution," Lucas said in an address prepared for Senate delivery.

Baseball contributions to war funds total $2,128,698, he declared, and admission taxes paid the government through the national and Americans leagues for the 1942 and 1943 seasons amounted to $2,289,702.

Sales of war bonds and stamps in drives sponsored by baseball interests netted $1,027,923,225, the Senator said, and the baseball equipment fund raised $250,814 to furnish sports equipment for the men in the armed forces.

The Senator said both major leagues have reduced their travel to a minimum and could carry on to the satisfaction of the office of defence transportation.

Lucas pointed out that both England and Russia have maintained spectator sports during the war, in most instances drawing huge crowds.

Flt. Lt. Morrison, Ex-Prisoner Urges More Variety In Parcels

Flt. Lt. Don R. Morrison, D.F.C., D.F.M., of Toronto, one of Canada's best-known fighter pilots of the war, returned to England in the recent repatriation of wounded war prisoners. He came back on crutches and without his left leg, but in good health. A one-time newspaper carrier boy, he closed his books at North Toronto Collegiate to join the Air Force and came overseas as a sergeant. A deadly trigger finger brought rapid promotion, and the 22-year-old Spitfire pilot's score stood at six destroyed when he was shot down over France during a free-for-all battle last November 8. In the following story Don tells of his experiences since his Spitfire went down in flames.

By FLT. LT. DON MORRISON, D.F.C., D.F.M.

LONDON, Nov. 1. — (CP). — I didn't regain consciousness until about ten days after I was shot down and found myself in a Luftwaffe hospital in France. I wasn't feeling too well, but the German doctors had apparently done a pretty good job of surgery. The food was fair, but I remembered one day one of the nurses bringing me a big piece of black bread and blood sausage. I took one look at it and said I couldn't possibly eat it. I got white bread after that.

I was in that hospital about a month before they moved me to Germany. When I had begun to recover, they took me to the interrogation centre, where German intelligence officers give prisoners the customary questioning. I was moved from place to place quite a bit, spending some time in a prison hospital staffed by British doctors who had been captured on various fronts, and in a convalescent hospital before I was finally moved to a regular prison camp.

Own Leader

The camp itself was a big affair. Our particular site had 12 barrack blocks, each holding about 60 officers, about six to a room. The furnishing was pretty bare — three double-decker bunks, two tables and half a dozen stools. We had very little contact with the Germans themselves. The site had its senior officer—an R.A.F. group captain—and an adjutant, who were responsible for keeping things running properly and for contact between the prisoners and the Germans.

We ate very little of the German rations. Each of us got a Red Cross parcel once a week, and our families could send us four parcels direct every year. From the Germans we would get bread, potatoes (when there were any potatoes), and occasionally barley or oatmeal and margarine. Each room did its own cooking. There was only one small cooking stove (about three by two feet) for each hut, and each room made its own cooking arrangements. We drew up a roster of times at which the stove would be available to each room, allowing 30 minutes for two rooms.

In this way the inhabitants of one room would have the stove for 15 minutes exclusively, or alternately the two rooms could use the stove together for 30 minutes. It didn't work out too badly, except that the tendency was to eat far too much greasy fried food. I guess it wasn't very good for our stomachs.

Got Little Meat.

There wasn't much variety. The meat we got was usually canned bully beef or canned American chopped pork, and this got monoo-onous. We sometimes got bacon in cans from our parcels, but we never saw fresh milk or shell eggs.

I don't know what the Germans do to their black bread, but it's the heaviest stuff I ever saw. A loaf of ordinary size weighed nearly five pounds. Most of the time we toasted it, as it tasted a little better that way. We never got any flour, but sometitmes we would concoct a pie by crushing biscuits into powder and putting in a little margarine to make pastry. We got quite a few raisins in our parcels, and consequently our pies were usually raisin pies.

The truth about life in prison camp, although there's no specific complaint you can make, is that it's colorless and dreadfully monotonous. Every day is exactly the same and there is no future to look forward to except the distant future of the end of the war which, after a while, gets to be something completely unreal.

The one thing you do get is mail and it's something which gets to be unbelievably important. I'm out of the camp now, but there are many Canadians still there who will be there until the war is over and now that I'm back I'd like to do anything I can to help them. In the matter of food parcels which families send to men in prison camps, I think the important thing is that these should be as varied as possible. With our weekly Red Cross parcels and such rations as we took from the Germans, we had just about enough staple food. I won't say that we always had plenty to eat, because that wouldn't be true, but at any rate we got by.

Nevertheless, as I have said, the food was monotonous and we rather looked to our families to provide variety. For instance, pepper and spices were things we got quite a craving for—and they have the advantage that they don't take up much valuable parcel space. Another thing is dehydrated food of all kinds — apples, onions, etc. — which isn't bulky and which adds a little different touch to a meal. Good concentrated coffee which can be made with just the addition of boiling water is invaluable. And the boys can always use lots of tea. Concentrated soups, too, are excellent for these parcels.

Apart from food, there are several other little items which aren't normally thought about. For instance, gramophone needles. We got lots of records—and you can imagine how much they meant—but we barely had enough needles to play them with. When you're playing records all day, needles don't last very long. There are lots of other little things such as can-openers and pencil-sharpeners, which get to be pretty important. Fortunately, we were pretty well supplied with razor blades. Letters should be as full of news about Canada as possible and the more snapshots the better.

There was one little incident on the train going to the German port from which we left for Sweden. An elderly German major was travelling with us, and as we were approaching a town in Northern Germany he began to tell us how beautiful it was. He said he had spent most of his officer's cadetship there and had always had a great affection for it.

"Here it is now," he said, as we reached the outskirts. We looked out of the windows at it. There it was, a mass of ruins. The bombers had visited it a short time before, and there was practically nothing left.

We didn't see any British bombers ourselves, but some of the lads who came into the camp had baled out from bombers over the target during big attacks, and had to stick around while the raid went on. They said the effect of the bombings was unbelievable, and that you think the whole world is coming to an end.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

MYSTERY TO NEWCOMERS

"DUPLICATE scoring is a deep mystery to newcomers," says a letter from a lady in the "duplicate-mad" city of St. Petersburg, Fla. Her letter, which is typical of many from rubber-bridge players who go up against match-point duplicate competition, also asks, "Do you get more points for overbidding and going down, or is it better to sit back and set your opponents?" That such questions ever get asked is an indictment of duplicate tournament directors, very few of whom explain the scoring clearly, perhaps wishing the mystery to make them seem superior beings, or maybe not knowing how.

N-S Pair	E-W Pair	Final Contract	Net Score N-S	Net Score E-W
1	4	3 NT-S	600
2	6	4 ♥-S	620
3	1	4 ♠-W	700
4	3	3 NT-S		100
5	5	4 ♥-S	650
6	7	4 ♠-W	500
7	2	3 NT-S	630

"Match-point" scoring means merely that whenever you beat a pair you get a point, and whenever you tie a pair you get a half point. Now look at the scores above, made in a seven-table match-point game. From those contract scores, the match-point scores are reckoned.

The worst score for any North-South pair was that of Pair 4, which got a minus of 100. That pair beat nobody, so gets no match points. If some other North-South pair had been set more than that, Pair 4 would have beaten one pair and would have had one match-point.

The next to worst score was by North-South Pair 6, which scored only 500 by setting West. It beat one pair, so gets one match-point. Pair 1, with 600, beats two pairs, so gets two points. Pair 2 beat three pairs, so gets three points. Pair 7 beat four pairs and gets four. Pair 5 beats five pairs, so gets five. Pair 3 beat six pairs, so gets six, which is "top on the board."

Now take the East-West scores. The worst was by Pair 1 East-West, against whom North-South scored 700. So Pair 1 East-West gets no points. Next in order come East-West Pairs, 5, 2, 6, 4, 7 and 3, which get respectively 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 points.

If there had been a tie for any position, the tied pairs would have split the points. If it was for bottom, zero points, and next to bottom, one point, each would get half a point. If it was for the three and four point positions, each would get three and a half.

Does this make the idea clear? If not, just study that table a bit, and you will get it.

Prairie Farmers Buy More Cows

OTTAWA, Nov. 15 — (CP). — The Prairie Provinces, which have been chiefly interested in the production of grains and livestock, now are turning to dairy farming on a larger scale, a review of dairy statistics showed today.

The development is being encouraged by the ample stores of feed grains available in the West in recent years and improved prices for dairy products.

The figures tell the story. At June 1, Saskatchewan had 502,400 dairy cows, an increase of 7.4 per cent since the same date last year. Manitoba had 370,000 dairy cows, an increase of 7.3 per cent and Alberta 373,000, an increase of 2.5 per cent. These gains were the largest reported for the nine provinces.

Although the eastern provinces have been the main producers of cheese, butter and other dairy products, the June statistics showed that of the 3,794,700 dairy cows in Canada, 1,248,400 were located on the Prairies.

Cadets Witness Corvette Film

Sea Cadets thrilled to the exploits of Canadian sailors on a trim Corvette Sunday afternoon when they were guests of Lt.-Col. Walter Bapty, officer commanding Training Centre No. 32, who arranged for a showing of the new film, "Corvette K.225."

The invitation from the commanding officer was promptly accepted by Lieutenant Stanley Longhurst, and more than 130 of the cadets were on hand. They marched from the Market Square to the military camp with the bugle and drum corps leading. They were welcomed by Major James Turnbull, second in command, who was delegated by the commanding officer to act in his absence.

Major R. Bamsey of the Salvation Army Huts, and Sgt. Hudson of the Camp Staff operated the projector, and for upwards of two hours the cadets sat in the darkened camp theatre enjoying the film.

The picture is a remarkable portrayal of the work Corvettes, manned by Canadians, are doing in guarding the convoy lanes of the North Atlantic, and it not only has a splendid story, but plenty of blood-tingling action. "Corvette K.225" will soon be showing at local theatres.

Japanese Bomb Kills Reporter

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, South Pacific, Nov. 10.—(Delayed)—(AP).—A Japanese bomber destroyed a war correspodents' tent Nov. 7 on the Bougainville Island, killing the Australian writer, Keith Palmer, 37, and wounding four others, among them Rembert Jones of The Associated Press.

Palmer, of the Melbourne Herald and Newsweek Magazine, an American publication, was killed instantly.

Jones suffered shrapnel wounds in both feet and both legs, arm abrasions and a ruptured ear drujm The other three were hurt less seriously.

Congregation Raises $107 In Lieu Of Supper

BETHANY, Nov. 15 —(ENS). — Bethany United Church Women's Association held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. James McKinnon, with 18 in attendance. The topic was 'Resignation' and the roll call was answered with a verse of Scripture on 'Peace.'

The Scripture lesson was read by Miss Lilly Thompson and lesson thoughts were given by Mr. Waddell. The treasurer reported $37.45 on hand. A nominating committee was appointed to report at the December meeting. Money collected from the congregational canvass in lieu of fowl supper this year amounted to $187.00.

Mrs. Harvey Fallis, who has been confined to hospital for an appendix operation, was able to return home on Wednesday.

Mrs. S. Jamieson returned to her home here from a visit with friends in Cavan.

Mrs. J. Hopwood has spent a month at the home of Miss A. Sisson, but expects to leave for Kinmount early in the coming week.

Miss Hannah Staples is visiting friends in Toronto for a few days and attended the annual convention of Women's Institutes.

Murder Charge

WINNIPEG, Nov. 15.—(CP). — Charges of murder were laid Friday night against three juveniles who allegedly killed Edwin Pearse, 58, before escaping Thursday night from the Vaughan street detention home in downtown Winnipeg. Two of the youths, aged 14 and 15, were recaptured in nearby St. Boniface Friday while the other, a 17-year-old, surrendered three hours after the guard had been beaten to death.

Farmers Show Good Supply Of Fall Apples

The mid-November market Saturuay felt the first chills of the approaching winter which is unlikely to brings anything but discomfort, outside, until the later days of next March. A light snow was swirling around nine o'clock, but the morning improved sightly toward eleven and noon.

Potatoes sold at $1.85 for Chippewas to $2.10 for White Stars with an ample offering that extended down the apple and general vegetable list. The indoor market was active with eggs selling from 40 cents up to 55 cents. Some of the pullet size brought 45 cents a dozen. The general range was 48, 50, 53 and 55 cents a dozen.

Chickens were 35 cents to 37 and 38 cents, and ducks and geese at 35 cents a pound.

Apple Prices

Some of the apple quotations were: Snows $2.75 a bushel, Baxters $2.25, Talman Sweets $2.50, and McIntosh Reds $3 and also $2.75 for domestic grade. Arthur Stenson still had a few tomatoes at 60 cents a basket, carrots at 30 cents the six quart basket, parsnips 34 cents, turnips, six for 25 cents, beets 30 cents a basket and Yellow Globe Danvers onions 50 cents a basket.

Herb Doig's prices were: carrots $1.25 a bushel, turnips 75 cents a bushel, onions $2.75, cabbages 10 cents each, McIntosh Red apples, 50 cents the six quart basket.

Mr. Doig told the Examiner that vegetables growers are pooling stock for one stand whose proceeds will be given to the British War Victims Fund. He also suggested that householders who have cellar room for vegetables and are beginning the winter with light supplies should take advantage of the present market.

Claims Premier Drew Fears Defeat

OTTAWA, Nov. 15 — (CP). — David Lewis, national C.C.F. secretary describes Premier George Drew's speech attacking the C.C.F., delivered at Toronto, as "anti-British, ignorant and semi-Fascist."

In the absence of M. J. Coldwell, national C. C. F. leader, Mr. Lewis issued a statement saying Mr. Drew's speech was anti-British "because it is full of unfair distortions and, further, is a slur on the majority of the people in Britain, Australia and New Zealand, who support the Labor Parties in their countries, which have identical philosophies and programs as the C.C.F."; ignorant and semi-Fascist "because it appeals to prejudice and aims at reaction."

"Mr Drew's bitterness derives from his being thoroughly frightened," said Mr. Lewis. "His fear is a measure of the march of the Canadian people toward winning the kind of society which the C.C.F. will build."

Church Honors Cpl. B. Sanders

As the Last Post and Reveille rang out in Knox Church Sunday morning, a solemn crowd faced a young soldier's picture in the place of honor at the front of the church, as they paid a last tribute to Cpl. Bernard Sanders, who died recently on the battlefields of Italy.

The throng were paying homage not only to one soldier, but to all those who have given and will give their lives that they might continue to have comfort and security and freedom to live as they please.

Taking as his text "Ye are not your own, for ye are bought with a price." Rev. H. J. Mahoney declared that the issues which face the nation are clearly defined as Christianity versus paganism, and that as the martyrs of old laid down their lives for the survival of Christianity, so today were Canada's youth marching staunchly to the front.

Price High

"The conflict today between liberty and regimentation, involves rebellion against the materialistic conceptions of our enemies. We salute the memory of a gallant lad, who has given up his life. Great ideals survive only at great cost and it's up to us to see that this sacrifice is justified.

"Religion which costs nothing is worth nothing, and sacrifice and honor are no vain things, but the truths by which we live. It costs dearly to perpetuate any great ideal, particuarly that of democracy. It would be nice to believe that Capt. Zufelt, formerly of this parish and now in Italy, buried Cpl. Sanders, but in any event we know that a chaplain buried a Canadian whom we honor for his heroism. Think of those who through the ages have laid down their lives, and you will realize sacrifice has not been useless."

Cpl Sanders, whose wife lives at 149 Hart Avenue, transferred from the Prince of Wales Rangers to the Hastings Prince Edward unit as a reinforcement and went overseas in October 1942. At the time of his death he was attached to the British Eighth Army.

A Pimple Covered Face Kills Many a Romance

The lives of many young people are made miserable by the breaking out of pimples, and you probably know of cases where a promising romance has been spoiled by those red, white, festering and pus filled sores on the face.
The trouble is not so much physical pain, but the mental suffering caused by the embarrassing disfigurement which very often makes the sufferer ashamed to go out in company.
The quickest way to get rid of pimples is to improve the general health by a thorough cleansing of the blood.
Burdock Blood Bitters helps to cleanse the blood and with the blood cleansed the complexion should clear up.

GERMANS ADMIT 8 BREAKS IN LINES

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP)—Massed Russian attacks dented German lines in eight sectors of the long Soviet front, the Berlin radio asserted today in reports attempting to minimize Red Army successes. Russian gains were acknowledged by the German Transocean Agency in the Great Dnieper Bend southwest of Dnepropetrovsk, north of Krivoi Rog and north of Cherkassy. Other Russian successes were reported in the Zhitomir area and southwest of Kiev; near Rechitsa in the Gomel area; and in the Smolensk and Orhsa areas of the frozen north.

The German communique, broadcast immediately after the reading of a Transocean dispatch recording the Russian successes, curiously depreciated all the Russian gains heralded by the propaganda agency and pictured the battles as vast defensive successes.

Both accounts agreed that some of the most violent battles of history were in progress from the region west of Smolensk to the Dnieper Bend.

Other Red Army units operating 65 miles to the southwest captured the towns of Kaganovichi and Bazar, respectively 40 and 30 miles northeast of the rail centre of Korosten.

City By-passed.

This force apparently was aiming to by-pass Korosten to the north and slash across the Leningrd-Odessa railway, which already has been severed at Zhitomir, to effect a junction with Soviet forces deployed below Rechitsa. Korosten itself appeared doomed.

The Russian communique said 3,000 Germans had been killed in the successful flanking drive south of Gomel, and that 14 towns, including the rail station of Demekhi, 34 miles to the west, had been captured. Cutting the Gomel-Kalinkovici railway left the Gomel garrison with only one escape railway running northwest to Zholobin. Front dispatches said this line was already being hammered by Russian artillery.

West of Zhitomir, Gen. Bikolai Vatutin's forces were within striking distance of the old Polish border following the capture of the town of Baranovka, but Vatutin apparently was awaiting the outcome of fighting in the Fastov-Berdivhev salient on his southern flank before continuing his westward drive. He still had 165 miles to go before reaching the German-Russian border set up in 1941 before the German invasion of Russia.

Britons Living Like Spartans

OTTAWA, Nov. 16—(CP). — The British people have had to tighten their belts another notch during the last six months but their determination to see the war through and make a contribution to the rebuilding of peace remains unimpaired, Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, United Kingdom High Commissioner to Canada, said today at a press conference.

Mr. MacDonald returned to Ottawa last week from a five-week visit to Britain. He brought with him a report on a people cheered by recent war news but carefully avoiding over-optimism. Compared with his previous visit in the spring, he said, he found the people facing added hardships and difficulties.

"Life in Britain is thoroughly Spartan. Food rationing is severe.

"They show some signs of tiredness, as though they had not had sufficient holidays; but there is no squeak anywhere of war weariness. On the contrary, the whole people of Britain are resolved that the war shall be continued until both the Germans and the Japanese have been defeated absolutely and finally.

Chinese Pierce Japanese Lines

CHUNGKING, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Chinese high command announced tonight that its forces on the Yangtse valley front had broken into Janese lines at many points south of the river and advanced to the outskirts of Ichang and Angyang to the north.

Severe fighting was said to be in progress near Ichang, a Yangtse port which is the deepest point of Japanese penetration up the river. Equally severe fighting was reported at Angyang, less than 30 miles northeast of Ichang.

The Chinese claimed the recapture of Hokow and acknowledged the Japanese had broken into Shihmen.

About 200 miles north of Hankow along the Peiping-Hankow Railway in Southern Hunan Province, the Chinese opened an attack on the Japanese rail town of Sinyang.

5th Army Wedge Thrown Back By Counter-Attack

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Nov. 16 — (AP). — Two Nazi counter-attacks have driven American troops of the Anglo-American 5th Army from the high ground north of Venafro, Allied Headquarters announced today, while the British 8th Army won new hilltops in the eastern sector of Italy.

The German onslaughts, latest in a long series of such thrusts in the Venafro region some 25 miles inland from the Tyrrhenian coast pushed United States troops out of areas previously occupied on hills north of Venafro where a 5th Army wedge threatens the enemy

Resistance remained strong along the length of the 5th Army front in Italy, headquarters said

Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's Army won new high ground north of Atessa, 14 miles inland from the Adriatic, where his troops are approaching the Sangro River. Nearer the Adriatic 8th Army patrols made new sorties across the Sangro, feeling out the German strength.

Enemy elements were met near Montazzoli in the middle reaches of the Sangro.

Bad Weather

Land operations generally were held at a near standstill by mud and bad weather as the opposing forces girded for showdown battle.

In the air war American heavy bombers smashed at Elevsis airfield at Athens yesterday and the medium bombers hammered Kalamaki airdrome in the Athens area.

The weather prevented extensive air activity in Italy, although some sweeps were made, with an assault on a truck convoy near Ancona on the Adriatic.

Two Allied planes were lost in all activities.

Anti-Torpedo Weapon Saves Oil Tankers

LONDON, Nov. 16—(CP). — A simple anti-torpedo "secret defence weapon" for tankers was disclosed today by the Ministry of Shipping, which said it had saved thousands of gallons of gasoline and oil supplies.

Compressed air is the basis of the new system. An airline is fitted the full length of the tanker, and is connected at both ends to a compressor pump. If the ship is torpedoed, air is pumped into the damaged compartments at the desired pressure, and the inrush of water is checked and forced out.

Through the use of the compressor pump, one tanker hauling 12,000 tons of benzine and kerosene was brought 900 miles to port after being torpedoed near the bow. The tanker then returned 11,000 miles to the United States for repairs.

NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL for Australia, the Duke of Gloucester, will take over his new post next July. Australia newspapers today hailed the appointment with enthusiasm.

Fear Epidemic Starting Across Europe

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 — (CP).— The need for international cooperation to make available supplies to rescue the peoples of the liberated Europe from famine and disease is emphasized in an international Labor Office pamphlet on "The Health of Children in Occupied Europe," and published here today.

The pamphlet quotes the declaration of the United Nations Conference on Food and Agriculture that "freedom from hunger can be achieved only by urgent and concerted efforts to economize consumption, to increase supplies and to distribute them to the best advantage."

The pamphlet paints a grim picture of general conditions in the occupied countries, and describe in detail the effects of malnutrition and the lack of adequate clothing, shelter and fuel on the growing generation.

Depopulation is proceeding on a scale which threatens the occupied countries' power of recovery, the pamphlet declares pointing out that the unfavorable relation

Nazi Raiders Swoop In On Plymouth

First Air Attack On This Sector In Many Months

LONDON, Nov. 16 — (CP). — Heavy bombers of the United States 8th Air Force attacked targets in Norway this morning, it was announced. No details were disclosed.

The blow against Norway followed a foray by R.A.F. Mosquito bombers against Western Germany last night after a one-night lay-off Two Mosquitoes were lost and one fighter was missing from a night offensive patrol.

For the first time in months German raiders last night attacked Southwest England—the general area referred to by Lt.-Gen. Jacob L. Devers as the scene of the American rehearsal for the greatest military undertaking of all time — hitting a coastal town sharply with incendiaries and high explosives.

The Berlin radio said Plymouth was attacked.

Heaviest damage was done in residential section and fires were started in the industrial area by the raiders who were making their first incursion over Britain in a week Some persons were reported killed. Between 15 and 20 others believed trapped in the ruins of several homes were being sought by rescue squads today.

An Air Ministry communique said the raiders dropped bombs at scattered points over both south and southwest England early this morning, in addition to the attack on the coastal town.

Yesterday Devers paid tribute to the 3,000 farmers who with their families will leave their homes in Southwest England next month to make room for American troops. The evacuation, Devers said, was necessary "for the 'master plan that will be set in motion."

Bombs likewise fell in one or two of London's outer suburbs.

It was the first enemy aerial activity over Britain since the night of Nov. 8.

College Head Says Convert Military Camps Into Post-War Youth Training Centres

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—A proposal that military camps be used after the war as schools of citizenship training, which the youth of the United States would attend for at least six months, was advanced today by Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette College.

In these schools, he said in an address prepared for the New York Herald Tribune Forum on Current Problems, students of 17 or 18 would be trained for nation civil and military service, would study government and "be taught their duties as responsible members of a great nation."

He suggested also that "those in authority should revise the policies of government employment and promotion to the end that public service may rank a career second to none."

Forty-five speakers will appear at the two-day forum, the general theme of which is "pioneering for a civilized world."

Road To Rome Has Become Tough Route For Allies

By DON WHITEHEAD—Associated Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 5TH ARMY IN ITALY, Nov. 16—(AP).—With their advances now measured in yards instead of in miles the road to Rome has become by far the toughest route of battle of the Mediterranean theatre.

The difficulties are the weather, terrain and a well-trained, well-disciplined enemy dug into strong points of solid rock in numbers greater than the Germans have previously congregated along a single front in this theatre.

The roads to the front are slimy brown strips of mud. Each small stream is a traffic bottleneck. The Germans blew the bridges which engineers have had to replace with temporary structures. Day by day it is growing colder in the mountains where the troops are fighting tenaciously to rout the enemy out of his strongpoint.

Rain, fog and low hanging clouds which reduce the visibility have grounded Allied aircraft much of the time.

Enemy communications are not hampered by demolitions. Their troops are in well-prepared positions which give them shelter from the elements. Some of their outposts have been found even to have rugs on the floors and large stocks of water, food and small luxuries.

Since they are attacking, the Allied troops cannot prepare shelters to protect them from the rain, cold and exposure they are enduring in open slit trenches and in rock crannies in the mountain.

Because of the apparent quality and numbers of enemy troops, the Allies are unable to crack the Gargliamo River line by sheer weight of numbers.

The terrain favors the defenders, for they hold the heights and Allied troops must always fight their way up slopes in the face of direct enemy fire.

The weather, by grounding the fighters and bombers, is of distinct advantage to the Germans, freeing them from the steady hammering of the lines and communications that cost them so heavily during the summer and early autumn.

The slow Allied advance meanwhile is giving the enemy time to prepare additional defences beyond Cassino, a hinge of the Garigliano line.

HOLD ISLAND OF LEROS

CAIRO—British troops in fierce hand-to-hand fighting "continue to hold" the Germans on the island of Leros, despite "heavy and incessant bombing attacks" by German planes, a Middle East communique declared today.

Urges Canada Aid Australia

Written For The Canadian Press
By A. R. FORD

MELBOURNE, Nov. 16 — (CP Cable). —It will soon be two years since Japan hit at the United States Hawaiian naval base at Pearl Harbor and the Japanese army and navy started its march south which almost reached the gates of Australia before it was stemmed.

One of the first things which impresses one on landing in Australia is evidence of how real was the danger of invasion and preparations which Australia had to make to meet the Japanese on her own soil.

Stores of Sydney and Newcastle were all boarded up at the time and still are. Big double busses were camouflaged, ready at any time to transport troops to invasion points. Everywhere in the parks and on all factory grounds air raid shelters have been dug.

The coast shore bristled with guns.

When the situation was at its worst many people sent their families inland and arrangements had been made in case of armed invasion along the coast to evacuate cities. The civilian population with some guns was prepared to fight it out with the Japanese in guerilla war for defence of their homes and their country.

40 Lives Lost

Twice Sydney was attacked by the Japanese and once Newcastle. Three Japanese baby submarines succeeded in sneaking into Sydney harbor. A training ship was sunk and 40 lives were lost. Again a number of shells were thrown into Sydney from a large submarine from the sea. There was some damage but none of it serious Newcastle one night was also shelled by a Japanese submarine, possibly the same one. The target was a great steel works but the shells hit in the plant yards and did no damage. Several shells did not explode.

Of course Darwin on the north has suffered severely from Japanese air attacks. That city still has an occasional raid.

The battle of the Coral Sea is regarded here as the turning point of the Pacific war. It was this setback the Japanese received which stopped their southern march and saved Australia from actual invasion. But if danger of invasion is

Petain Incident Worries Nazis

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—The German radio hinted obscurely today at "certain inner political tendencies in France," apparently in connection with Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, who is reported to have suffered a stroke or an attack by Partisans.

Berlin apparently felt it necessary to recognize these reports, but did so in mysterious language. A broadcast asserted:

"In regard to rumors spread abroad concerning the background of the allegedly cancelled broadcast speech of French Chief of State Marshal Petain, Berlin political circles declared Tuesday noon that there seemed to be an indication of certain inner political tendencies in France, on which, however, Berlin did not desire to define its attitude."

Vichy reports said Petain had been scheduled to make a speech Saturday. The speech was not given, and Petain failed to appear on a balcony before expectant crowds on Sunday, these dispatches said. The newspaper La Suisse in Geneva said editorially yesterday it had reliable information that Petain had suffered a stroke. Another unverified report said he had been attacked by "Partisans."

Sir Harry Oakes Leaves 25 Millions

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 16 — (CP)—First official intimation of the size of the fortune left by Sir Harry Oakes, Canadian mining millionaire, came today as new uncertainties piled up for dapper Alfred de Marigny, recently acquitted on charges of killing his wealthy father-in-law.

Sir Harry's fortune, according to Walter Foskett, attorney for the family, amounts to about $25,000,000, and he termed privates estimates that have ranged as high as $200,000,000 "fantastic." He said Sir Harry owned only 40 per cent of the stock of the wealthy Lake Shore gold mine in Ontario.

Sir Harry's Nassau holdings were valued at $14,000,000 in an appraisal filed here after his death.

Meanwhile, word was awaited from De Marigny on what he planned to do concerning the surprise cancellation of his re-marriage to his wife Nancy and his official invitation to leave the island.

De Marigny announced yesterday morning he and his wife would be re-married at 2 p.m. He explained their marriage in New York in 1942 was a civil ceremony.

Father Bonaventure, who was to have performed the ceremony, waited at the church for little over an hour after the appointed time. Then he talked to De Marigny on the telephone, after which he announced:

"There will be no wedding today. He said he is ill."

Friends of De Marigny's wife, however, indicated she was taken by surprise by the marriage plans and wanted more time to think over the idea. She is a Protestant and he is Catholic.

Russians Have 165 Miles More To Go

Nazis Being Pushed Steadily Back To Starting Point

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The retreating Nazis in the Kiev and Zhitomir sector of the eastern front have only 165 miles farther to fall back before they will again be where they began their ill-fated attack against the Soviet Union on June 21, 1941.

That historic Hitlerian double-cross was launched at the Russo-German border set up through Poland before Soviet territory was invaded. Not until the Red Armies have chased the enemy across this line will they feel that they have made good their oath to drive the invaders from every inch of the Soviet soil. There is no indication that the recent tripartite conference in Moscow altered Russia's claim to the lands she occupied when Hitler attacked her.

15 Miles Daily

At the rate the racing Reds have been travelling recently — about 15 miles a day — they theoretically could shoot a column through the old demarcation line through Poland in about eleven days. Actually, of course, that is not the way such an immense battle works. The Muscovites are developing their other offensives both north and south of the Kiev secto for the double purpose of pocketing and annihilating Germans and of bringing their long front back into alignment.

It's important to note the Germans still are counter-attacking heavily in the Dnieper-bend trap in an attempt to keep the Reds from closing this trap on the large number of Nazi troops still in that area. Such counter-attacks also are calculated to slow down the Russian drive in the Kiev sector by threatening the Red flank. The ability of the Hitlerites to stage such counter-thrusts should dispel any notion that they are a crushed and routed army.

However, this titanic battle, which extends for some 800 miles north and south as the crow flies, undoubtedly has reached a crisis. The offensives which now are being pushed in the sectors of Krivoi Rog, Kiev, Korosten, Gomel and Nevel, bid fair to produce some great and bloody changes in the near future.

The way things look, the Red armies are set for another winter of fierce attack. Once the ground is frozen they will be able to keep going until the spring thaws set in. That fact holds sorry prospects for the Nazis.

Housing Problems Haunt Haligonians

HALIFAX, Nov. 16 — (CP). — One thing just leads to another in Halifax. City Hall officials reported to-day that a family here had refused to send their two children to school because the landlord of the house they are sub-letting had shut off the water supply. They can't wash the family clothes, and the laundries aren't accepting any new clients.

An eviction order had been served on the sub-tenants previously, but they refused to leave.

Would Extend Housing Act

Foresees Post-War Spurt In Building

TORONTO, Nov. 16 — (CP). — George E. Fisher, president of the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating, today said the scope of the National Housing Act should be broadened to provide the greatest incentive to Canadians for home ownership and its benefits should be extended to the rural areas of Canada.

In an address, prepared for delivery at the 11th annual meeting of the association, he said the rehabilitation of men and women from the armed forces and of the workers who have been shuffled about to points of employment concentration during wartime constitutes a great problem.

"Quite apart from the economic question of their re-employment is need for adequate housing."

He said that at an executive meeting earlier this year, a committee was formed which since has been in touch with Federal authorities requesting that N. H. A. be sustained after the war and that the home improvement plan be reinstated.

Mr. Fisher said he firmly believes "that the greatest business expansion in our industry can and will come from the rural areas and this period of expansion should last for years."

First it is an undeveloped field ... and secondly farmers have a sustained future at least until devastated Europe is rehabilitated and back to producing its own food."

Greek Guerillas Turn Tide In Surprise Night Raid Against Huns On Leros Isle

Attack In Rear Of Nazi Paratroopers To Aid British Garrison And Improve Situation On Tiny Island

BODRUM, Turkey, Nov. 16—(AP).—Fierce Greek Andarts, storming ashore on Leros last Friday to strike the first major Greek blow of revenge against the Nazis, reversed the situation on the besieged Dodecanese Island just as the German assault had about succeded, refugeees arriving here said today.

Swinging directly into battle the Greeks were said to have gained control of the landing beaches, attacked the Nazis from the rear and flung back approximately 500 German parachutists and 600 regular infantrymen.

The Andarts struck after successive waves of German reinforcements from both sea and air had pinched the British defenders down to narrow sectors of the island, the refugees said.

They added that the Andarts were put ashore by a destroyer which had made the dangerous run to the island under cover of darkness. (The dispatch did not have the nationality of the warship.)

(Cairo dispatches said yesterday the situation on Leros had improved slightly and that the Germans had suffered many dead and wounded.)

Reports reaching Bodrum put the German dead at 2,000, but the Nazis were believed to be holding one of their beachheads.

The Andarts are a Greek military and political organization estimated to number about 30,000 fighting men, groups of which have been waging guerilla warfare against the Nazis on the Greek mainland.

Allied Planes Bomb Athens

ALGIERS, Nov. 1 — (AP). — American heavy and medium bombers have blasted airfields at Athens, it was announced to-day as bad weather continued to curb land operations in Italy.

Two enemy counter-attacks forced the Anglo-American 5th Army to yield a hill north of Venafro, Headquarters said.

Elevsis airfield at Athens was hit by the heavy bombers, while the mediums pounded the Kalamaki airdrome.

It was revealed that units of the reorganized Yugoslav Air Force, now trained as heavy bomber crews, flew with the Americans to bomb the Elevsis airfield.

The Yugoslavs are flying four-engined bombers given them by the United States Government under lease-lend. They operate as a Yugoslav Air Force under their own command.

Duke Gloucester To Go To Australia Post

By J. E. HOLDSWORTH
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Nov. 16.—(CP Cable.)—The first important official act in Australia of the Duke of Gloucester when he assumes office next July as Governor-General will probably be the opening of a new session of the Commonwealth Parliament.

This will be the first ceremonial opening of Parliament since the war began. After the ceremony and completion of formalities associated with assumpton of office, it is expected the Duke will make a tour of Australia, accompanied by the Duchess.

It was explained to-day that wartime exigencies may make final decision of the date of the Duke's departure from England almost a last-minute matter dependent on transport and safety of travel.

Australia's newspapers to-day continued to hail the Duke's appointment, announced from Buckingham Palace, London, to-day.

The Melbourne Argus said the "appointment of the king's brother as the official head of the Commonwealth will be regarded as a signal honor by the Australian people."

The Sydney Sun, recalling that it was Prime Minister Joseph Lyon's government which in 1938 obtained the king's approval of the Duke of Kent's appointment as Governor-General while the Curtin Labor government was responsible for the Duke of Gloucester's choice, added:

"Thus both sides of Parliament have been linked in the desire to secure royal representation. In the past whatever talk there has been of 'cutting the painter' and of outworn Imperial nexus and general wrongness of the Imperial concept has come from the radical wing of Labor. But it would be surprising to-day to discover any dissent within the party from Mr. Curtin's invitation to the Duke of Gloucester."

The Duke of Kent, who was later killed in an air accident, did not assume office because of the war in which he took over duties with the Royal Air Force.

CLOTHES RESTRICTED

The supply of clothes available for British civilians is about half what it was before the war. Clothes are strictly rationed and are cut on austerity lines.

Lebanon Upset Still Unsettled

LONDON, Nov. 16 —(CP)— The French-installed Lebanese government asked storekeepers to re-open their shops today, the Beirut radio said, as Gen. Georges Catroux, emissary of the French committee of National Liberation, sought to settle the dispute over the little republic's sovereignty.

The broadcast said the appeal was made to merchants to resume business "in order to restore normal conditions with the lease possible delay."

From other countries in the Far East, meanwhile, appeals on behalf of Lebanon continued. A Baghdad dispatch said that Wendell L. Willkie's support for Lebanon, "in the interests of democracy, the Allies and the aims of the United Nations," had been asked in a cable sent by the president of the Iraq senate.

The French on the other hand claimed Lebanese and Syrian support. Radio France in Algiers said that "a big delegation of Lebanese and Syrians of all political and religious groups" expressed to the governor general of French West Africa at Dakar yesterday "assurance of their attachment to the motherland and the French Committee of National Liberation and their wish that the work of collaboration, undertaken by France in Lebanon should be continued."

Fills Vacancy.

5. Air Vice-Marshal J. L. E. A. de Niverville, 46, Montreal, present air officer commanding No. 3 Air Training Command at Montreal, becomes air member for training, filling a vacancy created by the recently-announced appointment of Air Vice-Marshal Robert Leckie as chief of air staff, succeeding Air Marshal Breadner.

6. Group Capt. Adelad Raymond, Montreal, present commanding officer of No. 2 Service Flying Traiping School at Nearby Uplands, becomes commander of No. 3 training command with rank of air commodore, succeeding Air Vice-Marshal De Niverville.

"All of these changes will have been accomplished by the first of the year," said the R.C.A.F. announcement.

The retirements:

1. Air Vice-Marshal G. M. Croil, 50, native of Milwaukee, Wis., Inspector General of the R.C.A.F.

2. Air Vice-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, 53, Killarnee, Man., and Vancouver Deputy Inspector-General for Eastern Canada.

3. Air Vice-marshall A. A. L. Cuffe, 48, native of Ireland, Deputy Inspector-General for Western Canada.

Relax A Little

In the air force statement Air Minister Power said that with the "end of the development and expansion stage of the air training plan and the home war establishment," the need for constant inspection has disappeared.

"Inspections will still continue to be carried on (a) by commands and (b) whenever considered necessary in specific cases by officers specially designated by the Minister," said the statement. "The Director-General of Economy, Air Vice-Marshal A. B. Shearer, will normally be designated."

The statement said it is desired to make greater use of the pre-war civilian experience of certain officers, like the air vice-marshal.

Both had been successful businessmen before joining the R.C.A.F., and it was felt their experience would prove of advantage to the R.C.A.F. in their new administrative posts.

U-Boat Getaway

Tito's Partisans Start Retreat

LONDON, Nov. 16—(CP).—Evacuation of the Peljeslac Peninsula in southern Dalmatia under heavy German pressure and a general retreat before reinforced Nazi forces in Macedonia was acknowledged today by the Yugoslav national liberation army of Gen. Josip Broz (Tito).

The Germans apparently were attacking on several fronts successfully, but Tito reported in a broadcast communique that his forces had checked a Nazi drive in eastern Bosnia and that Partisan forces had captured two enemy positions in Slovenia.

The bulletin also reported that bitter fighting between Tito's Partisans and German forces allegedly reinforced by Nedic and Mihailovic Chetniks continued in Serbia.

now passed, Australia is still on the alert.

The people of the Commonwealth have not forgotten the shock they received when they found Singapore had fallen and the British navy was helpless to protect them. They found themselves almost without defences, the cream of their armies and airmen in Africa and a powerful and ruthless enemy rapidly approaching their shores.

It is hard for an outsider to-day to realize the helpless feeling of Australia at that time and the natural enthusiasm in welcoming the Americans with open arms.

The Australians up until Pearl Harbor and Singapore was insular in outlook. The shock the people received changed their whole viewpoint of world affairs. Australia realized to-day that the world is one. They cannot live happily on their own continent free from the alarms of the rest of the world. They have become as never before international in their outlook.

Lok To Canada.

They are of course vitally interested in the future of the Pacific and the Orient. They are hoping that Canada will recognize its responsibilities in the Pacific and will join with Australia, New Jealand, Britain and the United States in bringing about a permanent peace in the Pacific.

One of the first questions I am asked is "Will Canada take an interest in Pacific problems in the future?"

I am convinced that if it is military feasible Canada should send a force to the Pacific, even if only a token force. Psychologically it would have a tremendous effect. The Australians like the Americans. They are grateful to them. But they would feel just a little better if they had Canadians, members like them of the British Commonwealth, fighting beside them.

It would be a gesture which would make for wonderful goodwill and would pay dividends in the postwar world. Presence of four Canadian officers in the British military mission head by Maj.-Gen J. H. Lethbridge which now is in Australia has created a most favorable impression on Australian public opinion.

Bag Ship A Day In Solomons New Navy Plan

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 16—(AP)—Allied bombers, constantly searching for Japanese warships in general—and cruisers in particular—have sunk or damaged better than one a day during the northern Solomons offensive.

On Oct. 12, a record load of 350 tons hit Rabaul, New Britain. It was the opening blow of the current drive. Three destroyers were among the ships sunk during the raid.

To date, beginning with that raid, Allied fliers in their favorite hunting ground for enemy warships—Rabaul and Kavieng, New Ireland—have sunk or damaged more than 40.

Three cruisers, at least 10 destroyers and a gunboat have been sunk. At least 11 cruisers, 15 destroyers, a submarine, a submarine tender, and a Corvette have been damaged. Two additional cruisers were listed as probably hit at Rabaul.

The air blows to the cruisers have been so heavy that United States Navy Secretary Frank Knox said Japan has been seriously impaired in that category for future operations in the Rabaul area.

An Allied headquarters spokesman, in commenting on the blows to the cruisers, has pointed out Japan lacks facilities in the Rabaul-Kavieng area for the repair of such vital ships.

Losing Weight

"Other phenomena, the full effects of which will only gradually become evident," it says, "are also developing. The incidence of serious diseases is increasing, epidemics are already making their appearance, and there is a general decline in health due to malnutrition and undernourishment."

Throughout occupied Europe food theoretically allowed under a rationing system cannot be regularly obtained, the pamphlet says. The black market, moreover is a source of supply for fewer and fewer people because of the dwindling stocks and rising prices.

The effects of more than four years of war have been felt most severely by the children, the pamphlet makes clear. Boys and girls are steadily losing weight, a typical survey in Belgium showing that 80 per cent of children had lost from 11 to 13 pounds.

Secret Weapons Epidemic Nazi Pipedream

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP) — The recent flurry of German "secret-weapon" stories—the latest a Stockholm report of a rocket-propelled bomber—is regarded here as a manoeuvre by the Nazis to extricate themselves from a difficult propaganda tangle into which the Allied air attacks have landed them.

As authoritatively traced the German propagandists entangled themselves this way:—

When the bombing of Germany began, the Nazis said they did not amount to much. People outside of the bombed places had no immediate way of learning the facts.

But when the Allies started bombing the occupied countries, the Germans reversed their tune in an effort to arouse the subjected peoples against the Allies and exaggerated the effects of the bombing.

Then obliteration raids on the Reich began with results which could not be concealed because the nation's economy was jarred and the migration of many thousands of people was necessitated.

The home propaganda policy was then reversed to that in the occupied conntries.

More Alarm.

The German people became so frightened, however, that instead of being encouraged, they became increasingly alarmed.

So with the recent heavy Allied raids—in the course of which the important Ruhr city of Kassel was destroyed, as was Hamburg — the Nazis went back to saying the Allied bombers hadn't reached their objectives or that the defences had broken up the enemy informations.

In view of the ineffectiveness of this propaganda, a barrage of "secret defensive weapon" stories began.

As these proved ineffective, the Germans announced they were deploying interceptor groups so that fewer planes could protect more territory, and were introducing piece-work, farming-out manufacture so more planes could be built.

The campaign was bolstered, meanwhile, by the "secret offensive weapon" campaign, and by promises of new offensives by both the land forces and submarines.

Curtin Welcomes Editors From Canada

MELBOURNE, Nov. 16 — (CP Cable). — Prime Minister Curtin Monday officially extended Australia's welcome to a group of three Canadian newspapermen at a civic reception given by the Lord Mayor of Melbourne.

Mr. Curtin said that the Canadians—A. R. Ford, editor of the London, Ont., Free Press, and president of The Canadian Press, B. T. Richardson of the Winnipeg Free Press, and Lorenzo Pare of L'Action Catholique, Quebec—were in the land of friends and kinsmen.

"Whatever they desire to discover it will be our pleasure as well as our duty to show them," the Prime Minister said, "We have no secrets from them."

Mr. Curtin said the members of the Canadian newspaper delegation had apparently been deeply impressed by the concentration and devotion of the people of Australia to the task which is also the task of Canadians, winning the war.

Visits like this one went to show what was the very essence of the British Empire system of government, the best system in the world, based upon mutual intercourse and association, not regulated in any rigid code or set of regulations, but having as its centre the august symbolism of His Majesty the King, the Prime Minister said.

The Empire Association is an association of people and the governments are completely autonomous, Mr. Curtin said.
mous, Mr. Curtin said, adding:

"Our assiciation is not easy to describe. It is, I think, an instinctive association which has been sanctified by blood, promoted by intellectual agreement and enriched by a conception of duty founded on agreement and consent and ennobled by a higher perception of duty to the world."

HAVELOCK

Speaker Shows Importance Of WMS Groups

HAVELOCK, Nov. 16—(ENS). — Using as a subject "Is it worth while to belong to the Women's Missionary Society?" Mrs. F. Harris of Peterborough spoke at the United Church on Sunday evening for the society's autumn thankoffering service. A good number of members, life members, and associate helpers and visitors attended from the Anglican and Presbyterian Churches.

The speaker traced the origin of the society since its founding in Prince Edward Island in 1825 by Mrs. D. Pidgeon to help women and children in non-Christian lands, and the society as named "the Princetown Female Society for the Propagation of the Gospel and other Religious Purposes." Statistics of 1941 show there are now 163,950 members of W.M.S. groups and $697,000 their annual givings.

Besides the usual work the W.M.S. has carried on in the past, they have adopted war work, particularly in the new wartime housing sections. In Peterborough, there are over 500 such new homes, and Miss Marion Anglin did efficient work. Of the 750,000 inhabitants across Canada in these new areas, only 5 per cent are linked up with the church in their community, Mrs. Harris reported.

Forgetting Church.

"The younger generation is growing into a class of non-churchgoers, and one of the main reasons is due to shift-work and Sunday employment. In Canada, the W.M.S. has 11 small hospitals, located mostly in isolated areas, where the keyword is friendliness."

The choir sang "Be Strong in the Lord" and a quartette composed of Misses Anderson, Forsythe, Wilkinson, and McCutcheon sang "Deep in Their Quietness." The thankoffering amounted to over $40, and goes toward the allocation.

Pictures Exhibited Of Damaged Roof

COBOURG, Nov. 16 — (ENS) — Hearing of the $2,050 damage action brought by Thomas E. Hall of Oshawa against the Campbellford Cloth Company started late in the afternoon before Mr. Justice Chevrier. Plaintiff seeks the amount claimed as a result of damages sustained by his property last February 8 when the roofs and walls of the building caved in. Plaintiff alleged that according to the lease, the lessee was responsible for damages caused to the property except for ordinary wear and tear, fire, etc. He asserted further that the defendant moved out in August when the lease expired, without making the repairs. Failure of defendants to shove the snow off the roof caused it to collapse, plaintiff said.

Only witness heard during the afternoon was Frank Linton, Campbellford photographer, who was examined extensively by both counsel. Linton testified that he took pictures of the rink soon after it collapsed last February.

Witness identified a number of photographs which he had taken. He estimated that there were between 16 and 20 inches of snow on the top of the roof and that the winter had been marked by abnormally deep snow. Defence counsel objected to the witness pointing out that many Campbellford residents had shovelled snow from their roof tops last winter, on the grounds that it was no indication that the defendant was negligent just because other residents had shovelled the snow from their roofs. The objection was sustained.

The case continues today.

The Danger of Coughs Among the Children

In young children a cold or cough is not a thing to be disregarded, as it is often of a grave matter, and unless attended to immediately may, eventually, cause serious trouble.

On the first sign of a cough or cold the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy to help get rid of the trouble.

Its promptness and effectiveness in loosening the phlegm, and stimulating the bronchial organs is such that the cough may be checked before anything of a serious nature sets in.

Hull Reports On Baltic States

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—United States State Secretary Cordell Hull broke precedent by travelling 26,000 miles for the Moscow Conference and he'll break it again Thursday with a two-mile trip from the State Department to Capitol Hill.

Hull will be the first member of the United States Cabinet ever to speak before a joint session of Congress, which wants to hear a first-hand account of the historic Moscow pact.

Judging from the State Secretary's remarks to a news conference yesterday, he will emphasize this point:

A proposed Allied commission to maintain order in liberated countries until these countries can hold plebiscites to choose their rulers. Hull bore down on this point yesterday. He said all countries would be allowed to choose their own governments at free elections, including the Baltic and Balkan states.

This reference to the future of the tiny Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania collided sharply with the oft-published Russian views that for other countries to discuss their status would be similar to an international conference on the future of California.

The states were incorporated into the Soviet Union before Germany attacked Russia in 1941.

GORE'S LANDING

The group leader was Miss Bella Smart and the theme for the devotional period was "The Bible—the Foundation Stone of the New Order." Readings were given by Mrs. Blakely and Miss Fowlie and Mrs. F. W. Pratt. An article from the Blue Book was read by Mrs Wallace Pratt, on the work in Round Lake, Sask. Miss Smart read a chapter from the study book.

They decided to serve lunch at the December meeting.

Oil Stove On Fire

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 16 (ENS) —Firemen yesterday received a call to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Oliver, Oak street where an oil stove had become flooded and was shooting flames dnageroulsy near to the ceiling. Fire Chief Williams and several of his men entered, extinguishers in hand, but all they were required to do was make a simple adjustment on the controls that governed the flow of oil while Mrs. Oliver watched from a safe distance. The owner was then given a bit of supplementary advice on the operation of her stove.

Gasoline Users Promised No Increase

CLARKSON, Ont., Nov. 16.—(CP).— Canada's crude oil supply position is more critical to-day than it has been since the beginning of the war and there is no hope for the immediate relief of domestic users of gasoline, G. R. Cottrelle, Oil Controller of Canada, said in an address prepared for delivery here yesterday at the opening of a $9,000,000 British-American Oil Co. refinery. Clarkson is 15 miles from Toronto.

Truck Damages Bus

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 16.—(ENS).—Slippery roads on Saturday morning caused a highway accident at the corner of Strickland and Queen streets when a truck skidded into the back of a Ferguson bus as it stopped to take on passengers. The truck, owned by A. J. Horack, of Whitby, was driven by J. D. Goulah, and was on its way to the Law construction gravel job on the Apsley highway. George Hutt, of Lakefield, was driving the bus.

About $50 damage was done to the bus when the panelling in the back was smashed in with about $15 damage to the truck.

Chief Garnet Samis investigated.

Legion Supports Corvette Fund

The November meeting of the Canadian Legion was held Monday night with President George Gimblett in the chair.

Harold Yelland stated that eight ailing members had been visited since our October meeting. Robert Hotrum reported that 179 lots of cigarettes, or a total of 53,700, had been forwarded overseas during the past month and that for the preceding fifteen months 1,422 lots amounting to 426,000 cigarettes have gone to the boys overseas. On motion of T. Guerin and Allan Wade, a vote of thanks was tendered to Robert and his assistants on the success of the various bingos during the month of October.

It was decided on motion of J. A. Hope and J. Paisley, that a contribution of $100 be made by the Legion to the fund now being collected for supplying comforts to the personnel of the Corvette Peterborough. On motion of J. Paisley and A. Moscrop, the Legion will be represented at the launching ceremonies by President George Gimblett and Immediate Past President Max Sloan.

At the December monthly meeting, the members were informed a Turkey and Chicken raffle will be held. The unofficial gross figures on the sale of Poppies and Wreaths for the Poppy Fund were given as $2,315. A letter of appreciation will be forwarded to Victor Caban for his efforts in realizing funds for the British War Victims' Fund, through the medium of various draws conducted by him. Six members were initiated at the meeting.

An honor roll is being compiled of Legion members, and information is required from any member who has a son or daughter serving in the active services, also branch of service in which serving.

Von Papen Returns To Tell Der Fuehrer

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 — (AP).—The Budapest radio said to-day it had been confirmed in Berlin that Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, had left Ankara en route for Germany to report on recent political developments in the Middle East.

"The reason for the journey," said the broadcast, recorded by U.S. Government monitors, "is stated to be a discussion of the latest political developments in the war, connected with talks held by British circles in Cairo."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Turkish Foreign Minister Numan Menemencioglu met recently in Cairo. The nature of their talks has not been disclosed, but the conference stirred speculation concerning a possible change in Turkey's status with relation to the war.

DYNAFUEL

is Sunoco's great contribution to United Nations' mastery of the skies

50% more powerful than U. S. standard 100-octane test fuel

It's not by chance that United Nations' fliers have won such complete mastery of the air. Our men are better trained—their planes are better armed—aiming devices and bombsights are unexcelled.

But another factor of tremendous importance is the fighting fuel that powers our planes. Every week, millions of gallons of high-octane aviation fuel flow from Sunoco refineries to the battlefronts of the world.

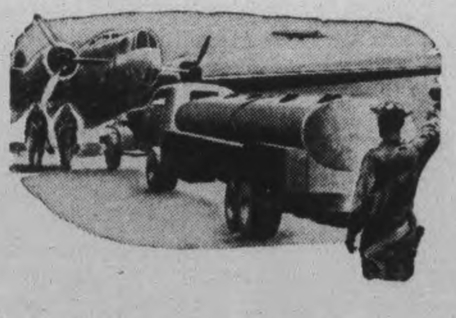
The high quality as well as the huge quantity of our output has been made possible largely by Dynafuel—an exclusive development of Sunoco engineers and chemists.

What is Dynafuel?

Dynafuel is more than a gasoline. It is a super aviation fuel concentrate, made entirely from petroleum and specially processed in order to produce the greatest possible power.

What Makes Dynafuel so Powerful?

It contains a larger percentage of certain ingredients which have extraordinary power-producing qualities. That is why Dynafuel tests 50% higher in power than U. S. standard 100-octane test fuel.



Do Our Fighters and Bombers Fly on Pure Dynafuel?

No—Sunoco Dynafuel is never used undiluted but is blended with gasolines that are produced by other methods, in order to step up their quality.

Thereby, Dynafuel also helps make available greater quantities of aviation fuel that meets highest military specifications—the high-octane fuel which enables the fighters and bombers of the United Nations to fly faster, range farther, climb higher than ever before, and to carry heavier loads of bombs.

Is Dynafuel Being Produced in Large Quantities Now?

Yes—the Dynafuel Process is an important factor in Sunoco's huge production of 100-octane aviation fuel; it utilizes even those portions of the crude which formerly went only into low-grade fuels.

Will Dynafuel Be Available for Automobiles?

Right now, every drop of Dynafuel is reserved for military use. But when peace comes, the same processes and equipment which have contributed so greatly to the war will bring to motorists a new, more powerful fuel for their automobiles.

Dynafuel was developed by Sunoco without government aid or subsidy. The company risked its own capital, its own credit, in order to pay the huge costs of building the plants for its production.

It is through such free play of private initiative that progress on this continent has been achieved.

Planning For Freedom

Many people are interested today in planning for security in the post-war world; others are interested in planning for freedom. Both groups would do well to study Walter Lippmann's book, The Good Society, which was published in 1937, but which is even more timely now than it was then.

The planners for security like to talk about "a planned economy" which would, in their opinion, put an end to unemployment and all the misery that goes with it. But Mr. Lippmann asks this question: "Is over-all planning of an economy possible if men are free to spend their income and their energies as they choose?" We have never heard an affirmative reply to this question. A planned economy would only work in a planned national life, and that would be the end of freedom. Planned economies and collectivist states, says Mr. Lippmann, are only possible when there is a threat of war to unify a people and make them content with national concentration on one aim. Obviously we cannot achieve a planned economy at the expense of periodic wars; obviously we cannot abandon our freedom even in our search for security.

The error in the type of thinking which exalts the planned economy lies in the fact that it takes an aim which must be secondary in national life and attempts to make that aim primary. The plan must not be for economic regimentation but for freedom and justice, and this can only be achieved in a world where the majority of nations have a common code of international morality, trading methods and human rights. Simply expressed, our aim in the post-war world must not be to build a state which will control its citizens, but a state in which the citizens have liberty to control themselves. This is not vague idealism, but hard fact; state control of everything, or almost everything, can only be achieved at the expense of frequent aggressive wars. Germany has shown us how the poison works. Peace is only possible to the nation which provides a framework in which each citizen may be assured of freedom and justice.

Of course, planning for freedom is much harder than planning for a controlled economy. The latter plan appeals to those who will not face great issues, but who delight in intricacies of detail and organization, and who have little faith in the slow improvement of humanity. Mr. Lippmann is ready to take his chance on humanity. Planned economies have already shown that they thrive only under fever conditions, and no nation can be kept constantly in a fever.

Senators On The Spree

When the five travelling American Senators returned to Washington and said their say about lease-lend and the craftiness of the British they stirred up a good deal of indignation, in which the Examiner and most other Canadian papers joined. We took the line that the Senators were not villainous, but merely dangerously naive. Just how naive they were is now being revealed.

For instance, although Senator Brewster accused the British of hoarding their own oil while wasting the precious stocks of the U.S., he did not trouble while in England to talk this matter over with Lord Leathers, who could have explained the situation to him in two minutes. As it was, President Roosevelt had to tell Senator Brewster the truth after he had made his indignant report.

The indignation of the Senators over lend-lease would have been considerably softened if they had gone to see Mr. Oliver Lyttleton, the British Minister of Production, who could have told them all about it. Lord Leathers, Mr. Lyttleton and a number of other British officials were anxious to meet the Senators and talk to them, but they were not approached, and if they had made the overtures it might have looked as though they were trying to fill the visitors with insidious propaganda.

The Senators had a good time in England. Senator Chandler picked up Bob Hope, the noted radio and screen wag, and tried to ring him in on a conference which the Senators were having with Prime Minister Churchill at 10 Downing Street. Hope showed more sense than his patron, and melted from the scene when he learned that the conference was to be of a confidential nature. However, Senator Chandler seized the opportunity to get Mr. Churchill's signature on a dollar bill. Senator Chandler, indeed, seems to have been the playboy of the group. As the Chicago Sun said, commenting on these shenanigans: "This is the kittenish, publicity-sniffing, autograph-hunting background against which Senator Chandler's momentous impressions of world affairs seem to have been formed".

The Senators had a fine time in England, riding about in special cars with motorcycle escorts, greeting the boys from their native states among the troops, and generally making whoopee. But they did not do some of the things which they ought to have done in order to form a true opinion of Anglo-American affairs and to justify the opinions which they expressed on their return to the U.S.

There is something about free travel and entertainment which seems to sap the judgement of the less important representatives of democratic countries.

New Chancellor At McGill

Busy men find time for everything; it is only those who have too little to do who complain of lack of time. Mr. Morris W. Wilson, who must surely be one of the busiest men in Canada, has added to his duties by accepting the post of Chancellor at McGill University.

Mr. Wilson, as is well known, is president and general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada. It is not so well known that he has done many war jobs which have taken great application, ability and time from his normal occupations. He was director of the British Air Commission in Washington in 1940; later he became chairman of the British Supply Council in North America. Now he is Canada's representative on the pulp and paper committee of the Combined Production and Resources Board of the U.S. and Canada.

In addition to these wartime duties Mr. Wilson is chairman of the Canadian National Committee on Mental Hygiene; he is chairman also of the joint board of the Red Cross and the St. John Ambulance Corps, chairman of the board of the Welfare Federation of Montreal and a governor of Royal Victoria hospital. He has been a governor of McGill since 1937.

The duties of a Chancellor are not generally arduous, but they do take time. However, Mr. Wilson has found the time and the energy to accept this distinguished position. When any of us feel inclined to say that we have no time for something we might do well to think of Morris Wilson, and blush.

An Exchange Of Ambassadors

The Hon. Leighton McCarthy is now raised from the status of Minister Plenipotentiary in Washington to that of Ambassador; the United States has also boosted its representation in Canada from a ministry to an embassy.

This move is little more than a regularizing of the position which has existed for many years. Canada and the U.S. have so much in common, and act in such close agreement on so many matters, that it seems silly for us to exchange ministers, when countries of less actual importance to the U.S. maintain ambassadors there. For some time our Canadian minister has virtually been an ambassador; as a personal friend of the President he has privileges which his position could not ensure for him. Official recognition of this fact is merely common sense.

The change in diplomatic terminology will not make much difference to the relationship between the U.S. and Canada. It will, we are certain, continue to be intimate and friendly. A Canadian ambassador at Washington will neither sweep us further from Britain into the arms of the U.S., nor set up a barrier of formality between us and our old friend. The change is a welcome but not surprising one.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A man of 38 in New Jersey has been sentenced to a total of 126 years in prison. Well, he at least doesn't have to listen to the talk about post-war planning.

Britain is now importing "telescoped meat". This is meat from which the bones have been removed, and not the kind which makes you fold up after you have eaten it.

The Vancouver Sun says that Winnipeg is not only the geographical centre of Canada but its intellectual centre also. This surprises some of our citizens who think that the intellectual centre of Canada is away off to the Left, and still travelling.

The Star And Post-war Planning

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

SEVERAL days ago we publicly approved a statement made by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, that this nation needed again to learn the old-fashioned lessons of "toil, and honesty, and thrift." The statement had been attacked by several of our contemporaries, notable among them the Toronto Star. As a result of this approval—which we still feel—we have been accused by The Star of economic heresy and, inferentially, of goodness knows what else. We find ourselves unable to become even mildly angry, however, because The Star was kind enough to preface its remarks with a belief expressed in our article, and one to which we still insistently adhere. That belief, early expressed and often repeated, has qualified everything this newspaper has said editorially on the subject of social security. It is simply this: No person in this country should be allowed, for any cause not of his own creation which may arise in the future, to go unfed, unclothed or unsheltered. That is our belief.

◇ ◇ ◇

Along with that belief, we cling to the idea that each individual, upon reaching man's estate, becomes responsible for his own future and for that of those dependent upon him. The economic security of an individual, in other words, is primarily his own responsibility. If this be heresy, then we are a confirmed—even an abandoned—heretic. For we cannot envision sanity in any system which removes all incentive to work, to strive, to gain, or to exercise initiative. And that is precisely what would happen in the case of a good many people if they early became aware that, no matter what their personal efforts, they would be cared for in comfortable circumstances all their days.

◇ ◇ ◇

Further along, The Star lifts some of our subject matter from its context, a portion wherein we said the government's purse was filled by the people, and that "if any government undertakes to keep a man from birth to death, his keep must be paid for by other men who earn and have their earnings taxed." These statements The Star labels a "complaint," upon what grounds we were unable to discover, for it went on to admit the truth of them. The words, as we wrote them, were a statement of fact. They still are. We made no "complaint"; we did warn, however, that most of the plans now being submitted for social security would utterly bankrupt the country if adopted in their entirety. If anyone doubts this, a little examination of what would occur to the national budget with the complete adoption of one plan immediately after war, should prove convincing.

◇ ◇ ◇

Presumably, from its heated repudiation of Mr. Meighen's opinion and this paper's approval of it, The Star would find any of the Utopian proposals now before the public worthy of merit in every detail. The one most applicable to Canada is, of course, the Marsh report. If this report were adopted in its entirety, at the end of war, it would mean an immediate additional charge upon the national income of at least one and one-quarter billion dollars. In considering this huge amount we must not forget that this estimate covers only the first years of operation. Nor must we forget that this sum alone is three times the normal governmental annual expenditure prior to the outbreak of war. It is admitted that the plan's cost to the nation would later increase. We must not forget, either, that the Marsh report does not include what should be a first charge upon any Canadian post-war budget—provision for ex-servicemen. Measures on behalf of these men already adopted may call for expenditure of at least $300 million annually for several years. This claim on the nation's finances will, of course, eventually decrease but it is not likely that it will drop below the sum named for a considerable period of time. Furthermore, to quote Dr. Charlotte Whitton, there is no provision in the Marsh report for "social assistance either to the unemployed wage-worker, not insured or fallen out of insurance, or for self-employed workers, especially for the agricultural population. Nor is there provision for the continuance and expansion of child care and protection services already existing and greatly in need of strengthening. Dr. Marsh does not cite the primary claim on the national wealth of our educational facilities."

◇ ◇ ◇

In other words, the Marsh report proposals would mean the instant addition of another billion and a quarter dollars to be raised by taxation. Let us examine, briefly, what that would mean to tax rates. Our national debt is now close to $9 billion. If it takes three more years to defeat Germany and Japan, get our service men and women home and demobilize them, and if in the meantime our borrowings continue at the present rate, we will then have a national debt of $15 billion. The first post-war budget would look something like this, in round figures:

Annual interest charges on debt, 3 per cent	$450,000,000
Ordinary expenditures	600,000,000
Cost of military, air and naval permanent establishments	500,000,000
Increased pensions, rehabilitation, etc.	300,000,000
	$1,850,000,000

To this annual budget, already $1,350 million above our budgets before the war, The Star appears airily to approve the addition of still another $1,250 million to implement social security as recommended by the Marsh or some similar plan. That would be over a billion dollars more than we are now raising by taxation and would thus demand at least a 50 per cent increase in taxation revenue.

◇ ◇ ◇

The Toronto Star may be so fortunately situated financially that it can blithely disregard the lethal effect this almost incredible impost would have upon the business and industry of the country. If so, it is fortunate indeed. We do not think many Canadian business establishments are in the same happy position. Many of them are today struggling along under the burden of taxation, hoping for relief when the war is over. Additional taxation might very easily result in total loss of many income sources through inability to meet taxes and still carry on.

◇ ◇ ◇

Canadian wage-earners would be as hard hit as Canadian business men. Perhaps even more so. Directly and indirectly, the Canadian working man today is paying taxes utterly without precedent. He doesn't like it, and no one blames him. Many economists trace refusals to work overtime and persistent absenteeism to the heavy tax rate on the lower income brackets. What may we expect, then, if the workingman's taxes are increased after the war? There could be several answers to that question, none of them beneficial to the national economy. We could, at best, expect increased lack of interest in working; at worst, we could expect revolution.

◇ ◇ ◇

Practically all Canadians, workingmen and businessmen alike, are now paying just about all the taxes they can bear. It is clear, therefore, that the majority of the Dominion's population will look for a decrease in taxation as soon as possible after the war ends. It is also clear that adoption of such a plan as the Marsh report immediately peace is restored would bring a certain increase, not decrease, in the tax rate. We seriously wonder if that can be done without plunging the economic structure of this country—and perhaps the political as well—into utter ruin.

◇ ◇ ◇

In our opinion, it cannot be too often repeated: Upon each individual primarily rests the responsibility for his own economic security. When he is unable to accept it successfully through no fault of his own, the state must provide. But the provision must not be such as to place a premium on idleness. It must be of a nature to encourage men to get off relief and become gainfully employed as quickly as possible. These things we believe. If they are heresies, in any sense of the word, then we confidently predict they will become as enduring as certain other great truths which were early termed heretical, yet long survived those who so named them.

Letter To The Editor

November 13, 1943.

Sir,—I see the newspapers are up to their old tricks, including the Examiner. It seems there is a bankruptcy in respect of suitable news on which you may base your criticisms of the C.C.F., otherwise it would not be necessary to raise such a hullaballoo over such a partial and misleading quotation of an answer to a question made by Harold Winch at a recent meeting in Calgary.

Tucked away in the obscure depths of both the Examiner and the Globe and Mail was a report of this answer. No publicity was given to the content of the speech made by Winch, nor to the question which prompted the answer. Yet great alarm has been raised and assertions of fact made with respect to it, which may likely prove to be false and which, if Winch is correctly quoted in this morning's Globe and Mail (November 13th) are false.

It seems to me bad taste for a newspaper editor to accuse the C.C.F. of wishing to impose the totalitarian system upon this country, when he himself is guilty of Fascist practice.

Totalitarian policy in respect to publicity has followed the dictum of Hitler that people are more likely to believe a lie if it is a big one and repeated often enough. The use of partial truths as facts to support a conclusion is of the same species and is clearly an attribute of Fascistism. The editors of the Examiner and of the Globe and Mail stand convicted before their readers of the use of this practice in their treatment of the Winch situation.

I see that Premier Drew has seized the opportunity of making capital out of this same shadowy stuff. It is interesting to note how readily the representatives of reaction in this country make use of Fascist methods and it is my sincere hope that the democratic impulses of our people will put these notions, and the people who harbor them, in their proper classification.
—Yours truly,

WM. C. GRANT.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Obviously the information which we have concerning Winch's speech is fuller than that possessed by this correspondent. The speaker was correctly reported by Canadian Press, his meaning was unmistakeable, and so far no party spokesman has been able to whitewash him. No lies were told about the C.C.F. unless Winch told them, and he has not yet proved that he did not speak in good faith.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to be married to a very fine man with whom I am much in love, but I have made it a condition of our marriage that he give up his profession, and he refuses to do so. He is a doctor and I simply cannot bear the thought of his giving most of his time and thoughts and attentions to other women. I see red when I think of him holding the hands of neurotic women all dolled up in pink silk and lace negligees, and listening, with pretended sympathy, while they talk about themselves and their symptoms.

I don't want to spend my life eaten up with jealousy and suspicions, but when I plead with him to give up his profession he positively refuses. Says that all of his life he has never thought of doing anything or wanted to do anything except to be a doctor. That it is his calling. That he spent years of hard study fitting himself for it, and that he would be a failure and utterly miserable in any other occupation.

Don't you think that if he really loved me, he would be willing to give up his profession for me?

UNHAPPY FIANCEE.

ANSWER: I think you are a very silly woman, as well as a very selfish one, to even ask your fiance to make such a sacrifice as giving up his life work for you, just because you imagine that it will in some way militate against your owning him body and soul. To every man who has in him any ambition and purpose in life his occupation is more than just a way to make money. It is a vocation to which he vows himself and into which he puts the work of his hands and his dreams and aspirations, and with this a woman meddles at her peril.

Take away from a man the work he loves to do and in which he finds a never-failing interest and delight, and you rob him of his happiness. Force him into an uncongenial occupation and you make him a failure, for we have to put our hearts as well as our back into our labor if we succeed.

Yet many wives fail to comprehend this. They refuse to go with their husbands to some place where better opportunities are open to them because they don't want to leave Mother and their bridge foursomes. They can't see why John wants to go and bury himself on a farm, or why Tom doesn't give up trying to write or paint pictures and take a steady paying job selling shirts and neckties in a haberdashery. And they can't understand why Sam won't resign from the Navy or the Army and go into raising potatoes when he knows they like to stay put in one place, and that it makes them nervous to think of him being so far away.

There are some things in even a husband's life in which no wife has a right to interfere, and one of them is his choice of a profession. That is between him and his own soul, and wise is the wife who recognizes this and who makes her husband's life work her ally instead of her rival.

In this particular case I should like to say to Unhappy Fiancee that she is certainly going out of her way to hunt for trouble in being jealous of her doctor fiance's prospective feminine patients. The more of these, the better for her. Nor need she feel that sick ladies, outside of their pocketbooks, have any special allure. No man sees women at their worst as a doctor does. There is nothing in a peevish, fretful invalid, with her hair in strings and her complexion off, that will make her doctor forget the healthy, hardy, alert wife at home. Particularly if she has enough good sense not to nag him and be suspicious of his patients.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a much perturbed husband who is being wrongfully accused of infidelity by my wife to whom I have been faithful for more than thirty years. My business is such that throws me in the company of women as well as men, and during all of this time my wife has accepted the situation just as it was, with never a thought of jealousy. But now she has gone off of the deep end and accuses me of being clandestinely mixed up with another man's wife.

The woman in question is young, pretty, friendly, and one of my good customers, and nothing more. There is absolutely no reason for my wife's suspicions. But I am tired of having her treat me like an inferior being and accuse me of doing things that I would not condescend to do, for I am of a religious bent—honest, and have the respect of the community.

I think my wife's affection died with the coming of our prosperity, and she thinks of me as a darn good provider and nothing else. I have not come down to brass tacks with her on this matter, as she always cries and carries on hysterically whenever she is the least bit reprimanded for anything. What shall I do?

PERTURBED HUSBAND.

ANSWER: A lot of wives get away with practically murder by having hysterics whenever their husbands put them on the carpet for something they are doing. It's an act that nearly always does the trick and silences the husband, because few men have the courage to go through with a scene. This is a mistake.

Inasmuch as you are innocent, tell your wife in no uncertain terms, and do it in a way that will make her realize that you are talking turkey to her, that you are not going to stand for any more of her nagging and suspicions, and that if she doesn't desist the next person she will tell it to will be the judge in a divorce cour[t]. The chances are that that will stop her fo[r] even if she has lost interest in you as a man, sh[e] still retains a vital interest in you as a mea[l] ticket, and she won't want to cut herself o[ff] from that.

But don't you think that if, after thirt[y] years of marriage, she had suddenly turned jeal[-]ous it is because she does love you, and becau[se] she sees her good looks fading and is afraid tha[t] her hold upon you will go with it? Hence sh[e] gets green-eyed over every woman with who[m] you came in contact who is younger and prettie[r] than she is and has hair that doesn't have to b[e] touched up.

Perhaps she only needs you to make love t[o] her again, instead of taking her for granted, an[d] tell her that she is the ONLY woman in th[e] world for you. The best and quickest way t[o] shut a jealous woman's mouth is to kiss it shu[t].

A Bible Message

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy....

Ye shall keep my sabbaths, and reverence my sanctuary: I am the Lord....

And I will set my tabernacle among you: and my soul shall not abhor you. And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people. (Lev. 19: 1, 2; 26: 2, 11, 12.)

◇ ◇ ◇

I have planted, Appolos watered; but God gave the increase....

Now he that planteth and he that watereth are one: and every man shall receive his own reward according to his own labour. For we are labourers together with God, ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building.....

Know ye not that ye are the temple of God and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are. (I Cor. 3: 6, 8, 9, 16, 17.)

Canadian Help For India

The Canadian people will warmly and unreservedly approve the offer of Prime Minister Mackenzie King to send 100,000 tons of Canadian wheat for the starving population of India. The Dominion Government is the owner, or part owner, of many millions of bushels which have accumulated in the elevators awaiting markets and it is to be hoped a strenuous effort will be made to assign ships to carry the wheat there. In these days of astronomical spending, the taxpayers of Canada will not grudge the relatively little that this wheat will cost, and will gladly seize the opportunity to do something for these starving Bengalese.

The offer will no doubt come to the knowledge of Mahatma Gandhi, Pandit Nehru and other National Congress leaders. We trust this will bring from them an expression of gratitude to Canada, and a realization that this is one of the advantages of being a unit of the British Commonwealth of Nations. — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Speaking Frankly!

The news from Senator Reynolds, of North Carolina, that he will not be a candidate for renomination next Spring rates a 24-gun salute. A[s] a victory for the cause of the United Nations, le[t] alone that of his own country, his prospective elimination ranks with a major triumph in the field.

Mr. Reynolds is chairman of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs, as incongruous a pos[t] for this most ignorant and offensive of isolationists and race baiters as could well be imagined. He got it by virtue of the Senate rule of seniority, whose stupidity is best illustrated by his incumbency.

So presently we are to be rid of the gentleman in his public capacity. Let us rejoice.—New York Herald Tribune.

13 Students Are Given Diplomas

Thirteen pupils of St. Mary's Convent received their diplomas on Friday afternoon "Parent's Day," and parents were conducted through the school. Drawings and specimens of penmanship were exhibited in the classrooms and a display of knitted articles for the Red Cross, crochet work and hand-embroidered aprons were shown.

A program was arranged for the guests and it was opened by an address of welcome by Isabel Hunt. There were recitations by Jeanette Downer, F. Pearson, Uldine Lazure, and two class recitations, "Danny Boy," and "The Bule Bugle Song." Two young girls recited poems they had written themselves, Joan Collins reciting "The Humming Bird," and Gertrude Ryan, "Autumn Leaves," and there were picture studies of "The Gleaners" and "The Song of the Lark." Essays were given by Barbara Johnston and F. O'Donnell, and the president's address was delivered by Doreen Dugan.

Rev. Father J. T. Finn, in his address to the Grade 8 pupils, stressed the need of close co-operation between home and school. He also said that the program showed that not only reading, writing and arithmetic, but also a keen appreciation of physical fitness, literary work, and social studies were being instilled into the minds of the young pupils.

Father Finn presented the diplomas to the following: Joan Cavanagh, Mary Lindsay, Rosanne Monahan, Joan Rose, Beverly Hunt, Loretta Lorenz, Maxine Gorman, Marguerite Kennedy, Marcella Crough, Peggy Bowen, Teresa Holland, Marie Crough and Shirley Simmons. Special prizes were given to Joan Cavanagh and Mary Lindsay.

The treasurer's report showed that there was $75 for the Holy Childhood Association $45 for the children in China, $35.29 for Red Cross War Veterans Fund and the Community Fund, $24.50 for the British War Victims' Fund. The school had sold 564 War Savings Stamps and 21 Certificates. 43 articles of clothing had been sent overseas for English children, 1900 pounds of salvage and 166 articles had been collected for ditty bags. The Canadian Legion Tag Day netted $2.64, and Hallowe'en Milk for Britain Fund amounted to $53.00.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION—On July 9th I wrote asking you if you would supply me with whatever number of Norwegian recipes you have been able to get from Little Norway, Ontario. And that I would be willing to pay for them—also for Swedish recipes you may happen to have (not those taken from printed cook books).—To date I have never received a reply. Can you recall ever having received such a letter? My husband is from Norway, which is my reason for wishing to secure some recipes for Norwegian cooking or baking. The only one I have is the one printed on November 13, 1943 for Little Norway Bread, which was mailed to me by a friend, and I cherish it very much.

ELSIE S.

ANSWER — I have 13 recipes which are genuine and given me by the chef at Little Norway — and vouched for by the commander, and also by the fact that the Norwegian boys call for them oftener than any other Norwegian dishes.

I will give you four of them and name the rest—and if they are interesting to you I will send them on by private letter.

Sur Sill (Spiced Herring)

Remove the skins and bones from 6 salted herrings. Place them in fresh water for 12 hours. Change the water after 6 hours. Cut the fillets in pieces about ½-inch wide. Mix the following items together: 1 cup white vinegar, 1 cup water, ½ cup sugar, a little ground pepper, a little white pepper, 1 or 2 bay leaves, and 3 onions cut in very thin slices. Place the herrings in the mixture and they will be ready to serve in about 6 hours. Serve with bread and butter.

Benlose Fugl (boneless fowl)

For 4 people use 1¼ lbs. tender beef, cut it in thin slices and place a small piece of bacon and raw carrot on each slice, sprinkle lightly with salt, pepper and chopped onions. Roll the slices together and put a toothpick through each to keep them together. Take a lump of butter and brown it in frying pan (you can see these were written in pre-rationing days!). Fry the rolls in the butter till they are brown, then pour on hot water until they are covered. Cook the meat for 1½-2 hours. Take the meat up, remove the toothpicks and thicken the juice wth a little butter and flour, season with salt and pepper, add a little cream and a little gravy coloring. Serve with mashed potatoes.

Faar I Kaal (Mutton and Cabbage)

(For 6 people). Take about 2 lbs. yearling lamb from the breast and foreleg, cut it in squares about 1 inch. Cook with water and a little salt and pepper for about 1½ hours —maybe 2 hours. Add 2 white cabbages cut in 12 pieces each and cook for about ½ hour more. Season with salt and pepper and thicken lightly with a little flour. Serve with boiled potatoes..

Pineapple Pudding (4 people)

This calls for whipped cream—but this may be made up from the thick cream from the tops of Jersey milk, or 2-day-old 18% cream may be used.

Whip ½ pint cream. Take 1 egg yolk and beat with 2 tablespoons sugar. Use 2-3 cup diced pineapple and ½ cup juice from canned pineapple. Place juice in double boiler, and add 3 tablespoons powdered gelatine, soak 5 minutes then cook over boiling water, stirring until gelatine dissolves.

Beat the egg whites and mix with the drained pineapple cubes and fold into the whipped cream. Mix the egg yolks with the gelatine mixture add just enough water to make a smooth mixture, then pour it into the whipped cream, folding. Pour into moistened mould to chill. Dip the mould in hot water for a moment to loosen it when turning out—turn out on glass dish and decorate with cubes or slices of pineapple. Other fruits such as apricots and peaches are good made in this way. It is also good if fruit sauce is poured over it.

The other recipes I have are: Sill Salat (Herring Salad); Karry Salat (Curry Salad); Stekt Kalvehjerte (Fried calf's heart); Frukt Sauce (fruit sauce); Salt Kjotts Labskovs (Corned Beef Hash); Karamel Pudding (Caramel Pudding); Ris Grott (Rice Porridge); Sur Kaal (Sour Cabbage); Stekt Lever (fried Liver). If you would like them please write.

Two Baby Quilts Are Completed

Two baby quilts were made at the monthly meeting of the George Street Baby Band, which was held at the home of Mrs. J. Tinney, 626 Bethune street. In the course of the evening, plans were discussed for the get-together of all the Baby Bands in the city, which is to beld in George Street Sunday School on November 26, and for which the ladies of the George Street Band are to be hostesses.

In the business meeting the treasurer reported a balance on hand of $7.65, and a nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Q. McKinney, Mrs. A. Ingram and Mrs. W. Fry was named to bring in the officers for the new year at the next meeting.

At the close of the evening, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Young Ladies Hold Missionary Rally

"Even though we are not living in Bible times, should we not still work for Jesus?" asked Mrs. J. H. Hill of Ottawa, who was guest speaker at the Thankoffering meeting of the Young Women's Missionary Society, held in the guild room of St. Paul's Church on Monday evening. In her address about women who have served and are serving, Mrs. Hill began with the Old Testament, and related stories of the Christian work women have done down through the years.

She told of the making of the tabernacle in Moses' time, and how the Hebrew women were asked to weave the fine vestments for the priests, and to sew fine threads of gold. She said that no doubt some of the women refused to do the work when asked, but that those who gladly accepted the extra burden, were doubly rewarded when they saw their work being used in the Lord's service.

In speaking of the part women played in the New Testament, Mrs. Hill discussed the epistles of Luke, Paul, and The Acts in some detail. She mentioned the names of women about whom Luke and Paul wrote, and told how much their loyalty, trust and faithfulness meant to these disciples. In addition, the speaker said that she did not know of any place in the four great gospels where women had done anything to harm Jesus.

She said that the women of today are doing their work in the mission fields at home and abroad, and gave a detailed account of the missionary work done in China and India, naming many women who had gone out to help suffering people. She said that just because we did not live in olden times did not mean that we could not work for Jesus, and told of the great strides taken in the missionary field by women who had a desire to help, and who had the ability to make themselves revered and loved by all those around them.

Mrs. Hill had a sense of humor, and her speech was interspersed with quick and lively remarks which showed her clear insight into the work of the church. She has a remarkable knowledge of the Bible, and quoted from it from time to time to illustrate more fully the point she was stressing.

The business of the meeting was brief, to allow as much time as possible to the speaker. Mrs. S. Finnie was in charge, and she called on Miss Margaret Morgan to conduct the devotional period, and on Miss V. Johnston to introduce the speaker. Announcement was made of the tea and bazaar, sponsored by the Friendly Group of St. Paul's, to be held on Wednesday, November 17, in the Sunday School room. Mrs. L. A. Mitchell, who was guest soloist, sang two lovely songs, "The Legend" and "Down Here," and at the close of the meeting a vote of thanks to her for her songs, and to Mrs. Hill for her instructive and interesting address, was tendered by Mrs. J. D. Smart.

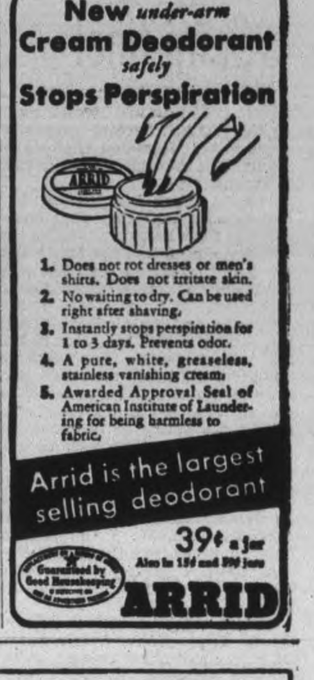
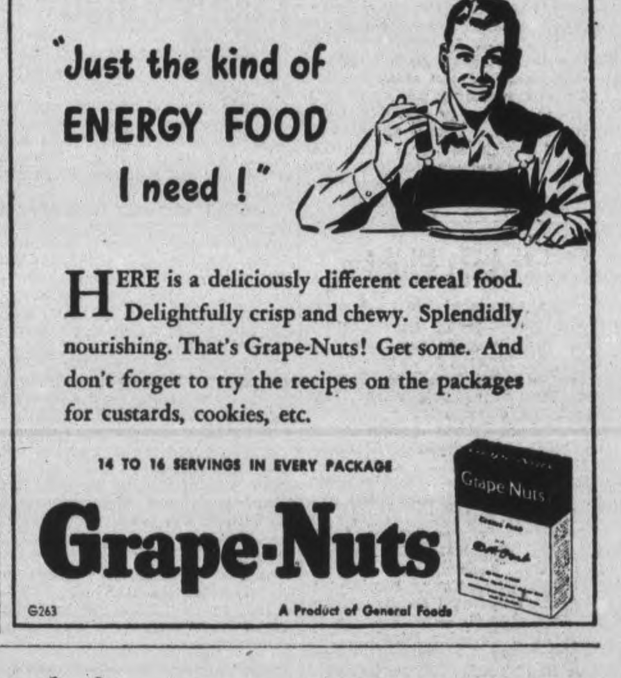
For Wednesday, November 17

PARTICULARLY propitous auguries are found in this day's astral chart. This outstanding good fortune may affect all the relations of life, business and personal probably with an accent on romantic adventure, which may develop quite suddenly and with dramatic or thrilling denouements. All social and domestic issues are stimulated, although there should not be neglect of new enterprises finances or desires for promotion or advancement. Those in power are friendly and elders may show favor but use finesse rather than force in all contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a particularly happy, pleasant and adventurous trend, with promotion, preferment and benefits from elders, superiors and others whose friendship is desirable or essential. The emphasis however may be found on the social domestic or romantic affilations in which there may be sudden developments of a thrilling and breathtaking quality. Culture, ideals, aspirations and intuition have weight.

A child born on this day may have originality, versatility and unique talents or adventures, which assure a pleasant, prosperous and romantic career.





Lachine Team Underdog In Semi-final

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 — (CP). — Twelve good men and Hughes make up the R.C.A.F. Lachine team that hopes to beat Hamilton Wildcats on Saturday in the eastern rugby classic at Toronto.

Veteran Coach Bill Hughes, former Queen's University and Montreal Big Four mentor, is taking the under-dog team into the final. But to a man they believe the 1 to 5 odds being quoted against them are a little steep.

Only nine of the Air Force lineup has played in the big show before this year. However, Coach Hughes has blended a group of rookies into some of the best grid material seen around these parts in a long time, and he is counting on their natural ability to offset their lack of experience.

Nine of the aggregation actually come from Quebec and they are all Montrealers. Bulk of the remainder come from Ottawa. And it is a couple of backs from the capital city that spark a high-powered half-line, which is reported as good as anything the 'Cats possess.

One of the Ottawans is chunky Johnny Fripp, former Dominion ski champion, and Lorne Barclay, a 19-year-old kid from Ottawa Tech. Fripp is known as the guy with the "piston packin'" legs, for the tremendous power he generates from them in quarterback sneaks. He was rated rookie of the season when with Ottawa Rough Riders in 1941. Barclay is a rangy boy, who kicks, runs and passes, and along with Joey Richman, last year with the Dominion champion Hurricanes and Art Libman of Montreal, this foursome forms a smart combination.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16 (CP)—Coach Reg Threlfall and his Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers last night began a complete overhaul of attack and defensive systems in preparations for their Canadian championship grid battle with either Hamilton Wildcats or Lachine R.C.A.F. Nov. 27 in Toronto.

Threlfall, who gave his charges a three-day breather after they had defeated Regina All-Services Roughriders for the Western title last Thursday, said at a workout. "We're starting over right from the beginning of the plays and plans we used this season and trying to get everything in high gear for the big game."

No definite date has been set for the team's departure for Toronto. Reports circulating in the Bomber camp state it may leave Nov. 25, arriving there the day of the game.

Threlfall said the club would not scout this Saturday's Eastern final between Hamilton and Lachine. In former years the Winnipeg coach has favored this practice.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

This column will be watching with a great deal of interest the developments in military hockey this winter. According to reports from Kingston some eight or nine members of the Kingston Army Frontenacs team are to be transferred to Camp Borden and other military hockey players whose names are well known will doubtless find themselves in the same training camp. There are no senior hockey clubs in the Camp Borden area. Those soldiers will naturally want to play hockey and we believe that they should have an opportunity to do so. Their only chance will be to play in the intermediate series. And right there, in the case of the Kingston transfers, they run bang up against the ruling made last year that having already played senior hockey this season they are not entitled to drop back to the intermediate ranks even if their move is a genuine one, as it undoubtedly is in this case. We are waiting to see what happens when some intermediate club in the Camp Borden area or the Camp authorities themselves send in the names of these former Kingston performers as intermediate players.

* * * * * *

Last season, as Peterborough fans have good cause to remember, the C.A.H.A. and O.H.A. authorities with George Dudley as chief spokesmen cancelled the intermediate certificates of Hub Macey and Perce Nicholls, after they had played a number of games with the Petes, on the ground that having played senior earlier in the campaign with Kingston those soldier players were not eligible to drop back to intermediate company. We thought then and we think now that the authorities were all wet in that ruling and that it went directly against the special sections in regard to service players. But Dudley refused to budge an inch, the certificates remained cancelled and the Petes had to finish the season without Macey and Nicholls. Strangely enough Macey is likely to be one of the Kingston players who will run into the same situation this season. Will he again get the gate or will Dudley and Company forget all about last season's ruling and allow all these former seniors to play intermediate. Frankly we hope he does. Now that the army has taken steps to break up the holding of soldier players and these boys are apparently headed for overseas service we would like to see them get a last chance to play their favorite game until their overseas draft orders come along. But it will be an interesting development if the authorities have to backtrack on this point after the treatment they handed the Petes last season.

The Big Night

Tonight is the night. At Brock Street a lot of folk will gather to see whether the boastful Jan Gotch, who has stormed his way over two formidable opponents in a row can make good on his loud talk about twisting the popular Whipper Billy Watson into a prezel or whether on the other hand the British Empire champion will take the rowdy Pole for a ride. Frankly the customers are all hoping for the second development. They are pulling for a Watson triumph and they want to see Gotch on the catching end of everything the idol of Toronto hands out. And they want to see him hand out plenty. Gotch has got himself into the hair of practically every customer who has seen him perform here and they will be all out tonight to see him get a rough passage at the hands of the Whipper. The fans are not choosy as to how Watson does the trick just so long as he takes Gotch to the cleaners but quick. If the champ chooses to pull one of the posts loose and pound the Pole over the head with it, it will be all right with the folk out in the pews. At the same time there is just a little anxiety as to whether or not the Whipper will be able to hand out as much as they would like to see Gotch get. The Pole is not a pushover even for the clever Watson; on the other hand he knows his wrestling and he doesn't back up from anybody. It should be a riot.

* * * * * *

Fans are wondering just what Promoter Tunney has against Gentleman Jack Clayborne. The South African has been matched with every bad actor in the Tunney stable and if that was not enough Jack Reeder, just over from south of the border, bringing with him the reputation of being a rough-house artist of the deepest dye, is the opponent selected for the Black Comet in the semi-final on tonight's card. That means that Clayborne is in for another stormy voyage. It is not likely that he will take to the air again on this occasion for twice he has lost a bout in that way and he will probably watch that kind of thing tonight. But in any case he'll have plenty of trouble on his hands. So too will Monsieur Pierre DeGlane the French wrestler who is asked to take on Dick Hogan in the opener. Nationalities don't mean a thing to the Housepainter. He just belts them no matter what language they talk so DeGlane is in for a wild session. At that the fans are hoping that his mat experience will enable the French grappler to take care of himself. If he drop kicks Hogan over the ropes that would make the opening bout perfect so far as Peterborough fans are concerned. They resent the way the Housepainter treats his opponents and they are even more indignant over the manner in which he treats the crowd. So there's the lineup, Watson, Clayborne and DeGlane the heroes and Gotch, Reeder and Hogan, the three bad men.

Want Army Hockey

In answer to an advertisement published last week. 4,723 Kingston fans signed a petition asking the military authorities to keep senior military hockey alive in the Penitentiary City, according to Scribe Bill Walshe. In spite of that fact, however, the plea does not seem to have succeeded for the Walshe column contains the following: "Kingston has a scrappy club to open the campaign but after the first two games the club will be scrapped by army orders. Just how it will be rebuilt is a mystery as, according to talk in the dressing room last night, more than half the staff will be missing. No one is sure who is going on who is staying and army officers with the club refuse to give information but the talk is that Rhys Thompson, Red Tilson, Ron Nelson, Jerry Cooper, Joe Blewett, Glen Brydson, Hub Macey, Steve Latoski, Chuck Corrigan and Red Hamill are destined for duties in other camps. There is a chance that some of them will not be going and the players not named may be on travelling orders but that was how the players figured when they counted noses last night. Herb Mortimer, who is taking an officers' course here, and Doug Stevenson, the goalers, are expected to be in Kingston for a while longer while Jack Tisdale, Herb Foster, Perce Nichols, Bill Mortimer, Ted Nicholson and Bill Booth are also expected to remain here. Five prominent players have been reported among the newcomers who will likely help in reorganization of the team. Polly Drouin, formerly Canadiens, Ken Kilrea, Ottawa Commandos, Vic Grigg, Toronto Army Daggers, Buck Jones, who played defence for the Toronto Leafs last year, and Dinny McManus, a top net tender, are in Kingston and others are expected to arrive next week."

Pilot Officer Don Crowe, well known Peterborough athlete was in town yesterday, saying good-bye to his host of local friends before leaving for the West Soast. Don got his wings at Camp Borden on Friday and incidentally his commission as a pilot officer, after being held up for many weeks in his training because of an attack of appendicitis that required a hurried operation. One of the most versatile athletes who has ever worn a Peterborough uniform and also one of the most popular, Pilot Officer Crowe will be missed in sporting circles generally and the fans will wish him the best of luck in the big game. During his career in this city he has starred in lacrosse, hockey, rugby, softball and basketball, while a year ago he was one of the stars of the champion R.C.A.F. Hurricane squad which won the Dominion title. Incidentally he played a big part in the defeat of Winnipeg Bombers in the final game.

Washington Is Given Rose Bowl Bid

SEATTLE, Nov. 16—(AP)—From the orphans' ward to the Rose Bowl—

That's the long jump made by the University of Washington football team. The Rose Bowl Committee's selection of the huskies to meet Southern California in the richest of the post-season gridiron stakes, with the Pacific coast conference title on the line, was a reward which Washington supporters have been pulling for all along.

Washington became the orphan of west coast football when the northern division of the conference folded on the eve of the first scheduled games. With Washington having the only Navy-Marine enrolment in the division, it looked too one-sided for fun—or for finances.

The Huskies rolled through their four salvaged games with 150 points to 26 to gain a powerhouse reputation on the home front. But, except for its impressive 27-7 upset of the March Field Fliers, Washington remains the team nobody knows outside the Pacific Northwest.

A powerful running attack gave Washington its start toward Pasadena. The team ranks fourth in the country in total offensive yardage, with an average of 375 a game. Of that, 292 yards are by rushing.

The team, suffering an acute shortage of reserves, was built around Washington Navy-Marine holdovers and a trio of transfers from Washington State, with one freshman and one 4-f'er thrown in.

Washington's Rose Bowl outfit won't have the punch of the team that beat the Fliers. U.S.C. lost to the Fliers after the mid-term transfer of several of its stars for officer training. Washington's abbreviated season was completed before transfers cut hard, taking the west coast's highest scorers, Fullback Pete Susick and Halfback Jay Stoves, Tony Balcunas, a starting tackle, also was lost.

Replacements will be one of Coach Ralph (Pest) Welch's big jobs upon resumption of practice after Thanksgiving, but the game will furnish his recent wish for a chance to play Southern California anywhere and any time.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(AP)—After the Bears' Sid Luckman had pitched five touchdown passes against the Giants Sunday, he was sent to the bench...Up in the press box, our colleague Sid Feder turned to the Bears' spotter-coach, Luke Johnsos, and asked: "Why not send him back in? He only needs one to tie the record"..."Only one—is that all?" said Johnsos, picking up the phone to relay the information to the bench...Two minutes later Luckman flipped the record-equalling pass. Then, with three minutes to go, Johnsos turned to Feder and remarked: "Here it comes, right down in this corner to pool for the record"...It did.

A reader of "Yank," the army weekly, recently sent in a complaint because of an article about Whirlaway...It went something like this, "Does Yank's sports editor always have to write about northern horses and sports? We also have good sports down south, too, so won't you give us some news from there? We have a fellow Polier who writes for the Charlotte News. He'd give you the low-down on the south.". The "fellow Polier" now is Sgt. Dan Polier, sports editor of Yank and author of the story about the northern horse, Whirlaway.

There will be no elections at the 54th annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association next Saturday. All officers having been re-elected by acclamation, it was announced last night by Secretary W. A. Hewitt. This means another term for the following: President, F. W. (Dinty) Moore, Port Colborne; vice-presidents, George S. Dudley, Midland; secretary, W. A. Hewitt, Toronto; and the executive committee, Roy Reynolds, Chatham; J. M. Roxburgh, Simcoe; Stewart McTavish, Oshawa, and S. R. Burrows, Belleville.

Delegates to the O.H.A. annual at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, Nov. 20, will wind up the agenda with a luncheon and the club representatives will be guests of Maple Leaf Gardens at the N.H.L. game Saturday night.

The Cincinnati Baseball Club made a profit on this year's operation, against a loss in 1942, it was announced last night after the club's annual business session. The balance was $18,000, against a deficit last year of $500.

Canadian figure skating championships, including the revived women's senior championships, will be staged at Ottawa's Minto Club January 28 and 29, it was announced yesterday following the annual meeting of the Canadian Figure Skating Association at Montreal, Saturday.

George M. Patterson of Montreal was re-elected president of the Association.

The 30th member of the Detroit Tigers to be drafted into the U. S. forces, second-baseman Jimmy Bloodworth, 25 years of age and a father, has been inducted into the army at Apalchicola, Fla., it was announced yesterday.

Goes to Wings

Carl Smith, left wing of the Indianapolis Capitals of the American Hockey League, yesterday was recalled by the Detroit Red Wings as a replacement for Johnny Sherf former University of Michigan captain. Smith joins the Carveth-Quakenbush line.

Winnipeg R. C. A. F. Bombers, Western grid champions, yesterday started concentrating on special training under Coach Reg. Threfall for the East vs. West Grey Cup battle at Toronto, on November 27. Threfall said the Westerners would not scout the Hamilton - Lachine eastern semi-final at Varsity Stadium next Saturday. The Bombers expect to leave for the east November 25.

Orme Embleton of Stamford Ont., Ontario baseball convener for the Niagara district and a former track athlete left his home town last night to report to the army recruiting centre at Toronto to start training for overseas service.

Connie Mack Inducted

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16—(AP)—Connie Mack, Jr., son of the owner-manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, has been notified by his draft board to appear Dec. 15 for his United States army physical examination and induction if he is accepted. Connie, Jr., father of four children, is concessions manager at Shibe Park.

Atlantic City Looks Good To Ball Players

NEW YORK, Nov.—(16)—Baseball developments around here this past week have been highlighted by the American League most valuable player award to Spurgeon F. Chandler, Yankee pitcher; the drafting of four players by the Giants, and Joe Gordon's announcement that if the Bombers returned to Ashbury Park, N. J., for training he would beg off.

Arriving at his home in Eugene, Ore., after a fortnight's shooting, Gordon first denied that phoney retirement story, and then placed himself on record against training in the gale and frost.

"I can do a lot better working out right at home," said Joe, with a well-directed boost for that mellow Oregon spring. "I am not going to subject myself again to the freeze we suffered at Ashbury Park last March."

That the Yankees will return to Ashbury Park is not so certain. It seemed sure until a few days ago, when George Weiss and Paul Krichell bobbed up in Atlantic City. They had gone there at the behest of the municipal authorities.

The big audtorium used as a recreation centre by the army air forces, is not available. But the Yankees were told they could have Bader Field, a fine plant, the Absecon A Boulevard Armory, and the best hotel in town. That combination looks good, and it may be Gordon won't have to go to Ashbury Park, after all.

Ed Barrow, still in New Rochelle Hospital, doubtless will issue a communique on this subject as soon as he gets back to work.

There is nothing against Ashbury Park itself. It was no better and no worse than most of the camps. Train north of Jacksonville and you are bound to get cold.

However, there is this truth: Spud Chandler, Johnny Murphy and Swampy Donald worked out for three weeks at St. Petersburg before they reported at Ashbury.

Chandler insists this three weeks drill gave him his great start and his big year. Ditto Murphy. You can't get away from the evidence. But the fact remains, northern training has been prescribed by old Doc Landis, and that's that.

There is nothing in the rules which says players can't work out alone or in groups down South.

Quebec Senior League Loses 2 Teams

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 — (CP)— George M. Slater, president of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, said here last night that four teams will remain in the circuit, following earlier reports that a third club would have to discontinue operations.

The Cornwall Army team notified Secretary Jimmy Foley last night that "due to military regulations we are compelled to withdraw" from the Q.S.H.L. The telegram was signed by Clarence P. Markell, president of the Cornwall Flyers Hockey Club.

An earlier report said that unless Montreal Royals could find some new talent they also would drop from the league, but Mr. Slater's statement was interpreted by hockey officials here that Royals team will remain in the running.

The Cornwall Army team was hard hit recently by transfer of army personnel to other camps.

Originally, the league was a six-team circuit, but Montreal Army dropped out last week because of a shortage of players and a new schedule was drawn up.

The game between Royals and Cornwall scheduled for tonight has been called off. Possibly another new schedule will have to be drawn up for the remaining four teams.

Goes To Navy

CALGARY, Nov. 16.—(CP).—Eddie Wares, who assisted Detroit Red Wings in winning the Stanley Cup last spring, announced last night he intends enlisting with the Navy at the H.M.C.S. Tecumseh here.

If successful in passing his medical, he will likely be a teammate of Sweeney Schriner, former Toronto Leafs star, on Marty Burke's Navy Club, in the Alberta Service Senior Hockey League.

Pick Notre Dame To Upset Iowa Navy Team

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP)—From a firm perch on a good stout limb here's a vote of confidence for the Irish of Notre Dame in their coming day of trial against the Seahawks of the Iowa Naval Preflight School.

For 2½ hours next Saturday Notre Dame figures to be better than its 1942 version which spanked a far more experienced Seahawk team, 28-0, to the consternation of Preflight publicity men who even then were drafting literature designed to establish their tactician, Bernie Bierman, as the "coach of the year."

The subsequent junking of a lot of choice mimeographed reading material wasn't the fault of Bierman or Preflight's stout-hearted commandant, Capt. David Hanrahan. The blame fell on Notre Dame's coaching staff and its perfectionist football players who rose to the occasion while their coach, Frank Leahy, was abed at Mayo Clinic, and scored what amounted to a major upset, so pronounced was the Irish victory.

The mere fact that the Seahawks' record is identical to that of the Irish at the time they collide—eight victories and no defeats apiece—doesn't set the Pre-flighters on the same plane with Notre Dame. For the Iowans haven't played any of the Midwest's good teams—Michigan, Purdue, or even Northwestern or Great Lakes—and therefore can't claim to have been tested thoroughly this season.

And that's something that can't be said about Notre Dame.

Certainly the Seahawks have some highly skilled players—ex-professionals Dick Todd of Washington, Perry Schwartz of Brooklyn, Frank Maznicki of the Chicago Bears, and some former cracking good collegians. But the supporting cast is scarcely on a par and advices from Iowa city say Maznicki and some other key players won't be available Saturday.

Coach Don Faurot said a knee injury Maznicki suffered in the Camp Grant game is so severe "we have discarded the idea of using him." Six other first and second team players have been ordered transferred before the week-end. Thus Faurot gets the jump on Leahy at the wailing wall.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP)—Hubbub over the army's hockey policy, forcing withdrawal of Army hockey teams in Regina, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax, s dying down. Some criticism continues, with one of the chief arguments based on the fact the Navy and Air Force have not curtailed hockey. Just for the record, present indications are that the Army will have seven teams in Senior Leagues this season, Navy will have five and Air Force six.

Santa McCaffrey:

Lloyd (Montreal Star) McGowan says the best story on the whole Army break-up concerned Jim McCaffrey, the big chief of Ottawa Commandos, the two Laprades and Phat Perras. "It seems that Jim's nose was in the wind 10 days ago. He knew which way it blew and offered Edgar Laprade and Remi to the Montreal Army as infantrymen along with Perras the goalkeeper." The Laprades and Perras are now at Camp Borden.

Incidentally:

Now that Toronto Army Daggers have folded, exodus of the name players has begun. Hank Goldup, Gordon Drillon, Syl Apps and Billy Taylor figure to be at Simcoe for a few months...It is learned now that Daggers had planned to use Neil Colville, Jack Portland and Terry Reardon for the O.H.A. campaign. All three were at Camp Borden...Reg. Hamilton, for years a Toronto Leafs defenceman, has been rejected by the Army because of the spinal injury which has kept him on the sport shelf. It's doubtful he'll recover sufficiently to play hockey this season.

Round and about:

There's likely to be a big post-war boom in rink-building. Peterborough has joined the Ontario cities planning for new auditoriums ...A couple of former Winnipeg hockey stars, Joe Rivers and Cam Shewan, have arrived in England with the forces....Mac Colville, coaching Red Deer Army hockey team, has deserted the forward line for a defence post...Note to N.H.L. clubs: Harold (Tiger) Mitchell, goalie for Regina Army hockey team last winter, has been discharged from the Army on physical grounds.

Star Studded

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Services Senior Hockey League got under way here last night and Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers celebrated the occasion with a 4-2 victory over the Navy crew. Pete Langelle, Bill Snider, Joe Krol and Paul Platz scored for the victors.

Baron Aces

NEW HAVEN (AP)—Two of the Cleveland Barons, Tom Burlington and Earl Bartholome, stand at the top with 13 points each in the individual scoring record of the American Hockey League. William Hudson of Hershey, leader last week, shared second place with five others, with 11 counters.

Hamilton Drubs Toronto Fliers In Senior Tilt

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP)—Hamilton defeated Toronto R.C.A.F. 9-2 in a Senior "A" Ontario Hockey Association game at Maple Leaf Gardens last night.

The teams were even at a goal apiece at the end of the first period but Hamilton rammed in five goals in the second period and outscored the Flyers 3-1 in the final stanza. Brady and Robertson each scored two goals for the winners.

Hamilton Majors: Goal, Childs; defence, Dinning and Sherry; centre, Robertson; wings, Liscombe and Shillington; subs, Brady, Runions, Conick, Davey, Shearer and Minorick.

Toronto R.C.A.F.: Goal, Mowers; defence, Hearne and Smiley; centre, Burns; wings, Runsdell and Tustin; subs, Collins, Wycherley, Voll, Fitzgerald, Williamson and Scodalleri.

Summary:

First Period

1—R.C.A.F., Tustin (Collins). 7:15
2—Hamilton, Brady (Runions) 17:40
Penalties: Conick, Shearer, and Hearne.

Second Period

3—Hamilton, Robertson (Liscombe) 1:15
4—Hamilton, Brady 4:09
5—Hamilton, Conick 9:09
6—Hamilton, Davey 11:13
7—Hamilton, Brady (Conick) 13:25
Penalties: None.

Third Period

8—Hamilton, Robertson 3:29
9—Hamilton, Shillington 8:10
10—Hamilton, Runions (Brady) 9:17
11—R.C.A.F., Williamson (Burns) 11:46
Penalty: Minorick.

Bruins Tangle With Canadiens

By The Canadian Press

Bill Durnan, Montreal Canadiens' agile 29-year old goalkeeper, will be under pressure to-night to maintain is record-breaking play, but odds are Canadiens will continue their undefeated string against Boston Brnins in the evening's only National Hockey League fixture.

With five wins and a tie in six games, the visiting Canadiens can not be shaken from first place, but Durnan faces the task of keeping low his league-leading scored-against column of eight goals, and at the same time trying for his second successive shutout. The other zero score was by Durnan and his mates, 2-0 against Detroit Red Wings Sunday.

Opposite Durnan to-night, veteran William "Bert" Gardiner will block the Bruins net. A month ago both were trying out to represent Montreal. Coach Dick Irvin, choosing youth and ability over experience and ability, picked the amateur from the Quebec Senior League Bruins have won two, lost two, and tied one, but Gardiner has done well with this low-ranking team. With 18 goals scored against him in five games, his record is next to that of Durnan.

A victory for Bruins would raise them from fifth to fourth place, a point ahead of the idle Red Wings. The only previous Bruins-Canadiens meeting ended in a 2-2 deadlock.

Australia Tops Canada; Makes Engines

By A. R. FORD—Canadian Press.

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 16 — (CP Cable) — During last three days Canadian newspaper delegation to Australia has been visiting some great industrial plants, including one claimed to be the largest steel plant in the world, an aircraft factory and two shipyards.

What impressed the delegation most was the versatility of the plants as well as the speed with which they have been built to meet the tempo of war.

Far from the rest of the world, Australia has been thrown completely on her own and engineers and industrialists have been compelled, in view of the seriousness of the Japanese threat, to manufacture almost everything—and in a hurry.

Although this "down under" Dominion does not follow Canadian mass production methods in many lines, she has produced many more things which Canada herself has not attempted. The most striking example of this is provided by aircraft engines — something never manufactured in Canada.

The delegation visited the most efficient and modern engine plant which started only two years ago. Today it has thousands of employees and is turning out large numbers of aircraft engines monthly. Ninety-five per cent. of the basic raw materials and engined components are completely of Australian manufacture. Its valuable contribution to the Allied war effort in the South Pacific is overhaul work for Allied air corps.

One shipyard which we visited was started less than two years ago, and already is in production in a completely modern plant. Necessity has compelled Australia to assemble and manufacture in one year almost the entire ship, including boilers and engines.

The fact is that Australia rapidly is becoming a highly-industrialized country. This process started before the war but the war and particularly events of the last two years, with the outbreak of hostilities in the Pacific, have speeded up industrialization at an amazing rate.

Ingenuity Shown.

Australians have been compelled to make hundreds of things which formerly they imported. This has given Australia a self-confidence which she never had before.

While winning the war is the Commonwealth's prime object, industrial Australia is naturally anxious regarding the future, and for that reason is keenly desirous that the Pacific countries, particularly Canada, should sit in at any post-war conferences where questions of trade are discussed.

Australia wants to remain an industrial nation. She does not want to scrap the efficient war industrial machine she has built up. The question of future markets is all-important but what is even more vital to her is the necessity of having an industrial structure for defence purposes for the future. She doesn't want to be caught a second time undefended.

The first week of the press party's visit has been most strenuous but interesting as it included not only visits to other industrial centres but a motor trip to Canberra, the capital, where the members met Prime Minister John Curtin.

The delegates now have started a 12,000-mile air tour of Australia.

MILLBROOK

Grace Church In 105th Year

MILLBROOK, Nov. 16 (ENS) — Grace Presbyterian church observed its 105th anniversary Sunday, with morning and evening services, the guest speaker being Rev. Dr. Johnston, assistant minister of Knox Presbyterian church, Toronto.

Mrs. Harold Hubbeard presided at the organ, and the choir had special music for both services, the evening selections including a setting of "Jesus Lover Of My Soul," in which Mrs. J. R. Thompson took the solo part, and a solo, "The Holy City," by Miss Beryl Challice. Members from the Centreville Presbyterian choir who assisted during the day were Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Johnson, and Messrs. George Berry and McIntosh Bradshaw.

Dr. Johnston's theme at night was "Redemption," in which he developed the idea of Christ taking on Him our humanity in order to become "our nearest of kin, as in the Old Testament law, and to share in the guilt for which He paid the price of sin, which had to be liquidated. "God did something for us in order that He might do something in us, and that He might do something through us."

St. Andrew's United church joined for the evening service, the minister, Rev. A. L. Sisco, offering the prayer, with Rev. Walter Patterson, pastor of Grace church, who had charge of both services on the anniversary occasion.

Plant Explosion Kills 6 Civilians

YORKTOWN, Va., Nov. 16—(AP).—An explosion in a warehouse at the United States naval mine depot here today killed an estimated six civilian employees and injured between 20 and 30, two of them seriously. The blast awakened thousands of residents of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News, some 30 miles distant.

Capt. R. D. Kirkpatrick, U.S.N., commanding officer at the depot, said he believed the damage was extensive but no estimate could be given immediately. Several fires broke out but were quickly extinguished.

2 Planes Missing

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Nov. 16 — (CP). — Two R. C. A. F. training planes are missing from the nearby Bagotville base, it was reported. The planes are believed to be two-seater Kitty-hawk fighters and were last checked Monday morning. It was in the same general area where a big R. C. A. F. Liberator recently disappeared with 24 passengers.

Speed Production

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—An army medical corps expectation that production of the new drug, penicillin, will be sufficient by February to meet all military needs and by June to supply the civilian demands, was relayed to the House of Representatives yesterday by Representative George Mahon (Dem.-Tex.).

Professor Dies

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16—(CP). — Dr. Stafford F. Kirkpatrick, 65, former Queen's University professor, who came here in 1939 when he retired as vice-president of the Deloro Smelting and Mining Company at Ottawa, died yesterday. He was professor of metallurgy at Queen's from 1902 to 1918.

Roomy Tank Permits Game Of Cards

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 8TH ARMY IN ITALY, Nov. 1—(Delayed)—(CP).—In Italy, it used to be that a man's home was his castle. Today, for hundreds of young Canadians fighting in Italy, a man's home is his tank. Literally, he fights in it, lives and plays in or around it, and cooks and does his own laundry beside it.

The keenest housewife never looked after a home more meticulously than these men look after their tanks. This is the story of just one tank troop and it's the same all the way through the Canadian armored units here.

I found this troops in "harbor." That's tank lingo for the place tankmen stay in between fights and long cross-country moves. The troop leader is Lieut. T. H. Davidson, 25, of Toronto. The tanks were sheltered under a curtain of branches that hid them from the prying eyes of enemy airmen.

Loves His Tea.

Tents were pitched on tarpaulins rigged up beside each of the big Sherman tanks. Laundered clothes hung from clothes lines strung between the vehicles. Patrol fires built between rocks burned beside each one.

"Yes," said 31-year-old Sgt. Syd Sarson of Timmins, Ont., a crew commander, "this is home."

With a long-sleeved khaki sweater over his shirt and a pair of German binoculars dangling from his neck, the black-bereted tankman sat on a rock beside the fire waiting for water in a petrol tin to come to a boil so he could make tea.

Standing around Sarson, whose job in a tank is to sit in the turret and direct the gunner and driver and keep in wireless communication with the troop leader, were the rest of his crew.

The tank men were entertaining visitors from the other troop tanks, including Cpl. Bruce Casselman, 38, Morrisburg, Ont.

None of the fellows mentioned it, but their commanding officer, a lieutenant-colonel from Toronto and Penetanguishene, Ont., said the men had found the inside of the turret roomy enough to play cards. It is a bit crowded, but the top of the gun breech makes a good card table.

Bracken Warns

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., Nov. 16 — (CP). — John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative leader, said in a public address here Monday that "the dangerous character of some of the radical leadership of today should cause use to do serious thinking." he asserted that progress of Canada was hedged about by two dangers —the danger of extreme radicalism and rigid reaction.

Shapiro Lauds Tough Canadians

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP)—L. S. B. Shapiro of the Montreal Gazette, first Canadian war correspondent on leave in Canada from the Italian front, found on his return here that his Christmas parcels had already been forwarded to his Mediterranean address.

The only Canadian reporter participating in the landing at the beaches of Salerno, Shapiro later crossed country to join the Canadians trudging up the spine of Italy.

Of the Canucks he had only this to say: "Magnificent—they're simply magnificent."

He said the weather and the topography of the country was slowing the Allied advance more than anything else.

"Weather and terrain are our limiting factors," he said. "Rain and mud on the coastal strips and bitterly cold mountainous country in the interior of Italy have a definite effect on the pace of our advance. You can no more stage a blitz attack in the Italian mountains than you could in your own Laurentians at this time of year. Wild country and lack of roads have definitely funneled our superior strength."

He added: "Then the Germans have shown a vast talent in the technique of retreat. They know how to use high ground and they have had the high ground consistently from the time of our assault on the mainland. But we are advancing steadily if slowly. The pace, I am sure, will quicken as we approach more closely to Rome."

$26,000 For Bull

WAUKESHA, Wis., Nov. 16 — (AP). — One of the highest prices of recent years was paid at the United States National Blue Ribbon Holstein sale yesterday when the Curtiss Candy Company paid $26,000 for a yearling bull, Carnation Madcap Supreme from the Carnation Milk Farm near Seattle.

Irish Use Peat As Fuel To Run Trucks

By JOHN DENNIGAN
Canadian Press Correspondent.

DUBLIN, Nov. 16 (CP). — Eire truck operators are testing a new type of producer gas plant, run solely on raw peat.

Producer gas has become a matter of extreme necessity if transport is to be continued because Eire has been deprived of anything like its normal supplies of gasoline. In the past, the most widely used type of gas producer was that powered by charcoal or anthracite.

The argument for the new raw peat type of producer plans that it costs only a few shillings over £3 (about $13.50) a ton, while charcoal costs £36 ($162) a ton.

Eire's electoral system—proportional representation by means of the single transferable vote—continues to be the subject of controversy in newspapers. Eamon de Valera, the Prime Minister, told his party convention he saw grave dangers in the system.

Apparently De Valera observes certain advantages in the single member constituency plan as operated in Britain and elsewhere.

Opponents of P.R. say it was forced on Eire by Britain at the time of the 1921 treaty and they claim it is cumbersome, apart altogether from its tendency to encourage the growth of small parties.

General Franco's government in Spain has sent a military commission here to buy horses. This is the second such mission from the Iberian peninsula to come to Eire in recent months.

Exports of stout and porter—particularly those to Ulster—have been cut drastically to conserve barley for bread. There was a disappointing wheat yield and barley is being mixed with wheat in loaves.

HAVELOCK

W.M.S. Makes Study Of Mission Activities

HAVELOCK, Nov. 16 (ENS): — A study of the book, "Out of the Overflow," a true picture of the United church missionaries' work, with their native colleagues, was presented at the Women's Missionary meeting at the home of Mrs. James Freeman.

The success of the baby welfare clinics, duties of the Chinese public health nurse, the miracles accomplished at Dr. Gilchrist's leper hospital and the evidence of agricultural experiments, are a few achievements of missionary zeal of to-day.

The scripture story, "The Vision of the City of God," was told by Mrs. A. Anderson; "Faith in the City of God," by Mrs. H. Peters; "Building of Sure Foundations" by Mrs. S. J. W. Clarke, and the "Promise of a New World Order" by Mrs. H. Hoard. This was followed by prayers of dedication by Mrs. Wilkinson, Mrs. Kinnaird, and Mrs. Easterbrook.

A substantial cheque for the work of the W. M. S. was received from Mrs. G. W. McColl, Toronto, who resided is the United church parsonage here 50 years ago. Leaders of the Mission Band, Mrs. Wilkinson and Mrs. Kinnaird, announced the Mission Band was selling Scripture calendars this week, and that a tea and program would be held in December. The Baby Band secretary, Mrs. C. Roberts, turned in $4.20 from that department. The nominating committee, Mrs. H. Wing, Mrs. Clarke and Mrs. Easterbrook, will return a slate of officers at the Deember meeting. Eleven members and three visitors were present.

Coventry Razed Three Years Ago

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP). —Three years ago last night the German air force blasted the heart of the ancient city of Coventry but the anniversary passed unmarked by any noteworthy Nazi aerial activity over Britain.

The outstanding development in the air activity during the week-end was an attack on the German port of Bremen in daylight Saturday by a large force of American heavy bombers. The big bombers, together with their escorting fighters, shot down 43 German planes, while 15 bombers and nine fighters failed to return the bulletin said.

Saturday night the ply-wood twin-engined Mosquitoes of the R. A.F. bombed Berlin for the second successive night.

MEMORY OF JULY DAYS.

Suburban gardens had a bleak look this morning; only the remnant of the season's crop and work; headless cabbage stalks and the potato hills like tink craters.

QUIET DAY

After a busy weekend the Fire Department spent a quiet day Monday with only one call at the Fashion Craft Store, George Street, when the pipes gave some trouble. There were no alarms during the night.

MORNING TROT

A St. Bernard dog hitched to a fair sized wagon this morning jogged down Hunter street beside his master who was riding a wheel. The man controlled his pet by a long rope attached to his harness and the animal caught all his signals for turning without a hitch.

REMANDED FOR SENTENCE

William Francis entered a plea of guilty in police court this morning to a charge of illegal possession of liquor, and at the request of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., was remanded until Wednesday for sentence.

AS ORDERED.

Just as a variant to the fuel dealers' accounts of householders who demand anthracite or nothing is the woman who ordered Pocahontas and when two tons of hard coal drove up to the house, weeks and weeks ago, she ordered the delivery man to take them back and bring the Pocahontas.

NAMES ARE WANTED.

Names of all Peterborough boys and girls who are on active service in Canada are wanted by the Women's Active Army Auxiliary. These names must be sent in before the end of next week and should be telephoned to Mrs. Ken Kingston at 6758, or Mrs. George Moore at 4416, or Mrs. J. A. Dewart at 7397.

NEW CHAIRMAN

Maurice Holt, manager of the Household Finance Company, has been appointed by the Kinsmen Club executive as chairman of the Milk for Britain and Sunshine committee. He succeeds Howard Shimer who for several years has been chairman of the Sunshine committee and who did such a splendid job of supplying glasses to many children in Peterborough.

CARELESS DRIVING CHARGE

Pleading guilty to a charge of careless driving, Vincent Corkery, Ennismore Township, was fined $7.50 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning. Constable Bruce Menzies of North Monaghan, who laid the charge, said that Corkery's car had run off the road and hit a tree. No other vehicle was involved and the only damage was to Corkery's car. Corkery said that the damage amounted to around $5.

LIKE THERMOMETER.

The advance of the season was measured this morning by the first frost on the Alparka windows.

THEIR GAME TOO

Men are not the only ones who can get a kick out of the hunting season. A middle-aged woman walked into a store this morning and purchased a hunting license before heading back into the wilds. The clerks are betting that she gets results too.

RECEIVES PROMOTION.

Word has been received that Ann Rae of the C.W.A.C. in Kingston has been promoted to lance corporal. She has been serving about four months and is N.C.O. in charge of the sick bay. Lance Corporal Rea is a sister of Mrs. A. Borland, George street, and was formerly at a Calgary hospital.

BAD DAY.

The Blood Donors' Clinic reports that Monday was a bad day in view of the number of donors present, and ascribe it to the fact the roads were bad and few made the trip from the country. There were 51 present and six of these received their silver buttons for giving a sixth donation. Donors from Lakefield, Bridgenorth and Indian River were present.

PORT COLBORNE PARTY

The weather at Bancroft this morning was hovering uncomfortably close to the zero level when a party of eight deer hunters from Port Colborne took off for home with three deer. Tom Mahon was one of the group who slung a deer over his front fender as evidence of his marksmanship. "Just call it luck" he told an Examiner reporter. The party saw other deer during their week's outing, but three were all they hit.

SALARY RAISED

The salary of Constable Ernest Beatty of the Peterborough police department, who has completed his first year's service as an officer, was raised by $100 a year at the regular meeting of the Police Commission Monday. Passing of accounts was the only other business. Judge Smoke, chairman, presided and Magistrate E. A. Gee was the other commissioner present. Mayor Hamilton was out of town on a hunting trip.

RADIO CASES

J. Swalm, a Duntroon, Ont., farmer, happened to drive through Peterborough at the wrong time recently. He was passing through on a day in which radio inspectors were making a check-up, and as a result he was charged with operating a car radio without a license. On a written plea of guilty in police court this morning, he was fined $3 and $2.75 costs. A similar penalty was handed out to James Grylls of Peterborough, who also entered a plea of guilty to a like charge.

Scuffle In Cafe Costs $61.30

A disturbance in a local restaurant recently developed into a decidedly costly evening for two young Smith Township men.

The pair, William and Thornton Brick, found themselves facing two charges in police court this morning. Both pleaded guilty to creating a disturbance and to doing damage to the extent of $16 each to a showcase and other property of the Mayfair Cafe.

Hum Horning, proprietor of the restaurant, called to give evidence, said that the damage to the showcase, cigarettes, etc., amounted to $32.

The witness had included the price of a meal for which the two men had not paid in the damages, and Magistrate O. A. Langley deducted $1.70 from the total amount.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., stated that the two Bricks had been scuffling and one of them fell through the showcase.

Magistrate Langley fined each of the men $10, with an additional sum of $15.15 each to be paid to Hum Horning and costs of $1.75, making the total for each $26.90.

In addition, the two were fined $2 and $1.75 each for creating a disturbance, so that the total for the pair on the two counts was $61.30.

Citizens' Job

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 16 (AP) — H. W. Prentis, past president of the National Association of Manufacturers, asserted last night in an address that unless all citizens "resolve from this time forward to set aside a certain segment of our time and energy to devote to governmental matters, the end of the American system, as we have known it for 160 years, is not very far distant."

Canned Goods Are In Demand

Several retail merchants report that they were swamped with requests for canned vegetables which have now been released by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and to their hopeful requests the store dealers have had to answer "what vegetables?"

The wholesalers say that they are unable to give the stores any idea of the amount they will be given until they hear from the packing plants, but wholesaler and retailer are agreed on the point that whatever the amount, it will not be large. Some of the merchants expect to limit purchases one to a customer as they have done with other commodites which have been scarce.

Robert Ross, manager of the National Grocers, said today that a store which got 30 cases of canned goods a year ago might get 10 this year, but that was only a guess. Whatever the amount, he said it would take some thinking on the part of the storekeepers to spread it out over the coming months.

One of the stores said they have had an unusual number of strangers dropping in requesting tomato juice, and some of them make a point of asking for not one, but two or three items in the canned vegetable line.

Denies Story

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 — (CP). — Munitions Minister Howe said last night there was "no truth" in reports that a reduction of about 15 per cent in the Munitions Department staff was expected as a result of a survey of employees. He said there had been some reduction in past months but no dismissals or transfers of employees in the immediate future was contemplated.

TRANSPORT PROBLEM

Approximately 100,000 tons of shipping a year are required to transport a division of 20,000 men 1,000 miles overseas, with arms, equipment and stores, and keep it supplied and reinforced.

Salesmanship

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16—(CP)—A new form of salesmanship was uncovered Saturday in a queue leading to a Winnipeg liquor store. After waiting 45 minutes with a friend for the store to open its doors, one customer decided to go back to his parked automobile to escape the cold. But before he did so, he went down the lines and sold his spot up front for $1 cash.

Otonabee School Helps Christmas Fund

To act promptly in an appeal for good to others shows a warmth of heart and spontaneous sympathy for those in need of help that is truly commendable, and when the beneficiaries are thousands of miles away, this all the more accentuates the act, which could almost be termed a virtue.

It is only about two week since the secretary of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund addressed a letter to all the teachers in the territory covered by Inspector Leo Copp, asking them to give leadership in helping to raise money towards the special donations to be sent to give Christmas cheer to the boys and girls in Britain who have suffered through enemy air raids over that country, so it is a matter of great gratification to be able to report that the first response to this has already been received.

This came from Miss Audrey Timlin and her pupils of School Section No. 17, Otonabee, where they held a tea and a bazaar, which was responsible for the contribution of $10 appearing in their name today.

This same school and teacher were represented in last year's Christmas donations, and their promptitude will undoubtedly serve as an inspiration to others in many spheres of activity in the city and district, thus proving of further assistance to the cause.

Moore Preceptory Repeats

The officers and members of Moore Preceptory No. 13 Knights Templar have been listed in the reports for the fund on a number of occasions. On Friday night, this group held its annual re-union assembly, at which further assistance amounting to $14 was gathered in, it also being recorded today.

The penny box at the Bell Telephone Co. Ltd. office on Hunter street has been a good producer for the fund under the supervision of Mr. Conley, the cashier, having already passed the $100 mark in money raised to help things along. The latest collection was made from this box on Monday, adding another $3.80 to its previous good record.

Printing Firms Help

From the very commencement of operations, the fund has had considerable help from the printing firms of this city who have contributed in a substantial manner to help things along.

From all three, this has been emphasized recently through the Peterborough Printing Company giving a large number of plain draw tickets, and the Commercial Press printing a new set of official receipt forms, while D. D. C. Dawe printed the special letter that has and is being sent out by the management with the special appeal for Christmas.

To all three, the secretary of the fund would express sincere thanks for the help they have all afforded to him in this manner for the past three years.

Liquor Charge Follows Raid In Ashburnham

Following a police raid on an East City residence Monday night, Michael Cavalier, Rogers street, was charged before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning with illegally keeping liquor for sale.

Cavalier entered a plea of not guilty to the charge and said that he was not ready to go ahead with his trial.

"We are not ready either," said Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., for the prosecution, asking that the accused should be remanded until Wednesday.

Cavalier made application for bail and was released on bail of $1,000.

Extra Cost Of Living Bonus Nets Girl Getting $15, One Cent Week

The increase in the cost of living bonus which became effective Monday does not apply to the employees of the City Council for the reason that municipalities were optionally exempt from the regulation. Peterborough's Council made other adjustments on a scale of its own devising. On the other hand, the Utilities Commission adopted the prescribed bonus, and payment of the slight increase will probably be considered at the commission's meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Adult males receive an increase of 35 cents a week by the present increase. The present adjustment in the rate of bonus is from 2.4 to 3.8 per cent., an increase of 1.4 per cent. of basic salary.

To that major group the increase is paid on the minimum of $25 a week, and 1.4 per cent. of that wage is just 35 cents.

All other employees who do not receive $25 a week and males under 21 years are affected by the 1.4 per cent. increase of their basic wages.

In the general application of the increase the man receiving $45 a week gets his 35 cents additional bonus which is unlikely to upset his income tax rating. But, in the case of a girl whose wage is $15 a week, the accountancy staffs at Ottawa find that she will actually receive just one cent more a week, after the income deduction in a slightly higher bracket is taken off.

Case of Girl Getting $15

The $15 a week girl formerly received the 2.4 per cent. cost of living bonus or 36 cents a week, making $15.36, but from that sum was taken income tax and compulsory savings of $1.60 a week, leaving a net pay cheque of $13.76.

With the increase of 1.4 per cent. in the cost of living bonus the total now received by this girl is $15.57 and the tax and savings deductions are $1.80, leaving a net of $13.77.

The income tax increase is a consequence of change in income brackets. Here is the case of a $20 a week employee. Salary plus old rate of bonus $20.48 a week, minus taxes and savings of $3.40, leaving a net of $17.08. Salary plus new rate of bonus $20.76, minus $3.60, leaving a net of $17.16; an actual gain of eight cents a week.

The deduction for compulsory savings will be repaid to these employees, the amount of the $15 a week girl being $13.20 a year.

The Ottawa information points out that the cost of living bonus was planned to meet current increased cost of living, and to restore any given salary bracket its original purchasing power as at the start of the war. To do so, therefore, the bonus should be tax-free. In the higher brackets the peculiarity of the vanishing bonus does not apply in the same degree. Indications in Government circles have been that some simplification in tax accounting would be devised by the Income Tax Department, prior to Hon. J. L. Ilsley's next budget, and it was expected that the cost of living bonus problem would be considered along with other expected changes.

Presumably in most of the factories the bonus has been at the rate of $4.25 a week, the maximum as at the Canadian General Electric Company. The increase will be 35 cents to $4.60. To a plant of that size with more than 5,000 employees in a wide range of ages it is probably not easy to compute the effect of this week's change. However, if there are 3,500 in the general group of adults and other employees receiving at least $25 a week, the extra in the payroll for this week must be something like $1,300 for them alone.

Obituaries

MR. AND MRS. N. C. DELONG.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cecil Delong, formerly of Peterborough, both died at their home in Hespeler on Sunday. Mrs. Ada Pearl Delong was in her 51st year, and her husband, who was a foreman at the Auburn for several years, was in his 56th year. A son survives in Lindsay.

The funeral service will be held from the Mackey Funeral Home in Lindsay on Wednesday at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in Lindsay Cemetery.

WILLIAM MITCHELL WOOD.

William Mitchell Wood, who had been ill only three weeks, passed away at his home, 492 George Street South, on Monday in his 65th year. He had been employed as a blacksmith at the De Laval.

Born in Cambray, he was the son of the late Henry Wood. Mr. Wood came from Lindsay 12 years ago, and since moving here he has attended St. James' Church, and was a member of the Offical Board and of the choir.

Surviving are his wife, Grace J. Wood, one sister Mrs. Thomas Hunter of Markham, and two brothers, Thomas of Cambray and Frank of Toronto.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 2 o'clock from the residence, 492 George Street South. Rev. F. W. Craik will conduct the service, and interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

U.F.O. Reports $157,105 Net Earnings

Between 75 and 100 Peterborough farmers are planning to attend the annual conventions of the U.F.O. and the U.F.Y.P.O. in Toronto next Tuesday and Wednesday, and probably some of them will remain for the sessions of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company, Limited, on Thursday.

The United Farmers' Co-operative Company will report total operating earnings of $157,105.07 after providing for depreciation on buildings, plant, machinery and motor vehicles.

From the net earnings interest of $17,515 will be paid to shareholders; and commodity dividends of $44,237 will be distributed on Co-op manufactured feeds and general supplies; to cream shippers an amount of $18,737.92, and to egg shippers $9,344.62. The total distribution amounts to $88,834.74. And the Co-op Company is also paying the Government $37,219.20 for income and excess profits tax.

The business turnover for the year amounts to $17,403,716.23, an increase of more than $2,500,000 over any other year in the company's history. Current assets are shown at $1,237,253.80, and shareholders' equity is $564,666.69.

Peterborough Co-operative Services is sending eight voting delegates to the meeting of the company. They are included in the fifteen to twenty shareholders who will likely go along as participating in the decisions.

The Peterborough feed division is reporting patronage earnings of $2 a ton on all its prepared feeds sold during the year.

Young People's Meeting.

The Young People's organization of the U.F.O. will choose their representatives for the public speaking and amateur entertainment features of their Toronto convention. Reg Hunter, president, told the Examiner there are already four contestants in the public speaking competition, and eight in the amateur entertainment division.

The winner of the oratory feature and the first and second in the amateur contest will represent the local U.F.Y.P.O. in the oratory contest for the whole province, of which they have been the winners for the last two years.

Stamp Sales Total $1,366.25

War Savings Stamps and certificates sold by the Examiner's staff of carriers in October amounted to $1,366.25. The carriers maintained their record of substantial returns in the face of the drain upon household funds by the Victory Loan campaign.

The October Cup for top sales went to Bill Edgar whose total was $414.75. Nancy Leith was second with $241; Gerald Rose turned in $202.75; Murray Wight $91.25 and Don Pagett $80. These were the outstanding sales for the month, and the carriers as a whole are continuing the active selling work which they have long been doing so well.

Corvette Lindsay Is Christened

LINDSAY, Nov. 16 — (ENS). — Following the christening of the new corvette Lindsay at Midland by Mrs. Charles Lamb, wife of Mayor Lamb of Lindsay, about 35 representatives from this town attended the commissioning of the vessel on Monday.

Bruce McNevin, M.P., in a brief address following the ceremony, stated that the Royal Canadian Navy had now grown to a personnel of 30,000 men and 530 ships. In mentioning that Germany had bragged that no other country could ever set foot on her soil he said he believed that the Allies will fight their way into the heart of Germany.

King Injured

CAIRO, Nov. 16 — (AP). — King Farouk I of Egypt suffered a slight pelvic injury yesterday when his motorcar collided with a truck along a bank of the Suez Canal. The 23-year-old monarch was treated at a British Army hospital.

THREE DEAD IN CLEVELAND FIRE—Three are dead and a score injured in a fire and series of explosions that wrecked the plant of the Warren Refining and Chemical Co., Cleveland, Ohio. The four-storey brick building is shown emitting dense clouds of smoke and flame at the height of the fire. The company had been producing oils and greases under war contracts.

Peterboro Lions Incorporate Service Club

Final step in the incorporation of the Peterborough Lions Club was taken at the meeting held Monday evening at the Kawartha Club with P. D. Scollard outlining the meaning of the action and explaining the legal steps necessary to make the incorporation a reality.

This action makes the club a separate legal entity, and in the event of a lawsuit, the club would be the one sued not each member, as would be the case in the event of any action when the club is not incorporated.

Four new members were initiated, and the newcomers were Police Inspector James F. Reid, Stanley Mahood, DeLaval Co., Frank Stokoe, Peterborough Anodizing Company and Bob Pearson, Peterborough Co-op Services. Jack Armitage, Deputy District Governor, conducted the initiation.

Fred Cripps, Peterborough photographer, addressed the club on the Art of Photography and Portraiture, and in an interesting talk traced the remarkable development of this industry from the days of the daguerrotype a century ago to its present high state. He intimated that this art was still in its infancy, and explained how the photography has taken a paramount place in the lives of most people. Pete McGillen introduced the speaker and a vote of thanks was voiced by Jack Armitage.

Guests at the dinner were Bert. Austin, Melville MacGee and Sam Staples, well known Cavan farmer.

Hurrell Dodds, chairman of the swimming pool committee, reported that the booms for mid-river were ready to be placed in position as soon as the ice breaks up in the spring, and he expressed satisfaction that the pool would be ready when the swimming season opens next year. At the same time he extended the thanks of the club to E. R. Wilson, Harris and Boddy, and Tom Doughty for the special assistance given him.

Plans are nearing completion for the staging of a mammoth turkey bingo to be held early in December in the Market Hall, and winners at this bingo may have their fowl stored in a refrigerator without charge until Christmas under a special arrangement with the Lions Club.

Machines Idle As Material And Help Scarce

The opinions among dry goods circles as to which is worst in their factories, shortage of material, or shortage of trained employees, has become a draw. Yarns in the service colors are seldom seen now because the forces have first claim and what is left is released for civilian consumption. The same is true of flannelette such as was used for heavier pajamas.

Many of the hosiery plants have found that their best machines stand idle, not alone through lack of material, but because skilled help is not available and as a result the consumer faces reduced supplies. All-wool dress material is a thing of the past although a combination of rayon and wool has been substituted at a higher price and is proving quite popular as a makeshift. Towels have also been greatly reduced for non-military needs.

In spite of the fact that merchants face the Christmas season with many of their lines completely cut out, or badly reduced, they expressed the opinion that they would manage somehow and that actually things could be a lot worse.

Close Nursery

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP) — A second Montreal District Nursery has been closed, while an inquest on the death of Paul-Emile Lefebvre, six-months-old baby who died Friday night after being removed from the Nursery, will be held today. Coroner Pierre Hebert said the child was the sixth to have died in hospital after removal from private nurseries.

DOCTORS ON CALL

The Peterborough Doctors are observing Wednesday Afternoon as a Half-Holiday throughout the year. Those on call on Wednesday Afternoon and Evening of this week are: Dr. Moir, Dr. Moffat, Dr. H. Young, Dr. Walsh.

IN MEMORIAM

EMERY—In loving memory of L. E. Emery who entered into rest two years ago, November 15, 1941.
—Always remembered by his wife Emma.

BLAIR — In loving memory of William Allen Blair who was accidently killed on November 16, 1942, in his eighteenth year.

We do not forget him, or do we intend,
We think of him daily, and will to the end,
We mourn him in sorrow, and silence unseen,
And dwell on the memory of days that have been.
—Ever remembered by Mother, Father, Sisters and Brother.

HOUGHTON, Corporal Arthur — He made the supreme sacrifice, November 15, 1942.

He died as brave men have a chance to die,
Fighting to save a world's morality,
He died the noblest death that man might die,
Fighting for God, and light and liberty.
—Loving memory, Aunt Ruby and Uncle Wal.

STURGEON — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Charles Sturgeon, died November 16, 1938.
—Ever remembered by his loving Wife and Family, also Doris Fuller, beloved daughter of Mrs. C. Sturgeon and mother of Donald who died September 2, 1942. Sadly missed by her son, Donald, Mother, Sisters and Brother.
"Too dearly loved to be forgotten."

GATFIELD — In loving memory of our dear Dad and Grandpa, William John Gatfield, who left us two years ago today.

Gone from us his loving face,
And his pleasant, cheerful ways,
A heart that won so many friends,
In bygone, happy days,
His life was an inspiration,
His memory a Benediction.
—His Family.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. L. Freure and daughter, Mrs. J. Adams, 607 Water Street, wish to express their grateful appreciation to their many friends and neighbours who sent flowers and numerous cards, and also for many acts of kindness, shown them during their recent sad bereavement.

Chile Seeking To Improve State Relations

OTTAWA, Nov. 16—(CP).—Chile is anxious to see closer relations among all the Americas — north, south and central — Pedro Castelblanco, president of the Chilean Chamber of Deputies, said today in an interview here.

It was with that object in mind, he said, that he came to Canada in the course of a tour of national capitals, bearing a special message of goodwill from the Chilean parliament to other parliaments of the Americas. He has already delivered his message in Peru, Panama, Mexico and the United States.

As parliament is not in session here he is delivering the message to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, with whom he has an appointment later.

Mr. Castelblanco said that in all his contact with Canadians he found proof of friendship for Chile and a desire to enlarge the friendship between the two countries. He had been greatly impressed with what he had seen of the Canadian war effort. It was another link bringing Canada closer to his own country in the common purpose of conserving democracy.

"We think that after this war the exaggerated nationalism which we have seen in the past should come to a stop," he said, "and that in its place there should be economic and cultural inter-dependence among the three Americas."

The Chilean parliamentarian was received today by the Governor-General and also renewed acquaintance with Trade Minister MacKinnon, whom he met during the Minister's visit to Chile some months ago as head of a trade mission. He leaves for Toronto tonight.

$1,000 Reward

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP). — Bobby Ownbey's modest bank account, built up on his $5-a-week errand boy salary, received a $1,000 boost to-day. The 11-year-old boy found a pouch containing three diamond rings, a diamond studded pin and a diamond necklace. The gems, valued at $115,000, were returned to their owner, Mrs. Pauline Weiss, who rewarded Bobby with nine $100 bills and two $50 bills.

Jap Repatriates To Blast America

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Tokyo radio said today a group of the Japanese repatriates who returned aboard the exchange ship Teia Maru would address meetings in the Japanese capital "to exchange the feeling of hostility toward the enemy among the general public."

The broadcast to Japanese audiences, recorded by U.S. government monitors, promised that transactions of the speeches by the repatriates would be broadcast throughout the empire Friday.

The repatriates are to "make detailed reports about our tyrrancal enemy, America."

NEW WRENRIG.

It looks like a sailor hat, acts like a sailor hat, and it's really a sailor wearing it, but this natty new number is properly entitled a Wren beret. Wrens call it "Wrenrig," because it will soon be piped as "Rig of the day" for all Canadian Wrens on duty.

The methods of organization employed by the Army when it gets ready for action is truly amazing, in the opinion of Norman Shields, who is a brother of Howard Shields, Box 802, Peterborough. He is a veteran of Sicily.

"The trip by ship had its incidents, but was much like a pleasure cruise and we first touched in at Algiers. There were a dozen jobs to be done at once, so you can imagine how busy we were. The Germans came over regularly and pasted us. It's no fun and I was plenty scared. The work went on 24 hours a day and the million details had been excellently planned.

"Sicily is sandy and made up of volcanic rock. The ground is of a rolling nature, with orchards and irrigated, cultivated valleys and hillsides. Many of their cities and towns are built on the peaks, and it is quite a sight to drive toward them. There are orchards of lemons, oranges, figs, almonds and olives, and common vegetables are tomatoes, onions, green and red peppers, cucumbers and melons. Vineyards cover the country and there are two colors of grapes grown. We carry on a great barter trade with the natives using cigarettes as a medium of exchange."

Fountains Everywhere.

This soldier found the cities interesting to visit. They have winding narrow streets always filled with people, donkeys and goats, and in the poor sections he found some queer smells, one of the Eastern peculiarities. There is always a large square in the centre of the place, regardless of size. There is generally a fountain, too, a watering place for horses, and running water from pipes for the people to drain their drinking water. The women carry the big pitchers of water on their heads. Occasionally in the cities the men hit a house with running water, but in the villages the poor have no facilities at all.

"The poorer people seem to be terribly crowded, with a whole family living in one room, very often including a donkey or a goat or two. Strangely enough, some of them are meticulously clean. Some of the peasants' clothes are amazing with the number of patches one on top of another. The farmer is very primitive, using horses or donkeys on a line running round and round over their straw to thresh it. They have a good type of horse which seems to have a lot of Arabian blood. There are mules and donkeys all over and the latter carry tremendous loads, making it hard to believe they will not cave in at times. In addition the drivers generally sit up on top."

Plenty of Bugs.

The soldiers are plagued with millions of house flies and malaria mosquitoes, for which they constantly take quinine, and everyone sleeps under a net. They also have a multitude of lizards, which are harmless. The climate is dry and at night it generally cools off, but from ten until three the heat is terrible. But the work goes on anyway, Mr. Shields writes.

"During the hot part of the day we always keep our tams on and handkerchiefs around our necks to keep off the heat. We have all developed what we call the Sicilian crawl, as you don't rush about. Never again will I sit back and decide how a war should be run. My conceptions of how actual combat and supply was carried out now appears positively silly. You will never know what it is like to be fired at, bombed on, or see the battlefield and how supplies and materials are sent up until you actually experience it, and then you realize the tremendous task with which the leaders are faced."

Mrs. Steve Burke, 120 Sophia Street, has received word that her husband, Pte. Steve Burke, R.C.O.C., has arrived overseas. He enlisted with the Prince of Wales Rangers (AF) and then transferred to the R.C.O.C. at Kingston in September, 1942. Prior to enlisting he was employed at the Peterborough Lock Company.

PTE. STEVE BURKE

A brother, Cpl. Raymond Burke, of the 48th Highlanders, is at present at Camp No. 32.

PTE. WILLIAM DAYNES

"The one and only Montgomery" is the manner in which Pte. William Daynes, son of Mrs. Jennie Daynes, Lindsay, now serving with the 1st Division in Italy, refers to General Montgomery. "Monty visited us to-day and gave us a pep talk. He is evidently pleased with Canadians; as for us, we are ready to follow him through to Berlin."

Pte. Daynes, well-known Lindsay athlete, worked at the Dominion Arsenal before enlisting. He was especially prominent in the softball league and played in games against Peterborough. In his letters he states that his fellow soldiers longed for the time when they could again play hockey and baseball.

Following service at Peterborough and Camp Borden, Pte. Daynes served in England, North Africa, and was through the Sicilian campaign. A brother Duncan is with the Infantry in England and hopes to join his brother in Italy. The two are nephews of Mrs. James Robinson, 123 James Street, Peterborough.

The R.C.A.F.'s new operational wing which will be awarded to the members of aircrew who complete a tour of operations, has been augmented with the addition of a bar for each additional tour. One bar to the wing indicates the wearer has completed two tours of operations, two bars three tours, and so on. The number of sorties constituting a tour has been laid down and aircrew who qualify for the award both in Canada and overseas will be entitled to wear it. The certificate presented ith the gold wing reads: "In recognition of distinguished services in that he has completed a tour of operational duty in action against the enemy."

Austin B. McIlmoyle, who is a graduate of the University of Toronto, is now on the R.C.N.V.R. Divisional strength at H.M.C.S. York. He is the son of the late Dr. McIlmoyle of Bracebridge and formerly of Fraserville.

Formerly with the Bell Telephoné Company, Miss G. A. Simpson, R. R. No. 4, Peterborough, who enlisted some time ago in the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F., has just completed her course at No. 2 K.T.S., Toronto, as a telephone operator, and has been posted to the Technical Training School at St. Thomas.

"The Authority on Authorities"

FAVOR ANY OTHER SUIT

ANY OTHER suit at least four cards long which contains probable stoppers for No Trump purposes is a better bid nearly always, in response to your partner's original minor suit bid, than a raise of his suit. Regardless of whether or not your suit is a major, the showing of your protection against it may be all your partner needs to hear in order to bid No Trump. If your suit is a major, that bid has the additional advantage of possibly finding a fit with your partner, so you may try for game in a ten-trick instead of an 11-trick project.

North: ♠ J 10 8 6 ♥ A 3 ♦ Q 9 8 5 4 ♣ 5 2

West: ♠ A Q 9 ♥ Q J 10 4 ♦ 10 6 ♣ Q 8 6 4

East: ♠ K 3 ♥ 9 7 6 5 ♦ J ♣ K J 10 9 7 3

South: ♠ 7 5 4 2 ♥ K 8 2 ♦ A K 7 3 2 ♣ A

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1♦	Pass	1♠	Pass
3♠	Pass	4♠

Pairs which bid that way were the only ones that managed to make game in the duplicate where this deal developed. At a goodly share of the tables, North raised the diamonds. In all of those cases, the eventual contract was either 5-Diamonds, which got set with three spade tricks, or 3-No Trumps, which got beaten by heart leads with three tricks in spades and two in hearts. The 4-Spade contractors, however, all scored game, losing nothing except three tricks in trumps.

After hearing the diamond bid by South, the canny Norths rightly figured that, if South required spade stoppers in order to bid No Trumps, a call of that suit might land the side in a successful contract at that declaration. The bid had the extra advantage of possibly finding South with adequate spade support, which is just what eventuated.

That spade bid would never be made, however, by those players who are more interested in following the unsound dictum in many bridge books that a biddable four-card suit requires an honor trick or more at its top. All expert players, even the writers of those books, will bid a suit like that shown when there is enough honor strength elsewhere in the hand or an adequate distributional fit for the partner's first suit, especially if the opening bid had been in a minor.

If East had bid spades, what card should West lead against South's 3-No Trumps on this deal?

Five Freedoms Essential For Men Who Return Disabled From War

A plea for sympathetic consideration for the problem of rehabilitating Canada's disabled ex-servicemen, was voiced before the Peterborough Rotary Club at the Monday luncheon at the Empress Hotel by W. R. Watson, graduate of the Edmonton University.

Mr. Watson who has been without arms since birth is a striking illustration of how physical handicaps can be overcome for he has taught himself to use his feet to perform most of the functions that would ordinarily be done with the hands and to use his teeth to hold a pen or pencil so that he can write legibly in that fashion. He was able, for instance to feed himself at the luncheon Monday without difficulty.

In his address the speaker who was introduced by Gordon Monkman told the simple story of his own battle to over his physical disabilities and of the work he and his wife had been doing to open the door of hope to other handicapped persons.

Disabled veterans, Mr. Watson, contended, should be assured on their return of five freedoms. In the first place there was physical freedom, by which the speaker said that he meant that disabled soldiers should be provided with all the hospitalization and physical treatment that could be afforded them. Secondly there was mental freedom, in other words they must be relieved of the feeling that life offered them no further opportunity for service. The third reason was vocational freedom that is that they must be trained so that they would be enabled to become self-supporting citizens. The fourth was spiritual freedom, in that they should be helped to develop faith in the future. The last was social freedom, that is that they shall be treated not with pity but with a sympathetic understanding and as ordinary individuals free to carry on their lives without any stigma by reason of their handicaps.

Mr. Watson advocated among other things the establishment of sports sanitoria where free from an hospital atmosphere and in the company of other disabled ex-servicemen, veterans would make great strides toward complete recovery.

Plans made by the Federal Government, the speaker said, for the rehabilitation of these men, offered every promise of succeeding and the speaker urged co-operation with the Government effort. In this connection he mentioned the plan of appointing rehabilitation officers that was being so successfully used in the United States. British statistics, he said, showed that 90 per cent of all disabled soldiers could be so trained that they could take their places as tax-paying citizens.

At the conclusion of his address Mr. Watson sang in fine voice the solo "I Love Life" with his wife providing the piano accompaniment.

A vote of thanks to the speaker and to Mrs. Watson was proposed by Rotarian James Dutton.

Vice-president Gordon S. Matthews presided in the absence of President M. H. Riddle.

EXPLAINS DIFFERENCE BETWEEN AUTOGIRO, HELICOPTER — Helicopter: Power, has no propellor but has, instead, a power-driven main rotor determining speed and direction; lift, main rotor; minimum flight speed, zero, can hover or take off and land vertically.

Autogiro (gyroplane): Power, propellor for forward motion; LEFT, large rotor, no fixed wing, rotated by forward motion; minimum flight speed, 25-30 miles an hour, cannot hover or take off vertically.

Some confusion exists in the minds of many persons over the differences between the autogiro, a type of gyroplane, and the helicopter, which has jumped into the spotlight recently. Differences are indicated on the pictures of the two aircraft ABOVE. Most noticeable difference at a glance is the lack of conventional wing surfaces in the autogiro and the lack of both wings and conventional tail surfaces in the helicopter. Instead, the helicopter has a small rotor on the tail to counteract the torque of the main rotor. This also is used as a rudder by changing the pitch of the blades. Army authorities say that when the helicopter is equipped with low-pressure floats, there are only two surfaces on which it cannot land or take off—dense forests and heavy seas.

Hastings W.M.S. Elects Officers

HASTINGS, Nov. 16 (ENS) — Annual meeting of the W.M.S. of Trinity United church was held on Thursday afternoon at Mrs. Robert Collins.

The president, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, had charge of the worship period, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Fleming, Mrs. Small, Mrs. Glover, Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Virgil Oliver, reading several passages of scripture.

Mr. Fred McGee prepared the topic, from a chapter in the study book, entitled "The Blessing of Help," and was read by Mrs. Herb. Oliver.

Rev. J. E. Glover was present and gave an address on Remembrance Day and Peace.

There were two new members, Mrs. Percy Beavis and Mrs. Arthur Waters.

The officers were elected as follows: president, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe; vice-president, Mrs. Arthur Fleming; recording secretary, Mrs. Gordon Faux; corresponding and literature secretary, Mrs. W. Way; treasurer, Mrs. Herb. Oliver; strangers and community friendship secretary, Mrs R. Collins; Missionary Monthly secretary, Mrs. Metcalfe; pianist, Mrs. Faux.

The December meeting will be held in the basement of the church on a Sunday evening. The hostess served dainty refreshments.

Rumours Flood Bucharest City

BERNE, Nov. 16 (AP). — Rumanian Royal Palace in Bucharest has been placed under heavy guard by political police to prevent opposition parties from establishing contact with King Mihai in connection with a potential crisis caused by the threatening advance of the Russian armies, a Budapest dispatch to the Gazette De Lausanne said today.

"Uncontrolled rumors" are flooding Bucharest and increasing nervousness is apparent in the Rumanian capital, the dispatch said. It reported the arrest of a number of politicians said to have criticized the government for continuing the war at Germany's side.

The Bucharest garrison was said to have been placed on the alert and intense military activity was reported around the ministries of war and interior. Large numbers of German S.S. formations have begun appearing in the Bucharest streets, the dispatch added.

23 Blood Donors From Hastings

HASTINGS, Nov. 16 — (ENS). —Twenty-three blood donors from Hastings and vicinity visited the Peterborough Blood Donors Clinic on Friday night.

Mission Circle

The November meeting of the Trinity United Church Mission Circle was held at the home of Mrs Walter Peck with a large attendance.

A Chapter of the Study Book, "Out of the Overflow" was read and discussed and a worship period was taken by Mrs. Grant Sine.

Miss Jessie Lamb gave a reading on Christian Stewardship, explaining that it was not only giving of our money, but also of our time that helped to further the Christian cause.

It was decided to hold the next meeting on Wednesday, December 8 and a committee was formed to prepare a Christmas program. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

Personals

Miss Pansy Killingbeck of Peterborough spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. W. Killingbeck.

Mr. Alfred Tripp of Lindsay spent the week-end with his sister, Mrs. W. Killingbeck.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Hahn and son Ronald have returned to Kitchener. Mrs. Hahn spent the week visiting friends, while Mr. Hahn, in company with Alton Thompson, Lynn Hill and Mr. McCullough, all enjoyed a week of deer hunting.

Mr. Nelson Halfsteder of Canal Foulton, Ohio, has returned to his home, after deer hunting at Blue Mountain, where he shot a deer, which he took home with him.

Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Smith of Peterborough spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith.

Euchre Party

The euchre under the auspices of the Sewing Circle for Our Lady of Mount Carmel parish for Red Cross work had a fair crowd on Friday night.

Prizes which consisted chiefly of fowl were won as follows: Ladies' first, Mrs. Bart Crowley. Ladies' second Mrs. T. A. Walsh. Gents' first, Fred Lynch, second Vester Lynch. Chair prize, Jim Calberry. Lucky draw, Walter Peck. Vester Lynch made a very capable chair man for the occasion. These euchres are held every Friday evening in the Parish Hall.

Rat Chases Dog

GANANOQUE, Nov. 16 — (CP).— Curiosity urged a local wire-haired terrier to go snooping in a downtown alley here last Friday. He routed out an over-size rat which did not turn tail and flee, but showed fight. The dog, taken by surprise scampered away through the King Street crowd in great haste and embarrassment, pursued by the rat.

$13.16 A Ton Paid On Western Grain

Buying of western feed grain for Ontario delivery increased sharply in Toronto following the announcement Monday of the Dominion Government's drawback of 25 cents a bushel, R. M. Peirson, manager of Co-Op Services informed the Examiner.

"They told me there was a flood of orders throughout yesterday," Mr. Peirson said. "The advance in the drawback brings No. 4 and 5 western wheat to approximately $30.90 a ton in purchase of car lots of thirty tons. The buyer can also claim a further subsidy of $1.20 a ton from the Provincial Government. This price of $30.90 brings the cost of feed wheat back into line with the quotations of last July. Prices around that time rose to a substantial level above barley and oats. It was something like $6 a ton more than barley. A year ago the feed was $3 under the barley figure. We had some carload orders last week from farmers who simply had to get grain."

Subsidies now paid by the Federal Government on feed wheat from the west now amount to about $13.16 a ton, Mr. Peirson estimated.

The new brawback of 25c a bushel replaced the former drawback of eight cents, and is actually an increase of 17 cents the bushel.

Oakes' Enquiry Will Continue

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 16 — (AP). —Raymond Schindler, New York private detective retained by Nancy Oakes de Marigny in the defence of her husband, Alfred, against charges he killed her father Sir Harry Oakes, said yesterday, he would continue his investigation in the case.

Schindler said he had been authorized by persons he declined to name to continue the investigation and added that he would go to New York, Mexico City, Palm Beach and then back to Nassau.

"When she retained me, Nancy's one idea was to find the murderer and she is still more concerned with that than anything else in the world," he declared.

LEROS ISLAND FALLS TO GERMANS

CAIRO, Nov. 17 (AP)—The British command announced today the loss of Leros to German invasion troops, a major setback for the British attempt to seize and hold the Dodecanese Islands, outer defence line for Hitler's Balkans. Organized resistance ceased late yesterday after an overwhelming air bombardment and landings of fresh Nazi forces, a Middle East communique said.

British troops in September landed on Leros, Kos and Castelrosso in the Dodecanese and the Greek island of Samos, less than 20 miles north of Leros. This campaign in the Mediterranean was described as not an isolated effort, but part of the major strategy of the Mediterranean war.

In mid-October the Germans asserted they had retaken Castelrosso. Kos fell last month.

Still Hold Samos.

Other Allied landings were indicated but not announced officially with the Germans claiming reoccupation of Symi and Stampalia (Astypalaea). They also claimed repulse of a British commando raid in October against Kalymnos, between Kos and Leros).

Samos still is in British hands.

The Germans threw picked battle teams into the fight opening last Friday for Leros. Some of their troops were veterans of the reconquest of Kos, 20 miles south of Leros, and others were from Crete, Rhodes, and the Balkans.

The Middle East command said the island fell "after very severe fighting and in spite of the most determined resistance."

Possession of Leros gives the Germans excellent harbors, including the naval base of Lakkitz, the deep harbor of Alinda on the east coast, across the sea lanes of the Dodecanese.

8,000 Prisoners.

(A German broadcast reporting the capture of the island claimed 3,000 British and 5,000 Italian troops were taken prisoners, along with 130 guns.)

No further details on Leros — where yesterday the Allied position had been reported strengthened — were given by the Allied communique.

It said Allied fighter planes made extensive sweeps over the Aegean area yesterday, with enemy installations damaged on Crete, and an enemy plane downed over Leros.

Bombers by night hit the airfields of Calato and Maritza on Rhodes "and preliminary reports point to both attacks being successful."

Beaufighters blew up a Seibel ferry west of Calinos. Three Allied planes were lost in all operations.

In their successful fight to win Leros from British forces which moved in after Italy surrendered, the Germans waged a dual purpose struggle—to protect their first line of defence of the Balkans and to

Stern Measures Taken To Curb Violence

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 — (AP).—The Nazi-controlled Mussolini regime is reported to have fined Milan 100,000,0000 lire ($1,000,000), and to have raised from 1,000 to 2,000 the number of hostages seized from the defiant population to stem civilian violence against the Army, radio Sardinia said today. The broadcast was recorded by the U. S. foreign broadcast intelligence service.

Dispatches from Grenoble, in France to the Swiss newspaper La Suisse today said Grenoble citizens had attacked a German arsenal in that city slaying ten Nazi soldiers and blowing up a powder magazine. Fifteen Frenchmen were reported killed.

The Grenoble dispatches said the attack was staged in retaliation for the arrest of between 300 and 400 persons following the Armistice Day demonstrations on November 11.

Bloody Clashes

Swiss press dispatches yesterday recounted bloody clashes between resistance groups and German forces at Lyon, France and near Domodossola, Italy. The Germans were said to have used both planes and artillery against Italian Partisans near Domodossola and then to have carried out mass executions of prisoners captured in the all-day battles Monday.

Meanwhile, reports of Axis origin attributed part of the mounting tension in Rumania to the mysterious shooting of 10 German soldiers 10 days ago. Two executions were carried out and other executions reported ordered in retaliation.

The Swiss newspaper Journal de Geneva said the Nazis clamped martial law on Grenoble and decreed an extraordinary curfew at 3 p.m. daily. It added 12 German soldiers were killed by the explosion set off by French youths. It was so powerful a huge gas works more than half a mile away was set off, shattering every window in the city and causing great damage.

Thinking the city was being bombed, the populace rushed into the streets in panic and scenes of disorder followed.

Yugoslavs Start New Offensive

LONDON, Nov. 17 — (CP). — The guerilla froces of Gen. Josip Broz (Tito) have begun a counter offensive against German troops in some section of Slovenia. A communique of the Partisans said today they had broken up a Nazi drive that began October 12 in that part of Yugoslavia.

The broadcast announcement asserted that six German divisions —perhaps more than 60,000 troops —had been in action against the Yugoslavs and that the Partisans had inflicted many casualties during the sporadic fighting.

In addition, the Cairo radio broadcast a report that heavy demolitions had made Trieste and Fiume unusable by the Germans.

Tito claimed other successes, notably the liberation of the town of Nevesinje and villages of Zimlje and Visin in Hercegovina, but asknowledged that the Germans likewise had scored victories.

The communique said German troops fighting along the coast of Croatia had captured Crkvenica and landed on the island of Krk (Vegela). Both along the coast and on the island the Partisans continued defensive battles.

Won't Cooperate

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 17 — (AP).—A family of three in the north German town of Nordstaemnel has been sentenced to death by a Nazi court, advices from Germany said today, for failing to provide proper accommodations for bombed out refugees from Hanover.

The accused were said to have quartered the refugees in a hall in their 10-room house instead of giving them a room.

Onus Is Placed On Crown Lords' Day Act

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP)—Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell, in a ruling handed down today, said that in the future no charges can be laid under any Lord's Day Alliance Act without leave in writing by the attorney-general.

Previously any person could lay a charge under the 100-year-old statute still in force here and known as the profanation of the Lord's Day Act.

Mr. Blackwell's ruling follows the prosecution laid, but later withdrawn, in York Township against three farmers for harvesting crops on Sunday.

(The Federal Government, apparently seeking to avoid a repetition of the action taken in this case, has passed an order-in-council forbidding in Canada prosecutions for violation of any act or law relating to observance of the Lord's Day without permission of the attorney-general of the province concerned, it was announced today.)

The new Ontario order has been directed to all crown officials in Ontario magistrates, crown-attorneys, provincial police, municipal chief constables and justices of the peace.

Order Passed Nov. 4

Mr. Blackwell said the York Township charges were laid by police without consulting any crown officers and that a Dominion order-in-council of Nov. 4 this year directs that no action or prosecution for violation of the Lord's Day Act "shall be commenced without the attorney-general's leave."

A ruling from the Federal Department of Justice was requested by Mr. Blackwell following criticism of the laying of the charges in York Township.

Justice Minister St. Laurent ruled the change "is advisable at the present time for the security, defence, peace, order and welfare of Canada and for the efficient prosecution of the war."

The Ontario Attorney-General told Mr. St. Laurent that "our people face a food emergency and it was highly undesirable that farmers should be faced with prosecutions instituted by fanatics when our farming community is faced with the problem of seeding and harvesting with a great manpower shortage."

23-Year-Old Hero Returns From War

POPLAR, Wis., Nov. 17 —(AP)—A soldier with the bloom of youth still in his cheeks came home to the modest farm of the Carl T. Bong family early today, threw his arms around his mother and said "Hi-ya mom."

His mother held him tight, repeating "Sonny, sonny," amid tears of joy.

Then all was bedlam as a 29-piece band of Superior Teachers College Air Corps trainees struck up the Army Air Corps song.

Capt. Richard I. Bong, 23, Wisconsin's first ace of the war who had bagged 21 Jap planes in the New Guinea area, had come home.

Red Legions Storming Gomel City

3 Of 6 Railways To Korosten Cut By Russians

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Nov. 17.—(AP).—Red army troops closed in on Gomel to-day, storming the last important German base east of the Dnieper river, in a furious assault which threatened to add the city to the impressive list of conquests achieved by the Russians in their 1943 offensive.

Russian forces pushed west from their bridgehead on the Sozh river north of Gomel, while other units struck beyond the Dnieper south of the city, broadening their wedge below Rechitsa, an important railroad town 115 miles east of the Polish frontier.

The Russian push in the Ukraine, though slowed down by adverse weather and stiff German counter-attacks, particularly in the Zhitomir and Fastov sectors, continued to edge toward Korosten, the rail junction controlling traffic on the Leningrad-Odessa and Kiev-Warsaw railways.

(A Reuters News Agency dispatch from Moscow said the German hold on Korosten had been further weakened by severance of the third of six rail lines converging there. The dispatch added that Gomel was being heavily shelled by Russian field guns and that the city was virtually isolated).

Reach Turchenka

One Red Army column, a Russian communique said already had reached Turchenka, 14 miles south of Korosten. A second coming in from the southeast captured Chepovichi, 15 miles away, and a third was at Obikhodi, 15 miles northeast of Korosten and within 13 miles of the north-south Odessa-Leningrad railway.

The Red Army columns battering the defences of Gomel, having cut the Gomel-Kalinkovichi rail line yesterday, were driving toward the latter stronghold which is still another rail junction important to the enemy supply set-up

German counter-action appeared concentrated in attacks on Vatutin's flanks in the Korosten-Zhitomir - Fastov area. These thrusts were repulsed, the Soviet communique said.

German broadcasts hinted that a Nazi withdrawal from the Dnieper River bend was about to get under way, although the Germans were reported still throwing in large forces of infantry and tanks to hold a threat against Krivoi Rog, iron and industrial centre controlling a German escape corridor to the west.

Western Conference

CALGARY, Nov. 17—(CP).—Provincial Ministers of Highways and Public Works, with their deputies and engineers, gathered here for the opening today of an inter-provincial conference, called to deal with post-war plans. Every Minister is prepared to discuss projects which have been prepared after surveys in his own province.

Two Airmen Are Killed Near Haultain

Two airmen were reported killed in the crash of a plane over the deer hunting country of Burleigh township about four miles north of Haultain on the Apsley Road around 11 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. William McAuley of Haultain informed the Examiner this afternoon that hunters had brought the news of the air tragedy which they said they had witnessed, and telephoned from her home to R.C.A.F. authorities.

One of the two bodies was released from the plane by hunters who were attracted to the spot where it plunged through the trees, setting some of them nearby on fire, according to the statement of several hunters who said the second body was beyond their power of removal from the wreckage.

"We were told that the plane had been banking and that after turning over in flight, the pilot was unable to regain control, and it crashed into the trees," Mrs. McAuley said.

It is understood that two eyewitnesses of the plane's descending peril were Game Warden I. J. Lyons of Peterborough and Tom Curvin.

The fatality occurred about one hundred yards west of the Peterborough-Apsley Highway, and four miles north of Haultain. The name of one of the two men was believed to have been learned by hunters.

American Troops Regain Some Lost Ground

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Nov. 17 — (AP). — U.S. heavy and medium bombers in a double-ply blow ripped up two Nazi airfields near Marseille yesterday, and other bomber fleets cracked again at German objectives in Greece and Yugoslavia, it was annonuced to-day.

On the Italian land front, mud, rain and snow bogged activities, but American troops in one brisk patrol action regained some high ground north of Venafro which they lost Monday.

American four-engined bombers knocked down 12 out of 25 to 30 defending German fighters over the air base at Istres le Tupe near Marseille, where the Nazis have concentrated bombers against Allied Mediterranean shipping. Many grounded bombers were left in flames, and large fires and explosions sowed over the field.

Bomb Athens.

The bombers hit Istres le Tupe shortly after noon. Fifteen minutes later two-engined bombers escorted by fighters began showering bombs on th nearby airfield at Salon. They shot down one German fighter, hit grounded aircraft, and possibly an ammunition dump.

Hundreds of miles to the east, other medium bombers from Italian bases again battered the Elevsis airfield at Athens, starting 10 fires. Another force of mediums attacked Sibenik Harbor in Yugoslavia, while fighter-bombers hammered a 300-foot vessel near Ancona, Italy, and a smaller ship near Grottanmare.

For the third consecutive day, the Italian front line remained virtually unchanged, rounding out a week in which Allied gains have been measured in yards instead of miles.

A communique said patrol clashes also occurred, resulting in capture of some German prisoners.

"Very bad weather conditions" continued to restrict operations on both the 8th and 5th Army fronts, said the communique added.

Thirteen German planes were destroyed during a number of aerial

Rabaul Costly For Japs To Hold

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP).—A climax in the campaign for Rabaul, once powerful Japanese base in the South Pacific, appeared near today — dangerously near for the enemy.

This was emphasized by a spokesman who told of mounting damage to Japanese ships and to planes in the Rabaul area, and asserted:

"The Japanese have suffered enough damage to important fleet units to give them cause for the serious consideration of abandoning the base as too hot to handle."

His statement, made after he reported the destruction of 102 enemy planes in the last six days and the battering of surface units in the Rabaul area, tied in closely with a previous assertion by the United States Navy Secretary Frank Knox that there is a possibility the Japanese might in time evacuate Rabaul.

For weeks Allied bombers have hammered incessantly at the enemy stronghold on New Britain island northwest of the Solomons.

They have sent ship after ship to the bottom of the vast harbor and some of those wrecks undoubtedly are hampering the movement of enemy reinforcements and supplies.

Deer Hunter Uses Apple As Ammunition Takes Deer Alive On Last Day Of Hunt

TRURO, N.S., Nov. 17.—(CP).—Any doubters of Mrs. Mur Waller's deer-hunting story can find the evidence scampering around her farmyard.

On the final day of the deer season Mrs. Waller was in the woods when a deer strolled unconcernedly into her camp. She reached for an apple instead of her rifle, and the animal ate it out of her hand.

The deer hung around for the rest of the day and, says Mrs. Waller, when the party made ready to go home it walked to the car, climbed into the rear seat and made itself comfortable for the trip to her farm at nearby McClure's Mills.

Mrs. Waller thinks the deer—a 1½ year old buck—must have been previously tamed and wandered back into the woods.

Re-Equipped With US Arms 300,000 Frenchmen Ready

By CAPT. ANDRE MAUROIS.

ALGIERS, Nov. 17—(AP).—In December, 1942, a mission headed by General Bethouart went to the United States to look after the rearmament of the French Army.

During the Tunisian campaign the first of these supplies began to arrive in Africa, and later, during Gen. Henri Giraud's trip to the United States, new agreements were drawn up that the French Army was to have at least 400,000 men.

On Gen. Giraud's return the unification of all French forces finally was achieved. There now is in Africa and there will be tomorrow in France nothing except one single army. There is no fighting organization prouder of its arms than the new French Army. Throughout Africa fine regiments of tanks and tank destroyers which have evolved from our cavalry can be seen.

It would be easy to mobilize in the French empire an even stronger army, but leadership is required, and for that French officers are needed. They have been found in Africa. Others have fled from France and arrive here every day. A school for officer candidates has been organized.

New air force pilots are being instructed in Britain, Canada and the United States and the squadrons already formed are receiving American and English aircraft.

So at present the French Army again has become an excellent, modern army.

This new army is, so to speak, all puffed up and ready to go. Its morale is of the highest and it waits impatiently for battle. All of these young Frenchmen have the feeling that they must take revenge and they are in a hurry to take it.

The short campaign in Corsica is important in the history of the French army not because of the numbers employed, which were very small, but for these two reasons:—

1. This was the first time since the Armistice that the French army, air force and navy performed, without assistance, a combined operation. French ships transported and protected our soldiers while French pilots scored numerous victories.

2. For the first time also the French army had re-established French sovereignty in a French department.

IMMIGRATION INCREASES

OTTAWA—Immigrants to Canada during the six months ended Sept. 30 totalled 5,033, a 15.1 per cent increase over the 4,374 immigrants arriving in the corresponding period of 1942.

Massacre Jews In Kiev Suburbs

MOSCOW, Nov. 17 — (AP). — An eyewitness account of Jewish massacres in Kiev during the early days of its occupation by German troops has been given the newspaper Izvestia by Dmitri Grlov, a resident of Kiev, who said he saw hundreds of men and women stripped naked and then shot at the edge of a gulley into which their bodies dropped in a great pile.

In the account, distributed by Tass news agency, Grlov said:—

"Several days after the Germans entered Kiev I went to Lvovskaya street. An incessant procession of people was streaming through it and both sidewalks were lined with German patrols. This human stream kept flowing for three days and three nights without interruption.

"The Germans were driving the Jews to Babyi Yar gulley beyond the city. I also steathily made my way to that place. I was able to stand the sight of what I saw there only for 10 minutes and after that everything went black before my eyes.

Three Day Slaughter

"The Germans forced people to undress and then methodically gathered their clothes and loaded them on trucks. In separate trucks they put underwear. Then they tore from naked people — there were men and women among them—rings and watches if they had any, dragged them up shivering from cold or mortal terror at the edge of the gulley and shot them.

"The German did not spend any bullets on little children. But

Windsor Murderer Gets Life Sentence

DETROIT, Nov. 17—(AP).—Emyrs Richards, 51, was sentenced in recorder's court today to life imprisonment after pleading guilty to a second degree murder charge in the death of Mrs. Mary Gallian, 18-year-old wife of a United States army officer.

The girl's husband, Lieut. James F. Gallian, is the son by a previous marriage of Richards' estranged wife.

Richards, in a statement following the finding of her body, slashed with a butcher knife, charged the young woman was responsible for the estrangement.

Giraud Wants Full Charge

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
Associated Press Staff Writer.

ALGIERS, Nov. 17 — (AP). — After a "satisfactory" conference with the French Committee of National Liberation and another meeting with senior Allied officers, Gen. Henri Giraud withdrew today, for a period of at least two weeks, his resignation as Commander-in-Chief of the French armed forces.

His action was taken provisionally although the committee, controlled by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, has not given Giraud written guarantees of a free hand in running the French Army as he demanded.

Giraud expressed confidence a written statement of the committee's agreement with his conditions will be forthcoming soon. However, a De Gaullist spokesman predicted the committee would not accept Giraud's terms.

Curbs Farm Land Inflation

Wickard Warns Of Dire Consequences

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 17 (AP). — United States Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard asked the National Grange Convention today in a prepared speech to support a stiff special tax on profits made from re-sale of farm land during the war emergency as a measure to curb a new land boom.

Stating that there are some indications that farm land prices are going up in the United States as they did during the First Great War, the Secretary warned that inflated farm values would have a tragic consequence for agriculture.

Wickard urged also that the Grange support administration efforts to hold the line against inflated commodity prices and wages.

Taking cognizance of expressed Grange opposition to the food subsidy phase of the United States administration's anti - inflation program, Wickard said he saw only two alternatives — higher prices and consequent wages and finally uncontrolled inflation, or inadequate farm returns and insufficient food production to meet war needs.

Lebanon Mix-up Believed Powder Keg

Fear Grows That Entire Moslem World May Be Antagonized

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

It would be difficult to wrap up a larger amount of explosives in a smaller package than has been done by circumstances in the case of the Republic of Lebanon.

The efforts of this bantam state to escape the French mandate and establish its absolute independence with the resulting disturbances and bloodshed, have created a dangerous problem for the United Nations. Indeed, the situation has become so serious that one would expect it to be one of the important matters to be dealt with at any conference which may be held by Messrs. Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin.

At the time of the First Great War Lebanon was part of the Turkish province of Syria. The Allies drove the Turks out and Syria was placed under a French mandate.

Lebanon was most unhappy about this arrangement for two reasons. She didn't want to be controlled by the French, but preferred either Britain or America, and she didn't wish to be part of Syria, which is Moslem while Lebanon was one of the earliest of Christian countries. France gave her autonomous status, but still retained control.

The Dangers.

Among the dangers may be listed these:

1. The friendship of the many Moslem peoples, which means so much to the United nations and the security of the Middle East, is involved.

2. Gen. de Gaulle, who has been having his difficulties with London and Washington, is again in a tough spot. Involved is not only his personal status but that of his Committee of National Liberation which the Free French hope to see become the provisional government of Liberated France. The position is such as could affect the post-war relations of France and the other United Nations, and this imbroglio comes just as the Allies are getting set to invade France with the aid of 300,000 French troops in Africa.

3. The suppression of the Lebanese cannot help but give rise to further questions regarding the meaning of that part of the Atlantic charter in which Britain and the United States set forth the principle that there will be respect for the right of all peoples to choose their own form of government and restoration of "sovereign rights and self-government" to those "forcibly deprived of them."

Train In Peacetime

MONTREAL, Nov. 17 — (CP).—Brig. J. R. Rees, consulting psychiatrist of the British Army, said here yesterday he believed compulsory military training in peacetime would help eliminate many men unfit for battle service and he also expressed the hope of seeing after the war the process of Army slection reversed so that men returning to civilian life would be chosen for the job they were best fitted to fill.

Fliers Die To Save Village

French Pilot Clears Football Field

LONDON, Nov. 17—(CP). — The crew of a flaming bomb-laden United States heavy bomber, who chose death rather than endanger the tiny Bershire village of Wargrave, and a fighting French bomber pilot and his navigator who made a similar sacrifice, were hailed today as the newest heroes of the war.

The crew of the American bomber stayed aboard the plane to see that the bombs were safely jettisoned and the ship cleared the village. It exploded in the air. One man was thrown clear and he parachuted to the ground, suffering only a sprained ankle.

"They could have bailed out and abandoned the plane earlier if they had thought only of themselves," said Val Wyatt, chief of the Wargrave A.R.P. rescue squad.

"I believe," he added, "they remained aboard to jettison the bombs in the river. The plane blew up about 100 yards from the last house in the village."

The fighting French pilot, rather than endanger players with an emergency landing in a football field, crashed his plane near an anti-aircraft gunsite.

Plumbers Seek Modern Aids For Rural Homes

TORONTO, Nov. 17—The recommendation that plumbing and heating installations be encouraged by some Government plan for rural homes that have not such conveniences will be immediately urged in a brief to be submitted to Federal authorities by the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating. This decision was taken last night by over 75 manufacturers and distributors from coast to coast in annual meeting. A resolution was also passed unanimously that the Federal Government, at the proper time, be urged to again support and bring into activity the National Housing Act and the Home Improvement Plan, to be applicable to all Canada.

The greatest postwar expansion of the industry will come from the rural areas and will last for years, declared George E. Fisher, Galt, in his presidential report.

Demobilization Problem

Young men and women disbanded from the armed services or wartime industry are not going to be content to return to rural homes unless these homes contain the sanitary facilities that they have become familiar with, said the speaker. Serious problems faced by Departments of Agriculture are to stop the drift of young people from the farms to urban centres, and to coax back the tens of thousands of young men and women who have gone into wartime industry or will later be demobilized.

The brief to the Federal Government urges co-operation with rural

Bombers Blast Targets In France

LONDON, Nov. 17 — (CP). — R. A. F light bombers and fighters attacked a seaplane base near Brest, an alcohol plant near St. Nazaire and communications targets throughout Northern France yesterday while U.S. heavy bombers blasted a power station at Rjukan about 80 miles west of Oslo and a molybdenum mine near Knaben.

Two bombers were lost in the raids and six Nazi planes were destroyed, a communique said.

American heavy bombers blasted an airfield at Istres Le Tube, near Marseilles, France it was announced today.

Medium bombers attacked the air fields at Salon, also in the Marseilles area of the French south coast.

American medium bombers returned to Greece to bomb the Elevsis airfield at Athens, while other bombers ranged across the Adriatic to hit the Yugoslav harbor of Sibenik.

Cairo Likely Conference Spot

LONDON, Nov. 17 — (CP). — Axis speculation over a possible conference between Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt, and Premier Stalin was intensified today by a Budapest broadcast hinting that Cairo might be a likely place for such a meeting.

"Well-informed circles," the broadcast said, "are of the opinion that a meeting between Churchill, Stalin and Roosevelt will take place in the near future."

It then quoted "Cairo circles" as saying that the Mena House Hotel there was being redecorated and put in readiness for an "important conference."

Washington, the broadcast added, views the prospects of a meeting between the three Allied statesmen "with great confidence and even greater results are expected than at Moscow."

The Daily Mail, meanwhile, quoted the Ankara radio as saying that "according to well-informed Allied circles, a Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin conference will take place in the near future."

No official comment on either broadcast was forthcoming in London.

sweeps yesterday, the bulletin said Allied losses were three planes.

The Germans had taken ground held by the Americans in two savage counter-attacks.

On the other end of the winding Allied line, the British 8th Army although shorn of air support by the weather, edged forward to take some new ground north of Atessa, 14 miles in from the Adriatic. Meanwhile, 8th Army patrols ranged across the Sangro River to feel out the enemy's strength.

Reistance by the Germans was reported as stiff all across the peninsula while the attacking Allies were handicapped by roads that were turned into slimy brown strips of mud by the rain.

Pointing up the difficulties of the fighting in Italy, Don Whitehead, Associated Press correspondent with the 5th Army, wrote, "neither Tunisia nor Sicily presented the difficulties which the Allied troops must overcome before they drive the enemy into northern Italy." He also pointed out that the weather, while holding up the Allied advance, helped the Nazis as it frees them from constant blasting by the Allied air force.

Refrigerators At Cost Planned For Farmers

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — Government financing of the manufacture of refrigerators to enable them to be sold to farmers at actual cost price is being studied by the Province, Agriculture Minister T. L. Kennedy told the Ontario Federation of Women's Institutes last night. Similar financing would take care of low cost bathtubs and other bathroom equipment for farm homes, the Minister said.

"We are in earnest in this matter," said Col. Kennedy. "For some weeks now I have had a refrigerator engineer at work designing a type of refrigerator that will be ample for the needs of the farmer and one that we can have manufactured in large quantity to bring down the price. It is my idea that the Government would finance the manufacture of these and sell them to the farmers at actual cost price, so as to bring them within the reach of every farm home. We are hoping to do the same thing with bathtubs and other bathroom equipment so as to make it possible for every farm home to have a properly equipped bathroom.

"These are matters in which you will naturally be interested," Col. Kennedy told the members. "We would be glad to have any suggestions and recommendations that you feel would be helpful to the farm home. I believe that steps like these would go a long way toward making farm life more attractive to our young people."

58 Killed

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 — (AP). — A Rome dispatch broadcast last night by the Berlin radio said 58 persons were killed and more than 200 injured when two trains collided on Monday on a privately-operated electric line from Rome to Viterbo, 40 miles to the north. The cause of the collision was not stated.

Splendid Cough Relief, Mixed in Your Kitchen

No Trouble. No Cooking. Saves Big Dollars.

Yes ma'am, right in your own kitchen, you can easily mix a cough syrup that can be depended upon for quick results, and gives you about 4 times as much for your money. And no trouble—it's so easily prepared.

You'll need a syrup. Make it by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Now get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, and pour it into a 16 oz. bottle. Then add your syrup. There you have 16 ounces of really splendid medicine for coughs due to colds. It lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

And does it do the work! You'll say it's your favorite cough treatment. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases the soreness, and lets you rest at night.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Marigny Faces Another Charge

By E. V. W. JONES
Associated Press Staff Writer

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 17 — (AP). — Alfred de Marigny appeared in court again today—this time to plead not guilty to the illegal possession of gasoline which figured in his recent trial for the murder of Sir Harry Oakes.

He was charged in Magistrate's Court with being in possession of gasoline believed stolen and with obtaining gasoline from other than official sources.

De Marigny's close friend, Marquis Georges de Visdelou, pleaded guilty to the same charges, but Brice Pinder and Dan Knowles joined De Marigny in pleas of not guilty.

Banker John H. Anderson pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of violating gasoline rationing laws by assisting in the dispersal of the gasoline, and was fined £50.

Witnesses who testified at the murder trial which brought De Marigny's acquittal said several drums of gasoline were taken to De Marigny's Victoria Avenue cottage July 8 — the day the bludgeoned and burned body of his father-in-law, Sir Harry was found.

Can't Wed Wife

Anderson testified that De Marigny asked him July 9 to have the gasoline moved away.

Anderson said he reported the matter to police because he feared there might by some connection between the gasoline and the slaying and he did not want to become implicated in the latter.

Meanwhile, De Marigny explained that his scheduled re-marriage in a Roman Catholic Church was called off Monday because his wife Nancy has not attained the legal age where she may be wed without her parents' consent.

Nancy is 19, and the legal age in the Bahamas is 21.

"It's a strange situation when a man can't marry his own wife," said De Marigny. "But that's how it stands."

De Marigny unexpectedly announced Monday he and Nancy would be re-married, explaining they were not wed in a church the first time. The re-marriage was later called off.

Nancy planned to go to the United States yesterday, but was unable to get a plane seat. She wanted to talk to friends at Miami, and to confer at Palm Beach with her mother, Lady Oakes.

De Marigny indicated that one of the subjects she would discuss with her mother was the re-marriage situation.

She will go to the United States next week with Godfrey Higgs, De Marigny's counsel.

Meanwhile she is under the care of a physician, near collapse as the result of strain and the postponement of an operation on her jaw.

impress the Turks that they still have power in the Aegean.

The British-Italian garrison was under constant assault from German planes based on Rhodes, 80 miles away. Leros is eight miles long and three miles wide. Deep, rocky inlets around the coasts make its defence difficult.

Influence Turks.

British occupation troops are still on Samos, Greek sland less than 20 miles north of Leros. There have been unconfirmed reports that when they occupied the other islands British troops also moved into Castelrosso, Dodecanese island some 90 miles east of Rhodes.

Perhaps the main purpose of the Germans in waging a bitter and costly struggle for Leros was to keep Turkey, which is friendly to the Allies, in a state of non-belligerency. The fight came close after a meetings at Cairo between Foreign Secretary Eden and Numan Menemencioglu, Turkish Foreign Minister.

It remains to be seen what effect the German diversion in the Aegean will have on other fronts in the Balkans, Russia and Italy. British authorities recalled that air operations in the capture of Crete in the spring of 1941 had an almost crippling effect on the German air force for a time.

Even before the loss of Leros was announced, the London Free Press criticized the Dodecanese operations and there was some talk of a change in the Middle East command as a result of the setbacks there.

Gen. Sir Maitland Wilson is commander-in-chief in the Middle East.

Yugoslavs Want Ambrosio Fired

AT ITALIAN GOVERNMENT HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHERN ITALY, Nov. 17 — (AP). — Gen. Victor Ambrosio, whom the Yugoslavs have accused of war crimes, may be replaced soon as chief-of-staff of the Italian Army it was understood today following the announcement of Premier Marshal Badoglio of the personnel of his "technical government."

Ambrosio recently replaced Gen. Mario Roatta who was removed as chief-of-staff ater an investigation of similar charges brought against him by the Yugoslavs.

Badoglio's new cabinet includes Gen. Taddeo Orlando, who was released from an Allied prisoner of war camp at the request of Badoglio to take the post of undersecretary of war.

Hepburn Plans To Support Drew

TORONTO, Nov. 17.— (CP). — Mitchell Hepburn's enigmatic career in politics has taken another characteristic twist.

Now Independent Liberal member of the Ontario Legislature for Elgin riding, the man who resigned dramatically as Liberal Premier of Ontario in October, 1942, announced last night he will support Premier Drew's Progressive Conservative government in the Legislature.

"I am going to support his government because he is a good soldier, a good citizen and a hard-working public servant," Mr. Hepburn told delegates to the seventh annual conference of the Ontario Property Owners' Association.

Cryptically, he added: "I won't say I'll do it blindly, but so far as my conscience will permit—it is almost unbelievable how far you can stretch your conscience."

He praised Col. Drew for his "tenactiy of purpose" and described the Premier's record as enviable. He expressed hope Ontario would not see another general election for some time.

Both Mr. Hepburn and Col. Drew criticized the C.C.F. The Premier said those who support the C.C.F.'s "strange new doctrine" should examine what the C.C.F. is doing. Mr Hepburn said he fears zeal to create reforms may cause advocacy of "unsound theories that will bring the very chaos we are trying to avoid."

Nurses Survive Torpedo Sinking

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 — (CP). — The torpedoing — with only one casualty — of a ship carrying the Canadian nursing sisters, troops and passenger recalled the sinking in 1941 of the Nerissa with the loss of 122, including members of the navy, air force and army and some civilians.

Dispatches from the Middle East where the ship was hit by a German aerial torpedo while in a Mediterranean convoy, did not indicate whether the vessel was a distinctly Canadian transport, as was the case of the Nerissa, sunk in the North Atlantic in what was believed to be a U-boat attack.

Douglas Amaron, a Canadian Press war correspondent en route to Italy aboard the Mediterranean vessel, reported that 99 nursing sisters and Red Cross workers swam, paddled and rowed to safety across rolling seas after the attack.

Those listed as missing after the Nerissa attack included another Canadian Press employee, Sam Robertson, superintendent of the CP's London bureau who was returning to his post after a holiday in Canada.

More than a year ago 24 members of the R.C.A.F. were lost in an Atlantic sinking.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 17 — (CP). — Rye futures opened strong Tuesday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, but profit-taking, together with selling by nervous longs, brought values as much as a cent below the previous close. Final quotations were ¼ cent higher to unchanged.

Trade in rye was not large and the pit was deserted at frequent intervals. For most of the session the market moved independently of Chicago, where values were firm.

Reports circulated during trading that Eire was inquiring for 3,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, but no actual sales were confirmed.

Pacific Theatre Needs More Men

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 17—(AP)— Comment by the chief of the U.S. Navy Bureau of Supplies on the amounts sent to the Southwest Pacific prompted an Allied spokesman to declare today that the available men and equipment were insufficient for a large scale offensive against the Japanese.

The spokesman, Col. Le Grande Diller, said the Southwest Pacific "has something less than 5 per cent of American military resources, "excluding air resources which are even smaller; the area "is now receiving something under 10 per cent of what America is shipping overseas"; and "without complaint, the area is doing everything it can with what it has."

Col. Diller commented after newsmen had asked his reaction to dispatches quoting Rear Admiral William Brent Young as saying "American supplies are reaching the Southwest Pacific in quantities sufficient for large scale operations against the Japanese."

Meanwhile, features of the latest war reports were the sinking of an 8,000-ton cargo ship and the damaging of a second large vessel during a 17-ton bombing attack by Australian-manned Beauforts on Rabaul, New Britain; the bombing by an American Catalina Flying Boat of a 9,000-ton merchantman which had to be beached on the coast of New Zealand; and the downing of between 20 and 26 of 54 enemy planes which raided Allied airfields in the Ramu and Markham valleys of New Guinea, causing some damage.

Mr. Blackwell said he previously suggested to the chief of police in York township, Robert Alexander, that "police officers should consider the nature of the national emergency and exercise discretion in being parties to laying charges against farmers engaged in a work of national necessity."

"The chief, however, refused to reconsider his decision until public opinion became so strong against his action that he asked to have the charges withdrawn."

Ghastly Murder Shocks Montreal People

MONTREAL, Nov. 17—(CP)—Police of neighboring Westmount said they were holding a 14-year-old boy for questioning today after Mrs. Andrew R. Webster was found murdered in her bed and three other persons, two of them children, were taken to hospital in serious condition from the home near exclusive Westmount boulevard.

Westmount police identified the boy as George Webster, son of the murdered woman and brother of the two children injured. They said he had been brought to the police station in a state of coma and was was being held there until he recovered sufficiently to tell his story.

Those in hospital were identified as Nina Jean Webster, aged 12, and Andrew, Jr., aged eight, and a 25-year-old woman, Miss Sylvia Cust, of Melbourne, Australia, a friend of the family who had resided with the Websters for several years.

Police said they believed Mrs. Webster and her two children had been attacked in their second-floor bedroom where they were found with a baseball bat near at hand. The room showed evidence of a struggle, with broken furniture and blood-stained floors.

Child Unmolested

Miss Cust was attacked, apparently with the same weapon, in her bedroom on the ground floor of the home.

Only other person in the house at the time, Jeannette Brown, eight-year-old guest child from Britain, was not molested.

Police said the first word of the tragedy came when someone at the house called the telephone operator and asked her to call the police.

Mr. Webster, vice-president of Webster and Sons, Limited, Montreal building supply firm, was in Toronto at the time. Police said he was expected back about noon today.

The house, aside from the two rooms, appeared undisturbed and police said there was no evidence of robbery.

Special Permits Needed For Transportation

HAVELOCK, Nov. 17 — (ENS). — The Board of Education held its November meeting this week, with Chairman Bernard Smith presiding.

Transportation of school pupils from Trent River is not settled, since special gasoline permits and tires are to be applied for. Principal Goheen reported that the Air Cadets are working on a full course of training, including drill, arge practise, lectures and first-aid, and that the enrolment is now over 30. He also requested more seats in his classroom and announced that the High School Commencement Exercises, would likely be held December 10.

On a motion by trustees Matheson and Plunkett $20 will be donated for field day awards. It was moved by trustees Plunkett and Matheson that five complete sets one front seat and one back seat be ordered to complete a row that had been removed to the Public School room.

Principal Jones reported the enrolment of Public School at 162 with an average attendance of 147.3.

Caretaker Young reported that some new rules were needed, to have pupils clear their desks of books, pencils, and ink bottles at four o'clock, to aid in the dusting of desks. Inspector Copp's report was adopted on motion of trustees Plunkett and Matheson.

The following accounts wer ordered paid: Teachers, Caretakers, and Secretary's Salary, $1150.35; Richard Sanderson, wood, $8.00; Havelock Hospital, $6.00; Carload of coal $672.00.

CAMPBELLFORD

Salvation Army Welcomes Leader

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 17 (ENS) —Local members of the Salvation Army have extended their official welcome to Captain and Mrs. Earl Jarrett who took charge of the services in the Citadel for the first time on Sunday. The couple arrived from Toronto on Friday to replace Captain and Mrs. Alex Turnbull now posted to the busy Parliament street branch of the Salvation Army. Though the Jarretts came here directly from Toronto they had been there for but a brief period of several months when they received notice of their removal to Campbellford. Their work in the Army has been mainly at Trail, B.C., Calgary, Alta., and other Western points.

Recommend Interest In Post War Problems

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 17 (ENS) —A general interest in the questions that will have to be discussed before the peace treaties are written was advocated by Dr. H. B. Longmore in an address before Rotarians at their luncheon here on Monday. Though the points laid down in the Atlantic Charter formed a sound basis for the ultimate plans there were still many problems that would have to be ironed out. One thing Rotarians should do he thought was maintain a healthy interest in the post war problems that would be discussed at the peace table and a method of doing this would be to form the club into discussion groups that might consider the various proposals. During a discussion of the remarks of the speaker several members voiced concurrence and appreciation was expressed by Rotarians A. D. Bennett and P. C. Denyes. Guests at the meeting included Captain Jarrett who replaced Captain Turnbull as head of the local Salvation Army Corps and Captain Lloyd Richardson, C.D.C. home on leave.

Eisenhower, commander-in-chief of Allied forces in that theatre, and Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder.

Denies Industry Story Election Dodge

COBOURG, Nov. 17—(ENS). — Cobourg citizens will not be able to see the corvette, H.M.C.S. 'Cobourg' until navigation opens next spring, Councillor Madame Clara Delany told council at its meeting here on Monday night. Councillor Delany, along with Mayor Jack Burnet and members of the Corvette Committee were at the shipyards last Saturday for the christening of the new corvette.

The Mayor said that there had been some remarks to the effect that his efforts to get an industry to the town had been an "election dodge."

"From time to time, there have been remarks made to the effect that this industrial negotiation has been an 'election dodge.' It was very unfortunate that the story had to break at the time it did," said Mayor Burnet. "I didn't promise a factory. I asked the business men to attend the meeting regarding an industrial proposition. There were no promises made but naturally we are trying to bring negotiations to a successful conclusion," Mayor Burnet declared.

Owing to the fact that the town clerk was absent on account of illness, the usual survey of the town's business transactions of the year could not be given. However, the financial statement was in process of being printed and would be available soon, Reeve Roy Dodge said.

Mayor Burnet stated that in regard to post-war planning, it would cost very little to do the planning but if the cost of its execution would have to be borne by the town the amount would be excessive.

Council endorsed a resolution of Bowmanville Town Council which recommended that provincial grants to children's aid societies be increased and that the province bear the cost of the necessary investigations made in homes where a parent was in the armed forces.

Deputy-Reeve Bob Love stated that there were neither life preservers nor ropes available should anyone fall in the harbor. Councillor Wenn said that in addition to the harbor hazard there was danger in the fact that daylight could be seen through the tall chimney stack of the old gas plant and it should be taken down for safety's sake. The Mayor said that council should look into both these matters.

Farmers Forced By Snow To Stable Stock

"Snow has come to the county, and stock is being put in the stable for the winter." That comment from Grey is the theme of this week's reports from the county representatives of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Huron adds: "Snow and cold weather have brought most of the cattle home from the grass"; and Bruce: "Excessive snow and rain have stopped farm operations."

Winter is steadily approaching, although by fairly easy stages. Victoria says a considerable number of cattle are being marketed off the ranches; in the beef breeds some are being fed until the new year.

Northumberland apples are not moving as usual from storage. Durham comments that all cattle are now in winter quarters. Several inches of snow fell during the last week. "A large percentage of beef cattle will be carried over and finished on pasture. Seed barley is scarce but there should be enough oats in the county."

Peterborough mentions the heavy arrivals of hogs at the local packing plant, and "if farmers generally secure their seed grain soon before it is fed, it might avert a serious situation next spring."

Frontenac reports a shortage of small seeds, alsike, red clover and alfalfa, and Prescott-Russell makes the same observation with the exception of a slight surplus of timothy seed. Also: Due to excessive shortage of farm labor, more co-operative use than ever has been made of farm machinery.

In some counties along the forest fringe wood parties are at work, but even in those communities many farmers find that they are too busy looking after their livestock to take time out for chopping and sawing operations.

County Council Likely To Set Up Special Agricultural Committee

Organization of a special agricultural committee following the plan of Hon. T. L. Kennedy, provincial Minister of Agriculture, will probably be instituted during the sessions of the county council next week.

Similar groups are to be set up in all the counties of Ontario, according to the announcement of the Minister, for the purpose of investigating and helping to solve farm problems.

The members of each of these committees will be appointed as follows:—one by the provincial government; one by the local member of the Legislature, in Peterborough, Captain Harold Scott; one by the county council; and also a representative of each organized farm group in the county. The county agricultural representative, Frank C. Paterson in this county, will also act "in some responsible position" with this group.

The statement by Hon. Mr. Kennedy explains that these committees will be built around the county agricultural representatives, and to increase the effectiveness of this composite provincial organization Colonel Kennedy has appointed Clifford C Graham, chief fieldman for the Holstein Breeders' Association of Canada, as head of the agricultural representatives branch of the Department. The new director takes the post of R. S. Duncan who moves up to a new position as assistant Deputy Minister.

It is understood that Warden Mather attended the meeting of county representatives in Toronto Monday, and it is expected that he will make a report on this roject during the sessions of the county council next week, and recommend that the council take the initial step of naming its representative on the new body in Peterborough.

A Philosophy Of Decline

The Kingston Whig-Standard has commented at some length on an article recently published by Mr. Eric A. Johnston, the president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in which Mr. Johnston makes a spirited defence of the existing economic framework in his country. We think that our readers also will be interested in what Mr. Johnston has to say.

* * *

His quarrel is with those economic theorists who insist that the present economic set-up is "mature"—a word which they use as a delicate synonym for "rotten". Because the system is "mature" these gentlemen insist that it must "drop from the bough" and be supplanted by something else. They think that it would be folly to try to patch up the old system; they want a new system based on state control of production and marketing, which they are convinced would work very well. Their convictions that the old system is finished, and that the new system will work are both based on impressive statistical proofs which they have marshalled and are ready to present to anyone who is interested. Theirs is a philosophy of decline.

* * *

Mr. Johnston is not impressed by statistical proofs, and he goes to some pains to explain why this is so. It was 145 years ago that Thomas Robert Malthus published his essay on Principles of Population, in which he showed clearly that increase of population was outstripping production of food, from which he deduced, quite logically, that universal famine was in sight. Shortly afterward production of food outstripped increase of population and proved this part of his argument to be wholly wrong. Other notable errors of this sort Mr. Johnson condenses thus:

1839—Congressman Rankin, Mississippi: "Our system is finished. Monopoly swallows all. Opportunity has already disappeared from among us."

1844—Commissioner of Patents: "We see the arrival of that part when human improvement is at an end."

1875—Commissioner of the Interior: "New materials and new inventions have now transformed our society into its final phase—for scientific invention can take us only a little way further."

1885—Commissioner of Labor: "New processes of manufacture will continue... but will not afford a remunerative employment for the vast amounts of capital which have been created during that period."

All these gentlemen knew that they were right and could prove it, but the progress of history proved them wrong.

* * *

Logic is an admirable thing, but a logical argument built up on one set of facts can hardly be made to apply to the entire economic life of a country. And this is particularly so when the logicians cannot foresee what scientific improvements, or improvements in human relationships are going to alter the whole basis of their argument. It is frequently said that we live in a rapidly changing world, but the economic theorists will not admit that the changes are as likely to invalidate their arguments as they are to support them.

* * *

The present economic system has gross defects, and perhaps the people most intimately concerned with the system know those defects better than its critics. Nobody wants to perpetuate the defects, except for a few people who dislike and mistrust change of any kind. Mr. Johnson has this to say on the subject:

"Our economic system is not dying of old age. It is dying from its chains — the restraints, restrictions and exactions that are fastened on it by some trade associations, some labour unions and some governmental units: Trade associations and cartel combinations that seek to create monopolistic conditions, hold prices up, and keep production down. Labour unions which overstep their function of insuring decent wages and hours, and seek to increase labour costs through unreasonable restrictions on output, resistance to productive new devices, and a score of other destructive regulations. Governments—federal, state and city—that load every kind of business with unnecessary regulations, that strangle enterprise and then lie in wait for the successful man in order to confiscate the profits he may make from an investment in which he has risked a fortune.

"In a complicated society, I recognize that government must make and enforce rules and regulations. But we must have the maximum freedom of enterprise and the minimum of government controls consistent with a modern industrial civilization."

* * *

We think that most people who are not bigoted opponents of the present system will see the justice of what Mr. Johnson says. The present system is not so old as some of its traducers would like to think; it is, in fact, comparatively modern and it has evolved during every decade of its supremacy. It will continue to evolve, and it will accommodate itself readily to a changing world. Can the same be said of the plan put forward by those who describe modern economy as "mature"? True, the chief charm of that plan is that it can constantly be altered, but only within its own framework. In essence it is unchangeable, for the chief criticism of government schemes in time of peace is that they are lethargic, taking years to do what private interest can do in a few months. Perhaps the most potent criticism of systems of government control is contained in the old saying, "What is everybody's business is nobody's business".

Discourse Of Fools

"Change of weather is the discourse of fools" says a rude old proverb; nevertheless let us talk about the weather, and let people say what they will. Certainly we have had plenty of weather to talk about during the past fortnight: damp, dank, dark days have been followed by brisk, bright, breezy ones, and the pelting rains of November have changed to December snow and back again in the course of twenty-four hours. Often the situation seemed best summed up in the jingle:

Oh, what a blamed uncertain thing
This pesky weather is;
It blew and snew and then it thew,
And now, by jing, it's friz.

In ordinary circumstances the vagaries of the weather would not attract the august attention of editors, but this year they have the gravest implications for all of us—are, indeed, a matter of the most acute public concern. Even the aloof editor of the Brantford Expositor has noticed the weather, and has counselled his readers, with granite stoicism, to "accept whatever weather may come as inevitable, and conserve every pound of coal against the time when stoking will have to be done in real earnest." He also recommends that we "dismiss the prophets", which the Examiner is unwilling to do; we have disputed this matter of prophecy with the Expositor before this. We are intensely interested in what the weather prophets are saying.

Unfortunately they are all saying different things. There are those who tell us that the winter will be long and bitter. The squirrels, they point out, have stored away more nuts per squirrel than they have done since the Great Frost of 1907; the beavers, they say, have deserted the streams and are building their homes in trees, for greater protection against frost; the foxes are outfitting themselves with a double thickness of fox fur, and the bears have retired for the winter without even setting their alarm clocks. The more optimistic prophets have an entirely different story: squirrels, they say, haven't worked at all this autumn, and are now hanging around the back doors of bakeries for their food; beavers are building homes without roofs; foxes are practically naked and bears haven't even thought of going to bed yet; the woods are full of birds who have decided that it isn't worth while going south for a measly six weeks of cold weather.

To those of us who never meet a bear or a fox from one year's end to another this is all very confusing. We simply don't know where we stand. However, we mean to give the optimists the benefit of the doubt. So if the editor of the Expositor should see us huddling in the snow outside his window some time this year, we hope that he will throw us the butt of one of his Corona Coronas so that we may thaw ourselves at its glow.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A German housewife must have 100 ration cards. Even at that she cannot assure her family of a full pack.

"Medicine Has Given Literature Many Recruits" says a headline. It has given Eternity quite a few, too.

Odd that the C.C.F., with all its bright new ideas, has to resort to the old-fashioned I-was-misquoted-by-the-press excuse when a speaker puts his foot in it.

A Boston scientist reports that he is working on a means of making people modest. Doubtless a form of the violet ray.

A man has been fined for dropping a lighted match on the collection plate of a Washington church. Probably he believes in burnt offerings.

The Windsor Star, advocating franker relations between children and parents, says "There should be no room in modern society for perpetuation of the silly stork theory". Don't worry; it's been years since any bright child took stork in it.

How Grey Was My Outlook

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

JUST as the 'phony' period of the war was getting under way an author called Richard Llewellyn created a sensation with a book called "How Green Was My Valley." It was immensely popular, for it was poetic in style and conception, and at that time it suited the gentle melancholy of the millions who were wondering when the fighting would begin. Mr. Llewellyn showed himself to be a novelist of power and originality, with an unusual talent for both comedy and pathos. But at least a part of the success of "How Green Was My Valley" was attributable to a misunderstanding; particularly in the United States readers assumed that the poetic imagery and curious syntax of the writing were characteristic of Mr. Llewellyn's own style, whereas in fact they were characteristic of the Welsh people about whom he was writing. "How Green Was My Valley" was a Welsh novel written in English—almost a literal translation, in fact. The style suited the subject, but it would not suit all subjects. And Mr. Llewellyn knows that better than any critic. In his new novel "None but the Lonely Heart" he has sloughed off his Welsh style and has assumed an English one. But what English!

◊ ◊ ◊

HIS new book is about low life in London, and it is written in the speech of low-living Londoners. That speech is not well known on this continent. Most Americans and quite a few Canadians assume that the speech of the London Cockney has not changed since the time of Dickens; reviews which have appeared of "None But The Lonely Heart" show some confusion, for clearly most of the reviewers are at sea in the rhyming slang, backslang, neologisms and corrupt English of the book. Mr. Llewellyn makes no allowance for the possible ignorance of his readers; the book is cast in the form of a 'stream of consciousness', and the consciousness is that of a young Cockney who has never seen a dictionary and who thinks that 'grammar' means his grandad's wife. No wonder that readers who delighted in the cadences of "How Green Was My Valley" find themselves bruised and baffled by "None But The Lonely Heart."

◊ ◊ ◊

BUT in spite of the language difficulty this is a book to be grappled with. It is the finest book that I have read this year. The author's gifts of pathos and comedy are brilliantly used, and half a dozen characters are created who will remain in your memory for many a day. Particularly this is true of the hero—if you dare call him a hero—Ernest Verdun Mott, variously known as Ernie, Ern and Young Ern. Ernie is a Cockney, but he is also a universal figure — a ne'er do weel, a no-good, a bum, a rotter, a gull, a dolt, a simpleton — a dangerous and pathetic nuisance in any language under the sun. Mr. Llewellyn knows Ernie inside and out, and he writes of him from the inside.

◊ ◊ ◊

ERNIE lives with his Ma in Kingsland Road, in Southeast London. He is apprenticed to a firm of lithographers, and on the strength of this Ernie likes to call himself an 'artist'. Wasn't his Dad an artist? Right enough he was; got a picture hanging in the Tate Gallery to prove it. Not that Ernie was a frequenter of galleries; none of that lark for him; but people who knew told him the picture was there, and one of them even dragged him in to see it. And what do you think it was? Ma, as a girl, in her birthday suit; proper smashing she looked, like Ada, the cashier at the Fun Fair. Ernie wanted Ada for himself, but he didn't get her; Ada was in too deep with a couple of other blokes.

◊ ◊ ◊

BUT Ernie's artistic career ended when he was thrown out of the lithographers' as a bad apprentice. Of course, they was all against him, and just wanted to get out of paying him a proper man's wages. That was Ernie's great trouble in life; they was all against him. So he started helping Ma in the shop, where she sold furniture and—though Ernie did not find it out till later—received stolen goods. Not from crooks, of course. Ma was respectable, she was; she simply 'obliged' shoplifters who wanted to dispose of their haul. Consequently, Ma always had lots of money, and Ernie could always wheedle it out of her, to slip down to the Fun Fair with five bob or so in his sky rocket, and stare at the desirable Ada. It was at the Fun Fair that he met Jim Moldinoy, a gangster who offered Ernie big money to join his troupe of talented young thugs. And of course Ernie did so, for it looked like a chance to do his self a bit of good, and get back at them that was always against him, see?

◊ ◊ ◊

MR. Llewellyn is no Steinbeck, no sob-sister. He shows us Ernie as he is, and he lays no blame on his environment, or on society, for making Ernie the contemptible, quivering, self-pitying little slug that he is. Ernie's trouble all lay in the depths of his soul; he was, literally, no good for anything; even in the role of an enemy of society he was a failure. Only a mother could love him, and only a repulsive old villain like Ernie's Ma could think him clever. As you see, this is not a book about nice people, and if you suffer from intellectual daintiness you had better keep away from it. But it is a stimulating book, and a moving book, and in places a very funny book. It is also a strong argument against the sentimentalists who see a victim of adverse circumstances in every selfish, worthless coundrel who come to a bad end. It firmly establishes Mr. Llewellyn among the important novelists writing in English today, and leaves us wondering where, in what strange variation of speech, his next work will be placed.

Wealthy New Yorker

One of the unpublicized figures in our town is Harrison Williams, who, despite market losses, taxation and lavish entertainment by his wife, still possesses one of the largest fortunes in America. His wealth has been estimated at over $500,000,000. During the stock market crash of 1929, there was a rumour in Wall Street, that Harrison Williams had lost $1,00,000,000. A friend saw him that week, and Williams showed no anxiety about the crash. "But what about this report that you lost $100,000,000?" Williams was asked. "My dear fellow," he shrugged, "it's the last hundred million that counts."—New York Post.

What It Sounds Like

In a speech at Utrecht, Dr. Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Reich Commissar for the Netherlands is reported to have told the Dutch that if Germany could only trust them and the victims in other occupied countries to fight off an Allied invasion they would remove the occupation forces and send them to the Russian front. It sounds like asking the drowning man if he will promise to fight his rescuer.—New York Sun.

A Lesson from Cicero

THREE members of the class were destined for Yale. No one of us, however, was yet fully prepared for Latin and Greek. I was short by nearly a year's work. It was arranged that Principal Welch would take two or three of us during the fall and spring terms on morning at eight o'clock, and hour before the school opened, in the Homer and Virgil requirements which we had not completely covered, and that if we stayed out during the winter term we must read by ourselves three more of Cicero's orations which were necessary to qualify for Yale....

Those three orations of Cicero I read with equal pleasure and profit, sitting on cold winter evenings by a wood fire and a sputtering kerosense lamp and facing my grandfather's clock. Cicero I had known only as a master of vituperation such as we have him in the orations against Catiline, "the arch conspirator," though he was not so terrible as Cicero claimed him to be. Now I was to make the acquaintance of another Cicero, the orator of superb eloquence, who in the Roman Senate thanked Caesar for recalling Marcellus from exile, and in the Forum extolled the character and military achievements of Pompey. It seemed marvelous to me that language could reach these heights in compliment and praise. But the oration which took full possession of me was Cicero's glorious tribute to Archias, the Greek poet, who had been one of his instructors in youth. Herein Cicero reveals his own habits of study through days when others feasted and through nights when others slept, and lets his mind roam over a wide realm of knowledge with comment and conclusions which as a boy I marked on the margins as "True." Cicero then taught me what literature and philosophy may mean in the life of man. — From "Connecticut Yankee: An Autobiography," by Wilbur L. Cross. (New Haven: Yale University Press.)

From a Bay Street Office

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

THE Whig-Standard has received from a gentleman whose office is on Bay Street, Toronto, a circular letter which is most interesting. This circular letter is addressed "To All Employers in Canada" and deals with "Canada's Labour Legislation and Policies vs. Your Democratic Freedom."

The gentleman who sends out the circular expresses himself very freely on the demands of unions and what he terms the union appeasement of the Government of Canada. We do not wish to deal with the arguments put forth by the writer of the circular letter. What we object to is his final paragraph in which he urges every interested employer in Canada "to write, wire or otherwise place before one of the Cabinet Ministers or your Member of Parliament at Ottawa your recommendations and your demand that economicaly sound legislation, equitable to both workers and employers, be enacted to govern worker-management relations, to continue the cost-of-living bonus as in the past and to provide for the proper control of labour unions. My recommendations are set out in my letter of Nov. 5 forwarded to the Members at Ottawa."

In other words, a gentleman with an office on Bay Street, Toronto, of whom we must confess we have never heard before, has forwarded certain recommendations to the Government at Ottawa with regard to employer-employee relations, and he wants every employer of labour in Canada to bombard the over-worked Cabinet Ministers and the Members of Parliament (who, by the way, will not be in session for another three months) with letters and telegrams urging that his recommendations be put into effect. We are forcibly reminded of the nine tailors of Tooley Street and their famous petition beginning, "We, the people of England...." But we suspect that this really comes under the head of what is called a "Public Relations Counsel."

Labour relations have always been one of the toughest problems with which governments have had to deal, and they cannot be settled by a barrage of letters and telegrams at the instigation of any individual.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

WE do not think of cheerfulness as a virtue. On the contrary, we rate it among the luxuries that the rich and fortunate may possess and, just as Becky Sharp said that any woman could be virtuous on five thousand a year, so we feel that anyone can turn a smiling face on the world who has plenty of money, good health, and is happily married.

They should worry! They have nothing to depress them and they deserve no credit for going around with beaming countenances singing merry roundelays. We would, too, if we stood in their shoes. But it is a different story with us who have thin pocketbooks, poor health, and husbands and wives who would try the patience of a saint.

So we put on our blue spectacles and let our shoulders slump and our chins hang down and go around diffusing gloom, without even suspecting that we are Public Enemy Number One and that we are breaking down the morale of all with whom we come in contact.

We consider that we have an inalienable right to be Grouchy Gus and Melancholy Mary, and to tell about our operations and our arthritis, and complain about those with whom we have to live, and prophesy about the hard times that are just around the corner. And it never occurs to us that the blues are as catching as the measles, and that wherever we go we are spreading the germs of defeatism and despair.

Still less do we realize that we are doing a criminal thing to our fellow creatures, for we are putting out the fires of hope on their altars. We are sapping the courage of those who have hard battles to fight. We are wet-blanketing the plans of the aspiring and ambitious. We are robbing existence of all of its pleasures, not only for ourselves but for others. And we are making ourselves almost unendurable bores and afflictions.

Such being the case, it is a strange thing that we never think of being cheerful as among the duties that we owe to others. Yet it is doubtful if there is any greater service that we can render our neighbours than bringing a little brightness and gaiety into their lives. Maybe lifting the spirits of a depressed man or woman is just as meritorious as lifting the physical burden under which he or she is staggering. Maybe giving a man or woman who feed on their own bitter thoughts a laugh is just as much an act of charity as giving food to one who is starving.

At any rate, we all know how we long for the society of cheerful people who tell us a good story instead of recounting their woes; who make us feel that the sun is still shining somewhere and that God is still in His Heaven and all is right with the world. As an asset to popularity cheerfulness beats beauty, or wit, or wisdom all hollow. Any plain-faced girl with a laugh hung on a hair-trigger can out-marry a beauty who totes a tear jug. And among men, who is the public's darling? The comedian every time.

Cheerfulness is also first aid to success in any line of endeavour. It is the enthusiastic people, the people who believe in themselves and their wares; who love their work and are having fun doing it; who wear the smile that won't come off, who sell themselves to us. For, as Ella Wheeler Wilcox wrote, "this sad old earth must borrow its mirth, it has sorrow enough of its own."

And the secret of a happy home is cheerfulness. Not how much money the husband makes, not how good a cook the wife is, but how much good nature and how much gay talk and how many family jokes they put into it. If, when the man comes home at night, it seems that all the electric lights have been suddenly turned on; and if the woman serves her dinners to the tune of laughter, it is a happy home, no matter if the furniture is shabby and the roast burned, for cheerfulness is a mantle that covers a multitude of domestic sins.

Right now in this war-torn world we need to realize more than ever before that cheerfulness is an obligation that we owe to all about us, and that we should not permit ourselves the selfish luxury of burdening others with our griefs. God knows there is not a household over which the black cloud of anxiety for a loved one does not hang. It is a time when each heart knows its own bitterness, and when the temptation to tell our troubles and ask for sympathy is strong upon us.

But we should resist this. We should do our weeping in secret and keep our fears locked in our own breasts, and turn a cheerful face to those about us. And, above all, we should let no atom of self-pity creep into the letters that we write to our men in the service.

Cheerfulness is the password now. If we d[illegible] feel it, we can, at least, put on an act.

A Bible Message

Shall mortal man be more just than God? shall a man be more pure than his maker? Behold, he put no trust in his servants; and his angels he charged with folly: how much less in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which are crushed before the moth?

They are destroyed from morning to evening: they perish for ever without any regarding it. Doth not their excellency which is in them go away? they die, even without wisdom. (Job 4: 17-21.)

Then shall the dust return to the earth as [illegible] was: and the spirit shall return unto God wh[illegible] gave it. (Eccl. 12: 1, 2, 6, 7.)

Ship Torpedoed Nurses Swim Ashore

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES IN ITALY.—(CP Cable.)—Canadian Nursing Sisters swam, paddled and rowed to safety when German torpedo bombers blasted their ship in the Mediterranean.

Troops and passengers on the liner were so calm, orderly and observant of command that casualties were kept to a minimum and at the time of writing I know of no passenger definitely lost.

One confirmed casualty was a member of the ship's crew. He was killed when a torpedo ripped into the liner.

The Nursing Sisters sang and cheered as they made their way to safety across rolling seas.

I was a passenger aboard the ship carrying the nurses. We were part of a convoy which the Germans spotted one evening at sunset. Until then the voyage had been uneventful. There had been several scares when our escort ships dropped depth charges but the frequent "abandon ship" drills were just practices.

Come at Dinner.

On the fateful night we were halfway through dinner when the attack came which cost us our ship and belongings. This time there was no question of a drill. We knew this was the real thing.

Warning bells sounded and a calm voice announced over the ship's public address system: "Enemy aircraft are approaching. All personnel go below decks."

The dining room was on the promenade deck near the stern. We remained seated finishing our meal though nobody had an appetite after the first guns sounded in the distance and the guns of our own ship joined in.

Waiters and the dining-room stewart kept up a running commentary on the battle proceeding outside and the diners cheered when word came in that two enemy planes had fallen blazing on the water.

He Didn't Remember

GEORGETOWN, Ont., Nov. 17—(CP).—Equipped in full fire-fighting regalia, a local fireman ran to the firehall, flung open the doors and prepared the truck driver for action last Thursday when he heard the fire alarm bell sound. He had forgotten the signal was given at 11 o'clock in the morning to mark Remembrance Day's two-minute silence.

CANADIANS ON WAY HOME FROM JAP PRISON CAMPS — A smile is in order for Peggy Ann Jepson of Vancouver, B.C. who had just been released from the Jap ship Teia Maru at Mormugao, Portuguese India, in the exchange of war prisoners. Marge and her little daughter, Ann, of Victoria, B.C., as they went from the Jap ship to the Swedish liner Gripsholm. They were all interned at Hong Kong.

Canada Serves Dual Role McCarthy Says

MONTREAL, Nov. 17 — (CP) — Canada's development as an American nation and continued membership in the British Commonwealth of Nations are not contradictory, Hon. Leighton McCarthy, Canadian minister to the United States, said in a speech before the Rotary Club here today.

He said the time may come when Canada will take a larger share in affairs of the Americas and become an active participant in Pan-American Union plans for hemispherical solidarity. Pan-American co-operation, however, should fit into a wider system of world co-operation.

"So far as Canada is concerned it will be difficult for us to accept any form of inter-American co-operation which ignored this truth," said Mr. McCarthy who soon will be raised to rank of ambassador, the first time since Canada's diplomatic service was established.

"... I do not think that any development of Canada's association with other American nations need interfere with her cherished position in the alliance of free British peoples.

"These two things are not now contradictory though they may have been once when Canadian foreign policy was determined in Downing street."

Canada's experience in a dual role and her voice in two communities meant she could assist both.

Since the passage of the Statute of Westminster, Canada's position in the British Commonwealth—as an independent state owing allegiance to a common king—had become more understandable to Americans. The United States would not have the present position changed. Things had changed with the war, which had brought close co-operation in economic and other spheres.

More Women Start Lining Up The Vote

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 —(AP).—Both major political parties in the United States to-day are seeking greater participation by women in what used to be strictly a man's game—lining up the vote.

Republican strategists are studying reports from their assistant national chairman, Miss Marion E. Martin, just back from a 10-weeks' tour of Western and Great Lakes States where women are likely to hold a decisive voting majority.

The Democrats are calling into Washington more and more frequently their assistant national chairman, Mrs. Charles W. Tillett, of Charlotte, N.C.

The two women leaders agree that thousands of women and young people are developing active interest in political campaigns and campaign work.

Bank President Optimistic On Post-War

MONTREAL, Nov. 17 — (CP).—Major problems facing Canada at the present time in accomplishing the "extraordinary" war program to which it is committed include "the most careful conservation of raw materials" and "efficient distribution of man-power," Col. A. A. Magee stated in a presidential address for delivery at the annual meeting to-day at Barclays Bank (Canada).

Reviewing the industrial and financial condition of the Dominion, he said that "new production peaks were reached in the first half of the present year and there are indications that the transfer to a total war economy has been fairly well completed."

Dealing with post-war problems he asserted: "Although there is a certain apprehension about them, any country which has made the magnificent war effort of Canada and has met so successfully the unexpected and unheard of conditions imposed by it can be relied on to weather the fiercest post-war storm."

The bank president contended that "certain improvements in our social and economic conditions are necessary and inevitable but these need not be revolutionary. These changes may be likened to alerations or improvements to a house without disturbing its solid structure."

Col. Magee said that there had been interruption of productivity by jurisdictional labor disputes and "these might be avoided by substantial minorities being represented in all negotiations between management and labor."

Reports were adopted and directors re-elected at the meeting.

WhipperWatson Given Rough Passage By Gotch

Champion Whipper Billy Watson managed to ride out the storm and emerge victorious from his bout with the rough-house Jan Gotch in the feature event of the Frank Tunney wrestling card at the Brock Street Arena on Tuesday night, but only after one of the roughest passages in the Whip's mat career.

The British Empire title-holder finally took the bout after 12 minutes had passed in the third round when Referee Tommy Nelson disqualified Gotch for refusing to let Wat on climb back into the ring. Three times in spite of warnings from the official the powerful Pole kicked the champ back through the ropes and on the third occasion Nelson awarded the fall to Watson.

Then the wildest scene of all ensued. Gotch was storming around the ring claiming he had won when suddenly the Whipper climbed through the ropes, armed with a chair a[illegible] attacked the Pole. Fortun[illegible] Referee Nelson managed to [illegible] the chair before Watson w[illegible]le to crown his opponent. H[illegible]er, the Whip showed that he did not need a weapon. He dropped Gotch to the mat with a lusty swing to the jaw and finally took all the fight out of him by clamping on his famous Commando unconscious hold and after applying the pressure for a short time flung the Polish grappler down on the canvas, almost out cold.

Plenty of Action.

It was undoubtedly the most action-packed battle of the entire season. Gotch was as rough and tough against the champion as he had been in his previous bouts here and the Whipper, who showed a lot of speed and cleverness, had to take a lot of punishment before he took the verdict. There wasn't a dull moment from the first bit of action when Gotch rushed across the ring on the initial bell to clip Wat on with an elbow slam, only to go reeling back as the champ retaliated with three or four of the same kind.

Watson had an edge in the early stages. Once he got the whip on the Pole and it looked to be all over, but Gotch managed to get away from that and he also succeeded in preventing Watson from clamping a Commando on him. It was tough, hard going, and as the minutes passed the battling Pole began to take the upper hand and the Whipper had a lot of grief for the next ten minutes. Gotch concentrated on pounding his clever opponent over the kidneys, holding Wat on's head in the chancery while he landed punch after punch. The champ weakened perceptibly under this barrage, and finally Gotch kicked him out of the ring.

That, however, was the beginning of the end so far as the first fall was concerned. Watson came back full of fight and sailed into the Pole with a series of dropkicks that left him helpless. Then the title-holder slapped his Canadian avalanche hold, whirled Gotch over twice with it, and on the second flip pinned his shoulders for the fall. The time was 23 minutes.

Pearl Harbor Again.

Gotch took the second fall on a piece of skulduggery. He was first back in the ring after the rest period, and when Watson, still wearing his bath robe, climbed through the ropes, Gotch suddenly attacked him without warning, knocked the champ down, and proceeded to jump on him. By the time Referee Nelson could reach the scene and pull the Pole away, Watson was in bad shape. He revived enough to start the second round, but he was in no condition to stand off the ruthless Gotch who raked him with a barrage of punches in the back, and then kicked him to the mat' Nothing remained then but to roll the helpless Toronto grappler over and nail him for the fall.

Watson was out cold. He lay on the mat for most of the rest period, with Referee Nel:on working over him. Gotch returned to the ring after five or six minutes and argued with Timer Fred Scates that the ten-minute interval had elapsed, but the official refused to listen to him.

Watson was still in bad shape when the bout was resumed, but he cleverly kept out of Gotch's clutches until he recovered. Then he started in to give the Pole a going over. He nearly had him twice with the whip, but Gotch escaped and came back at the Whipper with another pounding attack that again slowed the champ up, but he came through that flurry and looked to have the bout in hand when he applied the Commando hold on Gotch. The latter managed to reach the ropes, however, and save him:elf, and then he swung suddenly and knocked Watson out of the ring. Three times the Whipper tried to get back in and as many times he was kicked out again. The third time cost Gotch the bout, for he was disqualified for disobeying Nelson's orders.

Two Newcomers.

The other two bouts on the card were both good. In the semi-final John Reeder, a new member of the Tunney collection of battlers, and Gentleman Jack Clayborne went 30 minutes to a draw and it was a lively affair with honors about even. Reeder who has been through the mill in the wrestling game, is a powerful and unscrupulous performer and he did not pull punches in his argument with the Comet. Early in the bout the Indiana husky won applause for breaking clean, but his good behavior did not last long. A few moments afterward he cuffed the South African flash through the ropes, and from then on there was plenty of lively action. Reeder nearly took the fall late in the bout when he had Clayborne in a jam for a long time with a chin lock, but the Bounding Black finally made his escape and he was giving Reeder a touch of the same treatment when the bell ended the battle.

Pierre DeGlane, a classy looking performer, had a lot of style in his bout with the tempestuous Dick Hogan, and in the early stages of the preliminary battle looked good enough to win. However, Hogan, who does not go in much for style, slowed him down with some characteristic Housepainter technique. The Frenchman was finally stung into coming back at Hogan with a series of elbow smashes and punches to the jaw. He almost battered Hogan into submission before Referee Nelson interfered. That was the end of the trail, however, for DeGlane, for Hogan suddenly whirled around the referee as he was waving the Frenchman back and landed a solid punch on the jaw that knocked DeGlane down, and Hogan quickly pounced on him and spread him for the fall. It was a surprise ending.

Tommy Nelson was the third man in the ring for all three bouts, and as usual Fred Scates handled the stop-watch as well as the announcing.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Military Training Centre's two basketball squads are both billed to make their appearance in the Y.M.C.A. House League this week. No. 1 team is slated to clash with Pete McArthur's Fairmiles in a game in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium at 7.15 o'clock tonight while on Friday night the No. 2 team from the Camp will meet Gord Johnston's Cruisers. Nothing much is known yet as to the calibre of the two soldier teams. Some of the best performers of last season's squad have moved on but on the other hand with soldiers here from all over Canada it would be odd if their number did not include a few cage stars. Anyway tonight's game will afford something of a line on the strength of the khaki organizations. Pete McArthur's Fairmiles have the following players, most of them new to the Dominion Life series: R. G. Baird, Joe Csumrik, G. Davis, N. Courtney, T. Severin, B. McQuaig, William Mathison and W. Ellis. The tilt will also be a clue as to the strength of the squad led by McArthur, who had a great time last season trying to keep his team in the City League running by drafting all the former players in the services who happened to be home on leave. This year they are all too far away from home to get back for the odd game.

Peterborough Collegiate football teams have contributed a lot of sparkling rugby and flashed some stellar performers but it is doubtful if the Collegiate squad ever came up with such a startling one-man show as was put on twenty years ago today by Howie Young, quarterback of the 1923 Collegiate team. The Peterborough students won the Eastern Ontario honors on that occasion by defeating the Kingston Collegiate 25 to 7 and all that Young did to help the cause along was to score 23 of the team's total of 25 points. The brilliant Peterborough quarterback and field general drop-kicked two goals from the field, one from the 25 and the other from the 30-yard line and nearly duplicated the feat later. One drop-kick from the 35-yard line hit the cross-bar squarely and bounded back on the field. Another attempt missed the uprights by a foot and went for a rouge. Then on top of that Young carried the ball on three spectacular runs for touchdowns. On the first occasion he dashed 25 yards for his major score; on the next he sprinted thirty yards and he wound up a historic performanve by toting the ball 55 yards for the final touchdown which he converted with a drop-kick. The P.C.I. team that day had Chew as flying wing, Cole, Bookhout and Stevens, halves, Young, quarter, Copping, snap, Craw, Killaly, inside wings, Martin, Ebbs, middles and Outram and Yelland outsides, with Neal Pogue, Fraser, Wood, Henry and Thompson as alternates.

We'll Wait And See

Bill Walshe, Kingston sports scribe has come out with a paragraph that emphasizes what this column said last night about military hockey players. Says Bre'er Walshe: "Considering all the hockey stars that that have been shipped to Borden an Allan Cup challenge may be expected from the Borden camp, via the intermediate series and Kingston may be able to do some long distance rooting for the boys who become so popular here in the last few weeks." That of course brings up the point to which we called attention yesterday. According to the Dudley ruling last season in the case of Hub Macey and Perce Nicholls of the Petes not one of the Kingston players who has played a senior O.H.A. game will be eligible to drop back to the intermediate ranks. Macey and Nicholls, it will be remembered were moved here legitimately last season, but Dudley declared that because they had played with Kingston seniors at the beginning of the season they could not be allowed to finish the campaign here as intermediates. It will be a lot of fun watching Dudley and Company trying to explain that what was all wrong in regard to two former Kingston players last season is all right in the case of eight or ten of them this season. The situation is exactly the same. But what will the ruling be? There are no prizes offered of course for the first or any answer to this question.

* * * * * *

From Scribe Walshe too comes the following interesting bulletin on the military hockey situation: "The Canadian Army demolition bomb in senior hockey explodes today, wrecking teams all across the country and it will be several days before repair work can be started while in some localities like Regina, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax the destruction will be complete. In Kingston the fighting squad of soldiers that won favor by fine play in exhibitions and started the O.H.A. senior schedule with a double victory over St. Catharines will be scattered but there is hope that newcomers will fill the vacancies and rebuild another formidable force. Only a check of the Kingston dressing room tonight will reveal the military secret of how many were collected in the new deal. It may take a few days for some of the soldiers ordered to Kingston to arrive and the job of testing, training and getting team work will have to be rushed to keep up with the O.H.A. schedule. The O.H.A. has granted a brief recess for the reorganization and the next league game will be Saturday night against the powerful Toronto Navy crew. The original Kingston Frontenac Army team finished its part of the schedule with a perfect record of two wins in two nights, leaving a nice lead for the newcomers. Credited with speed and scrap in exhibition games the Kingston soldiers had to depend on their fight Saturday night."

Tag Team Wrestling

Speaking of wrestling—a lot of folk probably are today—Ken Colling of Belleville tells about a new wrinkle in the mat sport to be introduced there tonight. Here is the dope according to the Belleville sport sheet: "So Promoter Frank Tunney is tossing four of his wrestling pachyderms into the Hume Arena ring at the same time Wednesday night in what he termed "tag team wrestling." What's puzzling this department is whether the ring at the local palace de sport can stand up under the strain of well over 1,100 pounds of humanity, including the one referee. According to Marse Tunney this "tag team wrestling is some new wrinkle thought up in the U.S.A. As all know a team of Bishop and Reeder, as tough a pair of hombres as come down the pike, tangle with Billie Watson and Pierre DeGlane. Now the idea of this "tag business" is simple. For instance Watson and Bishop will start hostilities off in the usual two-man style, with Reeder and DeGlane standing in their teammate's corner ready to swing into action if and when their partner gets into difficultiy, which should be soon and often. However, here's the nigger in the timber heap—when a wrestler finds himself in difficulty he must touch or "tag" his partner before assistance can be obtained. Sounds complicate.., but it should be fun."

* * * * * *

Montreal Canadiens still remain undefeated in the N.H.L. race. They moved a point farther out in front last night when they held the Boston Bruins to a 2-2 tie in Boston and they might easily have turned it into a win for all reports indicate they outplayed the Rossmen over the whole route. Only a late goal by Harvey Jackson who incidentally figured in the other Boston marker as well saved the day for the Bruins. Gerry Heffernan and Toe Blake fired the two goals for the Canadiens. Outstanding feature of the game was the fact that the entire proceeds amounting to $21,852.31 was turned over by the Boston management to the United War Funds which naturally brings up the question of when the Toronto Maple Leafs and Maple Leaf Gardens are going to turn anything over to anybody but the shareholders.

League Moguls Block Player Transfer

MONTREAL, Nov. 17—(CP)—The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association decided at a meeting here last night that Joe Shack, at least temporarily, cannot line-up with Ottawa Commandos, despite the fact he already has signed a card for them.

And neither can the ex-Canadien junior line of Tod Campeau, Andy Perron and Bernie Lauzon cannot move to Ottawa to play with Manager Jimmy McCaffrey's club.

Shack practised with Royals for a few weeks and was reinstated following his last winter's professional activities. Last Sunday when the Commandos came here, he was signed on by the visitors. Montreal protested and the protest was upheld by the Q.A.H.A. because Shack is employed here and there is a civilian team in the city.

In case of the ex-Canadiens they cannot be signed by Ottawa until Royals' quota is exhausted, and their names are not on any cards. It is reported that Royals would sign one of the three, but the trio wants "all or nothing."

Discussions on these Q.A.H.A. rulings is expected at the Quebec Senior Hockey League meeting tomorrow night.

Kingston Team Puzzled Over New Law

KINGSTON, Nov. 17 — Kingston is still uncertain about its senior O.H.A. team. There are no official reports from the army camps about the number or names of players who were moved to other camps in the recent army order and there is still no information regarding players who are expected in Kingston as replacements.

From unofficial sources it is reported that about twelve qualified senior players have been posted by the army to Kingston and about eight members of the team that started the season have been shifted to Camp Borden.

A checkup will be made through the army camps tomorrow in an effort to round up players to rebuild a team for the scheduled game with Hamilton in Kingston Saturday.

Army officials connected with the Kingston team have refused to give names of players coming or going The newcomers should be settled in their new camp quarters by Wednesday and many of them are expected to join the Kingston team at practice Wednesday night. An idea of the reorganized team should be known after Wednesday's practice.

CHEMISTRY HELPS TO WIN THE WAR

ONE AIRCRAFT MOTOR delivered without any rust on it!

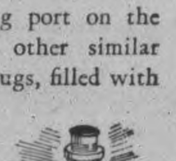
● From the time they leave the production line, the tools of war—guns, tanks, planes—are threatened by a devastating enemy: corrosion, commonly called rust. Silica Gel protects vital war equipment by removing moisture from the air before corrosion can begin its deadly work.

Formerly, equipment bound for overseas was heavily coated with grease and waxes to protect metal surfaces. Such treatment was slow and messy, and delayed final assembly overseas. Some things, like radio equipment, could not be treated with grease—and had to risk overseas shipment unprotected.

Now, Silica Gel provides positive protection from rust and corrosion for all types of equipment. For instance, an aircraft engine is packaged for overseas by sealing it in a moisture-proof envelope.

Small cotton bags filled with Silica Gel are tied to the engine. The Silica Gel in the bags removes the moisture sealed into the envelope and maintains relative humidity at a low level where corrosion will not occur. In each spark plug port on the cylinders, and in other similar openings, plastic plugs, filled with Silica Gel, are installed. These plugs protect the combustion chambers and other internal engine surfaces.



Silica Gel is a harmless, chemically inert material that can absorb up to half its weight in moisture. It is made available to manufacturers through the General Chemicals Division of Canadian Industries Limited.

Silica Gel to protect overseas shipments is another example of how Industrial Chemistry helps Canada's war effort.

Canadians Bet 33 Millions On Horse Races

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Nov. 17—(CP)—If the ponies didn't run faster than usual on Canadian tracks this year it wasn't for want of encouragement. They got more backing from fans of the sport of kings than any year since 1931.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture which supervises pari-mutuel betting announced today wagers at 32 race meetings this season totalled $33,145,013, compared with $25,470,913 in 1942.

The increase of $7,674,100 or 30 per cent was partly caused by an increase from 275 to 283 days of racing, but the increase in number of days was only about three per cent.

All six provinces were pari-mutuel betting is held—British Columbia east to Quebec—showed increased wagering in 1943, with British Columbia leading the parade, up 54 per cent. Quebec was next with 39 per cent increase, Manitoba 33 per cent, Ontario 24, Saskatchewan 13 and Alberta 10.

While 1931 betting at $33,377,786 was a trifle above this year, racing days in 1931 numbered 326 or 43 days more than in 1943. But both this year and 1931 were far behind the record of $75,110,551 wagered during 305 days' racing in 1921.

Largest amount wagered at an individual race meeting was the $2,-80,297 bet at the fall meeting of Ontario Jockey Club at Woodbine Park, Toronto.

2 Track Meets

Twenty-two associations held 32 race meetings in 1943, compared with 24 associations and 32 meetings last year. Prize money paid this year was $1,178,550 compared with 1,061,290, an increase of $117,260.

Following are provincial betting totals, with 1942 figures in brackets: Quebec (including Connaught Park, Ottawa) $2,064,348 ($1,408,-16); Ontario $21,031,393 ($16,920,-15); Manitoba $3,194,781 ($2,399,-96); Saskatchewan $441,369 ($389,-55); Alberta $806,296 ($727,888); British Columbia $5,606,826 ($3,625,-43).

Following are betting statistics by Ontario cities, with 1942 figures in brackets:

Ottawa—1 (1), 14 (14), $502,514 ($410,239), $39,000 ($36,100).
Toronto—4 (4), 56 (56), $14,801,-90 ($11,251,065), $388,300 ($354,200).
Hamilton—1 (1), 14 (14), $2,657,-25 ($2,467,071), $86,800 ($78,900).
Fort Erie, Ont.—1 (1), 14 (14), $1,-8,263 ($1,797,611), $81,800 ($72,400).
Niagara Falls, Ont.—1 (1), 14 (14), 1,624,615 ($1,404,268), $60,100 ($54,-00).

Golf Balls Scarce No New Ones Coming

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP).—This being the season of the year to do your Christmas shopping early, Ross Sobel, the golf pro, comes up with a tip to-day that it might be a good idea to ask for three or four new golf balls when you write your annual letter to Santa Claus. He says that new golf balls are more valuable right now than an extra strip of "A" gas coupons.

"In fact," he went on, "there not only just won't be any new balls next year, but we're even going to have to recover re-covered balls and use them if the situation keeps up.

"Golf pros already are playing tournaments with re-covered balls and will keep right on doing it. Why, Bobby Cruickshank won the north-south open with a re-covered ball last winter."

WILDCATS MAY PLAY FOR CANADIAN CHAMPIONSHIP—The Hamilton Wildcats pictured ABOVE may be in the Dominion championships. They meet the Quebec R.C.A.F. team in the eastern Canada finals November 20. The winners will meet the Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers in Toronto November 27 for the Canadian championship.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Nov. 17—(CP)—Big surprise of the Ontario Rugby Football Union final was the fact the Hamilton Wildcats wingline outplayed Balmy Beaches forward wall. It was conceded Hamilton had some outstanding ends and a sound backfield built around the sensational Joe Krol. But Beaches had the line! Oh, yes! Beaches had the line — with holes in it that fellows like Bill O'Breza, Eddie Remegis and Abe Zvonkin enlarged almost at will. Observers underrated the Hamilton line almost all season, but discovered the truth in Wildcats' 7-2 win last Saturday.

Army hockey:

Collapse of army teams in Eastern Senior Hockey Leagues is almost complete now except at Kingston where the Training Centre is drawing sufficient good talent to keep Frontenacs in action . . . So far the West has not suffered except at Regina. But army teams in Nanaimo, B.C., and Winnipeg are reported worried for fear regulations will lead to removal of key players. Alberta army teams at Calgary and Red Deer expect they will not be affected for some months.

Stray stuff:

Frank Demarco, Balmy Beach football end, is a cousin, not a brother, of Ab Demarco, the Boston hockey player. Frank works at Copper Cliff, Ont., during the summer vacation from his teaching job at St. Michael's College. He pitched last summer for Copper Cliff Redmen Senior baseball team. . . . Ontario Jockey Club has built a recreation room at Toronto's Woodbine track for stable help. . . . Canada's top diplomat, Hon. Leighton McCarthy, said in his speech at Montreal yesterday that he played lacrosse against Montreal's famous old Shamrocks in 1893. McCarthy was a member of the Toronto lacrosse team which opposed Shamrocks at the Chicago World's Fair that year.

Incidentally:

Hank Dyck has been promoted from Eddie Shore's Buffalo Bisons to Staffords in the Toronto Mercantile League. . . . Bill (Kingston Whig-Standard) Walshe reports 4,-723 coupons petitioning continuation of army hockey in Kingston were sent in to Ald. James De St. Remy in answer to a newspaper advertisement. . . . Vancouver Air Lines hockey team has three new players, Frank Dotten, Biff Smith and Johnny Templeton, and is angling for Dick Kowcinak and Reg Bentley.

Soldiers Sweep Card

HALIFAX (CP)—Servicemen won all nine titles in the Maritime boxing championships last night with sailors from the training establishment at Deep Brook taking six crowns. Jack Turner, Canadian flyweight champ, and Claude Warwick, Canadian featherweight titleholder, won their events with ease.

Mosienko Tops N.H.L. Scorers

MONTREAL, Nov. 17 (CP)—Chicago's Billy Mosienko put together two goals and four assists in three games last week to take leadership in the National Hockey League scoring race while team-mate Doug Bentley was only a point behind with two goals and three assists.

The Chicago forwards ranked one-two in the official scoring records released today by the N.H.L. The records do not include points marked up in last night's Boston-Canadiens game.

Mosienko leads the list with 12 points, while Bentley is tied with Bill Cowley of Boston with 11, one more than former leader Modere (Mud) Bruneteau of Detroit who is in a four-place tie with Art Jackson of Boston.

Play-making Bill Cowley took over his familiar role as leader of the assist column with nine, two more than Mosienko and Bentley. Bruneteau maintained his margin in the goal-scoring department with eight markers in six games.

Murph Chamberlain is leading the penalty parade with 17 minutes in majors and minors, a minute ahead of Pat Egan of Detroit.

President Sam Manson of Hamilton Flying Wildcats says the eastern final against Lachine R.C.A.F.—scheduled for Toronto Saturday—should be played in Hamilton, and so should the Canadian final against the Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers. Manson was digging up precedents last night, while the Cats drilled without benefit of Coach Brian Timmis, who was taking a rest.

In the United States, The Associated Press poll of leading football teams today shows a considerable shake-up. Notre Dame remains first, but Iowa pre-flight is up in second place with Purdue third and Michigan fourth. Saturday's feature sees Notre Dame against Iowa.

A survey in New York last night showed that apart from the 250 major league ball players who had previously gone to war, 33 players from the American and National loops have either been inducted or have been re-classified 1A since the season ended. Sam Breadon of the Cards sums it up: "We don't know where we stand for 1944."

Records Broken

All Pimlico wagering records were broken during the 30-day meeting which ended Saturday. Total for 50 days of racing in spring and fall was $38,373,055, compared with $43,-092,421 in 100 days at four tracks in Maryland last year.

Jim Foley, secretary of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, has informed the Ottawa club that the league plans to carry on despite the loss of Cornwall and Montreal army teams. A league meeting is being held in Montreal tonight; meanwhile Ottawa Commandos and Quebec Aces will play their scheduled week-end games.

In the intermission before the last period of the Bruins-Canadiens N.H.L. game at Boston last night—which ended in a 2-2 tie—stars of baseball, football, billiards and hockey, using their own projectiles, attempted to hit a broom in one of the cages from 150 feet out. Dit Clapper knocked over the broom with a puck on the first try. The baseballs, rugby balls and billiard balls were "close."

Oshawa Generals and Galt Kists remain undefeated leaders of their respective groups in the O.H.A. Junior "A" series. Oshawa beat Hamilton 5-3 last night and Galt beat St. Catharines 7-2.

In the two other junior fixtures of the evening Brantford beat Toronto Young Rangers 2-1 for their first victory against one tie, and Toronto St. Michael's walloped Toronto Marlboros 6-3.

In the game at Galt little Johnny Ubriaco of Sault Ste. Marie had one goal and three assists, while Podolski and Forbes each scored two goals. Scoring was fairly evenly divided in the other games.

Canadiens Tie Bruins 2-2 To Remain First

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins tangled at Boston last night for their second 2-2 draw of the season. They deadlocked the first time at Montreal Oct. 30 when opening the N.H.L. 1943-44 schedule. The result still left Canadiens at the top of the league with 12 points. Canadiens have defeated every other team in the league except Toronto Maple Leafs whom they meet for the first time tomorrow night at Montreal. Toronto and Chicago are tied for second place.

Veteran Busher Jackson figured in both of the Boston goals last night. He scored the second and tieing counter on a pass from Bill Cowley just three minutes from the final whistle.

Bep Guidolin started the scoring half-way through the first period by shooting into the corner of Canadiens' net after a pass from Busher.

Unassisted, Canadiens' Gerry Heffernan broke up a four-man rush early in the second period to even the score when Bert Gardiner was left defenceless.

Skipper Toe Blake put Montreal in the lead again five minutes later on an assist from Bob Filion and Elmer Lach, only to be foiled by Jackson's score.

Last night's game was played before 13,852 fans and the $21,852.31 they paid into the box office went to the United War Funds' drive.

Bert Gardiner, Boston goalie, who made a number of brilliant saves for Boston last night as they held Canadiens to a 2-2 draw.

Busher Harvey Jackson who scored one goal and made another assist for Bruins in the Boston-Canadiens tangle.

Bill Durnan, 29-year-old rookie netminder, who halted several beautiful shots to save Canadiens from suffering their first defeat of the season.

Oshawa Juniors Trim Hamilton

HAMILTON, Nov. 17 — Oshawa Generals turned back Hamilton's unsung and untried youngsters here last night by a score of 5 to 3 in a Junior O.H.A. fixture, but the count in favor of the Memorial Cup finalists would have been much larger but for the brilliant work of Freckles Little in the Hamilton nets. Up front the local kids did not look too bad, but for the first 10 minutes of play the defense was as wide open as a city park and Little had to be extraordinary to hold them to three goals.

Smith was the standout for the Generals with three goals and one assist, although the first one credited to him was steered into the twine by Kaiser, who kept continually backing in on top of Little whenever trouble threatened, and that was often. Smith opened the scoring at the 2:24 mark, and five minutes later gave Batten a pass for the second Oshawa goal. Before the period ended he had tallied again, this time on a pass from Petsura, who also turned in a tidy performance at mid ice. The second period was scoreless, but the third saw Ezinicki and Smith score for Generals, with Sanderson, Stewart and Kaiser getting counters for Hamilton.

Oshawa—Goal, Bennett; defence, Batten, Dawes; centre, Petsura; wings, Smith, Curry; alternates, Taggart, Ezinicki, Love, Chenier, Barker, Porter.

Quebec League To Carry On

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 (CP)—Quebec Aces and Ottawa Commandos will play their Quebec Senior Hockey League games scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, according to word received last night by the Ottawa club from Jim Foley, league secretary.

In a telegram to Jim McCaffrey, Ottawa business manager, Foley said that the Aces would play here Saturday night and the teams would return to Quebec for a game Sunday.

The telegram indicated the League intends to carry on despite the fact that Cornwall and Montreal Army teams have dropped out since the season began. The Montreal team withdrew first and Cornwall dropped out yesterday.

A league meeting will be held in Montreal tonight to discuss plans for the balance of the season.

Meantime, McCaffrey also reported receipt of a telegram from the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association which said Joe Shack, a former professional, is not eligible to play for Commandos until the Association discusses his status at its next meeting.

Shack's services are also being sought by Montreal Royals. Royals' officials said yesterday they would have to withdraw from the league unless they could obtain more players.

Italian Farmer Appeals Murder Count

MONTREAL, Nov. 17 — (CP).—Luigi Stabile, 60-year-old Ville Lasale farmer and father of 12 children yesterday opened his appeal against a murder conviction sentencing him to hang on January 14 for the death 27 years ago of his brother-in-law, Carmino Festa. Stabile had been convicted by a Court of King's Bench jury in September after discovery of a skeleton under the cellar of a nearby farmhouse once occupied by Stabile and his family.

The trial was unique in the history of Canadian jurisprudence, not only because 27 years had elapsed since the death of Festa, but because the cause of death was never established, no motive was introduced at the trial, and all evidence was circumstantial.

In opening the appeal, Lucien Gendron, counsel for Stabile, told the Appeal Court yesterday that "if for purpose of argument a crime of murder is admitted, if it is admitted that two persons were present and if there was no eye-witness to the crime, no jury has any right to choose between those two persons and say that one of them committed the crime and the other did not."

Circumstantial evidence, he said, might be used to determine who committed a crime, but it should not be used to determine whether or not a crime had been committed.

MILLBROOK

St. Thomas W.A. Names Officers

MILLBROOK, Nov. 17 — (ENS)—The W.A. of St. Thomas Church met Monday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, with Mrs. A. E. Chevis taking the prayers of the Litany, Mrs. Westmacott those for world peace, and Mrs. J. W. Hilton reading the lesson.

Mrs. J. E. Allen reported all the debts paid, the full amount of the pledges remitted to Toronto, and a balance still in the bank. For the Junior W.A., the president reported a tea, and program including lantern slides, to be held in the parish hall, November 26. Two new members were welcomed, Mrs. Hutchinson and Mrs. Bell, and the committee on sale of calendars reported 60 sold. Mrs. L. M. Bonneville took the chapter covering the evangelical missions in Brazil and it was decided to attend the regular observance of the sacrement at the annual St. Andrew's Communion service, Sunday morning, December 5.

As no meeting will be held in December, the annual nominations took place and the election will be at the January gathering. The list includes: Honorary president, Mrs. John Allen, senior; honorary vice-president, Mrs. T. A. Campbell; president, Mrs. Westmacott; vice-president, Mrs. W. E. Massey-Cooke; secretary, Miss Rose MacNamara; treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Allen; Dorcas secretary, Mrs. H. J. Russell; Living Message secretary, and Juniors, Miss McCorry.

Beginning with the new year, a light lunch will be served after the regular meetings, each member not contributing to the refreshments to pay five cents. Mrs. H. M. Trick and Mrs. Bell will serve at the January meeting.

Plane Discovered Pilot Uninjured

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Nov. 17 — (CP).—One R.C.A.F. plane is still missing to-day from the nearby Bagotville base where two two-seater Kitty-Hawk fighters were reported missing yesterday. The second missing plane has been located undamaged. Searching operations are continuing for the missing craft. Sole occupant is the pilot.

The two planes were reported missing yesterday in the same general area where a big R.C.A.F. Liberator bomber was lost recently with 24 passengers.

MANY CHANGES ARE MADE IN R.C.A.F. HIGH COMMAND

Air Vice Marshal A. T. N. Cowley, air member for organization at air force headquarters in Ottawa, has been appointed air officer commanding No. 1 Training Command.

Air Vice Marshal J. L. E. A. DeNiverville, air officer commanding No. 3 Training Command of the R.C.A.F., moves from Montreal to Ottawa to take over the post of air member for training in the air council.

Air Vice Marshal Frank S. McGill, air officer commanding No. 1 Training Command, has been appointed air member for organization at air force headquarters in Ottawa.

Air Vice Marshal N. R. Anderson, air member for air staff at air force headquarters, Ottawa, will go overseas soon as deputy air officer commanding-in-chief of the R.C.A.F. overseas. He will be second in command to Air Marshal L. S. Breadner.

Air Vice Marshal W. A. Curtis, deputy air officer commanding-in-chief of the R.C.A.F. overseas, has been named air member for air staff and returns to Canada.

Does Little Abner Elude Designs Of Daisy Mae? Examiner Group Start Peeking For Answer

It appears the Examiner has on its staff a group, only a small and rather juvenile group of peekers, full brothers to those readers who after they get along into the swing of a story turn to the last pages to find out how it ends. Perhaps there are persons of disciplined wills who have never succumbed to this tempting short cut, even the author is obviously stalling with the progress of plot for the sake of padding. If such there be, they can hardly understand the eager curiosity of the above mentioned group of Examiner employees who simply could not restrain a compelling interest in what's happening to Little Abner. They peeked.

If the proof of the pudding is finally the cook's eating thereof, then this Little Abner hokum or maybe it's Yokum and its appeal to the Examiner staff, even those who observed turning to the comic strips section of the noon edition, instead of nonchalantly waiting for the final, or even first scanning the early war news and the editorial page, at any rate this manifest response to a product attraction should be a recommendation to the general readers.

For the purpose of this comment, all that is known about Lil Abner is that a crisis has befallen him in his wontedly easy going and carefree mode of life, and that a girl named Daisy Mae has him haltered and hobbled, and generally tied up in a one-dollar wedding ceremony. Knowing the artifices and inventions of comic strip continuity, the Examiner's devotees of Lil Abner and his present entanglement bethought themselves of the advance plates that come to hand in weekly instalments, and they laid out the sequence of this serial "comic" for three or four days, the most inconsisent kind of peeking, and now they know what is in store for Lil Abner through his vicissitudes all the way to Saturday. They have looked into the future of one man, granted a creature of fiction, and they know what his tomorrows are fashioning for him. The other readers, staff and general public, who have discovered the Abner comedy-drama, they will have to contain their curiosity until the paper is at the door. If you are not following the Abner strip, this exposure of the plant peekers will fall flat. If you are of the great majority you will understand the group anxiety for Lil Abner and his fate, and the answer to the $64 question: does Daisy Mae get him, or does she?

OBITUARIES

WILLIAM WESLEY REDDEN

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 17 (ENS).—The death of the late William Wesley Redden occurred in Peterborough after a brief illness, he had resided here for many years prior to moving a year ago to Asphodel. Husband of the late Joanna Collins, who predeceased him some years ago, he leaves to mourn his loss, one son, Rufus Edward and three grandchildren, Joel, Morris and Wilma Redden.

Son of the late Henry and Lucy Redden, he was a brother of Mrs J. Owens, the only surviving member of the family.

The funeral was held from the residence of his son, Lot 12, Concession 8, Asphodel to the Pentecostal Tabernacle, Havelock, where services were conducted by Rev. Sternall, assisted by Rev. Price of Four Square Church, Norwood. The pall bearers were Harry Redden Earl Redden, Carmen Redden, Garnet Redden, Will Shannon and Ted Owens, Flower bearers were Karl Owens, Howard Redden, Harry Revoir, George and Morley Nixon.

Interment was at Stanwood Cemetery.

DAVID DUNCAN HOGG.

HAVELOCK, Nov. 17.—(ENS).—An old and esteemed resident of Havelock passed suddenly away in the Toronto Western Hospital in the person of David Duncan Hogg, in his 87th year.

Although he had been in failing health for some time, his sudden passing came as a shock to his friends here. He was born July 12, 1856, at Alnwick township and spent his boyhood days in that section. In 1896 he moved to Havelock and for a number of years he worked with Mr. Patterson in the coal business. Later he entered the employ of the C.P.R. in the express and freight department, and for 21 years was the mail carrier from the station to the post office.

The late Mr. Hogg was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters and a devoted member of St. John's Anglican church. In 1891 he was married to Mary Jane McCracken, who predeceased him last February. Surviving are one brother, John Hogg of Port Hope, one granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Burlington, of Clinton, and one stepson, Thomas Cummings, of Havelock.

He had made a host of friends during his 48 years' residence in Havelock, and his kind manner and keen interest in problems will be missed.

The funeral was held from B. Curtis' Funeral Parlours, conducted by Rev. R. E. Lemon, with interment at Maple Grove cemetery. Pallbearers were Richard Sanderson, Ernest Leeson, James Ketchen, Robert McCutcheon, William Martin and William Smith.

Polish Children Are Seized As Hostages

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—The Germans have seized children as hostages in Poland, the Polish Telegraph Agency reported from London today.

The agency said 50 children had been taken in recent raids in Warsaw. Most of them were taken from a tuberculosis sanitarium in Otowck, a suburb of Warsaw.

The population of Warsaw, the agency said, has been reduced from 1,500,000 to 950,000, as a result of executions and imprisonments.

electric development in the installation of plumbing and heating in farm homes. It is also recommended that a Crown company be created to dispose of Government-owned stocks of such material after the war; that this be administered by business men, irrespective of their politics, and not to be handed out as a political job to "some one who lost out in some election."

It is also recommended in the brief that usable plumbing and heating materials be shipped from Canada to the devastated Allied countries. The Federal Government will also be urged to prohibit the entry of any surplus plumbing and heating materials into Canada from any other countries for five years.

The objective of the brief is the systematic disposal of Government-owned stocks salvaged from Government-owned buildings—fortifications, camps, Commonwealth Air Training structures, naval centres, shipyards—to avoid any demoralization of industry which would interfere with postwar maximum employment. It was claimed that Canadian factory production would be adversely affected if such surplus quantities of materials were placed indiscriminately on the Canadian market.

Dog Dying

ALBANY, N.Y., Nov. 17 (AP) — Special Technician Franklin E. Higgins bid fond farewell last night to his 17-year-old dying dog, Pal, and boarded a train for the 1,300-mile return trip to Camp Crowder, Mo. Higgins had been granted a special furlough to visit his close companion for 16 years. The Airedale, grieving since his master was inducted into the army last summer, recently suffered a stroke from which he is not expected to recover.

Twenty-seven Year Old Murder Now Under Review

MONTREAL, Nov. 17 — (CP).—Judgment was reserved to-day in the case of Luigi Stabile, 60-year-old Ville Lasalle farmer and the father of 12 children, appealing a murder conviction sentencing him to hang January 14 for the death 27 years ago of his brother-in-law Carmino Festa.

After Defense Counsel Lucien Gendron, K.C., called the trial unique in Canadian jurisprudence in that the cause of death was never established, no motive was introduced, and all evidence was circumstantial. Crown Prosecutor, Claude Prevost, K.C., said court had to decide whether Stabile should be acquitted or should undergo a new trial. Mr. Prevost said the Crown had considered the possibility, offered by defense, that as Mrs. Stabile was one of the last to see Festa, she could have just as easily been charged with the murder. Therefore, he added, he would submit the case in all its aspects.

He said he admitted the Crown had no proof eliminating the possibility of suicide and could offer no evidence reconstructing the scene at the former Stabile farm at nearby St. Hubert when Festa and Mrs. Stabile and three of their young children met October 15, 1915 — the night Festa disappeared.

Evidence at the trial showed that Festa's family, newly arrived from Italy, had moved to a house near the Stabile farm, where Festa was employed by his brother-in-law. Festa called on Stabile the night he disappeared. The following day he failed to report for work and Stabile got a photograph of Festa, presumably to notify police. The Crown said no report of Festa's disappearence was ever recorded. The Crown also pointed to evidence that Stabile told Mrs. Festa to remarry and forget her missing husband.

Soldier Bears Charmed Life

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH CANADIANS IN ITALY, Nov. 14 — (Delayed)—(CP Cable).—Cpl. Cecil Peace of Vancouver counts his narrow escapes on his finger tips.

The infantryman had three close calls in just about as many minutes when a Western Canadian battalion put on an attack on one town, and got away without a scratch. He said his hair has been standing on end ever since.

Peace was covering the door of a house when a sniper's bullet tore through the shoulder of his battle-dress blouse. He turned to see where the shot came from and another bullet went through the cloth of the same shoulder. Neither bullet touched his body.

Pte. John Watson of Folklands, B.C., standing beside him picked off the sniper.

When Peace advanced into the house he came face to face with a German officer who fired a revolver shot that pierced Peace' helmet without touching his head. The Canadian held the trigger of his tommy-gun and sprayed the German from head to foot.

A VAGRANCY CHARGE

Gilbert Jones who was charged in police court this morning with vagrancy was remanded for a week when the crown intimated that some further investigations had to be made.

IS FINED TWICE

Howard Gerow of Havelock was fined $10 and $2.50 costs on two charges this morning arising out of a recent accident in Havelock in which his car collided with a refreshment booth. He entered written pleas of guilty to driving without a license and with inadequate brakes.

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

War has affected even the Christmas shoppers now. It used to be the fashion to wait until the week before Christmas or the last day to make purchases but not any more. Already this year business men have noticed that a number of shoppers are picking up a few of their gifts at the present time, avoiding the wearisome rush and confusion usually associated with the Yuletide season.

AN ELDERLY DIANA

News of a woman taking out a license to hunt deer was expanded this morning by Ray Best who told of a Peterborough county woman, 78 years old, obtaining a license at the store of Campbell and Best. Hunting is not a new experience to this woman who recalled with some lingering regret her woods experience last season when she had a shot at a deer but missed. With the new license she was determined to retrieve that fumble.

NOTHING WASTED

Railway ties which have served out their usefulness and been replaced by new ones, and which are in excess of those used by the farmers, are being carefully hoarded in Alberta and other parts of the West and then are shipped to Calgary where they are used under the boilers at the Ogden shops. During October authorities say they saved 600 tons of coal by use of these ties.

PARTY POSTPONED

The Kiwanis Charter Anniversary celebration which was to have taken place Thursday has been postponed for a week and the regular meeting will be held Friday with Rev. Dr. J. D. Smart as guest speaker.

FINED FOR SPEEDING

Milford Payne who entered a written plea of guilty was fined $5 and $2.50 costs in police court this morning and Leonard Meade paid $2 and $1 costs for a breach of the city's parking bylaw.

CONCERT DATE CHANGED

Because of the Collegiate Commencement exercises, the Community Concert Association has had to change the date of its first concert to December 1. William Kappell, pianist, is the artist. Definite dates have been set for the other concerts with Rose Bampton on January 28, and the Bary Ensemble on April 1.

THREE ALARMS.

The Fire Department reported three minor alarms for Tuesday night and this morning. At 8:17 Tuesday D. Hope's car parked in front of 176 Brock Street caught fire when the anti-freeze boiled over. At 9:08 p.m. W. Harris sent in a call for a chimney and pipes fire at 264 Rubidge Street; and at 6:58 this morning there was a chimney fire at the home of E. Stone, 12 Edgewater Boulevard.

BICYCLIST INJURED

Thomas Wallace, 72, 527 Sherbrooke street, sustained a cut on his nose, requiring two stitches, a gash over his eye and an injured arm when he went over the handle bars of his bicycle and struck the road heavily after a collision with a car at noon today. The accident happened at Sherbrooke and Reid streets. Wallace was riding west on Sherbrooke street and John Myles, Ennismore township, was driving his car east on the same street. At the Reid street intersection bicycle and car collided and Wallace was thrown off the wheel.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT DEFENCES — This could be a picture of one of Britain's anti-aircraft posts which give the few Nazi raiders still interested in bombing English towns a hot reception. Instead it was taken in Ottawa, during a recent display of modern Canadian Army equipment. The money which Canadians invest in Victory Bonds and War Savings Stamps goes to buy war material like this. (Canadian Army Photo)

Harvey School Gives $30 To War Victims

Generally speaking, a group of twelve children would hardly be expected to do a great deal in the way of raising money, even under the most enticing conditions, although much would likely depend upon the kind of leadership they were given, and how that same leadership was regarded in the eyes of their potential supporters, on whom in the final analysis results would mostly depend.

It should therefore speak highly of Mrs. Margaret B. Hall of Buckhorn and her pupils of School Section No. 7, Harvey, that this group of 12 children under her leadership should, through the medium of a concert, raise such a splendid sum as the $30 recorded in their name to-day in the lists of receipts for the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund.

Coming in quick response to the letter sent to this teacher a short while ago on behalf of the special donations for Christmas that the fund is now endeavoring to raise, it speaks volumes for their readiness to help in such a project to give some joy to others less fortunate than themselves, which cannot but react as a real feature for solid character building in the lives of these children, which will undoubtedly find expression in various ways for good later on in their lives.

Personal Giving.

Seldom a day passes but what someone is represented in the realm of personal help, to-day this place being taken by G. A. Brethen of Norwood, whose act thus gives one hundred per cent in the day's receipts to the district outside of the city. Every year at about this time, a similar donation in his name has appeared in this column.

The fund now has $1,682 in the bank towards the special Christmas donation and the Christmas Cheer Fund for Children, out of $6,720 needed to duplicate last year's contributions. With about five week left to complete the objective, there still remains over $5,000 to reach that amount, which can and will be achieved if all participate in this opportunity to spread a ray of sunshine through this means into the lives of those whom the misfortunes of war have afflicted through enemy air raids over Britain.

HASTINGS AIRMAN — LAC. Milton McConnell, R.C.A.F., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McConnell of Hastings, is stationed in Canada. He enlisted in the Air Force August 8, 1942, and trained at Toronto and Brandon and was stationed at several other points. LAC. McConnell was educated at Fleming's School and was employed at the C.G.E. in Peterborough before enlisting.

Shelter Garden Produced Vegetable Crop

The Shelter report for the month of October was of particular interest to the members of the Children's Aid Society, who held their regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon in the Society's rooms, with the president, James Dutton, in the chair.

The report on garden produce grown at the Shelter read as follows: 37 bushels of potatoes; 22 bushels of carrots; 6 bushels of parsnips; 4 bushels of turnips; 8 bushels of beets; 2 bags of onions; 8 citrons; 3 dozen head of cabbage, and spinach, lettuce, radishes and other vegetables grown in the garden and used all summer. In addition, 316 quarts of fruit and vegetables have been preserved for use during the winter.

There have been 14 children in the Shelter during the past month, and the serious lack of capable help has now, to a great extent, been overcome.

Donations to the Shelter for October included meat, potatoes and bread from the 4th Field Battery, sandwiches from King Edward School, and 23 handkerchiefs for boys from the Collegiate Institute. Three girls are now being given music lessons by the Junior Welfare League, through Mrs. R. T. E. Brain. Mrs. K. G. Lech entertained the children at a theatre party, followed by a lunch in Hooper's Palm Room.

Miss Rachel Young, the superintendent, stressed again in her report the serious need for warm clothing and underwear for the children. Miss Young also stated that some constructive and definite effort to assist juvenile delinquents, most of whom are boys, should be made, and suggested a program whereby a man would take a special interest in one boy, and try to interest him in finer and healthier activities, an idea similar to the popular "Big Brother" movement.

The report said that 142 children had been under the care of the Society during the month, and that as the Christmas season approached, it was hoped that the co-operation of friends in the community would enable the children in the Shelter and in foster homes to enjoy the holiday season. A motion was carried placing the women of the Society in charge of the Christmas planning again this year.

A grading report from the Department of Public Welfare was read by Mr. Dutton, in which recognition of the excellent work done in the past year was made, and a high grading was given this Society. Mr. Dutton, in his remarks on the report, told of the exceedingly difficult circumstances which often occurred, and complimented Miss Young on her splendid work. It was m[illegible]ed that a copy of this report be forwarded to the city council.

Only Three Umbrellas To Be Had As War Has Closed Up Industry

Three umbrellas discovered somewhere behind the scenery at Grafton's seemed to be Peterborough's vestigial stock. Some how or other they had floated out into an eddy off the main current of business, and had been overlooked while their whole family here and back to the place of origin and production was disappearing under the bans of war time industry.

Ed Riley said he hadn't seen an unsold umbrella in a long time. George Hildenbrand of Fashion Craft couldn't dig up one if it rained for the next month. And in that business area there are just three at Grafton, according to H. J. Conway. The prices are pre-war, but these are not of the top quality, just a good average stock. These defensive instruments of the pedestrian have been pushed into the background generally by the imitative proclivity of youth. Some affirmed that it was smarter to get wet rather than yield to the necessity of an umbrella, and all kind of folks followed them .

Some day the umbrella will be restored to a higher place than ever as a symbol of protection. Surely it may be contended that Neville Chamberlain's umbrella deserves to be ranked in history with the original fifth column represented by the Trojan horse. Hitler evidently scorned anyone who would carry an umbrella around with him, and especially a statesman, and an elderly one; and jumped at the decision that knocking off Great Britain was a little chore that could safely wait until the mainland across the Channel was brought to heel. The Hun must have thought the parasol an expression if timorousness or decadence, as being afraid to take a soaking for the sake of a soaking or something. Possibly it was assuring to Hitler, disarming, creating a sense of ample time for the blood he was about to spill; or Chamberlain and his umbrella may have been all the fifth column Britain needed. The subsequent fact was that Hitler did not press upon Britain after his first amazing victories.

Since then or a little later the umbrella industry has been completely eclipsed, reduced to the expedient of recovering old frameworks.

Mitchell Names Teacher Board

OTTAWA, Nov. 17—(CP).—Labor Minister Mitchell today announced appointment of a committee to advise National Selective Service on the most effective use of school teachers during the war.

The committee, established in consultation with the Canadian Teachers' Federation, has six members. Arthur MacNamara, director of Selective Service, is chairman. The other members are Miss Beryl Traux of Montreal, president, and Dr. C. N. Crutchfield of Shawinigan Falls, Que., secretary-treasurer, of the Teachers' Federation; R. E. Shaul, Edmonton; O. V. B. Miller, Montreal, and Frank Patten, Ottawa.

Threatened shortages of school teachers led to Selective Service regulations requiring teachers to obtain Selective Service permits before leaving the profession. The new committee will be available for consultation in regard to problems which may arise in connection with the shortage and application of the Selective Service regulations.

Milk Shortage

HAMILTON, Nov. 17 — (CP).— Hamilton Board of Health regulations have been relaxed to permit milk shipments for a 70-mile radius in an effort to cope with a critical milk situation here. It is estimated the supply is 1,000 gallons short of the normal figure.

Why Not Here?

OAKVILLE, Ont., Nov. 17 (CP). — Black and grey squirrels will be leading hunted lives here thanks to an announcement by Chief Constable David Kerr that permits will be issued to shoot the rodents. One family returned after a week's absence to find the animals had caused $300 damage in their home.

17 Members Attended Central Smith Forum

The second meeting of the Central Smith Radio Forum was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Moore, with seventeen members present. The meeting opened with the radio broadcast on Prices and Planning. The members were then divided into two groups, Mrs. Milton Clarke acting secretary for group one and Mrs. Roland Scott for group two. The groups united and findings compared and discussed. The highlight question, "How prices could be adjusted to allow the farmer a fair return and at the same time enable the low-income consumer to secure his minimum food requirement." To do this, distribution prices must be reduced, the members claimed, the frills must be cut out, overlapping done away with, and less profit to the middleman.

Mrs. Reynolds conducted a quiz on Canada, after which lunch was served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bulmer. The topic for discussion, Price and Control. New members will be cordially welcomed by the Forum.

C.C.F. Leader Comments On Winch Speech

ROSETOWN, Sask., Nov. 17 (CP). —"When we are in power, we shall deal with all opposition democratically and legally," M. J. Coldwell, House leader of the C.C.F., said last night at a public meeting here.

"Political discussions will be encouraged and the right to oppose the C.C.F. policies will be rigidly protected, but violent opposition and sabotage will be dealt with as any government would deal with it."

Mr. Coldwell was commenting on the reported speech of Harold Winch at Calgary, Nov. 9, dealing with the use of police and military force. Mr. Winch is leader of the C.C.F. in British Columbia.

Misrepresentation.

The Dominion C.C.F. leader said: "Any steps which we take to enforce or to amend the constitution will be in the best traditions of democratic practice, and when our critics imply anything else they are guilty of gross misrepresentation."

Mr. Coldwell claimed that Mr. Winch's remarks had been distorted by the press.

He urged his audience to give every possible effort to any program which will bring success to the Allied armies.

When we engaged in war, he said, it does not matter "if we disagree on the principles on which any government in power is operating. If that government has been elected by the people we must give it full support in carrying out of those tasks which confront a nation engaged in a death struggle."

Hitler and Mussolini, Mr. Coldwell said, were not causes, but effects, and we must work to eradicate those evils which lie deep in the economic life of the nations.

He said there were 1,750,000 young people of Canada engaged either in the armed services or in war effort, who would be thrown back into civilian life at the end of hostilities.

The present government, he said, had no policy to meet the problems which will thus be created.

Earlier, Mr. Coldwell was nominated by acclamation as C.C.F. candidate for the Rosetown-Biggar Federal constituency in the next Dominion general election. He has represented the constituency since 1935.

Obituary

MRS. ARTHUR ARMSTRONG

Mrs. Arthur Armstrong, 505 Chamberlain street, died at her home Tuesday evening after a long illness. She was in her 70th year, having come to Canada from County Cavan, Ireland, at the age of seven.

Daughter of the late Hugh Cruikshank and Jane Thistle, Mrs. Armstrong has lived in Peterborough for 40 years, coming to this city from Millbrook. She was a member of Knox Church.

Surviving is her husband, Arthur Armstrong, one daughter, Mrs. Arnold Fallis (Marie) of Port Perry; and three brothers, Jack Cruikshank of Hastings, James and Hugh of Peterborough.

The funeral service will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence. Rev. H. Mahoney and Rev. William MacDonald will officiate and interment will be in Fraserville Cemetery.

Ignorance, Poverty Main Causes Of Poor Health, Teachers Told

Miss Zerada Slack, secretary for health education for the National Council of the Y.W.C.A. of Canada, addressed a meeting of the Teachers' Institute of the city at Prince of Wales School on Tuesday afternoon. The president, Miss Lillian Esplen, occupied the chair and introduced the speaker, whose subject was "Truths and Half-Truths About Health." Miss Slack deplored present health conditions in Canada, backing her startling statements with very convincing statistics. She believes that ignorance and poverty are the main causes of this unhappy situation, since such diseases as tuberculosis, diphtheria and typhoid are preventable. Shortage of medical personnel and mistaken attitudes toward health education are also contributing factors.

"We are too likely to consider health as merely absence of disease, rather than a very positive state of physical, mental and social well-being," she said. To acquire good health habits is of much greater benefit than to gain a great deal of health knowledge. Miss Slack emphasized the three fundamental requisites for health: nourishment, sleep and exercise, and classified the other so-called health rules as very desirable "social habits." A humorous note was introduced, as the speaker pointed out many false impressions which are gained from the "half truths" about health.

J. E. R. Munro expressed the appreciation of the members of the Institute for Miss Slack's forceful and instructive address. His vote of thanks was seconded by Miss Whittaker.

The singing of the National Anthem closed the meeting.

UNRRA Giving New Hope To All Europe

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.Y., Nov. 17—(AP)—The exile governments of Europe got a new lease on life today from the rapidly evolving policy concerning the food that the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration will move into war stricken countries.

It has been about decided, a high source said, that title to the relief supplies will pass, at the port of entry, into the hands of whatever existing government controls the territory.

Thus, if the first food boat into the Netherlands is followed shortly by a boat carrying Queen Wilhelmina and her cabinet, the distribution of the food will be turned over to them.

Only two countries are left in an uncertain position through the policy: France, because of the recent struggle between elements of her government in North Africa; and Yugoslavia, because of the present trouble between her forces on home soil.

Some Disturbed

Some consternation resulted for the smaller countries on news from working committees that the British and American delegations hope to preserve the existence of the combined wartime British-American boards which control food, transport and raw materials.

The British and Americans feel, through the combined boards they can put a stop to any world-wide inflation which migh occur should all the countries with foreign trade balances be permitted to compete for the limited supplies which will be on the markets following the war.

But the countries with gold balances abroad — the Netherlands, France and Norway—are understood to be worried about the rationing which may eventuate through action of the combined British-American boards, because if they are in existence for the 18 months to two years through which UNRRA is expected to operate, all countries will to share—and share alike.

The countries with gold balances abroad may find themselves in the position of saving people living at the absolute minimum, with money to buy, but with no markets in which to buy.

Trout Lake Party Gets Seven Deer

Returning after a week's hunt at Trout Lake, Alderman Max Swanston reported today that his party of nine had chalked up seven deer, which is a higher score than many other hunters have shown.

The hunters, who returned home, included Dr. H. J. Long, Dr. W. J. Gordon, Vern Ferguson, Max Swanston of Peterborough; A. Curtis of Cobourg; Russell and Braiden Northey of Orillia; Wallace Shearer of Buckhorn and Roy Brown of Lakefield.

New School

CAMP BORDEN, Nov. 17 (CP). —A school of military hygiene, to instruct army personnel in scientific methods of preventing disease, has been established at the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps training centre here. The school modelled after those in the British Army, is the only one of its kind in Canada.

New Raids

PEARL HARBOR, T.H., Nov. 17 (AP)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced last night that United States heavy bombers raided Betio Island and Trawa Atoll, the night of Nov. 13, and Betio and Mille Atoll in the Marshalls the next night. Results were not specified.

Liquor Charge Results In Fine

William Francis who pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday to illegal possession of liquor was fined $125 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning.

The alternative was three months in jail.

Officer Archie Menzies, called to give evidence, testified that he had arrested Francis at Hunter and Rogers Streets on Monday night and that the accused had a case of six quarts of beer. The bottles were unopened, the witness said.

Francis stated that he had not bought the beer but borrowed it.

A charge against Michael Cavalier of keeping liquor for sale was enlarged for a week. W. J. Arthur Fair appeared for the accused this morning.

Two Autos Damaged In Crash On Highway 7

Two automobiles were badly damaged in an accident on Highway No. 7, four miles east of Peterborough Tuesday night but fortunately no one was hurt.

Clair O'Brien, Indian River, driving east, had stopped because his engine was heating up. He had crossed the road and obtained a pail of water and the car was being cranked preparatory to moving off when another east bound car, driven by John C. Edwards, Otonabee, collided with the rear of the other vehicle.

O'Brien's car went into the ditch after the crash. The rear end was badly damaged. The front of Edwards' machine also suffered badly from the impact but none of the occupants of the two cars sustained injury.

Scott Lumber Company Sells Retail Business

Purchase by the Beaver Lumber Company of the retail stock of lumber and builders' supplies of the Scott Lumber Company is announced today.

The material will be transferred to the George street yard of the Beaver Lumber Company. The significance of this information is the decision of Captain Harold R. Scott, M.P.P., to retire from the retail field and to concentrate on manufacturing and wholesaling of lumber. He is retaining his headquarters in part of the old Wm. Hamilton building on Reid street, with a yard south of the city, and will become more active in the bush phase [illegible] the business in limits the S[illegible] Company owns.

Loaded Truck Hit In Rear; Driver Charged

The story of how his milk truck, weighting 5,450 pounds and carrying 3,000 pounds of milk was driven 60 feet down the highway and then through the ditch to stop against a fence after being struck in the rear by another truck was told in the witness box at Police Court this morning by George Elliott, Dummer Township, in the hearing of a charge of reckless driving against James T. O'Reilly, Percy Township farmer.

O'Reilly, who pleaded not guilty to the charge, was defended by T. J. Carley, K.C., while the prosecution was conducted by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C.

Elliott, the first witness, said that he was the driver of a milk truck, and that on the night of October 22 he had stopped on Highway 7, about 2½ miles west of Norwood because his engine was heating up. He said he had pulled over as far to the right side of the road as he could in safety. He swore that he had five red lights burning on the back of his truck and that when he saw the illumination of another vehicle a couple of minutes after he had stopped he had turned on a white "backing up" light at the back. A short time later his truck was struck from behind by another truck and driven 60 feet along the road and into the ditch.

Elliott said that when he approached the other truck after the crash he heard some one say "Don't say anything."

"When I opened the door of the other truck I found two men had been injured" said the witness, who said that he saw O'Reilly get out at the driver's side. He said O'Reilly had told him that he hadn't seen anything but the white light and then later had told the police officer who investigated that he had only seen the red light.

To Mr. Carley the witness said that where he stopped his truck was more than half way down a hill.

The case is proceeding.

Church Organizations Can Receive Jellies

OTTAWA, Nov. 17—(CP). — The Prices Board announced today religious and charitable organizations now may accept donations of home-made jams and jellies if they are for use by these organizations or to be sold in aid of charities.

Institutions receiving and wishing to sell such donations must first obtain permission from their local ration board to sell jams or jellies without collecting ration coupons. Selling of large quantities of these rationed commodities is discouraged, the board said.

Night Constable Chases Thieves

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 17. — (ENS).—An attempted robbery by unidentified thieves at the garage of C. H. Davidson & Sons a two o'clock this morning was frustrated by Police Constable David Bowen, who was making his rounds on foot.

The thieves had broken into the garage by smashing the bolt on the service entrance. As the constable approached they became frightened and fled to a car parked nearby. Constable Bowen was too far away to catch them and the car was last seen disappointed in the diraction of Hastings.

A check-up by Mr. Davidson revealed that nothing had been taken.

St. John's Auxiliary Tea

An attractive and successful tea, arranged and sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Church, was held on Tuesday afternoon in the parish hall. The guests were received by the president, Mrs. W. M. Cruthers, and Miss N. English acted as treasurer.

Mrs. G. S. Cameron and Mrs. John Mills were in charge of a lovely display of shawls, fans and parasols. There were dainty fans of the type that were carried by ladies more than two generations ago. Parasols of the late nineteenth century and shawls of every description from the delicate "Liberty" with Paris and London labels to Paisley and tartan, and shawls over a hundred years old, were to be seen. Oriental and Indian shawls were also shown.

The tea-room was in charge of Mrs. Clare Collins and Mrs. Welsh, and tea was poured by Mrs. Lamb and Mrs. G. S. Cameron. Tea-room assistants were Mesdames Crocker, Groombridge, Wardle, Watson, Nicholls, Eldred, Ford, Lemmings, Graham and Gamble.

MARRIED IN ENGLAND

Pte. Arthur and Mrs. Delorme were married recently in St. Clare's Parish Church in Ely, Cardiff, South Wales, England. Pte. Delorme, son of Mrs. Mary Delorme, is with the S.D. and G. Mothers Fear Movies Hurt Children

"The Movies and the Child" was the subject of a lively discussion at the meeting of the Home and School Council held in the Y.W.C.A., with the president, Mrs. Edward Chambers, in the chair. It was agreed by the group that even though the movies are considered by educators to be the finest method of teaching yet found, little advancement along these lines has been made.

The opinion of the group seemed to be that a child should not be allowed to see inferior and often nerve-racking types of motion pictures, because they tend to excite him too much. However, at the present time, he can only be protected by discriminating and thoughtful parents.

It was decided that a world of entertainment where such matter as "My Friend Flicka" is the rule rather than the exception, would be an appropriate goal for which to aim.

The result of this discussion was a decision to form a committee to approach theatre managers, who could in turn acquaint producers with the tastes and wishes of one Ontario community.

At the beginning of the meeting, Mrs. R. Deyell read an excellent paper, and Mrs. V. R. Henry urged that listening groups be formed to tune in on the broadcasts about post-war reconstruction which began over the CBC on November 16. In this way these groups can acquaint themselves with the plans being made for the post-war world, and therefore have some definite idea of the things which are to come.

St. Andrew's Hears Rev. Craik

The thankoffering meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held in the ladies' parlor, with the president, Mrs. H. Tremain, in the chair, The devotional part was in charge of Miss F. Dixon's group. Miss Dixon followed the program as outlined in the Missionary Monthly, with several members of the group reading Scripture passages.

The Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James' United Church was guest speaker, and gave a very fine address on "Our missionary work from a profit-sharing viewpoint." The sharing with others not only of our money, but our influence, inspiration, talents, sympathy, guidance, etc. Mrs. Munroe, in a few well-chosen words, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, and Mrs. A. H. Radford sang a solo, which was much enjoyed. Mrs. Harris closed the meeting with prayer. A social half-hour was enjoyed after the meeting.

Peterboro Soldier Married In Cornwall United Church

The marriage took place recently, in St. Paul's United Church, Cornwall, of Gladys Irene, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thomas of Cornwall, to Pte. William Stanley Drummond, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Drummond of Peterborough. Rev. W. S. Atchison, B.A., B.D., officiated, and Lieut.-Colonel F G. Robison presided at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white chiffon. Her finger-tip veil of tulle was arranged in a coronet style, and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

She was attended by Miss Vivian Burke, who was dressed in a floor-length frock of powder blue chiffon, a shoulder-length veil caught with matching flowers, and carried a colonial nosegay of pink and white carnations. Pte. Ralph Coulthart was groomsman, and Ptes. Albert Lalonde and J. Halloway were ushers.

The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond studded bracelet, to the bridesmaid, a set of ear-rings, and to the best man a leather billfold.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony, where the bride's mother received, wearing a cocoa brown crepe dress and a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a tea blue crepe gown and a corsage of Talisman roses. Music was provided by the S. D. and G. Highlanders Pipe Band.

For a trip to Peterborough, the bride donned a dark brown crepe dress with matching accessories, and a green topcoat.

Kinettes During Past Year Raised $1,373 to Buy Milk

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Kinettes was held at the home of Mrs. J. Elliott, Elias avenue, Tuesday evening. Reports were read by the secretary and treasurer. $1,373 has been sent by the Kinettes to the Milk for Britain Fund during the past season which represents 13,730 quarts of powdered milk having been shipped to the bombed areas of Britain. Besides sponsoring various money making projects, the members, under the capable convenership of Mrs. V. Selkirk have completed three quilts during the year and at present are working on the fourth quilt. These quilts are made from the tops of old socks and old woollen articles.

A donation in the amount of $100 was received at this meeting from the Junior Welfare League. This represents 1,000 quarts of powdered milk to be sent overseas, and was very much appreciated.

Mrs. W. J. Gordon, co-convener of the milk bottle collection, reported on the various bottle collections and announced that aproximately $315 had been collected from milk bottles during the year. These bottles are placed in stores and homes throughout the city.

Mrs. V. Selkirk, co-chairman of the nominating committee, with Mrs. A. Sollitt, presented the new slate of officers as follows:

President, Mrs. Maurice Holt (returned into office for third year); vice-president, Mrs. James Elliott; secretary, Mrs. J. A. MacDonald; treasurer, Mrs. W. Langan; telephone convener, Mrs. W. Osborne; sewing convener, Mrs. A. Shallhorn; milk bottle collection conveners, Mrs. W. J. Gordon, Mrs. R. Nott.

For Thursday, November 18.

Excellent prospects are predicted for quick, original and decisive action in matters that may be novel, exceptional and out of the routine channels of effort. Old obstacles may be removed by such tactics, with good work or original skills of a scientific, inventive or artistic nature. Progress and surprising rewards may be supported by romantic adventure or some dramatic and surprising occurrences. There may be sudden celebrations of engagements, marriage or other happy domestic or social events. Favors from elders may assist.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of exceptional progress, happiness, and dramatic events, both in business, domestic, social or affectional affiliations. Courtship and marriage may call for outstanding happy functions, with old friends and relatives rejoicing. Original skills, innovations and unique expressions of talent, quickly pushed to culminations may mean gratifying gains. Persistent and worthy effort merits exceptional returns.

A child born on this day while having exceptional talents and skills may also have a romantic, affectionate and adventurous nature. Good fortune and personal popularity crown its efforts.

BIRMINGHAM, England (CP) — Alderman H. J. Sayer, former lord mayor of Birmingham, who held many municipal offices since 1902 died here.

ARE NEILSON'S CHOCOLATE BARS GOING THESE DAYS?

• We are not surprised that people ask that question when they go into a store and find no "Neilson's" chocolate bars . . . and here is the reason:—There are so many more people buying chocolate bars today than ever before, that no sooner are the popular Neilson's high-quality favourites placed on sale than they are sold. So, in spite of the fact that Neilson's Chocolate Bars are being produced in the maximum quantity, in accordance with wartime restrictions on the use of raw materials, they are naturally in short supply. We feel sure you will understand this.

Benevolent Bill Tosser Returns Gladdens Hearts Of Invalids

TORONTO, Nov. 17—"Mr. X" did it again. The benevolent big fellow with the half-chewed cigar once more visited Christie St. Hospital with a handful of $100 bills yesterday. He left behind, as nearly as can be estimated, $3,300 in a whirlwind visit during which he gave one of the world's greatest magicians an eyeful of a new type of magic—that of uplifting downcast hearts.

Ever since some one broke faith in Halifax and disclosed to the world Mr. X's identity as Harry F. McLean the big fellow has been the target for cranks of all kinds, he told some of the boys he loves in Christie St. Hospital yesterday.

But here's what happened yesterday: "Mr. X," accompanied by Dante the magician, and the latter's manager, started out for the hospital. Once more, following the conventional pattern, Mr. X had a pocketful of $100 bills.

He walked into Christie St. Hospital and met a veteran whom he had "ducked" when he visited the hospital two weeks ago—because he had run out of money. He made no mistake yesterday, but handed the veteran one of the bills right away. Then the little party got up to the third floor.

Mr. McLean and the magician walked into one of the wards. "Are we winning the war?" shouted the big fellow. (Windows rattle for blocks when he yells, but they didn't rattle half as loudly as they did when the boys gave him the answer.)

Good Scotsman

On one of the beds was Sgt. W. J. McClure. McLean read the card at the head of the bed. "Ah, another good Scotsman," he said. He sat down, solemnly introduced the magician, and then chatted for 10 minutes with McClure. As he rose, he laid two $100 bills on the bed. Howard Cook, who got married a year ago, received $200. So did M. J. Nault, Sault Ste. Marie. Ken Brynaert, handsome youngster in the bed next to McClure's on the other side, received $100, "thus providing every girl I know with a Christmas present."

"Some dirty so-and-so went and used my name in the newspapers when I gave away some 'confetti' in Halifax a week or so ago," McLean told McClure. "Ever since then all sorts of people have written me—some of them crazy women who want to marry me. I'm not interested in crackpots, but I do want to do something for you fellows. I'm crazy about you guys—"

The magician looked around the room with tears in his eyes, and helped his mammoth friend distribute the money, the boys said. "There were no parlor or stage tricks—the guy with the little goatee didn't make any bills disappear. He looked as though he wished he had more to hand out," they declared.

Collects Second $100

Finished with the first four beds, the new Santa Claus of Christie St. went on. Lloyd Burley, who collected $100 on the last windfall at Christie, had been moved from the roof to the ward visited yesterday. He received another $100. So did Sam Robinson, who "received my first pay since last July. My wife can pay the store bills now."

"Christmas is coming on," said Mel Fletcher with a grin, as he tucked his precious bill away. "This means a real present for my Mom and Dad," said Cecil Schram. "And then I'll have enough left to buy some clothes when I leave here. The $35 the Government gives you doesn't go far." That's what Nault said, too.

Gordon Dunlop, also a recipient of the McLean largess, didn't say much. He's all strapped up in a weird-looking frame, and believes penicillin saved his life when it was administered to him two weeks ago. "I'm going to send every nickel home to my wife. I haven't worked since Dec. 18 last year, and, believe me, she can use the money."

"I'm the luckiest guy in the world," mused Henry Laren of Toronto. "Two weeks ago, I was stationed on the roof, in the ward. I went away for the week-end and when I got back everybody in the place had $100 bills. Yesterday, I went downstairs for a few minutes and when I got back here the boys had $100 bills again. An orderly, however, grabbed me quickly and shoved me right in front of Mr. McLean. Sure, I got $100. Here it is."

Joe Budai of Toronto loves fish and chips. The rest of the boys call him "Jo Jo" and kid him a lot about it. But last night when the "fish and chip man" came into the ward around 10:30, there was Joe, with lots of change and an overwhelming yen for fish and chips. The order he gave—and ate— will probably go down into hospital history.

"Whoopee," said R. Fickling of Millbrook. "This just nicely takes care of my winter's supply of fuel," as he waved still another of the $100's.

McLean went into two rooms at the hospital. In one he distributed $1,880—"one to a customer and two to three customers." Across the hall, every occupant of 14 beds collected.

Two weeks ago this reporter passed on a message from the boys at Christie street, in which they thanked Mr. McLean, and said: "Come again, with or without the bills."

They reiterated the message last night. When the big fellow came up to the hospital door yesterday he asked: "Do you mind if I come in and see some of the boys?"

The door was swung wide and the party entered. Last time, an unknown lad with an arm in splints received the tag-end of the bankroll—which may have amounted to $600 or $700. Yesterday, according to one staff doctor, another youth wasn't so lucky. The big fellow emptied his pockets and poured silver into the hands of the youth. It was 95 cents in United States currency.

And again, as suddenly as he had entered to lift the hopes and bring an early Christmas to the soldier lads, Mr. McLean vanished.

Roof's Collapse Blamed On Faulty Building

COBOURG, Nov. 17 (ENS)—Excessive weight of snow on the roof of the building occupied early this year by the Campbellford Cloth Co., was emphasized by witnesses for the plaintiff, Thomas E. Hall, in his action for $2,050. Hall is suing the Campbellford Cloth Co., lessees of the plaintiff's building, formerly the old curling rink. It was built about 30 years ago and last February collapsed.

H. M. Donald of Campbellford, barn builder, stated yesterday that pressure of the weight of snow caused separation of the timbers and stretching of the trusses. Something had to give, he asserted.

The truss beams were made of three planks, 2x6, spiked together, and the rafters were two by eights spiked together witness said. Mr. Donald told of shovelling snow from the roofs.

"Is it your general practice to shovel off snow from buildings in Campbellford?" counsel for the defence asked.

"Yes, on my own house, where snow will slide down and pile up in one place. There are times when one has to be very careful lest there be an unsafe accumulation of snow," stated Mr. Donald.

Cross-examined by defence counsel on the weak points in the beams, Mr. Donald stated that he would not say that there were sufficient weak points which if taken collectively constituted a danger of collapse.

"I cannot point to any particularly weak place. It was a well-constructed building," asserted Mr. Donald.

One Of Original Builders

Frank Labrash, Campbellford, carpenter who had ben originally employed in the construction of the building, testified that he knew the wood to be sound and the nails strong both when it was built and when he examined it after it collapsed. The fall of the roof had been straight down. It had rained on top of the snow the day before the building collapsed.

R. N. Morrison, Campbellford, also testified that there had been unusually heavy snowfall last winter.

The plaintiff took the box, as the last witness. He related that it was his opinion that the weight of the snow had caused the roof to fall in. The timbers were sound and had the snow been shovelled off before it became too heavy, the place would not have collapsed, he said. Rental of the building for curling purposes brought an income of $150. a year; storage of cars brought another $150. and he estimated its value to him for storage while he was in the garage business in Campbellford as $200 a year, or a total per annum of $500. He paid taxes of $50. a year and had spent $400. in repairs to the building, the plaintiff concluded at this point.

Defence Case

Carson Morrison, Toronto consulting engineer and assistant professor at the University of Toronto in civil engineering, was called by the defence to give expert evidence on the structural strength of the building. His examination of the truss beams had shown several instances of impending failure of the bottom cords of the trusses, (truss beams). The bottom truss was made of three, two by six's, nailed in splice. There was an inadequate number of nails to transmit the load and weakened the centre of the two by six. Posts on the south side were bowed out, introduced by the knee braces, and were caused by a tranverse load on the building. Some of the uprights were not sound.

Witness said that he analized the roof structure. A roof should be designed to carry a load which would include the weigth of the material in the roof and a reasonable amount of snow, as well as the effect of a reasonable amount of wind. Toronto building code, covering a roof of that slope required it to be strong enough to bear, 20 pounds per square foot and the National Building Code of Canada, set the figure at 34 pounds per square foot. Near the mid span of the truss this loading caused a tension of 13,000 pounds. The members of the bottom truss would have been adequate to transmit this load if they had been properly spliced, witness said. The stagger of the splices were not sufficient without adequate nails. There were 20 four-inch nails which were bearing a load of 650 pounds per nail. The same come provides for a strength to stand lateral wind pressures of 20 pounds per square foot. To carry such a pressure, the posts would have been severely stressed, witness said.

"Summing up these details, the general conclusions at which I arrived were that the nails used in the splice of the bottom cord were inadequate for the load that might reasonably be expected to be applied to that member. In addition the stressing resulting to the posts from the wind force which might reasonably be expected was greatly in excess of the recommended safety design stresses," stated the civil engineer.

Court adjourned at this point until this morning.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Looks as if the minor baseball leagues are preparing for a real scrap at their Dec. 1 meeting over the question of more votes for the AA leagues.... Latest to have his say is President Shag Shaughnessy of the International League, who brings the House of Representatives and Patrick Henry into the argument to show that the leagues of high classification normally outnumbered, should be given voting power according to the amount of "taxes" they pay the national association....In rebuttal, Judge W. R. Bramham, the national association boss, points out that under the proposed setup, all the lesser leagues couldn't outvote the three double-A circuits....If its "veto" power they want, how about Judge Landis? He's pretty good at that.

Coach's quandary:

Coach Harry Mannken of Princeton claims this actually happened to him....Looking for a sub to send in against Yale Saturday, Mannken walked along the bench, peering at their faces and calling: "Applegate, where's Applegate?"....Finally one of the boys spoke up: "Applegate's out marching. The Marines are restricted and he had to go out on a practice march."....And remembering the score, Harry adds: "That's probably where I should have been, too."

2 WAYS TO MAKE PRECIOUS JELL-O and JELL-O PUDDINGS Go Farther

UNFORTUNATELY, due to wartime conditions, no housewife is getting all the Jell-O and Jell-O Puddings she would like to get. But when you are able to get either, you are sure of satisfaction. Use them carefully and make them go as far as possible. Here are two ideas to help you.

JELL-O CUBES WITH CUSTARD

2 cups hot water
1 cup custard sauce
1 package JELL-O (Strawberry, Raspberry or Cherry)

Dissolve Jell-O in hot water. Turn into shallow pan. Chill until firm. Cut in cubes. Pile cubes lightly in sherbert or parfait glasses. Pour custard sauce over the cubes of shimmering Jell-O. Serves 6 to 8.

Easy, isn't it? And here's an idea for Jell-O Puddings:

JELL-O TRIFLE

1 package JELL-O PUDDING
(any flavor, but vanilla is specially good)
6 or 7 squares plain cake
Home-made jam

Prepare Jell-O Pudding as directed on the package. Spread top of each square of cake with jam. Place squares of cake in individual dessert dishes. When pudding is cool, pour over cake and chill.

This recipe gives 6 or 7 servings of as delightful a dessert as you ever tasted. You can thank the unvarying quality of Jell-O Puddings for that full, rich flavor —that smooth, creamy consistency.

TWO GRAND DESSERTS— limited in supply just now, but unchanged in quality.
